Kennedy to Visit NSU on Sept. 28?

Nat'l Figures To Appear On Campus

President Kennedy was sent a letter of invitation by Nevada Southern's student body, on behalf of the CSNS officers, to visit our campus when the Chief Executive visits Las Vegas next Saturday, Sept. 28. Copies of the letter were sent to Senators Alan Bible and Howard Cannon.

1,000 tickets for Kennedy's speech are available to any Nevada Southern student wishing one by contacting Steve Rimel.

There is only a possibility of Kennedy visiting the campus as his 97-minute itinerary leaves little room for addition. If the President can visit the campus he will stay for a few minutes at the most.

Topping the Social Committees' planned events is a performance by Peter, Paul and Mary on October 26. Other concerts of this kind are still in the planning stages.

The Assembly Committee is forming a series of lectures for the student body and the general public.

Gus Hall, American Communist Party secretary, and Baroness Maria Von Trapp, will lecture at Nevada Southern this year.

Steve Rimel, CSNS president, is stressing that more student participation and enthusiasm will be needed than last year to make these activities worthwhile.

The REBEL YELL and EPILOGUE staffs are expanding, so that better coverage can be given to these special events.

The Campus Calendar is printed in The REBEL YELL to keep students abreast of coming activities at the campus.

FOURTEEN CAMPAIGN FOR SENATE POSITIONS; RACE ENDS OCT. 2

Fourteen candidates for CSNS Senator are in the midst of campaigns as the election lies two weeks away. Students go to the polls to choose members of the CSNS Senate for the coming year on Oct. 3-4, Thursday and Friday. Two senators will be elected from each class to represent the student body in CSNS affairs.

Six candidates vie for the didates in both the sophomore and junior classes, as only two campaign as senior senators.

The deadline for filing petitions was last Friday, Sept. 20.

Running for the two freshman senators are: Rikki Sadur, Brodie Graves, Judith Ann Moore, Phil Alled, Elaine Pink, and Gary Silverman.

Jon Cobain and Binnie Syde are vying for the two senior senate positions.

Cliff Fields, Vonne Stout and Ed Bazar are the junior candidates for the senatorial post.

Running for the offices of sophomore senator are Fenton Kay, Dick Ebeltoff and Larry Kifer.

Each of these candidates circulated petitions which required 25 signatures before the person could file his intention of running.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. Oct. 3 and stay open until 5 p.m. The same voting schedule will be followed the next day as well.

The Election Committee, headed by Anne Scritchfield, has issued the following campaign rules and suggestions:

1. Campaigning shall be from Monday, Sept. 20 to Wednesday, Oct. 2.

2. Posters:

a. All posters must be approved by Mr. DeFevre in

DRIVERS — TICKETS GIVEN THIS YEAR FOR VIOLATIONS

Traffic violators beware! Beginning Monday, Sept. 23, offending drivers were cited for traffic misdemeanors, according to J. W. DeFevre, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

The first ticket will serve as a warning. Subsequent tickets will result in fines of $2.00, $5.00 and $10.00 respectively. University parking facilities will be denied to the student receiving more than four tickets.

Common offenses include exceeding 15 miles per hour on campus, entering university grounds via exit, leaving university grounds via entrance and blocking lanes of travel on the far end parking lot north of Grant Hall.

Cast For Fall Play Still In Tryout Process

As this issue of The REBEL YELL comes out an announcement may have already been made stating who the cast members for the fall play may be.

Casting for the fall production, "The Queen and the Rebels," started Thursday, Sept. 19, and continued Friday, Sept. 20. "The Queen and the Rebels" by Ugo Betti has been chosen as NSU's fall production, according to Dr. Harris.

Ugo Betti, once a leading dramatist in Italy, has produced 13 plays. His subject matter is often about man's fatal disregard or defiance of God. In "The Queen and the Rebels" the central idea is the importance of

AFTER ONE YEAR AS JV COACH

Gregory Moves Up -- Now New Varsity Cage Coach

J.V. basketball coach Ed Gregory was named head basketball coach for the coming season.

Gregory replaces "Chub" Drakulich, who is Nevada Southern's athletic director. Drakulich led the Rebels to their winningest season last year. He will continue coaching the baseball team.

Ed Gregory is now entering his second year on the NSU coaching staff. He moved from Lynwood, Calif., where he was the high school varsity basketball coach for five years. He earned his B.S. degree at Pepperdine College in 1955, and his M.S. at U.S.C. in 1958.

At Pepperdine, Gregory won letters in basketball and baseball. He was selected in the 1954 basketball yearbook as one of the top 50 players in the western states. He is continuing his graduate work at U.S.C. during the summers.

Gregory expects an even tougher schedule this year than last. One of the season's highlights will be the Kris Kringle tournament at Anaheim in December.

First Graduating Class?

Nevada Southern may graduate its first class this June. The class of 1964 probably will have the honor. In action taken by the University Board of Regents last summer, four-year programs were granted to Nevada Southern in the fields of education and physical education, English, liberal arts, some science fields. As a result Nevada Southern is in fact a university.

For the campus's 619 full-time undergraduate students this means that a semester will no longer have to be spent at the Reno campus, "Nevada Northern."

For new freshmen this means that four years of rumored higher standards and better faculty will lead to a "harder-to-get degree" than on the Reno campus.

NSU Won't Be Easy

Welcome freshmen, and all new students.

You now attend the Nevada Southern that has been gossiped about, talked of, and written up.

The first fact that new students shrink from about Nevada Southern is the high academic standard.

It is a fact that nearly 50 per cent of Nevada Southern's students were on the deficiency list last semester, and it was their own fault, not that of university professors. If any student wants to work even fairly hard he will pass; if a student feels he knows it all or does not care, or just will not work, that student will flunk or be guaranteed a 'D' and his name on the deficiency list.

One thing remains clear: if a student thinks or learns to think, undoubtedly he will pass. No person has a really gifted mind; those people we often call gifted only use all their mental talents to the utmost. The more a student uses his mind at any place of education the better his grades will be and the more education he will receive.

Nevada Southern's high academic standards and professors who assign "tons of homework" make Nevada Southern what it is — a place of learning.

If anyone feels that Nevada Southern's standards are too high, get out or prepare for a long siege with books —

More Cars, Problems

A rather large increase in the student body has put a strain on the academic facilities of NSU, as well as on the lungs of J. W. DeFevre, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. He is the stout, crew-cut gentleman sporting that whistle heard periodically. Said whistle is directed against any and all who would disregard traffic signs and arrows designation traffic direction.

While it is conceded that reversing the purpose intended for the entrance and the exit of the east side parking lot will, in some cases, save badly needed minutes for those in a great hurry, a rather dangerous situation immediately arises. The circumstance of which we speak resembles, frightfully close, a game called "chicken" with overtones of Russian roulette. In short, the misuse of either entrance or exit gives rise to two-way traffic where only one way, southbound, traffic, is permitted and safe.

Mr. DeFevre is quite positive the aforementioned violations are due almost entirely to the unfamiliarity of freshmen and new students with our campus, and that the dignity of the individual, without being recognized as an individual, life has no meaning. Betti believes.

When Argia, a prostitute, makes her way to a revolutionary stronghold in search of her lover, who is one of the soldiers in the revolutionary army, she is suspected of being the escaped queen for whom the army is searching.

In a moment of kindness and pity, she allows the real queen, a groveling shell of a woman who has been posing as a peasant, to escape, thus involving herself in a conflict with Commissar Amos.

Amos is determined not only to discover the identity of the queen but also to obtain from her the identity of the loyalist leaders. As the pressure exerted upon her becomes stronger, Argia is moved, despite herself, to assume the full majesty of a queen.

Dr. Paul Harris, director, states, "I think the play is a great piece of entertainment and has something important to say."

"I chose it not only for its forcefulness and entertainment, but because it is in keeping with the Little Theater's policy of producing a variation of plays."

The play will open sometime in the middle of November.

Newman Club News

By MIKE BARRY

"The Newman Apostolate: The Incarnation is the University" was the main theme of the National Newman Convention in Lafayette, Louisiana last month. Sherry McDaniel and I represented Nevada Southern at the week-long conclave which was also attended by eight hundred other representatives of clubs across the nation. We learned that the chief objective of Newman today is to bring God to the secular campus in the form of concentrated intellectual and spiritual programs (the continuance of Catholic intellectual development at NSU will be enhanced through the Newman Club's special class on the Philosophy of Apologetics to be taught by Rev. Gaviglia for anyone who is interested). We spent a week of sleepless nights (with mosquito bites), went to all the scheduled events — and some of the unscheduled — and came home completely beat but infinitely wiser.

Our president, Paul Steffens, has discovered an unbeatable combination for dances: a new group just recently formed (The Atlantics) really perform in top-notch fashion, and when they are placed in St. Anne's social hall at Maryland Parkway and Oakey Blvd. with forty or fifty swinging students, they make the primary contribution towards the blast that evolves. Ask anyone who attended the first of a series on Saturday, Sept. 11; they'll confirm what you're reading. So look for the next one which we hope to present on October 12. Announcement posters will present all the info; the cost is only $1.00.

Membership applications for the most active club on campus are available to anyone who is interested in furthering his intellectual and spiritual development. Contact Sherry McDaniel at 384-5290.

Government room and immediate vicinity. There will be no campaigning in this area!

4. The election will be held on Oct. 3 and 4 from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

5. Any candidate who fails to observe the rules listed above will be automatically disqualified and his name shall be removed from the ballot.

College Sports For Everyone-Not Few

By DALE LOWE
Sports Editor

College sports programs are not thrown together in random or haphazard fashion. Nor is any one part of the sports program, varsity baseball for instance, the sole aim and objective of the sports program.

The purpose is, in effect, to provide a service for all who desire to develop their athletic capabilities to the utmost. The service is extended to all: skilled, semi-skilled, and unskilled.

N.S.U. Athletic Director Michael (Chub) Drakulich describes the philosophy of athletic education as a pyramid. The base of the pyramid is the regular P.E. program. Here, everyone has the opportunity to participate in the activity of his own choice. The next level is for those who are semi-skilled, or have undeveloped potential. Varsity sports is at the apex. Only those few who have highly developed skill reach the top of the triangle.

All of these levels are essential in meeting the goals of our athletic program. This year the coaching staff is laying the ground work for the intermediate level of athletics: the intramurals.

Like anything being tried for the first time the intramurals don't offer wide activities. But a beginning must be made, volleyball is as good as any. (See news story for details.)

The coaching staff urges all students interested in intramural sports to drop by their office to talk with them. If the students support the volleyball program, other activities will be added to the list. Plans are already being made for the intramural basketball, track and field, tennis, and cross country.

A sports program with depth is essential to a well rounded curriculum. As the intramurals grow, so will our school. Join the team. Help us grow.

tons of them. Reading is the college student's most important tool.

If anyone has never enjoyed reading, learn to bear it; if one likes reading, read more; if there is someone who loves reading, Nevada Southern's library constantly increases the number of volumes on its shelves.

This is a university; it is up to each student whether he wants to pass or not, or whether he wants to be on the honor roll or become an educated person.

Those who have no purpose here, or who do not want an education, or are too immature for college, will find out there is no easy way.

More Cars, Problems

such occurrences will diminish with rapidity as the semester progresses. One type of infraction which arises from sheer carelessness rather than from not thinking is speeding.

There are PEOPLE on that parking lot, not to mention other cars. In fact, there are times when it fairly crawls with pedestrians. While a head-on meeting of two slow moving vehicles will not, in all probability, result in personal injury, such meeting between fast-moving vehicles, or vehicle, and a hapless pedestrian will result in an injured pedestrian and an uninjured car, in all probability.

Mr. DeFevre asks everyone's cooperation.

Gov. Sawyer Hails Yearbook

In a letter sent to Dean William Carlson recently, Governor Grant Sawyer had high praise for the 1963 edition of the EPILOGUE.

Sawyer wrote thus:
Dear Dean Carlson:

With keen interest, pride and admiration, I have just read EPILOGUE, Nevada Southern's 1963 yearbook. It is a most attractive and stimulating book—the art work, arrangement, and legends are admirably done—and it is a credit to any institution of higher education.

I think that the one thing that impresses me most strongly is the obvious alertness and enthusiasm shown in the faces of the students. Incidentally, among your young women students there are many more beautiful than the young lady from Arkansas who was just crowned Miss America of 1964!

Thank you for your courtesy in sending me this yearbook. Please give my sincere congratulations to all those who had a share in compiling it.

Grant Sawyer,

MORE SPACE PLANNED FOR GROWING NUMBER OF CARS

There will be more room to park the 1,000 plus cars which daily rest in Nevada Southern's parking stalls.

A 400-car parking lot will be added to NSU's crowded parking facilities, according to J. W. DeFevre, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

The new lot will be situated between the athletic field and Maryland Parkway.

It will replace the lot now in use east of the gymnasium.

Present parking will cease to be in use once the new lot is graded for parking. DeFevre has not revealed what the old lot will be used for.

Comeau Third Addition To Coaching Staff

Bob Comeau joined the Nevada Southern coaching staff this fall as the new junior varsity basketball coach. He replaces Ed Gregory, who moved up to varsity basketball coach.

As the J.V. coach, Comeau is charged with developing potential talent for the varsity squad. Comeau attended St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Kansas. He played football, baseball, and basketball. Before joining the N.S.U. staff, Comeau compiled an outstanding record in coaching high school basketball teams.

His first team was in his home state of Kansas where he produced a runner-up team to the state champions.

Next he coached in New Mexico and sent a team to the state tournament with a record of 22 wins and a mere five losses.

Coach Comeau earned his M.S. degree at Colorado State University, at Greeley, Colorado. At Greeley he had the opportunity to work with John W. Bun, former Stanford coach, widely known author and mentor of the great Hank Lucette.

Comeau and his wife Marjory are proud parents of a one-month-old daughter, Cindy.

EIGHT MAN CROSS COUNTRY TEAM PRACTICES

The N.S.U. intercollegiate cross country team was recently organized. Thus far 8 men are working out and preparing for competition. At least 12 men are needed for a full strength team. Coach Comeau is in charge of the team and wishes to bring it to full strength as soon as possible.

Yearbook Pics To Be Taken In November

Yearbook pictures were taken during registration for the first time in the university's history.

About 400 students had their pictures taken by Lewis Bartolo from Los Angeles for the Epilogue's 1964 edition.

Any student who missed the opportunity at registration to have a picture taken can have the chance when the photographer comes to the campus again in early November.

Students who attended Nevada Southern last year can pick up their yearbooks in Gr. 114 or at the school store by presenting last semester's activity card. Anyone else who wants a copy can purchase one for $2.50 by seeing Ron Travis, yearbook editor.

INTRAMURAL PROGRAM FORMED FOR FIRST TIME ON CAMPUS

The Athletic Department announced a new and comprehensive intramural athletic program to be initiated this fall.

There will be two programs set up, one for men and the other for women. The intramurals will begin with volleyball.

Mrs. Alice Mason, in charge of the women's program, designated Monday, September 30, at 7:00 p.m. to sign up for the league. All interested women will meet in the gym on that date.

Women's competition will be in three divisions. One will be between faculty-wives and women staff, another between Fr-Soph. women and upperclass women, and the third between competing campus organizations.

Coach Comeau heads the men's intramurals. He advised the REBEL YELL sports department that all men wishing to participate in the volleyball league may contact him at HPE 107 for further information.

High Schools To Play In Holiday Classic

The Nevada Southern basketball squad will again host the 3rd Annual Holiday Classic, December 26-27-28.

Several changes have been made since last year. The entire tourney will be held in the Las Vegas Convention Center. Many hundreds more people will be able to see the Rebels in action.

The second change is the addition of a high school division to the classic. Basic, Las Vegas, Rancho, and Western High Schools will participate in the event.

Basketball fans will remember that last year Occidental won the tournament. They beat Whittier 66-64 in a tension-filled double overtime contest.

The teams in this year's event will be Nevada Southern, California Western University (San Diego), New Mexico, Highlands University, and winner Occidental College.

Seniors --- Check With Div. Chairman

Seniors expecting to graduate this year must check with their division chairman before October 1.

Division chairmen for this academic year are Dr. Maurice de Young, Business Administration and Economics; Dr. Herbert A. Derfelt, Education and Physical Education; Dr. James R. Dickinson, Humanities and Fine Arts; Dr. Malcolm Graham, Science and Mathematics; and Dr. John S. Wright, Social Science.

Children's Art Show Starts This Sunday

A unique showing of children's art will begin in the Nevada Southern art gallery this coming Sunday.

A show called "My Friends" includes drawings, paintings, and crayon drawings done by children from kindergarten up to the eighth grade.

There are 100 works in the whole show; 50 are on a European tour and some of the other 50 will appear in the Art Gallery here.

"My Friends" has already been booked solid for showing during the next year.

The idea for an art show featuring solely American children's work was conceived by F. Louis Hoover, Illinois State Normal University art head, and Otto Kallir of the Galerie St. Etienne in New York City eight years ago. The result was 100 pictures of children's work titled "As I See Myself" in 1955.

A reception will be held starting at 3 p.m. and continuing until 5 p.m. On Monday, Sept. 30, Katina Economov, Clark County's only elementary art teacher, will lecture at 8 p.m.

The show will last until October 21.

Since their inception these shows have increased in popularity and in student participation all over the country.

Just ending a short run in the Art Gallery is "Cubism Now," a collection of modern cubist paintings by artists still living.

The show was part of the San Francisco Art Institute's Touring Exhibition from the Art Bank.

Pipe Smoking -- An Art Enjoyed Best by Masters

By DALE LOWE

Of the twenty or thirty men striding the NSU campus smugly smoking their pipes, shocking few will be smoking them a few weeks hence. Why? Because they are novices, that is why.

Pipe smoking is an art which many attempt but few attain genuine fulfillment. Therefore, I propose several fundamental principles which must be mastered before one can fully enjoy the art of pipe smoking.

1. Select a pipe of fairly good quality to begin with. The dividing line between poor and good is about four dollars. An excellent pipe costs at least $10. It is most advisable to buy at least two pipes and smoke them alternately so that one may have a chance to "rest."

2. Choose a moderately priced tobacco; only experienced smokers can distinguish the subtle difference between good and fine tobaccos. Select one brand and stick with it, later one can experiment with exotic blends and unusual smelling brands.

3. Wipe the inside of the new pipe with a slightly damp cloth or paper before lighting for the first time; this removes most of the lacquer and loose bits of briar.

4. Fill the new pipe only half full of tobacco when using for the first time. Each time thereafter add just a little more. By the time the tobacco level is at the top, a coating, commonly called cake, will have formed on the inside of the bowl.

5. During the breaking-in

Inter-Organizational Council Report

The Inter Organizational Council met Sept. 16 in the Student Government room, Grant Hall.

The organizations on campus that had representatives were: Sigma Gamma, Dave Gardenberg; AWS, Nancy Smith; Deseret Club, Lorna Thacke; and Nu Sigma Upsilon, Kay Monson. The organizations that were not represented were: Biology Club, Newman Club, Psychology Club, Sigma Theta Chi, and the Young Democrats.

Organizations which do not provide an Inter Organizational Council representative for each meeting will lose official Confederated Students of Nevada Southern recognition. Meetings are held every other Monday, 6 p.m. at the Student Government room in Grant Hall. The next I.C. meeting will be Sept. 30.

AWS Report

A.W.S. Meeting — A meeting of the Associated Women Students was held on Sept. 19, 1963, at 1:00 p.m. President Nancy Smith called the meeting to order, and a list of A.W.S. activities for the next school year was read. Election of the secretary and treasurer was postponed until the next meeting, which will be held Oct. 3. A committee was chosen to work on Student Directories, and preliminary work on the directories will be started within the next week.

Another A.W.S. function of the past few days has included a coke party at Linda Rowe's home. The purpose of this social function was for new members to get acquainted with the organization.

Deseret Club News

By LORNA THACKE

We now have a Deseret Club organized on campus. The Deseret Club is organized to promote good fellowship and wholesome association among college men and women; to provide intellectual stimulation; to furnish cultural adaptations for our talents; and to foster the religious life of the University of Nevada, Southern Regional Division.

Our business meetings are held once a week in the Fifth and Sixth Ward Chapel at Eighth and Franklin. Along with our social activities we are holding a theology class for those interested. The class is held for one hour immediately following our business meeting.

If you are interested in participating in this Latter-day Saint club, please contact: Lorna Thacke, 1505 E. Bonanza Rd., Las Vegas, Nevada, ph. 384-7490.

Howdy Dance, Rebel Roast Kick Off Social Season

First dance on campus was a smash! The "Howdy" dance held in the foyer of the gym was considered by the student government to be a success. Comments heard by Beauregard as he slipped through the crowd — "Live band," "Ron Travis is taking more yearbook pictures," "What do you call that kind of dance?" and "Man, the Crossfires sure have a good beat!"

The "Howdy" dance was an informal meetin' of upperclass and freshmen. For the first dance, this was an excellent turnout and from reports around campus this attendance will increase as the year goes on.

The CSNS Student Government pulled off the Rebel Roast in grand style this year. The roast was attended by approximately 150 freshmen and 20 upperclassmen.

The party was started about three in the afternoon and ended around nine that night.

Entertainment consisted of softball (a very exciting game in which the girls beat the boys), football, volleyball, water polo, and dancing. The "Crossfires" provided excellent musical entertainment.

Special thanks go out from the executive committee to Mrs. Jeffers who provided the roast with a faculty chaperone (herself). We were also honored with the presence of Assistant Dean McLaughlin. Thanks also go to Sigma Gamma members and various freshmen who helped set up the coke dispenser and helped to clean up the area after the Rebel Roast had ended.
