

BUDGET STALLED IN ASSEMBLY

No Hope Of Added Funds

By ROBERT J. PARDINI

The budget for Nevada Southern and the University of Nevada at Reno are at present at a standstill in the State Assembly.

Due to the flood of legislation up to be introduced, the Assembly passed an agreement that no new bills would be introduced after March 1, 1963 for the current session of the Legislature.

Any major changes or revisions in the Governor's proposed budget that can go into effect are those that were in by March 1st.

At present it is unknown what has made the calendar in the Assembly that concerns Nevada Southern. It is known, however, that Reno got the new building they wanted appropriated but, to build this building they must move their football field or when their building program is completed, the football field will be in the middle of the campus.

All that can be done to the current budget is being done now as the assembly is considering the bills that are now on the floor.

It would be a good idea that henceforth the people who are interested in the growth of Nevada Southern keep putting constant pressure on the legislature and the governor to see that this campus grows in accordance with the ever expanding population in the Southern Nevada area so as to meet the needs of those persons in this area who desire to receive an adequate college education.

It is wise not to wait for the budget to be murdered before demanding the rightful consideration the people of this area deserve.

Deadline Today For Drops

Today, March 13, is the final day for dropping a course without penalty. If a course is dropped today, the official record will merely state that the course has been dropped and will make no mention of whether the student was failing or passing at the time of the drop as might be indicated on the student's class cards.

If a student wants to drop a course after today's deadline, he must drop his entire schedule and not just one course.

Peace Corp Day Held Yesterday

Richard Stitt, representative of the U. S. Peace Corps, spoke at the NSU Gymnasium, in a special assembly, 1 pm, yesterday, March 12. Earlier in the day an interesting movie, "The Peace Corps," was shown followed by a question-answer period.

At 3:30 Mr. Stitt held an informal discussion about the Peace Corps in Grant Hall.

Any graduating students, requesting further information, contact Dr. Kittridge or Mrs. Jeffers in Room 110, Frazier Hall.

Senate Revising CSNS Constitution

Executive Committee Opposes

By JOE GRAZIANO

CSNS Senators are in the process of revising the student constitution. Bill Daley, Student Body Vice-President and president of the Senate in spearheading the action which was originally started by Ron Stevenson, who served in the same capacity during the first semester of this year.

The Senate took the matter of drafting a new constitution under advisement acting as a committee of the whole at the start of the fall semester for two weeks of deliberation. The body formally decided to revamp the existing constitution because of the "complete concentration of power in the executive committee."

The Senate in a formal statement pointed out two basic areas in which it felt revisions were necessary.

"The concentration of power," the Senate feels, "should be vested in the Student Body president rather than in the Executive Committee as a whole. Also, the power to legislate should be in the hands of the Senate rather than with the Executive Committee."

The Senate, after the final drafting of the constitution is completed, plans to present it to the entire student body at the CSNS elections on April 8-9.

Observers close to the Senate see the body assuming the power to make such a move due to the fact that no precedent has been set in this area.

Dr. Dulles Speaks Here In Series

Thursday, March 7, 1963, was the second speech of the "Campus Lecture Series" given here at the University. The topic, "The U.S. and the Challenge of the Common Market," was discussed by Dr. Eleanor Lansing Dulles, the sister of Allen Dulles and the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Miss Dulles discussed how the Common Market came into existence, what it is, what it does, and how it is considered in the changing world.

She mentioned that an important activity of the Common Market was that it moved labor and as a result it has increased the initiative and the consumption of the European nations. She also explained why she believed de Gaulle would not agree to let Britain into the Common Market and she predicted that he would be persuaded to let Britain join within five years.

She presented the problems which will confront the United States when it has to compete with the Common Market and ways in which it could meet this competition.

In her final statement Dr. Dulles stated that the world expects a lot of the United States and if it wants to remain a strong nation it has to live up to these expectations and the only way this can be attained is through "work."

Following the speech was a question and answer period in which Dr. Dulles explained a few other aspects of the Common Market.

Construction On New Sidewalks In Progress

The many smart remarks about the lack of sidewalks and landscaping on campus should soon cease.

Last week, construction began on the sidewalks for the University of Nevada, Southern Regional Division. "The sidewalks should be completed within two weeks," said Jack DeFevre, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds at Nevada Southern.

The landscaping is scheduled to start shortly after the sidewalks are completed.

Ronald C. Goins, experienced in cement work, said, "The sidewalks are being excellently constructed."

Jack DeFevre said, "When the sidewalks are completed there will be no excuses for students walking on the lawns. Tickets will be given to students caught walking on the lawns, and fines shall be impended."

There will be two sidewalks installed which were not included in the plans. These will be located on the northern end of the campus. Jack DeFevre was instrumental in obtaining these two extra sidewalks for us.

Propose New Fraternity On Campus

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, rated as the number one national Greek letter fraternity, is interested in organizing a chapter at Nevada Southern. At present Sigma Gamma has the inside track on capturing this national fraternity. For the past year work has been going on to make Sigma Gamma a member of S. A. E.

It is hoped that by next September a Phi Alpha chapter will be started here. All members of this group would then become the first national Greeks at Nevada Southern.

If there are any S.A.E.'s or other interested male students on campus, they are urged to contact Dan Porter, who is representing the Nevada Alpha chapter of S.A.E.

Silas Stepp Named Little All-American By AP

By TOM MARTIN

Rebel Yell Sports Editor

"Aw, you're kidding me," Silas Stepp commented upon hearing he had been given honorable mention in the Associated Press Little All-America Poll. It IS true, however, that the soft-spoken Rebel center is the first NSU basketball player to be named All-America.

Silas Stepp led the Rebels through a tremendous 21 win, 4 loss record breaking season, which really put Coach Drakulich's team on the map.

Silas scored 447 points in a season which saw the Wolf Pack from Reno and the Lumberjacks from Arizona State (Flagstaff) defeated two times each. To cap the season off the Rebels defeated tough Cal Western in an overtime game, and defeated Los Angeles State, once ranked among the top twenty, 103-96 in a fantastic double overtime game.

6'5" Stepp, who just came to visit last summer, also broke the records of most free throws tried (190), most free throws made (131), and most free throws missed (59), as his twisting, gyrating lay-ups drew him many fouls. As a result of this year's season, Silas's first at NSU, he is now ranked seventh in the Rebels' all-time scoring.

Not one of the players NSU played against received mention in the Associated Press Poll.

The unbelievable thing about Silas is that he will only be a sophomore next year, which means he can go to Nevada Southern for THREE more years!

The Arizona Province Newman Convention is being sponsored by the Nevada Southern Newmanites. A crowd of over 200 is expected in Las Vegas to attend the conclave, which is being held from March 29 thru March 31.

Lt. Governor Paul Laxalt and Federal Judge Roger Foley will head the list of speakers for the parley.

Nine students from Newman Club attended the Cardinal Newman Weekend Convention March 2-13. Those attending the convention from Nevada Southern were: Sherry McDaniel, Bob Pardini, Henry Sylvester, and Leonard Yelinek.

The convention was held in Flagstaff, Arizona. The Arizona State College Newman Club hosted the convention.

Cardinal Newman Weekend is an annual event. The purpose of this event is to acquaint Newman Club members with the life and philosophies of their patron, Cardinal John Henry Newman.

The event was a success. Everyone who went professed to have had a good time.

"The Proofs of the Catholic Church" is the title for the intellectually stimulating series of lectures being offered every Tuesday at 1:00 pm in Room 112 Grant Hall by the Newman Club. Rev. Caesar J. Caviglia, who has been described as "one of the most gifted priests in the (Nevada) Diocese," is the instructor; his manner of presentation is both easy to understand and very informative. Remember: 1:00 pm Tuesday, Room 112 Grant Hall.

The bowling group is prospering, in size if not in score. There was actually an even ratio of male to female representatives present for the March 3 session, which is a major accomplishment in comparison with the lopsided male attendance heretofore. The scores were not very good at all: average for the men was 10, while the women couldn't pull much over 90. One of the girls (name withheld to save reputation) established a good record for gutter balls tho; she racked up close to fifteen in three games. Consult the news-time and place of NC Bowling.

Would you like to join the Newman Club? Call Leonard Yelinek at 735-7523 or come to any Newman activity.

Dean Misquoted

In the last issue of the Rebel Yell I pointed to certain facts which would lead one to believe that Nevada Southern University was being slighted. I desire to campaign for and further exploit this issue.

The issue of Paradise Press dated February 14, 1963, quoted Dean Carlson as saying, "We don't need any more money." Flora Dungan, Assemblywoman from Las Vegas, also had an article in this issue. She stated that Dean Carlson had expressed the same sentiments to legislators when they visited this campus. Well, you know how I felt. I was ecstatic. I could really make a lively story out of this. Can you imagine what this would mean? It would mean that we were being stabbed in the back by one of our very own, a traitor if you will. So, I went dashing over to the Dean's office for an interview. I presented to him the accusation and waited and waited and waited.

"I have never been to Carson City with a purpose of seeing the governor. I did not say that we do not need more money to him (the governor) or anyone else. I do not know how the Paradise Press could have printed this in all honesty," said the Dean. I then proceeded to discuss the budget.

The following information is a result of this interview. The ideas as presented are mine.

First, a budget by its very nature is bound to be cut. I know of no legislature ever adding more money onto one.

Second, Dean Carlson must begin working on a budget long before it is presented to the governor for consideration. A year is not extraordinary. For every request, he must back it up with facts and figures. He cannot use guess work. He cannot say that in 1965 we will have approximately 2,000 students; he does not know. He has no known facts to present in favor of this. If he were to base a budget on guess work, or what he wants, he will surely not receive an okay. And all prestige for himself and the school will be lost. The next time he makes a request, no one will listen. He will have cried "Wolf" once too often.

Third, Dean Carlson does not believe that it is his official duty to dictate to the legislature. He believes that he should present to them the needs of NSU in as forceful a manner as Campus life is again in full swing after the lull and confusion that seems to be characteristic of the period evolving around the semester break.

Campus Activities

C.S.N.S. is off to a great start. Ray Rawson has appointed several persons to various vacant positions within the student government.

The assembly committee has already put forth two excellent assemblies. The first assembly was a jazz concert and the second featured a speaker from the Peace Corps.

The social committee has already begun laying out the plans for the Confederate Cotillion. The Cotillion is the main event of the year. It is a formal dance at which the results of the C.S.N.S. elections are formally announced.

The Senate got off to a roaring start this semester, reminding local legislators of their campaign promises. The Senate is also thoroughly going through the C.S.N.S. constitution for the purpose of making some much needed revisions.

A.W.S. started off the semester with their big dance, the Sweetheart Ball, which was a smashing success. Plans for the future are still in process.

The election committee is under new direction. The results of this change, however, are forthcoming.

The Public Relations (publicity) Committee is also under Question: What Do You Like The Most About Nevada Southern?

DIANE HESS,
Freshman, College of Arts and Sciences

The most significant thing about Nevada Southern is that I like the small college atmosphere enabling the student to receive a large amount of personal help from the faculty. Most of the teachers will go out of their way to give their students attention on their problems.

GARY JARLSON,
Sophomore, College of Arts and Sciences

Perhaps the most likable feature of Southern Nevada is the quality of instruction and instructors available to the students of such a small school. For a small college, the Southern faculty is heavily endowed with teachers who have doctorates, and the ability of "non-doctors" is in no way lacking.

ADA LYNN TESSLER,
Junior, College of Business

The one attribute is the friendly relationship between the student and teacher. If, for example, a student has a problem, he doesn't need to make an appointment three weeks ahead of time to discuss it as he would in a "big" college, but can merely and immediately go discuss it.

ROY GALYEAN,
Junior, College of Business

For a small college with a relatively short history, Nevada Southern has some very modern study facilities and luxurious buildings. I refer to the spacious and convenient library, the beautiful gymnasium, and a very adequate amount of scientific material in the technology areas on campus.

ROMA FOSTER,
Sophomore, College of Arts and Sciences

Students attending "prestige" colleges have inhibitions concerning how to act and dress. It seems that this "preciseness" would hinder study habits. Apparel worn at NSU is very informal; therefore, we can learn more without trying to please onlookers at the same time.

DICK EBELTOFT,
Junior, College of Engineering

A credit to our school is "smallness" and "togetherness." Here everybody practically knows everybody. You don't feel as if you're an unknown being or another face or number. Also, students per square inch are at a minimum, that is, plenty of room for expansion and student space.

Editorial

possible. After he has presented the needs, it is up to the legislature to find the funds. If they cannot find a way to raise the necessary money, he still feels he has completed his official function as dean of NSU.

Fourth, Dean Carlson believes that the money given to NSU has been used wisely and well. Contrary to what a few have interpreted this as meaning, it does not mean that he is satisfied with our progress. It only means that with the working capital available, he is pleased with what has been accomplished. I believe that Dean Carlson is actively working for our growth, but in moderation.

Let us face this fact: Politics play and is playing a major role in developing Nevada Southern. Politics includes compromising, moderation, retreats, and skillful use of the tongue. We have a right to criticize this use of political slyness, but we have an obligation to try to understand how it works. It is my opinion that the administration of the university system is playing power politics. If moderation, instead of force, will lead us to our goal faster, let us use moderation. If you do not agree, let us hear some constructive criticism in writing.

Fifth, Dean Carlson hopes that in June of 1964 this University will be a four-year institution, for certain determined courses: history, education, English, political science, and one or two other liberal arts subjects, as well as a few of the biological sciences. What exactly does this mean? It means that in 1964, we will grant degrees on our campus. But through the above-mentioned subjects without the now compulsory attendance of one semester at Reno. This is all it means. It does not, and I repeat, it does not mean that NSU will be a college or university within itself. We are still to be a part of the University system. No one has ever considered the possibility of NSU being independent and totally on its own.

Campus Activities

new direction. This committee is showing signs of vast improvement.

The Drama and Music departments are under way with their spring productions. The Drama department will present "The Matchmaker" by Thornton Wilder and the music department will be presenting "Trial by Jury" by Gilbert and Sullivan.

The Newman Club has a large variety of activities going on this month, including the Saint Patrick's Day dance, March 16; and culminating with the Newman Club Province Convention, March 30 and 31.

The sororities and the fraternity are busy rushing and pledging. Sigma Gamma is in the process of emerging with a national fraternity.

The intellectual clubs are still more or less inactive at present, with the exception of the psychology club which will hold its first meeting this Friday.

On the political scene, the Young Republicans are now forming and the Young Democrats will have a meeting soon.

Taking the whole picture of campus life into consideration, I would feel safe in saying that the social, educational, intellectual, and religious aspects of this campus are all on the upward swing.

Art Department Opens Gallery On Campus

The Nevada Southern Art Gallery opened Sunday, March 3, with a traveling show of water colors chosen by the California Water Color Society. The twenty-two paintings on exhibition represent the top water color painters in California, Art Department head Peter L. Myer reports.

Myer described "Flower Kite" by Louise Freeman as "dynamic" with "strong colors." Of Alexander Nepoti's "Below the Water" Myer said it had "a nice water color feeling." Myer pointed out that Jan Stussy's "Memory of Amalfi" has "rich textural variety," and "strong movement with some use of dribble technique." All in all the show has much variety both in style and technique.

At the beginning of April there will be a show of paintings by Carl Wessel, chairman of the Art Department at Berkeley. Toward the end of April there will be a student show, and later in the semester an exhibition of woodcuts by the world-famous Georges Roualt.

From Under the Thumb

By MIKE BARRY

There seems to be an acute lack of controversial subject matter whose scope involves enough readers to make effective points in print. I am tempted to return to the subject which I discussed last, however, I've found that our instructors do no appreciate criticism from below even if it is justified. The fact that a college student may be requested to bring a note from "Mother" to explain an absence continues to gail me.

How about that unsigned letter to the Editor in the last issue? I wish I knew that person's name because I'd like to shake his hand. This campus needs more people who will dedicate themselves more to propagating the purposes of their organization, rather than those who join just to carry a membership card and get his or her picture in the yearbook.

I think that the following quotation by Elbert Hubbard (1856-1915) makes the idea quite clear: "It is not book learning young men need, nor instruction about this and that, but a stiffening of the vertebrae which will cause them to be loyal to a trust, to act promptly, concentrate their energies, do a thing —"

A Message to Garcia (1900)

Why don't you "do" something this week? You could join a club, organize a new one, or if you're a member of one already—get active. How about clearing the cobwebs out of the existing clubs and getting them moving and competing against one another? There should be a few new clubs organized too — there certainly aren't enough around now to be truly representative of the various ideas, aims, and philosophies of the whole student body. How about a little "stiffening of the vertebrae?"

Rebel Baseball Season Opens Friday In Phoenix

Rebel Yell SPORTS

March 19 First Home Contest

Las Vegas and NSU students will get their first look at the Rebels in action Tuesday, Mar. 19, when they meet Weber College at the Las Vegas Municipal Field. Game time is 1 p.m. Right now the Rebels are holding daily practices at Hartke Field in preparation for their first game with Grand Canyon College in Phoenix, Friday, March 15.

A lot of new faces are appearing in the Rebel lineup this year. Coach Drakulich feels that the new freshmen on the squad are going to help a lot. A few veterans are returning, including lettermen Jerry Goyeneche, Larry Barnson, and Ray Atkinson. "Team morale is excellent," Coach Drakulich reports.

The Rebel schedule includes San Francisco State and Chapman College, two big baseball powerhouses, according to the coach. Drakulich stated, however, "We will have a better season than last year, as far as wins and losses are concerned, even though we have a tougher schedule." Also included on the Rebel's 22-game schedule are Arizona State College (Flagstaff) and the Wolf Pack of the University of Nevada in Reno.

Head coach Michael Drakulich is assisted by coach Ed Gregory and student manager George Small.

Last year the varsity baseball team managed to get by with a 6 win, 16 loss record. The new faces on this year's baseball team may help to improve on last year's record.

Coach Drakulich summed up the coming season very well by saying, "We will have an interesting season."

Varsity Keglers

The NSU male keglers still slump in the cellar as the NSU girls have fourth place cinched in the Clark County Interscholastic Bowling League.

The Boy's Varsity Squad is led by Cliff Fields, who rolled a 541 series which included a 202 game. The Varsity boys won two out of three and received a total of 3 team points for also winning total pins.

The Junior Varsity boys can't seem to improve on their 2 win, 34 loss record.

The NSU girl's team was led by Judy Piper and Debbie Litcher as both rolled a series of 435. The girls also racked the highest team game by rolling for 757 points. To top this all off the girls rolled the team series high of 1970.

50 Mile Hike

NEVADA SOUTHERN CAMPUS (CGV) — Students of the University of Nevada, Southern Regional Division, have taken the President's Physical Fitness Program to heart. Hardy Rebels have been observed making the long walk from the campus proper to the College Inn on a daily schedule. One student commented that the walking was a part of the 50-mile craze. "If we make the trek every day, then by the end of the semester we will have walked 50 miles."

JUNIOR VARSITY ACTION — Mike Reese soars past two Las Vegas High defenders. The Cubs beat the Wildcats twice 43-26 and 56-39. The JV's, under Coach Ed Gregory's direction, finally ended up with a 13 win-7 loss record.

Winningest Rebel Team in N. S. U. History

HOLD IT, FELLA!— Jerry Dick turns to stop Joe DiArrieta of the Wolf Pack as the Rebels triumphed 62-50 and 64-54.

On the Line

BY TOM MARTIN
Rebel Yell Sports Editor

After five years NSU has proven that it CAN turn out basketball teams. This year's 21 win, four loss record may prove that NSU is ready to go big-time, as far as basketball is concerned. Silas Stepp, 6' 5" Rebel center, broke the school record for most points scored in one season along with most free throws tried, missed, and made. Although Silas led in scoring, a great team made NSU's tremendous record possible.

Dave Shay was always the sparkplug that pulled the Rebels out of the fire many times. Seniors Don Helm and Arlyn Hafen proved experience counts as they were always consistent and cool in NSU's fast break.

Gary Tapper, except for a midseason slump, was always strong on the boards, and very successful with his 25-foot jump shots.

If anyone really was an outstanding player on this year's team my choice would be Jerry Dick. Jerry was always consistent on offense, as he finally ended up with 330 points for the season, with a 13.2 average.

Jerry Dick was high man in scoring in three games. On defense Coach Drakulich said that Jerry Dick held his man to fewer points than any other man on the Rebel squad.

Although Hank Sena, Larry Miller, and Dave Moss sat on the bench during much of the season, Coach Drakulich expects "great things" from these boys.

On the JV squad, Bill Davis is probably the most outstanding player because he has the potential of being an excellent ball player. It seems that everyone on the JV squad improved, most notably Steve Allan, Steve Peterson, and Shelly Wright.

In a recent interview, baseball coach Michael Drakulich said, "People will enjoy watching our baseball games as much as we will enjoy playing them." Let's get out and support our baseball team. It helps the players on the field a great deal to have their school behind them. SELL YOUR TEAM!

Want to play golf? Rick Holland, second man of the NSU golf team, informs me that reserves are needed to back up the six team regulars. The door is open for anyone interested.

Constitutional Changes Seen

the Senate, Daley stated, "Because this year's senate is active, something which has never before existed, the concentration of power both legislative and executive in an executive committee is no longer workable. The present system under these conditions can only lead to conflict between the Executive Committee and the Senate." Cliff Fields, a Sophomore Senator, told this reporter that "The Senate should have the power to legislate which at the present time rests with the Executive Committee." Fields went on to say that "the Senate should legislate while the Executive Committee should serve in an administrative capacity."

Steve Remil, an Upper Class Senator, is especially interested in the revision of Article 4, Section 3, clause 6, which states that "(The Executive Committee has the power) to introduce legislation to the Senate."

The Executive Committee in a prepared statement refuted the necessity to change the constitution in the basic areas suggested by the Senate.

"The Senate has expressed a desire to concentrate the power in the Student Body President rather than the Executive Committee. We should keep in mind, however, each member of the Executive Committee has been elected by the Student Body and is individually responsible to the entire group.

"The individual Senator is elected by his respective class and is responsible only to said group. The Senate in its entirety is responsible to the Student Body as is an individual member of the Executive Committee.

"With this responsibility to the Student Body possessed by each member of the Executive Committee, should they act only in an advisory capacity? Does it not seem more reasonable that there should be a check and balance between the Student Body elected Executive Committee and the class-elected Senate?

"In order to be an efficient governing body, we must have a representative voice. It is not reasonable that the Executive Committee or the Student Body President act as figureheads to carry out the whims and momentary desires of the Senate. Please bear in mind that there is a lot of trouble derived from passing legislation too rapidly. If one week's delay can mean a better government, we are sure you can see that this delay is warranted.

"The Senate has suggested that the Executive Committee should not have the power "To introduce legislation to the Senate" (Section III, Paragraph A, Clause 6, of the CSNS Constitution). The Executive Committee maintains that in order to function properly, it must often introduce, for the consideration of the Senate, legislation pertaining to the functioning of the Student Body. It does not, however, feel that it should have the legislative authority over the Senate, merely a check."

The Executive Committee, although disagreeing with the Senate in regard to the necessity of constitutional changes, is open to discussion with the Senate concerning the constitution.

"We (the members of the Executive Committee) feel reasonable to say that the Senate and the Executive Committee should meet together to dig out any by-laws at present not in the CSNS Constitution. Upon seeing the entire situation, all concerned will be in a better position to judge what should be done."

Ada Lynn Tessler, Student Body Treasurer, has called for "better cooperation between the Senate and the Executive Committee."

Comments from Other Publications

Editor's note: Appearing below is an editorial which appeared in the Feb. 15th issue of the University of Nevada Sagebrush and an accompanying letter to the editor on the subject of the growth of Nevada Southern.

SAGEBRUSH EDITORIAL

A former student at the University's southern regional division, now at the Reno campus, has taken issue with a Sagebrush editorial of February 1. His comments appear in the letters-to-the-editor section.

It would appear that some Nevada Southern students are miffed by the idea that their school might not grow at a rate adequate for the fastest growing city in Nevada.

Besides wanting more state offices in Las Vegas, more control in the Assembly, and even more representation in the state senate, it appears that some Las Vegans want a large university in a short time.

They will have to wait a while. The present University in Reno has taken nearly 90 years to evolve to its present stature, and the southern division will also take some time. As the saying pointed out, it took more than a day to build Rome.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The accompanying sheets are copies of a petition sent by the students of the Southern Regional Division of the University of Nevada to their duly elected representatives in the state legislature.

The copy of the statement accompanying the petition and the petition itself explain most of the circumstances but perhaps a little more information would be desirable. This action came about as the result of the ideas of Stephen J. Rimel and William H. Daley, both elected Senators of the Confederated Students of Nevada Southern, the equivalent of ASUN in Reno.

Over five hundred signatures were secured on the petition. The two local newspapers gave full coverage of the incident, coverage that the local television and radio stations also carried. Indeed, some citizens, not students at the University, upon hearing of the petition, made it a point to go out to the University and sign that petition.

Nevada is one of the fastest growing states in the union, if not the fastest. Estimates originally assumed that by 1972 there would be some 1700 students at Nevada Southern. In the light of new data, that estimate has been revealed to be woefully understated. (Current estimates call for a student body of 1700 students in 1965.) U of N at Reno will of course have some of these same growth problems, compounded by the problems and costs of repairing and maintaining some of the present buildings on campus now in a sad state of disrepair.

To clarify the situation existing in Clark County, perhaps some other points are in order. It is presently estimated that, in order to keep up with the rapidly growing population, Clark County needs one new elementary school every 30 days, one new junior high school every three months and one new senior high school every six months. Thus potential students for a University will exist in superfluity.

It is significant that the editorial staff of the Sagebrush confined its remarks concerning the proposed budget cut to a few platitudes concerning the niceties of "a state government trying to live within its means without raising taxes." Well and good.

But, gentlemen, isn't it quite possible that this very moment in history is not the time to slash budgets? Now is the time of the highest growth rates this state has ever experienced. Were the Legislature to double the proposed budget it surely would not be enough to put our University in a position where it would not have overcrowding problems in the immediate future. How, then, can we really afford to cut budgets now? Look around you, see what is needed. If you have occasion, go to the Nevada Southern in Las Vegas and look around there. More and more citizens of that area are fully aware of the problems which the Reno campus faces. In short, the entire University of Nevada is in for one terrific burst of expansion if it is to serve the needs of the citizens of the State of Nevada adequately. How can we then be complacent about a budget cut which affects us so directly?

Thank you,
THOMAS D. BEATTY

Horse Mishap

NEVADA SOUTHERN (CGV) — An unidentified student has dropped creative horseback riding at the University of Nevada, Southern Regional Division. The student claims that the course is just "too tough." "I can't afford," the student said, "to flunk it." The youth joins a growing list of last minute dropper outers at the institution of higher learning in of all places Las Vegas, Nevada.

Cultural Look

NEVADA SOUTHERN CAMPUS (CGV) — Thursday, March 7, an assembly was held in the Health and Physical Education Building on the campus of the University of Nevada, Southern Regional Division. The Las Vegas Concert Orchestra played to an "enthusiastic" throng of some 30 Rebel students, one observer on the scene noted. The concert was termed "great."
