TOP SPACE SCIENTIST SPEAKS— German-born scientist Willy Ley spoke on "The Conquest of Space" here April 15. Ley spoke on advances now being made by both Russia and the United States into space, as well as the history of rocket development. Willy Ley was the third of the speakers brought to Las Vegas in "The Campus Lecture Series."

A REVIEW

Performance of Matchmaker Seen As 'Terrific' Here

By SHERI McDONALD

When a person reviews a student production, she can't help but be a bit "soft" because she knows the students have poured their hearts out trying to perfect their play, while at the same time keeping up with their classes, jobs and other activities. She also knows the director has a limited amount of funds and resources and must also take this into consideration.

But in the case of the Little Theatre production "The Matchmaker," none of the aforementioned aspects have to be considered to put the play in a "good light"; one can't help rave about the production because it is just plain terrific!

In just a matter of weeks, Mr. Jerry Crawford, Penny Praige, student director, and of course the cast have put together a delightful comedy which played to full house crowds last weekend.

Susie Brown is perfect as the cloddish matchmaker, Mrs. Levi, as is Dr. Allen McIntyre in his portrayal of the no-nonsense Mr. Vandergelder.

Mary Lou Savage, who has been in every Nevada Southern production for two years, finally got cast in a role where she doesn't have to wear foam padding or cold cream. Her portrayal of Mrs. Malloy is delightful.

The parts of Rich Perozzi as Cornelius and his sidekick Barnaby as played by Brody Graves, add a genuine touch of hilarity.

When you see Jackie Womble as a seventy-year-old grouch, you will find it unbelievable that she could be one of the campus's most attractive co-eds.

Another stellar player is Ernestine Elms, who portrays the silly, rather dim-witted employee at Mrs. Malloy's hat shoppe.

At the risk of sounding gushy, this reporter thinks "The Matchmaker" is one of the best plays Nevada Southern has ever presented.

Special mention should be made of the great help that Mrs. Patricia Crawford has been to the production. Mrs. Crawford designed and made most of the costumes—no easy task since the play calls for the puffed sleeves, half-bustles and long trains of 1898. She also designed and painted the sets.

The students who have worked in "The Matchmaker" as well as the crews, are devoted to Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, who both seem to have that "certain something" that makes a performer want to do his very best.

There are still a few seats available for the April 25-27 performances. Call the University switchboard at RE 6-2222 or see Mary Lou Savage about seat reservations.

Flamingo Site of Dance

Friday, May 3, 1963, is the date of the ninth annual Confederate Cotillion. The dance will be held in the Sage Room of the Flamingo Hotel. Dancing will begin at 8:30 p.m., and will last 'til midnight.

"Nebulus" is the theme of this year's Cotillion. The room will be decorated in blue and white.

The Cotillion will mark the end of two weeks of suffering for those who ran for Cotillion Queen.

The formal dance highlights the end of the Nevada Southern social season.

It is hoped that the entire student body will come and enjoy themselves at this, the main event of the Spring Semester.

The dance is being presented by the CSNS Executive Committee. The Flamingo Hotel is arranging the music for the dance, so no one really knows what orchestra will be playing.

World Famous Mathematician Lectures Here

Professor Jan Van der Corput, one of the outstanding mathematicians in the world, lectured on campus to EG&G scientists and other scientists connected with AEC and NASA activities here in Nevada yesterday. The lecture, open to the public, was given in the gym.

Edgerton, Germeshausen & Grier invited this famous scientist to Las Vegas as the first lecturer in a series planned for the technical community of Southern Nevada.

Professor Corput is in the habit of writing down and putting into a shoe box various original ideas and problems that occur to him in his work. He has a closet full of such shoe boxes. When a student comes to him and needs a problem for the subject of a Ph.D. thesis, the professor opens one of the shoe boxes and hands him a problem.

One of his students, R. B. Kelman, who rose to be Special Science Adviser to President Eisenhower, once said in jest that although he hoped Van der Corput would put him down in his will for a couple of Rembrandts, he would equally prize one of the professor's shoe boxes.

The Power Of Resistance

We did it! We stepped on a lot of toes and made some very influential people very uncomfortable. Naturally, they retaliated. President Armstrong demanded an investigation. The State Legislature threatened to disband without considering the passing of any funds for NSU. I have it upon good authority that the alumni of Reno conducted a vigorous campaign against our campus. The Reno Gazette, Nevada State Journal, Carson City Appeal, and the Sagebrush printed editorials which were absolutely directed against Nevada Southern and, in effect, against the better interest of the State.

The greatest share of blame belongs to the citizens of Northern Nevada. It is their ignorance, their stupidity and their blind prejudice which is choking the very breath of life out of Southern Nevada. For many decades the "damn Yankees" ruled the state. I might even say with tyrannically sadistic pleasure. It was easily accomplished. We were babes in a world of Jeckels and Hydes. These northern citizens are now in the process of being forced to view the sleeping giant with anewed freshness. I believe the time has arrived when they recognize the fact that they cannot keep Southern Nevada in the gutter without also pulling themselves into the slimy, slushy substance called defeat and apathy. I believe that when Southern Nevada reaches and surpasses the northern section, in economic and cultural aspects, we, too, will rule without recourse unless we now receive a fair shake from Reno. This is not a threat; it is a fact.

In my opinion, the demonstration was a success. Governor Grant Sawyer stated that the bill that supplied the financing for the dorms was passed many hours before the demonstration was staged. Perhaps it was. There is a greater possibility that it was not.

Does it not stand to reason that if the bill had been passed we or the administration would have received word? When someone is proud of an accomplishment, he usually tells the world. When an Assemblyman or Senator finally gets around to passing a bill, he not only tells the world, but tries to relay his voice by Telestar to the moon. It is the opinion of the REBEL YELL that the Assembly did not pass this bill twenty-four hours before the demonstration, and that they had no intention of passing it a month after the demonstration. I maintain that we, the student body, should and do have every right to say that we passed that bill. What does this mean? It means that we threw a scare into the bigwigs that they will not soon forget. I might add that we will conduct a bigger and better demonstration in the future if the circumstances demand it.

I am sure you all know that President Armstrong called for an investigation of the whole demonstration. Exactly what this investigation meant, I do not know. Maybe the following comment, made by the president during his visit on the campus on April 18, will shed light on his use of the word "investigation."

"I commend the students of Nevada Southern for all of the legitimate efforts which they made to support the University's budget needs in the legislature during this session, which include the letters, petitions, and telephone calls to members of the legislature, and the parade to stimulate local interest. All of these are quite proper and in good taste, and I am pleased that the students have shown the interest and initiative in undertaking this kind of campaign. The University cannot support or condone methods which are offensive or in bad taste, and which certainly do not typify the students at Nevada Southern."

I assume the latter quote refers to the hanging in effigy of the Governor and Senator McGowan. The question is "Were the hangings in bad taste?" Our student government thinks they were. It is a fact that the Student Government did not in the original plans consider the possibilities of the effigies. In fact, they have gone on record as opposing, at least half-heartedly, the stringings at the time of the rally. Even so, they did go along with the general feeling that the hangings would add spice to the whole procedure. Now then, did the Executive Council have a right to apologize for the incident? If so, did the apologies represent the general consensus of the entire student body? If the answer to the last question is affirmative, then the Executive Council had a moral obligation to apologize. It is the opinion of the REBEL YELL that the Student Body as a whole is inclined to think that an apology should at least be made to the Governor. It is also our opinion that the hangings were in relative bad taste. This does not mean that the students are losing sleep over this ethical issue, nor does it mean that they consider the petitions, parade on Fremont, or the camp-out in bad taste. That is all we, the students, apologized for.

On April 18, 1963, a delegation composed of Ron Hamilton, Ginger Cavanaugh, and Wendell Johnson, met with Governor Grant Sawyer in the state capital. There were three reasons which prompted this visit: a desire to extend to the Governor a personal invitation to visit and speak with the Nevada Southern students, a desire to ferret out the names of those who worked hardest to suppress the growth of N.S.U., and our wish to understand exactly what bills had been passed and what bills had no chance of passing. I believe we scored on all three points. After our short but fruitful visit in Carson City, we had made an appointment with the Governor to visit

Reno Editor 'Hanged'

The editor of the SAGEBRUSH, Reno campus newspaper, was hanged in effigy last week by a Nevada Southern student. I have this to say about that: It is too bad that he was not hanged for real.

You are wondering about the sudden outburst. You want an explanation. Fine. It will be my pleasure.

SAGEBRUSH EDITORIALS . . .

A House Divided

During the session of the current Nevada legislature, one of the favorite topics of conversation among students, faculty members and administrators of the University of Nevada has been the University budget. Long and loud outcries against cuts in the budget have been raised by all factions.

Now that the legislature is near adjournment, however, and the fight finished for another two years, University supporters might look seriously toward another danger to the future of the University. That danger lies in the noisy determination of southern Nevadans to raise the University's Las Vegas division to a position equal with the main campus in Reno.

Evident of this determination is the moniker they have tacked on the southern regional division — "Nevada Southern University" — although "NSU" is only considered on a par with any of the University's seven colleges.

The latest move toward equality took the form of a 50-50 split on book appropriations. The Reno campus got $125,000 and old "NSU" took in a like amount. If this action is any indication of things to come, then the main campus will be placed on a two-way appropriation dole with its southern fledgling in the future.

This means two things: (1) Nevada Southern, even with a 50-50 split, will not be equal to the Reno campus in the foreseeable future, and (2) the University of Nevada will fall behind in its effort to raise itself to a competitive position with other universities.

The University of Nevada is on the move in academic circles. It has Ph.D. programs, a library that is on the way up, improved faculty and academic standards, and some branches. It should be remembered that Nevada Southern is a branch — a southern regional division — and nothing more.

If Las Vegas continue their pressure for equality, they will succeed only in weakening the University as a whole. The most sensible action on their part would be to finance expansion themselves. The main campus, serving on entire state in all levels of post-secondary education, must not be weakened by the pressure of sectional interests.

Robbing Peter to pay Paul in this instance can result only in leaving both too weak to meet the educational demands of the nation's fastest growing state.

Political Responsibility

In a democratic system such as ours, representatives of the people are elected by popular consensus of the majority of the members who display enough interest in what is going on to vote. That is the governmental principle in our nation.

Here at N.S.U. the governmental principle is the same. Students who take an interest in our school select representatives to lead them. These representatives, thus, realize they have the support of the majority of the active members of the student body. In return, they are also aware that they are to some extent obligated to advance to views of their supporters. Doing so is fair play, but only so long as they do not turn our government into a steam-roller, leveling all demands made upon them by members of the minority.

The problem a representative must face is advancing the ideas and programs of his supporters and at the same time preserving respect for minority opinion. This problem is espe-

LETTERS To the EDITOR

Mr. Wendell Johnson
 Editor, Rebel Yell
 University of Nevada
 Las Vegas, Nevada
 Dear Wendell:

I have reviewed your editorial of February 29, 1963. In light of the editorial and letters I have received and recent demonstrations, I would like to make a few comments concerning Nevada Southern and the University of Nevada in general.

First, let me say that I most certainly do wish to see Nevada Southern grow and it must grow at a rate faster than the population of the area is growing.

A rate of growth equal to the population would not allow Nevada Southern to catch up to the current demands for higher education in southern Nevada.

Since growth can be measured physically by the capital improvements program, I should like to review that growth with you.

Prior to 1959, an amount of $60,000 had been appropriated for land acquisition and funds were authorized for two buildings.

In 1959, we were successful in securing an appropriation of $550,000 for a classroom and P. E. building, as well as $90,400 for other capital improvements. In 1960, we obtained appropriations of $657,600 for a Science and Technology building, $213,500 for land acquisition as well as an additional $89,250 for other projects. (The land acquisition was particularly important, since it has provided space for a greatly enlarge campus and should provide for more logical overall planning.) In 1961, I recommended and the Legislature appropriated $682,500 for a Library building as well as $133,500 for furnishing, utilities, etc.

Since 1959, therefore, we have been able to build a classroom building and a P. E. building, a Science building and a Library, as well as purchase additional land for a total capital improvements appropriation by the three legislatures of $2,416,750.

In reviewing these matters before submitting my budget recommendations to the 1963 Legislature, I felt that while great progress had been made, much more should be done. I, therefore, recommended to the present Legislature that authorization be given for a Fine Arts building and for dormitory and dining facilities, as well as $100,000 for walks, utilities and landscaping.

As I understand the present thinking of the Legislature, the dorm and dining facilities may not be approved. I believe, with the Board of Regents, that these facilities are a must and am doing everything possible to convince the Legislature that the buildings are a necessity.

Also, important to Nevada Southern is the amount appropriated in the operating budget. As you probably know, I make recommendations to the Legislature on the basis of availability of funds within the present tax structure.

For the University of Nevada as a unit, I recommended for the next biennium (1963-65) a total of $12,492,421 from the general fund or 13 per cent of the entire general fund budget and up 22.9 per cent over the appropriations for the present biennium. Adding the general fund appropriations which will go to primary and secondary education, it appears that something more than 70 per cent of the state's general fund will go to education.

The amount I recommended was not the amount I felt could have been used to advantage by the University of Nevada, but was what was available within the present tax structure. As you probably know, the Board of Regents distributes the appropriation between the two campuses. However, in judging the needs of the University of

PRESENTING NEWS FROM THE NEWMAN CLUB

The Red Hat

BY MIKE BARRY

Elections for new club officers were held Sunday, April 21, at the regular monthly meeting. Results are as follows:

President—Paul Steffens
 Vice President—Joe Graziano
 Treasurer—Mike Barry
 Recording Secretary—Toni Miller
 Corresponding Secretary—

Betty Pederson
 Historian—Bob Pardini

Our new leaders' take office at the end of this semester, at which time a very tired and very, very successful crew will step down and bid them welcome.

Although an official recoup and pat on the back is coming in the next issue, the membership, the ones for whom you worked so hard, wish to say to you our past officers — thank you, thank you for our most successful year.

The Newman Club will present a fashion show titled "The Spring Spree of Fashions," in the Gorman High School gymnasium on Sunday, May 19, 1963. Fashions to be modeled by male and female members of the club will be from MISS BOBBIE'S and RONZONE'S.

Tickets are available from any Newmanite at $1.50 each. Door prizes are to be given, and a raffle will be held at 25 cents a chance for a stereo record player.

Regrettably, the weekly lectures on theology by Rev. C. J. Caviglia have been discontinued for lack of an adequate audience. Father Caviglia has expressed hope that a better organized program next year will bring more participation.

A Newmanite is a paid, card-carrying member of the Newman Club. He must be an active participant in club activities. He must be willing to have a good time—all the time. And he might or might not be crazy, although it helps a great deal.

Would you like to gain admission to our padded cell? Get in touch with our present leader, Mr. Leonard Para-Yelinek, Jr., at 1324 E. Oakey Blvd. (735-7523) today.

Liberty, Freedom And Other Things

By ROBERT J. PARDINI,
 Assistant Editor

"We are endowed by our creator with certain unalienable rights and that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The preceding words were taken from the Declaration of Independence, one of the basic documents upon which this country was founded. To attend the University of Nevada, either branch, it seems that you must give up two of these unalienable rights which are essential to true freedom—liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

A person being a student or whatever must have the liberty to engage in whatever political activity he or she pleases, as long as he stays within the laws of our Government. It is fine to keep political rallies and campaigns off campus. What a student does off campus is his or her own business.

Citizens must remain free to direct their political activities toward the ends that they regard as necessary no matter what occupation they ensue.

In regard to the telegram that I wrote which was sent to President Kennedy, I wish to state my reasons for sending it. Contrary to certain persons' beliefs, it was not an attempt at sensationalism. The aim of the telegram was not specifically to get federal intervention. I felt that the President has plenty of pressing national problems on his mind and would probably not have the time to worry about our problem here. The telegram was intended to influence certain state officials to get off the dime and do something.

I knew that the telegram would probably annoy a lot of politicians, but I felt that it would be worth it if it provoked the action needed.

All is over now but the shouting. The state officials did take action and the school made out rather well. We ended up getting much more than it appeared we would get when the student political movement took place.

I wish to thank Governor Sawyer(?), Lieutenant Governor Paul Laxalt, and the various legislators who did much to aid our cause. It also would be well to thank Mr. Kennedy and his cabinet for inquiring from the Dean what was going on down here.

The editor of the Sagebrush seems to be afraid that Reno will lose in something besides basketball.

Congratulations should be extended to the Drama Department for the excellent job done on the production of "The Matchmaker" over the past two weekends.

our campus May 17. We also knew the names of those legislators who opposed the bill and some of their reasons for doing so. On April 18, it was a foregone conclusion that the dorms would be built, the federal health building would be constructed, and the social science building would be taken off the drawing board and placed on our campus.

Contrary to what has been printed in newspapers of the state, this meeting was not designed to be a second inquisition. In the opinion of this three-man delegation, the meeting could in no way be interpreted as a knock-down, drag-out fight. Protocol was observed to the limit.

QUESTION: AFTER TEACHING AT OTHER COLLEGES, COMMENT ON NEVADA SOUTHERN'S STUDENT ACADEMIC STANDARDS AND/OR BEHAVIOR CHARACTERISTICS AS COMPARED WITH THOSE OF OTHER COLLEGES (ASKED OF NSU FACULTY MEMBERS).

MRS. SIGRID YLISTO
Assistant Professor of Education

I have found Nevada Southern teacher education students to be sincerely interested in newer methods and materials of teaching. Nevada Southern students appreciate the opportunity to get a higher education at home, in southern Nevada, where many will eventually teach.

EUGENE J. BEISNER
Instructor Political Science

Considering only those remaining at the end of the semester, the students of Nevada Southern are as good and bad as students in the other two colleges where I've taught, with one exception. Nearly all the students here are more sophisticated, or perhaps just jaded; nevertheless, this sharpens their sense of reality, tending to make the good student extremely perceptive and the poor student a hopeless cynic.

DR. SIGRID MOE
Associate Professor of English

I have never seen such extremes as we have here. On one hand I have students who are doing the type of work I have encountered in graduate seminars. On the other hand I have students whose attitudes toward education would be frowned upon in grade schools.

HERBERT WELLS
Assistant Professor of Engineering and Science

The standards of this University are comparable to most good state and private universities in the West. This is borne out by an approval from various accrediting bodies such as the Engineering Council for Professional Development. Students in my classes are quite capable of the work required, though some are not as zealous as they could be.

MARY C. BORDEAUX
Lecturer Romance Languages

After teaching at other colleges and universities I can say that the academic standards and performances of Nevada Southern students are as good as I have seen anywhere. There is a spirit of loyalty to the University, a seriousness of purpose in classes and a courtesy to professors that make it a pleasure to teach here.

DR. PAUL C. HARRIS
Assistant Professor of Speech, Drama, and English

In my judgment, the academic standards at Nevada Southern are high. From what I know of my colleagues, they are a sound, knowledgeable staff. To keep Nevada Southern constantly improving itself, however, we still need to keep building our library holdings, increase the staff, and developing our cultural programming. We must not stand still!

Reminder Issued On Student Organizations Report

Mrs. Jeffers, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, announced last week that the end of the year reports for student organizations will be due no later than one week prior to the end of the spring semester. The deadline for this year is May 24.

Each organization is to furnish an annual report of its activities with five copies to each committee, including a list of members and officers, sponsors, a financial statement, changes in the constitution and bylaws, and a summary of its activities and progress. The financial report must include the dues paid by members and an itemized statement of the expenses of the organization.

Organizations that fail to comply with this regulation will not be listed in Beau's Bits for next year as official student organizations and will not be recognized as having official status in the University until the report is submitted.

When Caesar was stabbed by Brutus on the steps of the Roman Forum, he turned to his erstwhile friend and, with tears in his eyes, said "Ouch!"

ERIK PENGEILY

Noted Biologist Erik Pengelly Speaks at Student Assembly

Erik T. Pengelly, a visiting biologist from University of California in Riverside spoke to 80 students at the assembly on April 18. Mr. Pengelly, from the American Institute of Biological Sciences, was invited by the school to speak upon "Religion of a Biologist."

Mr. Pengelly believes there is no God, and therefore no religion should exist. To illustrate his point of view, he stressed the following: Life is the result of environment and environment is the editor of life. Man is a detail of the Universe. All religions turn against each other, producing many faiths, each faith believing it has the key to eternal life. There are too many faiths too dedicated to the concept of saving. All religions will die if there is not another world war. Darwin's theory proves that there is no God as well as any other historical document can prove anything.

From Under the Thumb

It is very easy to be critical of the actions and attitudes of the Nevada Southern student body. It is easy because we give cause and justification for much of the criticism we receive. We seem to have a contradictory attitude towards our school; our interest in club activities is limited, if not stagnant; yet, when we have the opportunity to show enthusiasm in a protest rally, we turn out in great numbers and are successful. What can be the reason for such inconsistency?

For ten years Nevada Southern has been struggling for a place in this community, and acceptance as a full-time, fully accredited university. This fight has been borne, for the most part, by our faculty; however, they have been dependent on the performance of the students to carry the cause. The attitude of controlling interests in Northern Nevada has made this struggle seem, at times, to be a hopeless task—this is why our attitude is inconsistent.

Very seldom are we presented with a specific goal for which to fight, and when we have one, our leadership is weak and our lines of thought split in many directions.

Recall for a moment the repercussions of our recent demonstrations for dormitories. Dr. Charles D. Armstrong, the president of our university, actually apologized for our behavior, and then ordered Dean Carlson to conduct an investigation and take appropriate disciplinary action. With that type of discouragement from above, we won't get organized for a long time. Most of us will be afraid to speak our minds in the future, because the threat of disciplinary action continues to hang over our heads.

There are at least two things needed before the "student apathy" at NSU will disappear: (1) freedom for us to be able to think, speak, and act as citizens without public criticism from our faculty; and (2) a place to speak our minds and organize our units of expression—WE NEED A STUDENT UNION! With these things taken care of, this place might begin to look and act like the University it is supposed to be.

Lee Pivornick, NSU French Instructor, Now Organizing 33-Day European Tour

Lee Pivornick, French teacher at LVHS and Nevada Southern University, and European travel writer for the Las Vegas Sun, is currently organizing a 33-day tour to Europe in conjunction with Wide World Travel Agency. The tour is open for 25 French students, ages 15 to 18, and also college students.

Known as the Fleur De Lis Tour, the varied itinerary, planned by Mrs. Pivornick, will include six countries, 15 major cities, special attractions, theater parties and dinner at several famous restaurants. Two thirds of the time will be spent in France and Switzerland, giving the students ample opportunity to use their French.

Tentative plans include group departure by jet from Las Vegas to New York about June 10, trans-Atlantic flight via K.L.M. (Royal Dutch Airlines) to Amsterdam, de luxe motor coach travel on the continent (with stop-overs) to Brussels, Paris, Versailles, Mont Saint Michel, the Chateaux country, Geneva, Nice, Monte Carlo, the Italian Riviera, Pisa, Rome, Florence, Milan, Lucerne, Heidelberg and Cologne.

In addition to the usual sight-seeing, souvenir buying and shopping, there will be a canal cruise in Amsterdam, an official welcome in Paris at the Hotel de Ville (City Hall), an evening at the Opera, a performance at the Comedid Francaise, briefing and lunch at SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers of Europe), a boat trip on the Seine, an electric train ride up Mont Blanc in Switzerland, sunning and swimming on the French Riviera, a tour of the Palace at Monaco, an excursion to Rome's Villa d'Este, lunch at the Euromast Tower Restaurant in Rotterdam, and a Rhine steamer trip.

Return flight from Amsterdam to New York-Las Vegas will be about July 13.

For further information, parents of French students from other schools in southern Nevada may contact Rick Williams at "Wide World Travel Agency" or Lee Pivornick at Las Vegas High School. Limited reservations are available.

Sen. Bible Objects to Re-Organization Of Reno Internal Revenue Dist. Office

WASHINGTON—Senator Alan Bible, pursuing his protest of a proposed reorganization of the Reno office of the Internal Revenue Service, says the action would fail to result in substantial taxpayers' savings as contended by IRS Commissioner Mortimer Caplin.

Appearing before the Senate Finance Committee, Bible took aim at Caplin's claim that transferring the functions of the Reno office to San Francisco would net an annual savings of $153,100.

Instead, Bible declared, the transfer would result in a savings of only $900, which he added would be lost by long distance telephone calls and personnel trips necessitated by handling Nevada tax matters from San Francisco.

The Nevada Democrat also pointed to the deterioration in service to the rapidly growing state which would be caused by the transfer. Additionally, Bible said, the timing of Caplin's announcement of the proposed changes has seriously affected the morale of the Reno staff, many of whom are long-time, career employees who have made their homes in Reno.

Rebels Dump UCR In First Win

Wolf Pack Triumphs Over Rebs

CRACK!—Rick Stanfill (7) raps a hit as the Rebels lost to Arizona State College (Flagstaff) here in Las Vegas. The Rebels racked up their 13th and 14th straight losses as ASC triumphed 6-1 and 1-0.

The Rebels remain idle this weekend after posting their first wins of the season. The Nevada Southern baseballers travel to Flagstaff for a doubleheader with the Arizona State College Lumberjacks May 11.

The Rebels finally broke their 15-game losing streak by triumphing over University of California at Riverside nine 21-13 in a record breaking game, the second of a doubleheader in Las Vegas.

Mike Howerly blasted two home runs and set a new runs-batted-in record of nine. The Rebs exploded for 13 points in the fourth inning to set a new record for most runs scored in one inning. "It sure feels good to win," reports head baseball coach Michael Drakulich.

The Rebels lost the first game of the doubleheader, their 15th straight, to UCR by a 10-7 count even though they came back from a seven-point deficit.

The Rebels fell to the Wolf Pack in Reno, the San Francisco State 'Gators and the Lumberjacks from Arizona State College (Flagstaff) to extend the baseball team's losing streak to 14 games.

In Reno the University of Nevada Wolf Pack ruined Jerry Goyeneche's three-hit game by grabbing a run in the sixth inning to come out on top, 1-0. Two home runs, one of them driving three men to score, led the University of Nevada nine past the Rebels a second time, 8-1.

The Nevada Southern baseballers have fallen five consecutive time to the Wolf Pack in the last two years.

Earlier, San Francisco State powered its way past the Rebels 9-4 and 10-2 during a doubleheader in Las Vegas. The Rebels had a 3-2 lead, after Jerry Goyeneche smashed a three-run homer in the first inning, but the San Francisco State 'Gators pulled it out in the second inning (4-3) and finally went on to win the first game of the doubleheader, 9-4.

Even though Clark Pearson pitched hitless relief ball in the last 2 1/3 innings, Hank Sena and Mike Fennel let the 'Gators have ten runs and the second game, 10-2.

The Arizona State College nine gave the Rebels their 13th and 14th losses.

Even though the Rebels led 1-0 in the first inning, the Lumberjacks from Flagstaff spilled Nevada Southern, 6-1, in the first game of a two-game series. When the Lumberjacks led 5-0 in the second game of the series, the Rebels came back to score four runs in the seventh; however, the Rebel hitting spree could not pull the game out as Arizona State College won, 6-4.

The Nevada Southern baseball team racked up its second and third wins against the University of California (Riverside) nine at a doubleheader in Riverside by scores of 4-0 and 5-3, to make the record stand at one win and 17 losses.

On the Line

BY TOM MARTIN
Rebel Yell Sports Editor

I think someone once pointed out that athletic competition is based on the will to win. Here at Nevada Southern, however, losing is becoming a habit.

The JV boys bowling team has compiled a fantastic losing record of 62 lost and only two won. Bob Pardini reports that this record is due to the forfeiture of the last 48 games in a row because none of the JV bowlers showed up to bowl. Needless to say, the JV boys are still in the cellar.

The Varsity boy bowlers slump in the cellar with a losing record of 46 games lost and 14 won.

The biggest and most noticeable failure in Nevada Southern athletics is the 15-game losing streak of the baseball team. Coach Drakulich's charges have played ten games in the past three weeks that made NHU's inexperienced team tired and set morale at a new low. Coach Drakulich's optimism is still there, as he felt the team performed well against the Wolf Pack in Reno. Everyone can rest assured that they heard a mighty cheer when the baseball team won.

The difference between the baseball team's effort and that of the bowling team is that the Rebel baseballers are sincerely trying to win. The boy bowlers, however, cannot even get anyone to try to bowl.

The apathetic "I don't give a damn" attitude of the students here at Nevada Southern does not help, either. This lack of school spirit has even come to the notice of the Las Vegas newspapers.

At the national Golden Gloves Tournament, held last March in Chicago, Larry Clark, amateur boxer, felt he was robbed when Parry Dixon, a native Chicagoan, beat him in a decision the Chicago Tribune described as "unpopular." Clark's opponent, Dixon, later went on to reach the semi-final round of the tournament.

Al Swiderski, NSU's professional boxer, won his April 2nd bout with Luther Davis in Reno by a second round knockout.

Swiderski remains the top contender for the state light-heavyweight championship as Larry Clark prepares for the national AAU championships, to be held soon in Las Vegas. Watch these boys!

At the recent basketball banquet, Coach Drakulich pointed out most of this year's team will return to action next year. If this basketball team was great, next year's team will be stupendous.

Stepp, Helm, Tapper Honored at Banquet

Nevada Southern's best basketball team in history was honored at a banquet in the Gold Room of the Americana Motor Motel April 10. Little All-American Silas Stepp, senior Don Helm, and junior Gary Tapper received top honors on an award system based on statistics instead of the coaches' opinions.

Head basketball coach, Michael Drakulich, felt that awards should be given to the highest scorer, the best free thrower, and the best rebounder, because it was fairer to the players. This award system will replace the old one, which gave awards to the most valuable player, the most inspirational player, and the most improved player.

Silas Stepp walked off with the highest scorer plaque, by scoring 447 points to set a new Nevada Southern season record.

Don Helm received the award for best free throw shooter by making 77 per cent of his charity tosses.

Gary Tapper received the best rebounder award for grabbing 319 rebounds.

Coach Drakulich praised Jerry Dick for his defensive work and described Dave Shay as "the coach's ballplayer."

Guest speaker, Bill Morris, pointed out that this year's team and its record (21 wins-4 losses) really put Nevada Southern on the map.

Rebel Commanders Travel North

Thursday morning the Rebels under the generalship of Ginger Cavenough, Wendell Johnson, Ron Hamilton, conducted a fast counter attack against the right flank of the Northern troops encamped in the vicinity of Carson City and Reno.

The Gray Ghosts laid to waste the sweeping snow capped ranching lands. Deciding not to stop with the job half finished, the Third regiment then proceeded to the capitol building itself.

The casualty rate was exceedingly high. Few prisoners were taken.

It was learned later that the Gray Horde had struck and had fallen prominent generals of the North; McGowan has succumbed, Senator Lamb has lost all hope for political life, Governor Grant, seeing that the right was with the advancing victors, decided to play with the winners; President Armstrong, fierce defender of Camp Reno, is still under siege. The total collapse of the Northern forces is foreseeably imminent.

Letters to the Editor

Nevada, the budget staff reviewed the University request in detail. My recommendations for the University of Nevada included $1,982,869 for Nevada Southern. Compared to Nevada Southern's current biennial budget of $1,346,706, this is an increase of 47 per cent, the greatest percentage increase recommended for any state institution or function.

The Senate Finance Committee has reduced my recommendation for the entire University of Nevada budget by $750,000. I believe that it is essential that this amount be restored and am doing everything possible to convince the Senate Committee that this be done.

When I was elected in 1958, there was one building at Nevada Southern; now there are six. I feel, and I so stated during the campaign, that we must continue at least this rate of growth. I also feel strongly, and I believe the Board of Regents agree, that Nevada Southern should be accredited to grant degrees in 1964. I also stated this position during the campaign.

The rate of capital improvement growth and the increase in appropriations for the University of Nevada during the last four years has been unprecedented for a state-supported university anywhere in the United States. It is my intention to continue in this direction within the limits of revenues.

The University of Nevada Board of Regents, with the exception of one member, has on numerous occasions indicated its appreciation for the support received from this office. The University administration takes the same position and right now is working with me in attempting to get the Senate general appropriation and capital improvements cuts restored.

I would be very happy to meet with you, a delegation, or the entire student body respecting the matter, if it is your desire.

In light of the great interest at Nevada Southern, I would be most appreciative if you would consider this a letter to the editor for publication.

Sincerely,
Grant Sawyer
Governor

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to the students of NSU! The Bill for dormitories and dining facilities was finally passed by both the Assembly and the Senate.

No one will ever know if the bill would have been passed had the students of Nevada Southern not protested. Perhaps it would have gone to the Senate floor—perhaps it would have been killed in committee. Who knows? But there is no doubt in my mind that we were an important influence.

Both the students and the administration of this school have been criticized severely because of the protest rally. It seems we are criticized for anything we do—or don't do.

If the students had not protested after Senator McCowan's remarks about NSU, we would have been criticized. And that criticism would have come from our fellow students. For we are constantly being told by this newspaper and student campaigners that the student body is apathetic, disinterested, and are "un-people."

Instead—for a change—we did actively participate. And what happened? Tides of criticism! The questions is, "What are we supposed to do?" As for myself, I favor the active participation route. If nothing else, many students—instead of the usual two or three—participated together in an united effort.

We did accomplish something! But our work is not done. The dorms, dining facilities, and a classroom building were substituted for the Fine Arts Complex. This, also, is a building which we need for the advancement of NSU. Substitution of one thing for another will get us nowhere. Let's not stop now and leave the job only partly finished. We did it once—which proves we can accomplish more in the future. Apparently, it is up to us to supply the work force needed and complete the project of making NSU a school of which WE can be proud, not our children!

Sincerely,
Nancy Smith

Sorority News From Nu Sigma Upsilon

By KAY MONSON

Well, less than a month of classes is left, but I feel sure that the girls in the Nu Sigma Upsilon Sorority have proved to be busy indeed!

To bring you up to date on some of our activities, we started the semester with a party at Kay Cleland's home. In February, we held rush week, and seven girls rushed. During this time a coke party was held at Iris Field's house for the members, rushees and friends. This was well attended and a lot of fun.

Later, in February, the sorority successfully sponsored a dance to honor the basketball team. This dance was held at Manny's College Inn and music was provided by "The Cross Fires."

In March, we initiated the girls who were chosen to pledge. This was done during a "pledge week" which those poor girls won't soon forget! (Maybe you haven't, either.)

During THIS pledge week, the girls were instructed to wear silly outfits, pajamas, etc., with their hair teased or ratted dreadfully and rollers in at other times.

The week was soon over, and the sorority members honored the pledges with a tea on the patio. For this, the girls were allowed to dress "normally" again.

The pledges who participated in pledge week were: Billie Barhorst, Tanya Butler, Lorna Gar-side, Joyce Harvat, Janet Monson and Judy Plant. The pledges have chosen officers among themselves.

We are currently ushering for performances of "The Matchmaker," which was so successful.

Other activities are keeping us busy, too. On Monday, May 6, at the Mesquite Club, the sorority has volunteered to help serve the benefit luncheon for the Nevada Southern Library. The time is from 12:00-2:00 p.m., the cost is $2.00, and everyone is invited.

Our pledge class is doing well on its money raising projects, etc. Pledges are also planning to throw a slumber party for members, and another party for themselves!

Political Responsibility

cially pertinent when a representative is elected by only a narrow margin, as was George Hoover in the CSNS elections last week. If Mr. Hoover chooses to ignore his responsibility to his supporters or to those who supported Jim Beaver, he will fail in fulfilling his obligations to the entire student body.

Let us hope that Mr. Hoover is wise enough to realize that unless he acts in such a manner as to gain the warranted respect of those who did not give him their active support, he will alienate approximately half of the active student body on our campus. If this should happen, Mr. Hoover will find himself in an extremely uncomfortable position, for active opposition is very often more potent than active support, particularly when many students have not committed themselves to any obligations either way. We feel that Mr. Hoover will sincerely attempt to fulfill all of his obligations, but we also realize the precarious position he is in. As long as Mr. Hoover does not attempt, openly or underhandedly, to suppress the the opinions and wishes of such a significant minority, our student government will continue to function as a reasonably efficient unit. Let us hope that Mr. Hoover realizes the seriousness of the situation he is in and acts wisely. A lot more is at stake than the growth of one group on campus, namely Sigma Gamma. Mr. Hoover holds in his hand the power to make or break the unity of the Nevada Southern student body as a whole.

Gallery Shows Student Works

The Nevada Southern Art Gallery now has paintings and sculpture by Nevada Southern students. Both art majors and other students interested in art have their works exhibited in the show.

Student's work will remain on exhibition until the end of May, when engravings and prints by the world-famous Georges Roualt will be shown. The gallery's hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
