A wait for approval of an $800,000 federal loan by the Housing and Home Finance Association was cited as the hold-up in completion of the Nevada Southern dorms.

Dr. Robert L. Kittridge, a member of the campus expansion committee, related that approval of the grant had been expected by August of last year. In that case, the dormitories would have been completed by the original deadline proposed for the fall semester of 1964.

However, Dr. Kittridge explained, the aid was not okayed until January 2, four months later than supposed.

The Board of Regents then approved the preliminary plans for both the dorms and dining hall. At present the blueprints are being completed and details of the project considered.

Then, final plans will be presented for approval by the Board of Regents. This final okay will probably be made in April.

Since construction will begin at that time, a later date than first planned, the completion of the project could not meet the deadline.

More time for the actual construction of the dorms would be needed, Dr. Kittridge revealed, because of the possible technical tie-ups — such as bad weather, labor trouble and material shortage which could face the project.

The dining hall, because of the necessary cooking and food storage features needed, would take even longer to complete.

The construction could be completed by the beginning of the spring term in 1965, if the building was speeded up. Dean William Carlson pointed out that it would be no advantage to open them at that time since students who care to live in dormitories would have already made arrangements elsewhere during the previous winter sessions.

Therefore, it has been decided to open the dorms and possibly the dining hall in the summer of 1965 — in time for out-of-state students planning to attend NSU in the 1965-1966 year.

The three-story dorm, planned for 120 students, may be one wing of a future two-wing structure. After the second wing, if there is a problem of space, future dorms may be "high rise" to stand several stories up.

The struggle for funds needed to construct the dorms and dining hall has been long.

On March 31, 1963 a state senate bill to authorize issuance and sale of $817,700 in revenue certificates was dying in the Senate Finance Committee in Carson City.

On April 4, 1963, W. E. Richter proposed to build, finance, engineer and bond a $475,000 dorm before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and at the same time student petitions protested the Senate Finance Committee's scuttling of bond bills for the dormitories.

On April 8, Lt. Gov. Paul Laxalt went to the Senate Finance Committee with a personal appeal for Nevada Southern.

On April 8 and 9 students wired the late President Kennedy for intervention, wrote letters to those supporting the cause, demonstrated, and appeared on a radio program.

Solons pondered over and passed other bills providing the funds for a radiological laboratory and social science building at the Las Vegas campus.

On April 28 Nevada Southern's operating budget was cut $67,000 to $99,113 as part of a 2-million dollar-plus cut inflicted by Gov. Grant Sawyer and the state legislature. The greater bulk of the cut was applied to the Reno campus budget by the Board of Regents.

On May 16 solons were criticized for threatening the $55 million for an expansion plan including the $13 million earmarked for the Las Vegas campus.

Still there was no money for dorms and a federal loan was asked. It was the latter which was approved on January 2, 1964.

McNamara, Pulliam Fill Chairmanships

The chairmanships of the Social and Assembly committees have been filled, in action taken by the CSNS Executive Council and Senate.

John McNamara replaces Jackie Womble as Assembly Committee Chairman, and Trent Pulliam replaces Bill Dalley as Social Committee Chairman. Womble is now Acting CSNS Secretary and Bill Dalley recently became CSNS Committee Coordinator.

McNamara has been attending Nevada Southern for three years on a part-time basis. A junior, and pre-law student, he hails from Scranton, Penn., where he attended the University of Scranton for one year.

Pulliam, new Social Committee Chairman, is a sophomore and an engineering major.

FLYING PROFS RENO-VEGAS COMMUTERS

Wayne L. Miller, assistant professor of nuclear engineering with Dr. David Dickinson, professor of nuclear engineering and Eugene V. Kosso, assistant professor of electrical engineering, fly to the Nevada Southern campus every Wednesday and Friday.

Billboard Donation

For the last several weeks have you noticed something new on the way to the NS campus? It seems a billboard announcing our institution in red and gray has suddenly sprouted out of the desert.

In reality the sign was installed through the courtesy of Ronrey Outdoor Advertising.

NS STUDENTS ATTEND CIVIL EQUALITIES MEET

By JIM BEAVER

Five Nevada Southern students, accompanied by faculty member Mr. C. U. Roberts, served as delegates on Feb. 28 through March 1, at Pomona College, Claremont, California. The three-day conference featured ten major addresses delivered by national and local leaders of various groups involved in the movement for Negro civil equality. In addition to the informative public speeches, panel discussions, and question and answer periods, 18 informal small-group seminars were conducted.

The conference was attended by approximately three hundred representatives of colleges and universities in Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Arizona and California. The delegates, including Nevada Southern's Phyllis Segal, Drew Rounds, Thomas Hribar, William Daley, and James Beaver were provided dorm and dining facilities on the host campus.

The conference opened Friday with a spirited keynote address, "Where Are We?" by Louis Lomax, noted Negro author, followed later that day by speakers John Doer of the U.S. Dept. of Justice on "The Government and Civil Rights," and James Farmer of CORE on "Where Do Whites Fit in the Civil Rights Struggle?"

Saturday's addresses consisted of "The Courts" by John Morsell of the NAACP, "Demonstrations" by James Forman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and a panel discussion featuring Forman, Farmer, Morsell and John Buffs of the Los Angeles Commission on Human Relations. That evening, Yale student Peter Countryman, a past executive director of the Northern Student Movement, discussed "Student Involvement." Sunday, Will Campbell, Director of the Committee of Southern Churchmen, talked on "Religion and Race." The conference was concluded by the lecture "Communication; Interracial and International," delivered by S. I. Hayakawa, eminent authority on language and semantics from San Francisco State College.

The small group seminars provided an opportunity for delegates to freely discuss specific areas of national and local concern in the overall problem. The first session hinged on such top-

Summer School Schedule Released

The schedule of classes for summer sessions at Nevada Southern has been released by the Registrar's office.

The first session will begin June 8 and end July 31, while the second session runs from August 3 to August 14.

Registration for the summer school students is accepted from graduates of approved high schools and adults with the ability to do scholastic work on the university level.

Formal admission is not required of summer school students unless they desire graduate credit or wish to earn a degree.

Those students taking courses for graduate credit must be admitted to one of the University of Nevada graduate student categories prior to May 28, 1964.

Registration hours for the first session are 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 5, 1964.

The second session registration hours begin on Thursday, July 30, from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. and from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. on July 31.

Those seeking further information may contact the Registrar's Office for further information.

Nevada Southern Apathy

Age-Old Affliction

By APRIL MULDER
 Rebel Yell Co-Editor

The Korean War exposed the American prisoners to a strange and terrible disease, or rather, a new name for an old affliction, suffered by their ancestors as they crossed the Great Plains.

When the pioneers came West by covered wagon they called it "Prairie Fever," and the G.I.s dubbed the same disease "Give-it-up-itis."

In both cases the symptoms were the same: the victim became restless, then fell silent and moody; he lost his appetite, and at last stopped to die.

Today a first cousin of the non-interest attitude is raging on the Nevada Southern campus. The epidemic has affected nearly all of the students to some degree and is best mirrored in a lack of school pride and spirit as well as lack of interest in work affairs.

For instance, a poll taken at a recent freshman class meeting called in order to discuss plans for a parade float. Of all those in attendance, not one Las Vegas student was there. Only out-of-staters now attending Nevada Southern turned out.

Professors at NS have also commented on the "Why-bother-itis" reflected in the classroom as well. Las Vegas students, for the most part, seem to sit in class like so many blocks of wood. They neither absorb nor reject. They complete their assignments with indifference, mechanically take notes and participate little.

Professors may challenge them and their beliefs but without any decided response.

The root of the cause of Prairie Fever and Give-it-up-itis can be traced. The pioneers were taken from their secure, populated environment and placed in the center of the wilderness. After months of seeing nothing but prairie stretching before, behind and around him, the 49er began to become weary. Fear of Indians, bad traveling conditions and stormy weather totaled the breaking down of will, faith and enthusiasm.

Korean prisoners were conditioned for their breakdown. They were separated and brain-washed — not tortured — until there they were filled with apathy. The "buddy system" was broken down by a system of action and reward. Men who informed on their fellow prisoners, spoke against the U.S. government or wrote home with praises about communism were then rewarded with extra food, blankets, and cigarettes.

Apathy of the Nevada student (many out-of-state instructors say they find the condition only here) comes from an unknown source, but this downgrading of spirit and interest has been pulling at many high schools for about the last five years. Today, most high school students locally will admit there is no spirit or loyalty at his alma mater. He will further state activities have lost their flavor. They are a "drag."

Grammar school instructors note the same lack of interest in their students. Students are told to obey, memorize, accept, pass the test and keep everyone happy.

Lack of interest and responsibility are demonstrated in the poor attendance to many functions and poor turnout for special elections — such as the recent "Most preferred male." Similar lack of interest is seen on the northern campus as well, where five elective offices were left vacant.

Reasons for non-participation are many and varied. Nevada Southern is a commuter campus. Consequently, many claim, there is not a real "campus atmosphere" in which loyalty may develop. Also, many students are carrying a heavy load of classes and are working full time. Some live a good distance from the campus and have families.

Still, there is apathy, and no matter the reasons, it is something to be thwarted and feared. The negative attitude is the very weapon employed by fifth columnists in this country. In any form, it is evil; an enemy of free enterprise and the principles of free agent endowed to all Americans.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

To the Editor:

I'm sure many Las Vegans will join me in expressing a thank you to the Nevada Southern Basketball team for their very successful and entertaining season.

A special thanks should be extended to Coach Gregory for his leadership, as it takes a great deal of work and practice to develop a group of young men into a team.

The Basketball team has displayed a tremendous amount of effort and sportsmanship throughout the entire season; and the students of Nevada Southern should be very proud to have been represented by these men.

Editor:

Your editorial of February 12th had a great deal of truth in it; however, it was for the most part only half-truth. Keeping in mind the stated policy of the Rebel Yell, that of presenting the whole truth, I wish to clear up or explain a few of the comments that you made in that editorial.

First of all the fact that any person who wishes to know who won the election can find out with little or no trouble. The only persons who received the election results were members of the yearbook staff, officers of CSNS, and the winners themselves. In fact, as I recall, you yourself asked for a list of the winners and were refused. Any information as to the results of the election did not come through any official source, but rather, from some person not authorized to release the information.

This year, for the first time in recent NSU history a WHO'S WHO section in yearbook voted upon by the student body was attempted. From the start this attempt met with a lack of co-operation on the part of most student body officials. With a deadline drawing near and no hope in sight of receiving any help from CSNS, it was decided that nominations for WHO'S WHO would take place during registration. It was decided that this would be the best time as ALL students would receive an equal chance to nominate people for the Who's Who. Due to a lack of time it was not announced that nominations would take place during registration. However, three signs were placed up during registration day and a ballot was passed out to each student with instructions on the ballot as to what to do with the ballot and where to place the completed ballot. Two members of the yearbook staff counted the ballots and turned the results over to me. I then in turn eliminated all but the three top persons in each of the various categories. It was these persons who's names appeared on the ballot. The actual election was carried out by the CSNS Election Committee — not by the yearbook staff.

The heated debate at the Executive Meeting Friday morning was not over the fact that some names appeared more than once on the ballot, but rather that some persons had won more than one position. Mr. Rimel wished to pass a new law placing the Who's Who under the control of CSNS and that no person could have more than one position in the WHO'S WHO. A person's name could appear on the ballot as many times as possible, but if they won more than one position they would receive only the one where they received the highest amount of votes. My argument was not against this law, but rather I stated that I was in favor of having CSNS control of the election. My main argument was that IF this law was passed it could not apply to this year's election for several reasons. The main one being that such a law is not legal according to the present CSNS Constitution.

It was for this and other reasons that I opposed the law as suggested by Mr. Rimel.

It was also stated that the WHO'S WHO was for the first Semester only as one could not vote at that time on people who were outstanding in the second semester as it had not even really gotten started at the time of the election.

I must however, agree with your last statement that as long as only a few students have the interest in student affairs that it will be these persons who's names will appear in the WHO'S WHO, as queens, and as CSNS officers.

I sincerely hope the 1964-65 Basketball season will bring as much pleasure to the fans, and as much pride to Nevada Southern, as has this season.

To the Students at N. S.:

As a member of the Board of Community Concerts I wish to extend a special invitation to you to purchase a membership this year. The concerts which are to be scheduled for 1964-65 can be attended only on a membership ticket and no single admissions are purchasable.

This past year four outstanding concerts were enjoyed by members, who saw at a fraction of the usual cost several numbers which appeared in New York City at Carnegie Hall. I noted, for example, that recitals by The Romeros (a quartet of guitarists), by Rudolf Firkusny (pianist), and by the Roger Wagner Chorale sold out in New York City at seats starting at $2.50. These same artists, appearing on our concert series, cost each adult holder of a membership ticket exactly $1.88; these same artists were enjoyed by holders of student tickets at exactly 75 cents each. A student membership costs $3.00. Do you know of any greater bargain in high class entertainment?

 Students desiring membership for next year should see the following, who will be selling tickets: Dr. Moe (office GR 205), Dr. Orleans (GR 215), Dr. Chase and Dr. Dickinson (GR 204), Mrs. Hussman (GR 210), and Mr. William Rothenburg at the University Store.

Please do not delay to reserve a membership at once, for there are only a certain limited number which will be available. Former holders of memberships will be given first consideration, and new memberships will be sold in the order of application.

In the interest of good music,
 I am

Sincerely yours,
 Sigrid Moe

TWO SENSE

By MIKE BARRY

(EDITORS' NOTE: This week Mike Barry presents a highly opinionated article. His viewpoints are not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

by Mike Barry

Welcome aboard Buff baby! It's nice to see the old hangout open again; even if there isn't much of a chance that it will stay that way very long. You see, that place is somewhat of a jinx to men like yourself: since it first opened as "Pierre's College Inn" in 1958, it has had so many different owners and proprietors that everyone has long ago lost count. The owners each went their way after they had been around long enough to find out two things. First, they couldn't seem to satisfy us students; no matter what they did, or how well they did it, or how cheaply they sold it, the students always had a gripe and didn't hesitate to express it. Last year around University Day time, the windows of that restaurant got so badly splattered with rotten eggs (the students thought prices were too high) that it took months to get them off. That proprietor fled before the end of the second semester.

The second reason, as you may have guessed Buffy boy, is that they couldn't make any money. They never seemed to be able to understand how so many students could spend so little. Not only do we students spend as little as we can get by with, but we drive away any other trade you might get from the citizenry of the surrounding neighborhood, with our antics. Things look pretty bleak for your future here Mr. Buff.

I hope your policy of staying open late turns in some profit for you, and doesn't turn into disaster for your investment. It's wonderful to have a place so close to school where we can go to drink coffee and talk or study, but our dimes won't even pay the salaries for your help — so what can you hope for? More students coming over for something more than coffee would help to be sure, but how can you get us to do that?

It's your problem Buff baby; I sincerely hope that you can solve it, and that your venture will prove successful.

Rebel Golf Squad Captures Victory

Nevada Southern's golf squad got back on the winning trail March 20 at Riverside, Calif., with a double victory in a triangular match with UCR and Pomona College.

The Rebel linksmen teamed up for 32 total points to edge Pomona by one point and Riverside by five. Despite forfeiting vital points to both teams because of player shortage, the Rebels played the hilly Jurupa Hills course well enough to upset the two home schools. NSU had lost its first match of the year to LA State at Paradise Valley Country Club.

Bob Coffin led the Rebel scoring with a 74 while Jim Schwerin tallied a good 79. Van McCarlie and Mike Dunn won points with an 81 and an 83 while Jim Schwerin tallied a good 79. Van McCarlie and Mike Dunn won points with an 81 and an 83, while Jim Roberts carded 91. Friday's match with Arizona State at Flagstaff has been postponed to a later date because the Lumberjacks haven't been able to practice.

ics as "Negro Apathy," "Important Court Cases" and "Activating the Moderate." Later sessions revolved around such specific problems as "Housing," "Politics," "Education" or "Employment" as they are applicable to conditions on the West Coast. Each seminar leader was selected on the basis of his experience in the area covered by each topic.

Notable to this conference was its superb organization, shaped by the Human Relations Council through student moderator Michael Wood. The hospitality of Pomona College staff and students underlined the entire event. Particularly impressive was the delegate's enthusiastic and spontaneous response to such speakers as Lomax Forman, and Countryman.

Nevada Southern's representatives found themselves varying in their reactions to the memorable and exhaustive event. However, they all left the Pomona College with the desire and ability to relate their experiences at the Pomona College campus.

COLLEGE DROPOUTS STUDIED

Kingston, R.I. (I.P.) — An in-depth study, designed to develop a profile of the college "dropout," has been initiated at the University of Rhode Island, where a survey shows that from 11 to 14 per cent of the undergraduate student body leaves the campus each year.

Dean of Students Edward C. McGuire said that this "tremendous waste of human resources" can probably be prevented here and elsewhere, if more was known about the characteristics of the potential dropout. If the danger signs are spotted early enough, he believes that a large percentage of the potential dropouts can be helped to finish their education through the guidance and counseling offered by a professionally trained staff.

The first step towards realization of this goal has already taken place with the preparation of a four-page questionnaire which has been in use for the past two months at the university. Before students can officially withdraw they must complete this form and certain other prescribed steps.

Under preparation by Dean McGuire and Arthur W. Jalkanen, assistant dean of students, since last September, this questionnaire is based upon the tentative picture that is emerging of the dropout. Experience here reveals that the greatest number of dropouts occur in the first three weeks a student is in school.

Newman Club News

Word has been received, unofficially, that the Newman Club will have a student center in the near future. Nothing has been finalized as yet, but the possibility of the realization of our dream is becoming stronger and stronger each day.

More information may be available for printing in the next issue of the Rebel Yell.

Anyone interested in joining the Newman Club can obtain an application by contacting Sherry McDaniel at 384-5290 after 7 p.m.

Newman Club serves through religious, intellectual, and social functions, on and off campus, throughout the year.

The Rebel baseballers clash with their northern rivals tomorrow and Saturday. Friday the Rebs face the Wolf Pack in a single contest and Saturday the two teams meet for a doubleheader. All three games are at Cashman Field.

The Rebs sport a 5-4 record as they go into their tenth game of the season.

Tuesday La Verne's Tigers edged the Rebels 7-5 for the fourth loss.

Arizona State College split a doubleheader with the Rebs at home, the College of Southern Utah won one game of a four-game series with Nevada Southern, two at home and two in St. George, Utah.

Phoenix College split with the Rebels in their first doubleheader of the season.

The LOWDOWN

... on Sports

By DALE LOWE

Baseball is no longer considered the number one American sport. With television coverage and promotion, other games have taken away some of the attraction baseball used to have. Yet, baseball continues to survive and will for a long time. To millions of Americans baseball is an institution, it is as dear to them as their own political party. The typical baseball fan goes to the ball park loaded with statistics: batting averages, earned run averages, box scores, etc. Furthermore, he must keep track of the medical record of each player; who has a sprained ankle, torn ligament, sore arm and the like. Managers are an extremely important part of baseball. The fans closely watch the managers and scrutinize each and every decision. Sports writers and news commentators faithfully record all sorts of utterances of managers, and it matters not if the man is talking baseball or foreign aid. In short, baseball is one of our most enjoyable and pleasant pastimes.

Baseball at Nevada Southern has not yet reached the heights described above, but we take time to welcome the 1964 Nevada Southern baseball team and to wish the best of luck to the coach, Michael (Chub) Drakulich. Baseball is not yet a major sport at NSU; that is, we have not yet become proficient enough that our baseball team attracts the best players to our school.

However, the team has made improvements since last season. The main reason for the improvement is the abundance of returning lettermen. The eight lettermen are Marshall Deutch, Jerry Dick, Jerry Goyeneche, John Halsey, Mike Howery, Jim Romero, David Shay, and Lee Syphus. While it is true that these same players were responsible for only one win last year, this writer predicts that a vast improvement is in store. First, the starters have played together for a season and will have sharper team-work. Second, the team will not take this season as a joke; the Mets can get away with losing, but then they are the Mets. Third, a coach can't afford to lose all the time. Finally, how can they help but improve on last year's record?

Intramural sports are gaining momentum this winter, as the coaching staff promised. The main feature this week is tennis and table tennis. A tournament has been arranged for both events. The basketball is continuing and a softball league is being formed.

The response by the student body was highly rewarding to the coaches. Of course, the response didn't just happen; a great deal of credit belongs to Coach Comeau for his part in organizing the program.

AN ODE

Roll on, Nevada Southern, roll on!
Follow the path of marvelous expansion.
Look with awe at the grand designs of those who have planned for your future.
See the smiling faces of those who come to you, and ask for the key to knowledge.
And stand erect, proud that they cry out in ever increasing numbers; look with awe.
A path filled with the eager minds of more and more students,
The winding road lined by the University's Board of Well Wishers and Poor Doers.
But Nevada Southern, where will you put the growing mass?
Where will they go to receive your knowledge?
Shall they go to the new Social Science Building?
Should they relax in the comfort of your coming dorms?
Should they live on faulty planning and unfair distribution of State funds?
Perhaps they should forget their quest for knowledge and laugh at those who would dare to question your desperate need for instant funds.
Roll on, Nevada Southern, roll on!
Keep in step with those who exert power over your future, follow the Board of Well Wishers as they present a perfect picture of foibles and incompetence at a time when your future seems doubtful.
Ah, roll on, Nevada Southern, enjoy the empty land you call a growing campus,
See the magnificent formations of desert dust as they wisp across an unlandscaped home.
Roll on — live on a diet of promises!

Sen. Bible Chooses Annapolis Nominations

WASHINGTON — Senator Alan Bible this week announced his nominations for two Nevada vacancies at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Receiving a principal appointment is Gary Anthony Michelsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Michelsen of Zephyr Cove, Nevada. Gary is presently attending the University of Idaho and is majoring in mathematics and chemistry.

Second principal appointment went to David E. Thorburn, 17 year old son of Mrs. Eleanor B. Thorburn of Reno. David will graduate from Reno High with the class of '64.

Alternates under the principal appointment of Michelsen include first alternate Stephen Michael Owen, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Owen of Hawthorne. Stephen will graduate from Mineral County High this spring.

Second alternate, Jose Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrido Meyer of Las Vegas, is a graduate of Bishop Gorman High and is now in his third year at the University of Nevada, Southern Regional Branch.

Michael David Grulli, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Grulli of Yerington, was nominated a third alternate under Michelsen.

Fourth alternate nominee is Frederick W. Morledge, 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morledge of Las Vegas. He was an honor student at Bishop Gorman High and attended Menlo Park Junior College, where he excelled scholastically until enlisting in the United States Navy.

Fifth alternate, Robert Jeffrey Arneson, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arneson of Las Vegas, will graduate from Las Vegas High this spring.

Alternates under David Thorburn include: First Alternate, Charles R. Gardner, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gardner. Charles is a Las Vegas High School senior.

Christopher Miller, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Miller of Reno, has been given second alternate. He attends Reno High and will graduate with the class of '64.

William Rufus Adams, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus W. Adams of Genoa, has been nominated as third alternate. He is a Douglas County High School senior.

Pipe Puffing Coed Relates Experiences

By April Mulder
(Part I of a two part article.)

As of late, since the last cigarette scare, the new focus (much to the pipe manufacturers' delight) has been set upon pipe smoking for ladies. The idea is not new, but it is presently increasing in popularity.

In fact, there may be a number of local coeds who would like to try the fashionable vice but are afraid of the possible consequences. It is for these girls that I took up the pipe to spare them the first run on the controversial course.

The following, therefore, is an account of my experience as a female pipe smoker over the last two weeks; it is not a smoker's guide on the art and technique of pipping. Dale Lowe, campus authority and veteran pipe smoker, has promised to present these technicalities.

BUYING THE PIPE

The very purchasing of a pipe would be the first obstacle facing the gals who would like to try smoking one. It was in their interest that I ventured to the most exclusive ladies' shop I could find (located on the Strip, girls) to make the buy.

Amid all the high fashion, jewelry, wigs, hats and the like, I found a rather large display of women's pipes. They are slimmer, lighter and daintier than the mar's pipe — in fact they closely resemble a cigarette holder.

Looking over the selection I

Two Nevada Southern students earning 4.0 averages and 34 others were listed on the University of Nevada scholarship honor roll. The names listed represent the upper five per cent of all the matriculated undergraduate student body. These honor roll students completed at least fifteen semester credits of class work during the semester ending January 22, 1964.

The NS students listed are: Scott W. Woodard and Chloe Ann DuCharme, who both have 4.0 averages, and Judy L. Walling, Catherine D. Hatch, Janet N. Monson, Jerry Lee Collins, Paulette Mae Huber, Jon B. Sweeney, Clark V. Anderson and Larry C. King.

Others recognized: Douglas Duchin, Allen G. Kilen, Jon Eric Gobain, William High Daley, Binnie Syde, Jill C. Flemington, Larry H. Barnson, Kenneth Robert Bauer, Sandra Fe Rydzewski, George Austin, Franklin Ora German, Stewart L. Bell, Phyllis Segal, Myrna D. Selwyn, Joanne Favero, Sylvia V. Race, Clark W. Smith, Jr., Ruth Ellen Castle, Donald Gordon Farr, Joan B. Feeze, Paavo C. Hall, Alberta E. Stern, Jacqueline Mombie, Gene Robens and John Lewis.

Thought for the month: Of every 10 children now in elementary school, three will not finish high school, seven will earn a diploma. Of this group, three will go to work, four will continue their education. Of these four, only two will complete college.—Dept. of HEW.

CSNS To Sponsor Two Scholarships

Nevada Southern's Student Government will sponsor two $300 scholarships for incoming freshmen, president Steve Rimel said last week.

Funds for the two scholarships come from profits made at the Peter, Paul, and Mary concert last semester.

The scholarships are open to outstanding high school seniors. Rimel said that the student would have to be outstanding in both academic and extracurricular activities to be eligible for the grant. The senior must have a 3.0 grade average or over, and come from the Las Vegas area as well.

The scholarship is valid for two semesters, and the recipient must maintain a GPA of at least 2.5 to keep the scholarship.

Rimel said that financial need will also be taken into consideration in choosing the recipient.

Three Star Show Here April 4th

A three star show comes to Nevada Southern April 4, the second to be sponsored by the student government.

Singer Lou Gottlieb headlines the show backed by by somber folk singer Judy Lenske, and the Modern Folk Quartet.

Gottlieb comes to Nevada Southern after a success with the well-known 'Limelights.' Judy Lenske now rides on the waves of several recording successes.

The Modern Folk Quartet had its beginning in Hawaii on a Wakiki beach spot. Each of the members started in other groups before coming together as the Modern Folk Quartet.

The low structure rising west of the Gymnasium is the 3,700 square foot Deseret Club Center.

The 80 by 45 foot building contains seven permanent rooms along with a large 80 by 25 foot room that can be divided into three rooms by means of folding partitions.

When the partitions are drawn the room contains two classrooms and a lounge. When the partitions are taken away the room can be used for social functions, convenient to the small kitchen.

Dr. A. G. Noorda (MD) spoke to the Deseret Club March 4 about courtship and marriage. A question and answer period followed.

Second semester officers were elected; they are: President Byron Tanner, Vice President Mike Cox, Secretary Sidey McAllister, treasurer Terry Peterson, and Historian Gerald Jensen.

The Club will soon be meet-

S.I. Hayakawa Here March 16

S. I. Hayakawa, noted semantics authority, will speak March 16, Monday, in the Gym at 8 p.m. The subject will be "Communication: Interracial and International."

Hayakawa, a Ph.D., is Professor of English at San Francisco State College and founder and editor of ETC: A Review of General Semantics. He was born in Vancouver, B.C., Canada, attended public schools in Calgary, Vancouver, and Winnipeg, graduated from the University of Manitoba, and received his M.A. degree (English) from McGill University, Montreal. He earned his Ph.D. in English (American literature, linguistics) at Wisconsin. He has taught at the University of Wisconsin, Illinois Institute of Technology (Chicago), University of Chicago, and has been at San Francisco State College since 1955.

He has also held summer and visiting professorships at University of Denver, University of Kansas City, Columbia University, Notre Dame University, University of Hawaii, and San Jose State College.

Deseret Club News

The building will be finished by the middle of May, according to spokesman Pam Peterson.

Intercollegiate Knights

On March 1, 1964, Dean Araru and Karvel Rose were brought into the state of knighthood. The ceremony was conducted by I.K. vice president Joe Beard assisted by the remaining Knights present at the meeting. The knighthood ceremony was followed by a general business meeting.

Many items were discussed at the meeting. The one of most significance was the possibility of launching a book drive for the Nevada Southern Library. Jack Curtis is presently researching the problem. The Intercollegiate Knights National Convention, coming up in April, was also discussed. The convention will be held in Denver, Colorado and the Red Eagle Chapter of Nevada Southern would like to send four or five delegates.

The service center is now in full swing. New signs will be put up in the future publicizing additional services which the I.K.'s have added. The center now includes a lost and found, book exchange, information center, typing service for term papers, and change service for vending machine users. In addition to these services, the center is now selling A.W.S. student directories as a service to the A.W.S.

The past week activities included a luncheon on Thursday, March 5, at "Buffs", ushering by knights Joe Beard and Tom Hribar and squire Jerry Carillo at the lecture, "The Soviet Challenge"; and a page meeting on Friday, March 7.
