Newman Club Hosts

By ROBERT J. PARDINI

Saturday and Sunday, March 30 and 31, will be the scene of the first convention ever hosted by a Nevada Southern University Club.

The convention is being hosted by Nevada Southern University Newman Club. The title of the convention is "The Arizona Province Convention."

The convention is an annual event at which the province officers are elected for the next year, and subsequent plans for next year's province activities are discussed.

The Arizona Province (district) is one of many provinces throughout the nation. The Las Vegas Club along with all the other clubs in colleges and universities throughout Arizona compose the Arizona Province.

The expected number of students who will attend the convention from out of town is two hundred.

The tentative schedule for the weekend is as follows:

Friday:

5-12 p.m. Registration
10:00 P.E.C. meeting (location to be given upon registration)

Saturday:

8:00 Breakfast — Palomino Room, Hacienda Hotel.
9:00 Welcome Addresses—Palomino Room
Keynote: Rev. Leo McFadden, Editor, Nevada Register; George Kallil, Province Chairman; Mary Meehan, National Chairman
11:00 Russian Byzantine Rite, Rev. Andre Urusov, S.J., St. Anne's Catholic Church
2:00 Lunch, Palomino Room Nevada Lieutenant Governor Paul Laxalt
3:30 General Session: Officers Reports (5 min. limit), Main legislative session

Flareup of Censorship In Vegas

By DALE LOWE

Last week the Las Vegas City Commission adopted an emergency resolution which gives the newly formed "censor committee" an official status.

The ordinance (No. 1041) officially created the Committee of Citizens for Decent Literature consisting of not more than nine members. The stated purpose of the committee is to "assist in the control of obscene material," and to "work in cooperation with sellers of literature and magazines for the betterment of the community."

Section 1 of the ordinance defines "obscene" as that which "to the average person, applying contemporary standards, the predominant appeal of the matter, taken as a whole, is prurient, i.e., a shameful or morbid interest in nudity, sex, or excretion, which goes substantially beyond customary limits of candor in description or representation of such matters and is matter which is utterly without redeeming social importance."

The commission declared such publications to be "detrimental to the health, safety, and welfare . . ." of Las Vegas residents. The ordinance places a $500 fine or six months in city jail, or both, on any one who may "sell, lend, give away or have in his possession . . ." obscene literature.

City Attorney Sidney Whitmore, who heads the committee, told the REBEL YELL that most of the newsstands are cooperating fully with the authorities. The newsstand proprietor interviewed by the REBEL YELL said he would not challenge the edict because he feels that if the community is against his selling such material, he will go along with the community. He also said that the profits from obscene literature at

Nominations Open For CSNS Office

Monday, April 1, is the deadline for the nominations of all C.S.N.S. officers and both the Helldorado and the Cotillion queens.

A petition signed by 25 students is necessary to place a name in nomination. The petition must be turned in to Joan Seaman, chairman of the election committee, or to a member of the Executive Committee.

The qualifications are as follows: The president and vice president must have a two point 0 (2.0) grade point average. The candidate must not be on probation and have completed 25 semester hours at the time of nomination.

The secretary must be a full-time student at Nevada South-

MATCHMAKER OPENS ON APRIL 18

Get set! "The Matchmaker" is coming, and what could be more appropos to the coming of Spring than this delightful comedy created by Thornton Wilder.

Rehearsals are now underway under the direction of Dr. Jerry Crawford, with Penni Praigg as assistant student director.

This highly successful play was first produced in 1954 at the Royal Lyceum Theater in Edinburg, Scotland, under the direction of Dr. Tyrone Guthrie.

The story evolves around a certain merchant of Yonkers, who is now so rich that he decides he needs a wife to take

'Trial' Coming Along OK

Rehearsals for "Trial by Jury," produced by the University Singers, are coming along well. Everyone in the group is well acquainted with the scores and lyrics of the musical.

There have been some problems with the cast. Several people who had leading parts have had to drop out for one reason or another.

At last report there were three parts open, those of judge, defendant, and foreman of the jury. These parts may be filled by the time this article hits the public, however. If anyone is interested do not hesitate to come and try out.

Regents Act To Raise Academic Standards

By MARY BARBONE

New regulations on probation and suspension, as well as some new entrance requirements, were passed by the Board of Regents this February. Dr. Jack Shirley, Director of Admissions, University of Nevada, revealed during a recent visit to the NSU campus.

Students will be placed on probation if any one of these three conditions exists: (1) less than a 2.00 (C) overall average (at -1 grade point balance), (2) two successive semesters of less than a 2.00 (C) average—even though the overall average may be 2.00 or above, or (3) one semester with less than a 1.00 (D) average. Students will be suspended when a -15 grade point balance is reached.

These regulations will cover those entering as Regular (formerly Matriculated) students in June, '63 and all Regular students from June, '64 on. This means that students whose present grade point deficiency is -15 or greater have 3 semesters (including the current one) and a summer to bring their grade point balance to less than -15.

Three groups of Unclassified students will be put on proba-

BOTH SIDES COMPROMISE

CSNS Constitution Hassel Resolved

By JOE GRAZIANO

The controversy of proposed revision of the CSNS Constitution by the Student Senate is nearing a solution. The members of the Executive Committee who originally opposed the actions of the Senators in a wholesale revision of the Constitution have officially reached a compromise with the Senate.

In what is described as a give and take situation, both sides have reached agreement as to (1) Changes are necessary, (2) that the changes should be in the form of a complete redrafting, and (3) as to the basic areas where these proposed changes should take place.

Bill Daly, Student Body vice president and president of the Senate, is in the best position to monitor the views of both the Executive Committee and the Senate. He sees a firm understanding of basic points of previous conflict. "As far as I can see," Daly says, "the Senate and the Executive Committee have formulated a compromise in areas of stress, and will, in all probability, develop a system of legislative procedure which will be acceptable to all sides in the controversy."

The Executive Committee, composed of student body officers, met in joint session with the Senate Saturday to iron out details of the proposed changes.

A joint committee of Senators and Executive Committee members as well as two members from the Judicial Committee is now in the process of drafting the new Constitution.

The Constitution in its final form will be presented to the student body at the general elections on April 8-9.

The one remaining question is what student body vote will be

PROPOSE JOURNALISM CLASS HERE

Any students who are interested in taking journalism are requested to leave their names at the REBEL YELL office.

Before a class in journalism can be offered at NSU, a minimum number of students must be willing to take the course. The addition of journalism would be one more step towards the goal of becoming a four-year university.

Open letter to the Student Body of NSU

Dear fellow students:

During the last few years, there has been an alarming growth of radical organizations that advocate racial and religious discrimination. As students, there is much that we can do to combat the cancerous propaganda of these hate organizations. I'm sure that many of you feel the need for a student organization that will strive for the obliteration of religious and racial bigotry. I would appreciate hearing from all of you who are interested. Please call me at 384-6197.

Sincerely,
Richard Kline

Dr. Joseph B. Trainer, Director of Health Services and Associate Professor of Physiology and Medicine at the University of Oregon spoke with several students on Monday, March 18.

He presented slides of the facilities and buildings at the University to students interested in the health services, including medical, dental, veterinary and dental hygienist students.

The Red Hat

BY MIKE BARRY

We apologize. The St. Patrick's Day Dance, which was to have been sponsored by the Newman Club, was called off. An evaluation taken a few days before the scheduled date, showed that the costs would far exceed the expected profits. We therefore, regrettably, cancelled our plans.

The Arizona Province Newman Convention is being sponsored by the Nevada Southern Chapter (see story, page one). The conclave is expected to draw around 200 students from all parts of Arizona. The convention will be held at the Hacienda Hotel from March 29 through 31. There will be such featured speakers as Lt. Governor Paul Laxalt and Gerald Shery, national press figure. All are praying for clear weather.

The Newman Club lectures, given by the Rev. C. J. Caviglia, continue each Tuesday at 1:00 p.m., in room 112 of Grant Hall. Attendance at these lectures has not yet lived up to expectations. However, we haven't given up hope. We know that once enough people hear this man speak, he'll have to move the lectures to the gym in order to allow his captive audience seating space.

Bowling: every Sunday (except the first Sunday of the month), 11:00 a.m., at the Las Vegas Bowl. Cost: 35 cents per line; shoes are free.

Considering membership in the Newman Club? Attend any of our activities, or call Leonard Yelinek (our leader) at 735-7523.

EDITORIAL

Here Layeth the Blame

The University is overflowing with exciting, happy professors who are also eager intellectuals. For example, who has ever seen Dr. Frazier with a scowl on his face. Our University is bursting at the seams with 1,200 compassionate students. Our Science Tech. building has inside its ivy covered wall some of the more advanced scientific apparatus. At first glance it would appear that everything is in apple-pie order. Well, it isn't. What is wrong? You!!!

You do not participate in any school activity. You show no patriotism or loyalty to the University or to its various clubs. Because of this great lack of effort many clubs are seriously considering dissolving. Why shouldn't they dissolve?

The average number of members that met each week in any given club is four or six. Of these six members, only three are willing to give the time and effort necessary. Of these three, only two will make an appearance at the appointed place and at the pre-determined time. Of these two one will assume the role of sidewalk superintendent. The remaining stout hearted, courageous, fearless proselyte (it is usually a proselyte) will soon feel that he is really being taken. Once he starts thinking; the club will be in trouble. The organization can then add one more member to its long list of loafers. You know NSU is the proud possessor of the longest list of "Who's Who of the Loafers' World." It is a distinction and one which reflects accurately the atmosphere of NSU. Isn't that tremendous!!

It couldn't be your club I am talking about, could it? It surely could not be you I am talking about. You bet it could be, and it is you. I am talking through rose-colored glasses. It is also you. The one that does not give a damn. I am also talking about the person over there that just read my article and then threw the whole paper in the trash can.

You know, I really believed some one would take exception to the article which appeared in the first issue of the REBEL YELL this semester. I am referring to the one which classified you as un-people. People, the term is used very loosely here, who are unco-operative, and un-everything. In fact, this article could not be read by a normal group of collegiates without producing a very deep abiding hatred for its author. Oh well, he recognized a spade, and he called it a spade. It just proves that all of you are vegetables. You eat, stretch, yawn, and then go to sleep. Sleep is the best possible place for you. You do look so cute when you are asleep.

As a child I thought as a child, and as an adult I have made it necessary to be treated as a child. Our professors have accepted the challenge.

DEAR DR. X:

Please excuse my Johnny. He had a toe ache yesterday, so I gave him his teddy bear and tucked him into bed.

His Loving Mother,
Mrs. Y

Progress On Campus

In the months gone by we at Nevada Southern have watched many changes occur within the buildings of this campus.

The offices which now house the Assistant Dean, Dr. McLaughlin; Derfelt and their respective secretaries are now in what used to be the chemistry lab at the beginning of last summer. What is the Dean's office now, was formerly a chemical store room. The office of the Dean's secretary is located in what used to be the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds office.

The stenographic workroom is now in the old biology

Beware Rebels Of Speed --- Especially In Boulder City

AS A PUBLIC SERVICE

Beware of all speed limits!!! Especially the speed limits in Boulder City. The police officers of that fair city are just dying to treat all college students to the hospitality of their public jail. If caught you will have a choice of a $20 fine or five days free room and board consisting of personal maid service who will change the sheets twice a week.

Room service that will see that you have breakfast, dinner and supper. A varied diet consisting of black bread for breakfast, white bread for lunch, and bread of ever changing hues of blue for supper.

If you are a decent-looking chap, they might permit you to make one telephone call provided you could not stay for the culmination of their hospitality.

By the way, the speed limit is 20 m.p.h. from the south end of Boulder City to about 5 miles outside of the north end.

Why don't you drop in on them some time? They really have the desire to make your acquaintance.

Question: What Do You Dislike The Most About Nevada Southern?

GREG MINDEN
College of Arts and Science

There are two things that I actually dislike about Nevada Southern. Number one is the fact that it is not a four year college in which the student can get his degree and number two, there is a lack of trees and grass enhancing our campus. It would be nice if they could figure out some way to improve the grounds. To give the campus a park-like appearance rather than a sandtrap oasis.

KAY MONSON
Sophomore
College of Arts and Science

I wish there was a clock in the library so one could tell what time it is! I wish they would set the clocks around campus so they all synchronize and keep correct time constantly. My biggest problem is that although I'm a junior I won't graduate in '64 because our art department won't be able to offer a degree in my major.

PHILLIP EARL
Senior
College of Education

I dislike the fact that there is so little interest among the students concerning school activities. The dances are poorly attended and not very well planned either. There is very little interest in other activities. Only six people showed up to hear the Peace Corps Speaker and the art show has been very poorly attended by students.

KATHERINE MURPHY
Freshman,
College of Arts and Science

The atmosphere of Nevada Southern definitely lacks enthusiasm for student activities. Student participation is very weak in campus extra curricular activities. Lack of student participation is not a fault of the college and any improvements must be made by the students themselves.

GEORGE SMALL
College of Education

I dislike the condition of the parking lot in front of the gym and the dirt roads leading to it. The roads and parking lot are more suited for jeeps or tractors than for automobiles. I think the parking lot should be graded and paved if possible.

LEOLA KING
Junior,
College of Business

I dislike that we do not have a student union building in which the students could entertain themselves in between classes. In the dents could leisurely pass the time with such forms of recreation as piped music, card tables, snack bar, television, and lounge chairs. Students need a place to enjoy themselves and unload their tenseness in between classes.

From Under the Thumb

By Mike Barry

By MIKE BARRY

Silence is golden; it is especially so, when you're in class. If you can't muster enough respect for an instructor to keep quiet while he's giving a lecture, then get up and leave. Don't involve someone else in a plot to distract the learned man from his point in lecture.

Sometimes it is difficult to understand a university instructor; but understand him or not, you must always give him your unyielding attention, out of respect for him. A few instructors occasionally get tied up in last minute business and arrive a few minutes late for class (much to the disappointment of his students who by this time are hoping he won't show at all), but silence must reign as soon as he finally makes it. Sometimes they replace a test (for which you have studied hard all night) with a very dry, hard-to-grasp type of lecture. However, even if the lack of sleep is catching up with you, you must be attentive. If this isn't possible, get up and leave.

The instructor will always understand and he'll only give you an "F" for the period.

Our instructors have earned our respect in many ways: they are older and more experienced than most of us; they are dedicated to the cause of educating America's Youth (for this they are grossly underpaid); and they are a great deal more learned than we (it is interesting to note that some of the most intelligent people in America are the most underpaid).

Everyone knows the aforementioned to be true, yet disrespect in class continues. If you are a frequent offender, make an effort to stop. Our poor instructors have enough problems without having to teach over the snore of a sleeping student, or the conversation of two others.

The instructor might note that it is also disrespectful of him to disregard the schedule which he has helped to establish. Punctuality is expected in any profession.

PETITION BEING CIRCULATED TO PROTEST CENSORSHIP

The following petition is being circulated among all faculty members in the hope that a high degree of unity may be indicated in this matter of grave concern.

The REBEL YELL, finding itself in complete agreement with the statements included in the petition, wishes to endorse the stand taken as its own.

—Wendell Johnson, Editor
"As citizens of Southern Nevada and members of learned professions, we recommend that the City Attorney's Censorship Committee be disbanded at once. The action of the Committee is in direct opposition to a whole series of United States Supreme Court decisions protecting freedom of expression from the arbitrary actions of censors. Only a month ago the Court reaffirmed this liberty in the case of Bantam Books vs. Sullivan (No. 118, February 18, 1963), saying that 'any system of prior restraints of expression comes to this Court bearing a heavy presumption against its Constitutional validity.'"

CAMPUS YOUNG DEMOCRATS ADOPT NEW CONSTITUTION; OBTAIN NATIONAL CHARTER

After a long and painstaking effort, the Young Democrats of NSU adopted a new constitution which will enable the organization to operate more smoothly and efficiently.

Plans for the new constitution began last year under the then President Bennie Syde. Bennie said the new constitution provides for greater expansion and at the same time defines more precisely what the Y.D.'s may or may not do in campus politics. She also noted a sharp upturn in interest due to the new constitution.

Judy Plant, secretary, reported that the Young Democrats have recently obtained a charter from the College Young Democrats of America. By affiliating with a national organization, they will be in closer contact with Democrats across the nation and will have a voice in national policy of the Young Democrats.

Future plans of the NSU

Demos include bringing the next national Young Democratic Convention to Las Vegas. Contacts have already been made with various national figures. An announcement is expected soon concerning the convention.

ATHLETIC FIELD COMPLETED; SPRINKLING SYSTEM IN

The much sought after and much needed athletic field is now on the southwest corner of the campus. When ready for use it will doubtless be another step forward in making NSU a successfully independent institution.

The field, located adjacent to the Health-Physical Education Building and directly south of it was completed March 21, the first day of Spring. To date the sprinkling system has been installed and the grass has been sown.

Measuring 450 feet in length and 300 feet wide the field will be used at the onset for the physical education classes.

The use for P.E. classes is preferential to use for intramurals and intercollegiate athletics because of the great number of students this activity involves.

Whitmore announced that the meetings of the committee will be open to the public. They will be held regularly on Wednesdays at 1:00 p.m. at the City Hall.

Strong opposition to the censoring was expressed, however, by McKay's Book Store at 221 N. 3rd St. Mrs. Dana McKay, owner of the book store, refused to remove the controversial book "Tropic of Cancer" from her shelf. She said, "It is a frightening thing to have censorship of books."

When asked what effect her opposition to the "censor committee" will have on her business, Mrs. McKay replied, "I will lose a few readers who prefer to have their reading materials selected for them by other people." She further said that many people have expressed their support of her views, but only two people have disagreed with her.

Nevada Southern Librarian Jerry W. Dye stepped into the controversy when he announced that the University library would support the "freedom to read" resolution by the American Library Association.

Mr. Dye said that he has both of the "Tropics," — "and Lady Chatterly's Lover, too," — available for students. "They will continue to be available," he said.

College Inn

By CLIFF FIELDS

Watch for the new look at Manny's College Inn in the future. There will be a new ice cream fountain and a different type of atmosphere to go along with the casual and friendly atmosphere at Manny's (formerly Pierre's).

As stated before, one of Manny's policies is to support school activities; therefore, dance parties will be and have been thrown for the students. But Mann needs the support of the students also. In order to have live music and a special guest entertainer, the students must attend.

Let's see everyone at the next College Inn dance in the future. Watch for the signs around campus.

The last dance sponsored by Nu Sigma Upsilon Sorority was held in honor of the basketball team. A Ray Charles album was won by Dave Moss for being the best limbo dancer.

Watch for more contests and prizes at the future dances.

Constitution Hassle Over

necessary to ratify the new Constitution. Under the existing Constitution a majority vote of all members of CSNS is necessary to change it. This is to say that a majority of all matriculated students would have to vote for the Constitution for it to pass.

In the past there has never been a majority vote turnout of the matriculated students.

The Executive Committee is seeking a ruling from the Judicial Committee to put aside the aforementioned requirement for passage, in favor of a majority vote of the voting members of the student body.

Phil Earl, chairman of the Judicial Committee, has taken the matter under consideration.

At this writing no official decision had been released.

Entrance requirements for Classified students have remained basically the same, the main changes being in Unclassified status. Dr. Shirley explained. Those who enter lacking specific subject matter, but not quality units, will enter as Unclassified students until the deficiencies are made up. Other Unclassified students will be from the three groups entering on Probation and listed above.

Students who do not pass the entrance exams may make up their deficiencies in any or all of 4 ways: (1) as a "Special" (formerly Nonmatric) student allowed to carry not more than 6 credits per semester and to apply a maximum of 12 credits toward a degree, (2) in summer session, (3) through correspondence courses, (4) through State-wide Service classes.

All who so desire may still attend the University but those who do not meet entrance requirements will be limited to a small load as part-time students until they have proven their ability to master college-level work.

Dr. Shirley also reminded NSU students that this will be the last semester that those not passing English entrance exams will be allowed to take English 101. As of June, '63, those not passing the exam will be re-

Swimming In Library Pool...

Progress always takes its toll. Thursday, March 14, an unidentified NSU student, who was accompanied by a young lady, took an unexpected dip in the lily pond in front of the library.

The construction crew had just sealed off the north approach to the front doors of the library. The only direct path was a six-inch precipice between the wet cement and the pond. The couple, not wanting to walk a quarter of a mile, chose the direct route. While only a few feet from safety, a sudden gust of wind caused the young man to lose his balance. He ungraciously toppled into the pond as his girl friend looked on helplessly.

Only minor bruises were sustained from the mishap. The girl was uninjured.

REBEL CREED TOLD

By JIM BEAVER

For years we of the post-war and wartime generation have been labeled with the name of "conservative."

High school and university instructors, well-versed in the powder-keg atmosphere so often associated with student life in other countries and, in the past, here in the United States, deplore apparent apathy of our group. They are sometimes heard to ask in wistful tones if student riots, goldfish swallowing, and panty raids still occur. They consider the Ft. Lauderdale scandals, phone booth stuffing, and Volkswagen filling as apologetic reflections of more radical ways.

We, of this generation, wish to defend ourselves. We point to our orderly social events and the generally quiet atmosphere surrounding our campus as examples of maturity.

Yet, somehow, we are still disturbed by the small sign on the wall of the Student Government Room, which proclaims our reactionary policy to the world:

DON'T STICK YOUR NECK OUT!

The historian must meet the same qualifications as the secretary and treasurer except that it is not necessary that the candidate be a business major.

SEE NEED FOR SECOND FRATERNITY

By ROBERT J. PARDINI

It has been suggested that the male students of N.S.U. should consider forming a second fraternity. With the natural competition that would arise between the two groups, both should improve.

A little healthy competition never hurt anyone. When there is only one organization in an area, it tends to become complacent. This is not a criticism of any group; it is meant as a helpful suggestion.

It would broaden the social activities on campus and give more male students the opportunity to belong to a campus organization.

Anyone interested in forming a fraternity should read the requirements in Beau's Bits and contact the counseling office for further information.

Someone should check the record books to see if the Boy's JV bowling team will set a new record of most games lost in one season. Presently the JV boys have a record of 2 wins and 42 LOSSES. Of course we can always say there HAS to be improvement; they cannot get any worse.

Michael Drakulich, head coach of the Rebel baseball team, probably wishes he were back coaching the basketball team. His low-flying Rebels so far have lost four and won not one game. Coach Drakulich's comment was, "We will have rough sledding until we have experience." He also stated, "It is quite a jump for college freshmen just out of high school to go into college baseball." Coach Drakulich can indeed look for improvement from his fledgling team, if he coaches baseball as well as basketball.

College basketball has its last and biggest splurge in the post season tournaments, where the top-ranked teams of the nation compete for top honors.

In the NCAA Nationals at Louisville, Kentucky, the Cincinnati Bearcats hope for their third straight national title and their number one rating all season will probably prove to be true. Duke, now ranked second in the nation, is the only team that has a chance of squelching the Bearcats' hopes. Third-ranked Chicago Loyola will be slowed down by Cincinnati if they ever reach the finals. Oregon State, not even ranked in the top ten, will surely fall to the deliberate attack of the Bearcats in the semis despite the efforts of 7-foot Mel Counts and All-American football player Terry Baker.

The results will be known by the time you read this.

Spring is here, even though there is still snow on Mt. Charleston. Although not many people find skiing very popular in Las Vegas, I am sure that everyone will enjoy the everyday sport of she-ing.

Rebels Face Ceder City Saturday

SEEK FIRST WIN OF BASEBALL SEASON

The Rebel Baseball Team meets the College of Southern Utah's nine Saturday, March 30, at Cashman Field. The first game of the double-header will start at 1:00 p.m.

The Nevada Southern Rebels dropped their first six games of the 1963 season. The Rebels started the season by dropping two games to Grand Canyon College 7-0 and 11-0, in Phoenix. In their first home game series Nevada Southern baseballers dropped two to Weber College, 8-2 and 10-2. Against the College of Southern Utah's nine the Rebs again fell twice, 15-9 and 22-3.

In Phoenix, Steve Paulus, of Grand Canyon shut out the Rebels twice, 7-0 and 11-0. In their first two games the Rebels managed only seven hits; Jerry Goyeneche accounted for five, and held the Antelopes to only one base during the last six innings of the first game.

Hank Sena was on the hill when Grand Canyon whitewashed the Rebels 11-0.

Weber College in the Rebs first home game broke open a close 3-2 game in the two final innings by scoring five runs. Jim Romero whalloped one over the fence in the third inning to tie it up at 1-1. Rick Stanfield made the second run for the Rebels when Hank Sena hit a double. Jerry Goyeneche took the mound in the first game of the double-header.

In the second game the Wildcats from Utah scored four points before Nevada Southern made a run in the third inning. Weber College added four more in the fifth inning. The Rebels picked up their second run in the sixth, when Jerry Goyeneche scored on a single by Mike Howerly. Weber scored runs in the seventh and eighth innings to wrap it up 10-2.

8 O'CLOCK CLASS:

As each new day begins to dawn I make my way to school, To listen to the teacher's speech and talk to kids who are cool.

First to the new library to sit and smoke and talk, then across the desert's street to old Pierre's I walk.

A cup of coffee for a dime to warm my waking heart. A nickle more (a refill) then off to class I dart.

From teacher's lips still stiff with sleep I hear the wisdom that he speaks

And ase the bell, its hour keeps I make my way to my heap.

The engine shudders, coughs a bit then starts no longer dead. To wing me homeward to my pad and I go back to bed.

GOLF TEAM READIES FOR BYU MATCH

The NSU golf team swings into final practice sessions at the Tropicana Country Club before their match with Brigham Young University, March 30.

Bob Coffins heads the NSU golfers in both experience and playing ability. Rick Holland remains a strong second man, backed up by Jim Sherwin. Marshall Deutsch, Pat Wilde and Robert Perlove round out the six-man team. Jim Roberts practices with the team as an alternate.

Members of the golf team hope to gain experience this year, playing some colleges and local high schools, in order that golf may be played as a major sport at Nevada Southern next year. The team is not striving for a spectacular record.

No results were available on matches that the golf team played with local high schools last week.

Comments From Other Papers

The following is an editorial which appeared in the April 20, 1962, issue of the Cascade College of Portland, Oregon publication, The Lookout. It deals with the ethics of Newspapers to which the Rebel Yell ascribes:

EDITORIAL

EDITORS NOTE:

Below are two items which were received by us recently from the International Student Conference. Although this appears to be remote from Cascade, where, to my knowledge, there has been no great suppression of the student press, it does affect us. The student body of Cascade is a member of the United States National Student Association, which, in turn, participates in the ISC. I have printed it with two things in mind: 1. It involves us and so we need to be informed on both its content and its implications; 2. although it is weighted against censorship, it does represent a possible charter and code of ethics, even for us. D.S.

This International Student Press Conference still considers the Charter of Student Press, as readopted by the 9th International Student Conference of Klosters, Switzerland, in August of 1960, as valid.

"Whereas a free and vigorous press is an essential feature of a democratic society, and

"Whereas the student press has the duty and right to fill this role, and

"Whereas the aims of the student press cannot be achieved unless its independence from all forms of external interference or censorship is maintained inviolate,

"The 9th International Student Press Conference hereby declares the following conditions essential for a free student press:

a. The Student Press Conference hereby declares the spirit of the United Nations (Draft) Convention on Freedom of Information, should be free from regulation by any organ of the government or by the university authorities;

b. The student press, except where it is an official organ of a student organization, should be free from regulation by other student organizations;

c. The student press should be free from all pressures, financial and otherwise, from external groups;

d. The student press should have free access to information and the same rights and privileges as afforded to regularly accredited journalists.

"The 9th International Student Conference, also recognizing that the student press bears great responsibilities to students by virtue of its power to influence student opinion, further declares that is should be mindful of these responsibilities and continually strive to keep above partisan considerations and should endeavor at all times to act in conformity with all the Principles of Cooperation." (Editor's note: May we substitute "Christianity" for "Cooperation"?)

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE STUDENT PRESS

This International Student Press Conference, believing that all student publications throughout the world should respect the basic principles of human rights and that they should maintain good quality workmanship and a high standard of conduct, recommends the following Code of Ethics for observance by student journalists:

1. The student journalist should strive continuously to be unbiased and accurate in his reports and should equip himself adequately with facts to support his published statements. He should fully realize his personal responsibility for everything he submits for publication.
2. The student journalist should reveal his identity as a representative of the student press before obtaining any interview for publication.
3. The editor should not exclude a student point of view solely because it is contrary to the editorial policy.
4. The editor should apologize in print at the first available opportunity for all mistakes.
5. A student journalist should defend freedom through the honest collection and publication of news and facts and news and facts and through the right of fair comment and criticism.
6. A student journalist should respect all confidences regarding sources of information and private documents. He should not falsify information of documents or distort or misrepresent the facts.
7. Student journalists should be familiar with the laws of libel and contempt of court which exist in their country and should observe the international copyright agreement—unless this interferes with the freedom of the press or the need to inform the public on vital matters. Every effort should be made to retain the independence of all student publications from public relations, censorship, pressure or undue influence from any outside body, political, governmental, religious and universities. Official publications of a student union, however, have a particular responsibility to that Union. (Editor's note: Specifically, as Christian journalists it is our duty to be open to one outside force, the Holy Spirit.)

Faculty Members Take Stand On 'Tropic' Ban

The banning of Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer" by the City Attorney's Censorship Committee has raised considerable controversy and comment by educators at Nevada Southern.

Some of the educators are openly against censorship of Miller's book, while others wonder, "Who has the right to censor?"

Assistant Professor of English, Dr. Paul C. Harris, turns against censorship thus: "The furor over Henry Miller's 'Tropic of Cancer' is disturbing to me because once the idea of censorship is approved, a chain reaction could threaten one's right to choose what he reads. This is not the American way of life."

Mr. William F. Burns, of the Political Science Department, attacks the Censorship Committee by saying:

"The Committee that decided to censor Henry Miller's 'Tropic of Cancer' has probably invaded an area of free expression protected by the First Amendment. If the book is not legally obscene, as many literary critics and writers have claimed, the action is beyond the legitimate authority of city and state officials. Equally as dubious, perhaps, is the competence of the members of the committee to make such an evaluation."

Dr. Jacob Orleans, Professor of Psychology, points out the role of the Supreme Court and the government:

"The United States Supreme Court is the ultimate authority of the interpretation of the laws of our country. It has in a number of occasions rendered decisions on cases involving censorship and has repeatedly ruled that the individual has the right to decide for himself what he shall read. The attempts of censoring groups to ban books is no more than attempts to change our government from government by laws to government by men."

Assistant Professor of English, Dr. Charles L. Adams, considers the purpose and the definition of obscenity thus:

"In my opinion, 'The Tropic of Cancer' is an obscene book. I know why I think so. (And, incidentally, I think the real obscenity in the book is only occasionally connected with sex.) But I can't help wondering what the committee members mean by obscene, if they mean the same thing I do, if they object to the book for the same reasons, do they object to Miller's use of certain words, in his descriptions of sexual acts, or to the combination? If so, where do they intend to draw the line in book-banning? (I wonder if the committee would consider banning my Chaucer course, which, incidentally, is required of all secondary English teachers. Chaucer uses almost the same words to describe the same acts.)

"Or does the committee object to what they believe to be Miller's intention in writing the book? Or to its philosophical content? I wonder if they have really studied the work as thoroughly as that kind of evaluation would require.

"Perhaps the real point is not whether this work contains obscenity, but what the purpose of the obscenity is. Numerous greta writers have used, functionally, what I think the committee members mean by obscenity. The problem is to evaluate its use.

"I wonder if the committee members are qualified to make such an evaluation, or, most important, to forbid others to make their own evaluations."

Associate Professor of Education, Dr. Floyd Scritchfield, examines the right to censor and the right to think in his defense of free thought:

"When any society or segment thereof takes official action to dictate what its citizens shall and shall not read through proscription of certain written materials by name or by type, it has taken the first step along the path which leads to complete thought-control. Such action, if allowed to stand, may and will be used as a precedent for any future group, social, religious, or political, which happens to have the power of coercion.

"There is no logical place to stop along this path short of complete control. Social action of this type, although it may have the highest of purposes, opens the door for a future Hitler or Stalin.

"If a society wishes to act positively and nonself-destructively in this area, it must do so through the education of children and youth. Inquiry into and discussion concerning the moral values held by a society plus a very thorough examination of the reasons for such values being held must be a shared task of parents, religious leaders, and the schools.

"Historically, one of the tests of the viability and potential greatness of a culture or civilization has been the relative freedom of its members to think, inquire, read, write, compose, paint, experiment, make choices, and to communicate such experiences in living to others.

"It is to be hoped that the great American socio-political experiment will not fail. It would be ironic, indeed, if it were to fall by its own hand."

In general, these Nevada Southern educators question the right to censor rather than what should be censored. These men have examined the root of the question that arose when the Attorney's Censorship Committee banned the "Tropic of Cancer" here in Las Vegas, with serious thought and consideration.

Mrs. Nel Jeffers, Counselor at Nevada Southern, may have pointed out another essential truth when she said: "For sales promotion, there's nothing like being 'Banned in Boston,' even though the 'Tropic of Cancer' was only banned in Las Vegas.

lab. The old Physics lab was converted into what is now the counseling and guidance center of the school.

During the fall semester of this year, the old library and its annex were converted to suit the needs of the growing art department.

The many improvements are the results of the hard working Buildings and Grounds staff. The staff consists of Harold Jamison, carpenter and painter; Charles Munfrade, maintenance, mechanic and painter; Sam Hoag, electrician; and the general improvement of the landscaping is due to the efforts of Earl Perry, gardener.

The work progressed under the unofficial supervision of Red Jeurgens, general maintenance mechanic. The entire project was under the supreme direction of Jack De Fevere, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

A vote of thanks should also be extended to the night crew, which skillfully handles the tremendous task of keeping the campus looking clean and nice.

The night crew consists of John Leyva, Dave Ennis, Jabus Cotton, Walter Rusk, Robert Gilbert, Charles Davis and Wash Morton, who are under the supervision of Ken Meekes, night foreman.

Bible on New Subcommittee

WASHINGTON: Senator Alan Bible has been named to the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee which deals with the fiscal expenditures of three agencies vital to Nevada—the Atomic Energy Commission, the Bureau of Reclamation, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Bible's appointment to the Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works was in line with his growing seniority in the United States Senate, where he is now in his ninth year of service.

"I am pleased that my colleagues have seen fit to appoint me to this subcommittee," Bible said, "particularly because its area of responsibility covers the activities of agencies playing such an important role in Nevada's welfare."

From his position on the Appropriations Committee, Bible also serves on subcommittees that pass on expenditures covering military construction; labor, and health, education, and welfare; interior and insular affairs; and state, justice, and commerce and the judiciary.

Additionally, Bible is a ranking member of the Senate Interior Committee, and chairman of that group's, Public Lands Subcommittee, as well as serving as chairman of the District of Columbia Committee, and as a member of the Select Small Business Committee and the Special Committee on Problems of the Aging.
