SENATE ELECTIONS . . .

NEW CONSTITUTION PROPOSED

October 1st and 2nd, are "red-letter" days on the NSU calendar! Hopeful Student Senate candidates will impatiently await the results of the election. To the executive officers of CSNS it has another purpose. Not only will balloting for officers take place, but also the possible ratification of the "new" constitution.

During the summer, the executive officers appointed a Senate sub-committee to revise, or construct a new, more concisely organized constitution. Members included, Bill Daley, CSNS president; Tom Hribar, 1st vice president; James Beaver, judicial committee chairman; Mike Barry, publicity committee chairman; Vicki Silver, judicial committee member; and other student government leaders. The committee met bi-weekly, for a period of six weeks.

Revision of the old constitution was considered impossible, due to the fact that it was too lengthy, dealt with too many details, and did not clearly define the powers of the offices; creating duplication of duties. Therefore a "new" constitution was proposed.

The proposed constitution contains seven articles, dealing with the essential requirements, duties, and powers of the offices of the Student Government. It may seem inadequate as compared to the old one; but one must realize that the old constitution was "bulky" and nearly impossible to revise or amend. This new constitution will serve as the basic structure from which the Student Senate may add the by-laws.

The constitution must be a workable document, one that can be molded around the issues or problems of its student body. A rigid constitution, difficult to interpret, confusing, and vague about the powers and duties of its offices can only bogged down and prevent efficiency.

Remember that you are the Student Body of Nevada Southern, and this document affects YOU!! So read it . . . think about it . . . and express your opinion VOTE!!!!

MANY CHANGES

CSNS Launches New Year

If work is any indication of progress, Nevada Southern's student Executive Council and affiliated agencies have succeeded early.

This year, all CSNS business will be conducted in the newly remodeled student government room, Grant 114, and the "executive offices" as they are termed have already seen tremendous use.

In keeping with the overwhelming growth of Nevada Southern, CSNS, under the direction of its president William Daley, has embarked on a program specifically designed to "streamline" student government on this campus.

When asked of what he felt the greatest improvements were to date, Daley cited the drafting of a new constitution for CSNS, and the increasing success of the Executive Council during the past summer in the realm of student empathy. In a welcome note to all students of Nevada Southern, he stressed the importance of student interest and cooperation. "I extend a special request for assistance and cooperation. Without your help our (the Executive Council's) efforts on your behalf will have little meaning. . ."

Backing up the new Executive Council this year will be the reorganized agencies of CSNS. The Publicity Committee is headed by Mike Barry, the Social Committee by past freshmen senator, Phil Alred, the Judicial Committee by Jim Beaver, the Inter-Organizational Council by Second Vice President, Ernestine Elms, and AWS by Sue Wilson.

In addition, the CSNS Senate will retain a greater autonomy in student government, and shed increased influence on student affairs.

Such problems as increased enrollment, a growing campus, the inaugural of full-fledged NCAA basketball at Nevada Southern in December, and more independence have all brought to bear the ballooning responsibilities of CSNS to the student on this campus.

The new administration of Mr. Daley has been working nearly all summer on the cancer of student apathy, and that of a weak constitution as he interpreted it.

If the turn out at the Senate elections tomorrow is high, student apathy has been dented. If Mr. Daley's constitution is supported, he hopes to move CSNS. In any case, CSNS has launched a new year, a new Executive Council, plenty of upcoming events and activities, and a good ship "Hope."

NEW SYSTEM AT UPLAND COLLEGE

UPLAND, Calif. (IP) — The normal load for a full-time student under Upland College's new trimester calendar will be three courses. The Faculty Curriculum Committee anticipates that this simplification of the schedule will allow the student more time to study in depth for the courses he takes. Previously, the college student on this campus enrolled under a rather traditional semester curriculum for as many as eighteen semester hours which included two and three-hour courses. While it was mathematically possible under such a system to register for as many as nine separate courses, courses carried by the average student numbered about six.

The new curriculum will create block-courses equivalent to approximately five semester hours.

THE REBEL YELL has learned that Senator Barry Goldwater will make a stop over on the Nevada Southern campus on Friday, October 9. The tentative time of arrival for the Goldwater jet at McCarran Field on the ninth is 9:30 a.m., and the senator is scheduled to be escorted to the campus by motorcade.

The stop over in Las Vegas for the Republican standard bearer is part of a continued agenda of national appearances prior to the big day of November 3. Originally, Goldwater was due to speak at either the airport or the Las Vegas Convention Center. However, this was altered by members of the university young Barryites.

Phil Alred and Gordon Rand, the two leaders of Young Republicanism on campus, were the most instrumental in seeking out and obtaining a commitment from the Republican National Headquarters in Washington, D.C. Working through the Nevada State Chairman, they were able to eventually gain recognition and the engagement.

The senator is expected to be accompanied in his visit to Nevada Southern by Paul Laxalt, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate from Nevada, George Von Tobel, Republican nominee for Nevada's lone congressional seat, and numerous other state GOP dignitaries.

In a related development, student leaders are now in the process of gaining a speaking commitment from Senator Hubert Humphrey, the Democratic nominee for the Vice-Presidency.

The fringe benefits to such a visit or visits by national candidates can only serve to enhance the image of Nevada Southern throughout the United States. In addition, what else would give a greater boost to the upcoming mock election on campus than a visit from members of the major national tickets.

Congratulations to those responsible.

Rebel Rouser Starts Calender

The first social event of the semester, the Rebel Rouser, was attended by a crowd of nearly 300 students the evening of September 19 on the patio of Frazier Hall.

The dance was sponsored by CSNS, and was staged by the Intercollegiate Knights. Guests danced to recorded music, and chatted at various points on the patio which was richly decorated by a perimeter of "flowing paper" in an array of colors.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of "Hannibal," the '39 Buick Special, to the lucky winner. The REBEL YELL was unable to gain the name of the recipient. All proceeds received on the tickets sold for the drawing were donated to the 1964 Olympic Team.

Bill Daley, CSNS President, saw the large turnout at the affair as an indication that students at Nevada Southern were taking a greater interest in social events.

THE VILLAGE IDIOT

In case you are wondering . . .

The Village Idiot doesn't have a name, but you'll know him on sight. He's a trifle unique. He has the natural capacity to ignore the truth even when it hits him, like a custard pie, full in the face. He thinks that the "don't give a dam" attitude of students toward Nevada Southern results from poor leadership, rather than lack of dorms. He thinks the REBEL YELL will appear on schedule, under a single Editor, all year long. That this year's social activities will be well-planned, well executed, and well attended is an article of faith to him. That Bill Daley's CSNS administration will be a credit to all participants is more than a possibility to the Village Idiot. The Village Idiot is, of course, just a well-meaning fool.

Where's Beaugard? Is he ashamed to be seen on the campus he symbolizes? The Village Idiot is certain there is a good reason for his absence.

Tom Hribar can be credited with turning the CSNS Office (Grant 114) into a blue-paneled maze. This mantrap seems to be the only means to hold our willing workers.

Newman Club, under Mike Barry, proved itself a well-oiled machine the evening of Sept. 18.

A REBEL First: Phil Alred's "Beau Bits" and a functional Social Calendar indicate an established Social Comm. The Village Idiot is convinced that this will be a permanent blessing.

Just how interested is the REBEL YELL in obtaining ads to cover expenses?

Judicial Committee nominees stand at Jim Beaver, Vicki Silver, Ron Keller, Sue Wilson, and Michael Lasser. This Committee has always proved useless. Can't these people serve better elsewhere?

University Day approaches. The Village Idiot predicts the frosh will win, the fire will burn on schedule, there will be no liquor available, and the Frosh Senators will both make the first semester Dean's List.

Is "Hannibal The Terror," the doorprize at the I.K. Rebel Rouser, to be given to the Student Government? The Village Idiot suggests that a few CSNS dollars be devoted to turning the wreck into a staff car for Ole Beau. There must be a few mechanics on campus who would donate their time and talents.

Steve Jones deserves a pat on the back for his helping the Public Relations Committee. Wish there were more Frosh like him. And Nu Sigma Upsilon is practicing balancing eggs on teaspoons. . . .

The IOC has great potential. Ernestine Elms may need a small push and much help.

The Village Idiot is a cockeyed optimist.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

Each year someone in the student government discovers that the CSNS constitution needs to be reworked, and each year the Senate and Executive Committee devote a major portion of their time to the creation of a document which, they confidently predict, will "last for a few years." None of the "annual" constitutions have lasted. The problem, I feel, has been that in their enthusiasm our former officers have tried to include too much detail in their constitutions.

A constitution must provide a skeletal structure for a government. If it provides detailed information concerning the operation of the government, it will lack a flexibility necessary in a constitution. It will, therefore, be subject to almost constant revision.

The academic year 1964-1965 marks an important period in the growth of this university. This year we are no longer a little school. We are an important educational institution and are fast becoming the cultural center of southern Nevada. We are a recognized political force in this state. With the jump in student enrollment, student government has become a big business. We can no longer allow our constitution to be little more than a piece of impressive looking paper.

The constitution which this year's Executive Committee presents to you for approval solves the problem of excessive detail. It provides an outline for a vigorous, functional government. A government which can work for you without being encumbered by contradictions within its legal structure. As presiding officer of the Executive Committee, I urge you to support the Constitutional Reorganization Act of 1964. If you have any questions please feel free to bring them to us.

Finally, regardless of what your opinion is concerning the constitution, please vote. The vote is the main method you have for expressing your opinions concerning student affairs. I urge you to exercise it on election day.

Sincerely,
William Daley

NEW CAMPUS ENTRANCE ON HARMON

Students are reminded that there is still one paved access to the University campus. Harmon Street, which is the first turn after the Teen-beat Club on Paradise Road, is still paved and enters directly into the parking area between the gymnasium and the Science Tech. Building. Persons wishing to save tires, etc. may use this road until the County Commissioners strike again.

INSIDE and OUT

WITH JACK ABELL

Hold your sweat shirts, I think we are finally in for an enjoyable year at Nevada Southern! For those of you who may have viewed the numerous emotional outbursts that frequented this column last year, it would now appear that this writer has rephrased his opinions concerning this campus' future.

To be sure, I have become somewhat more moderate, but not as a result of any great change in what I still term "Nevada Southern's Diet of Promises." We are still without dorms, a dining commons, and a fine arts complex, all of which we could well do WITH as a result of a 36% increase in enrollment this semester alone. What then is it that moves me to a renewed sense of optimism?

In the most elementary way, I would term that which makes me optimistic a list of "indications." These indications have all had their birth on the campus of Nevada Southern. They all are indicative of new vigor, and maturation at this university. They come from changes in student government, a larger faculty, a sense of interest on the part of fraternities, sororities, and campus organizations, accelerated student empathy, an expanded cultural agenda, and an inter-collegiate sports program that for the first time will be NCAA sanctioned.

Optimism for me, then, is attributed to the fact that Nevada Southern has chosen to show the people of this state why it should be the number one campus of the state university.

Because I feel this new vigor, and due to my position of editor for this publication, I plan to expose the upcoming semester in this newspaper. You will receive information on university affairs, social events, and student government. What will readily be at your hands is, in essence, a fact sheet on the campus. However, for the sake of not lowering the publication to the mere level of a newsletter, you will receive editorials in the opinion of this paper. It is my contention that with a strong editorial arm, the REBEL YELL can act as a protectorate of the student.

Finally, then, let us begin this year with an overwhelming vigor, let us live it inside and out, and let's conclude it knowing that Nevada Southern has gained further stature.

We're off on what is to be the most hectic, uncertain, perhaps rewarding, and foremost enjoyable year on Maryland Parkway. On your marks, get set, take notes, you'll need them!

EDITOR'S NOTE: Those students who feel an urge to be witty, desire to pun an English professor to death, or who want to be journalistic in nature, join the REBEL YELL staff in Grant Hall, 114.

FOR THE FUTURE AT NEVADA SOUTHERN, I PREDICT THAT . . . one day there will be ample parking for all students with cars on campus . . . that in ten years, Bill Daley will become a leading citizen in our community . . . someday there will be glass enclosed breezeways from building to building on campus . . . the library will run out of space because of the overabundance of books . . . Mr. Crawford will become an outstanding modern playwright within our lifetime . . . the REBEL YELL, under Jack Abell, will again retain the vitality that it had under Jay Tell's editorship in '63 . . . that NSU's basketball team will beat Reno twice this year.

I ALSO SEE . . . NSU as being one of the ten biggest schools in the nation by 1980 . . . the newly reorganized state legislature appropriating more to NSU in funds than to our "sister" . . . a final completion of Maryland Parkway from Desert Inn Rd. to Tropicana . . . a do-it-yourself hypnotic-suggestor to make teachers assign less outside reading . . . that this year's freshmen will all grow a little more in height . . . someday the original owner of the college restaurant, Pierre, will buy it back . . . that the Nu Sigma Upsilon sorority will go national this year . . . that the Little Theater will become the "big" theater when the new building ever finishes. . . .

MY GLASS BULB ALSO TELLS ME . . . that Beaugard will become "Beaugardie" in the spring . . . that Sigma Gamma frat will give a "calm" party for once . . . that certain "cliques" on campus will disband because of inner strife . . . that President Johnson will win the 1964 campaign . . . and Khrushchev will eventually blow himself up with his new "top" . . . that registration will be handled as easily as it was this year . . . one day, benches will be installed in the breezeway in Grant . . . that "tumbleweed Tech" will be known as The Dust Bowl . . . a new look on campus: more females looking like males because of the newest in hair-do's and fashions.

WORK PROGRESSES — In spite of a slight mishap, construction on the new social science complex continues ahead on schedule.

EXECUTIVE MINUTES

The Executive Committee meeting was called to order on September 22, 1964.

Tom Hribar, the first vice-president, gave the committee a brief explanation of the proposed revision of the Constitution. The proposed revision was gone through article by article with the changes stated. The duties and powers of the Executive officers have been left to the by-laws. A stipulation was entered concerning salaries of the elected officials. The Executive Committee officers will receive no less than $25.00 per month and the senators will receive no less than $5.00 per month. It also outlined the procedure for replacing any vacant offices. The Judicial Committee will be changed to a Judicial Board with a director at the head. The proposed revision of the Constitution Committee.

Tom Hribar moved that the Executive Committee form itself into a committee of the whole for the purpose of discussing the proposed constitution. Ernestine Elms seconded the motion. All were in favor.

Jim Beaver suggested that the proposed constitution be given a special title for easier future reference.

Voting on the proposed constitution has been postponed until all of the Executive Committee has acquainted itself with it.

A special Executive Meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday 22, 1964 for the purpose of voting on the proposed constitution. There will be a meeting of the committee heads to discuss plans for their forthcoming budgets.

The Secretary moved that the meeting be adjourned. Tom Hribar second the motion. All were in favor.

Respectfully submitted,
Jackie Womble
Secretary, CSNS

Sigma Gamma

Sigma Gamma Fraternity is the only Greek fraternity on campus. It has been in existence since 1959, starting with 10 charter members. Since then it has become a large fraternity respected by all members of the student body.

Sigma Gamma participates actively in many student government activities such as the Rebel Roast, the Halloween Dance, University Days' Carnival, and the annual Confederate Cotillion which is unsurpassed by any other organization. It also takes part in Civic organizations such as the Jaycees Community Fair in which it is participating in presently.

Because Sigma Gamma is a scholarship fraternity as well as a social fraternity, it strives for a strong scholastic standing. The members of Sigma Gamma are proud of their fraternity as it has brought them nothing but achievement and progress both scholastically and socially.

Anyone interested in pledging the fraternity may attend the Rush Party during Rush Week where he will get acquainted with the members and standards of Sigma Gamma Fraternity.

TRINITY ENROLLMENT BOOMS

HARTFORD, Conn. (IP) — Trinity College intends to increase undergraduate enrollment by twenty-five per cent. Between September, 1965, when, according to Director of Admissions F. Gardiner Bridge, enrollment will jump by 60 or 70, and 1970, the undergraduate body will grow from an average of 1000 to an average of 1250 students.

Commenting on this decision, President Albert C. Jacobs said that "Although this college, like all independent colleges, cannot play the leading part in meeting the quantitative problems of higher education it has the moral obligation to offer to as many gifted students as possible programs of the highest quality. Within a few years over 80 per cent of our students will be seeking graduate degrees.

"We will encourage these young men to enter those professions that will enable them to make felt the influence of the liberal arts. In this way our diminishing quantitative participation will be offset by a rising qualitative contribution," Dr. Jacobs said.

Deseret Club News

A great deal of enthusiasm could be seen among the Deseret Club members as they moved into their new building Monday the 21st.

The Deseret Club is organized to promote good fellowship and wholesome association among college men and women; to provide intellectual stimulation; to furnish cultural adaptations for our talents and to foster the religious life of the Nevada Southern University.

In conjunction with the Deseret Club an Institute program has been organized to provide a religious and moral education to parallel the regular weekday training received in school. Registration for the first semester was Monday the 21st. Classes will be held at 8:00 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursday and at 7:15 p.m. on Mondays.

The first activity of the semester is a get acquainted social and dance to be held Friday, Sept. 25 at 7:00 in the LDS Institute Building. The social is for all students interested in the institute program.

New officers will be elected Monday, Sept. 28. The officers are now in the process of planning a semester schedule which will include a monthly social. The Deseret Club invites all interested to participate.

CAMPUS HEALTH SERVICE

Mrs. Charlotte MacDonald is the new nurse for Nevada Southern students. She comes here from Vallejo, California, where she was a school nurse. The following is her greeting to the student body:

"Students,
"Hardly anyone thinks of health any more as just the absence of disease. Helping ourselves to health means helping ourselves to a life that is as happy and satisfying as we can make it. To a great extent each of us has to figure out for himself how to bring this about. And in doing so, we can make use of health information that holds true for everyone. As your school nurse under School Health Services, I am pleased to have been given this opportunity by your editor to impart bits of news and health facts that may help you feel your best as a whole personality."
Mrs. Charlotte MacDonald"

Fall Leadership Conference Staged

Our campus leaders "took to the hills" September 19 for the annual CSNS Leadership Conference. This included all elected officials, student chairmen, committee chairmen, past student government officials, and all faculty personal involved.

The group met on campus at 8:30 for the drive to Angel's Peak. The plans were to drive up caravan style. But, as we understand it, some members got lost and ended up in Lee's Canyon. Others found that Angel's Peak was closed for the winter. However, all finally found their way to Deer Creek, and the meeting was underway at 10:30.

The Conference was opened by Bill Daley, a senior, and our student body president. He discussed some of the purposes for the conference. Bill urged an interest in student government, and asked that each leader devote himself to improving it on the NSU campus. He suggested that we change what has been wrong in the past and develop new ways of executing better student government.

Phil Alred, chairman of the social committee, was then introduced. Phil named some of the social events we can look forward to this year at NSU. This week alone we have the Freshman Rally in the gym, and the Rebel Roast at Boulder Beach. October 3rd is the date of the Howdy Dance in the gym, and October 5th sees Rush week off to a big start. Also this fall, we have University Day, the Halloween Dance, the Fall Play, and many others.

Mike Berry, chairman of the publicity committee, discussed plans for publicizing social events. He told of plans for a booth at the Junior Chamber of Commerce Fair. This booth will advertise the sporting events of NSU, and, in general, try to spark more community interest.

Don Malone, election committee chairman, explained the procedures for election next week. We will be voting for class senators. Also, we will be voting on a new CSNS constitution. A copy of the constitution will be available to every student.

The conference was then interrupted for lunch and informal discussion. We understand that hamburgers and potato salad taste pretty good in that chilly mountain air.

After lunch, Doug Crosby, treasurer of CSNS, reported on the financial condition of the student government. He explained procedures to be followed in budgeting and other financial expenditures.

Tom Hribar, first vice-president, discussed the new CSNS Constitution in particular reference to the Senate. He stressed the necessity of developing new leaders on campus.

James Beaver, judicial committee chairman, spoke on the powers and procedures of the judicial committee as they will be if the new constitution is passed.

Ernestine Elms, second vice-president, spoke on the inter-organizational council over which she presides. The council is an organization of selected representatives from each organization on campus. This year the council will be used to co-ordinate certain organizations activities. One of such united efforts will be the fund drive for raising money for a University Fine Arts Complex.

General discussion followed on proposed plans for University Day. That will be the big time when freshmen build their bonfire, and defend it from the upperclassmen. On the second day, we'll have booths, a cross country race, a three-legged race, a pie eating contest, and a football game.

The group also discussed ways of having greater report between classes, the need for effective leadership throughout student government, and ways for seniors to develop more interest in the university. It was decided that we need greater reporting of what the student government does to the students. This would include executive committee news, senatorial news, and action of all student government committees.

The conference concluded with a tentative proposal to hold a second leadership conference this year at the end of the first semester in order to evaluate the first semester.

CAMPUS PATROLMAN FOR PARKING ENFORCEMENT

The Nevada Southern campus has a security officer for campus law enforcement. Officer Edward A. Gestwicki has his quarters in Grant Hall with the buildings and grounds department.

Mr. Gestwicki's main duty at the beginning of the school year will be to enforce parking regulations. Students are asked to watch where they park, as parking citations will be issued to parking violators. In areas reserved or set aside for faculty members, no student parking will be tolerated.

"We'll have growing pains," stated Mr. Gestwicki, "until more parking areas are provided."

At the beginning of the semester, until things get settled down, only warnings will be given. But as routine replaces chaos, citations will be written. Ticket recipients will have to clear up matters with Judge DeFevre, or parking privileges will be suspended.

Meteorologists to Form Society

Mr. John C. Plankinton, a local meteorologist, has disclosed the impending formation of a local chapter of the American Meteorological Society. The purpose of the organization according to Mr. Plankinton would be to provide a media of exchange for local meteorologists, meteorological technicians, climatologists, hydrologists, and all others interested in some way in meteorology.

He further stressed the fact that one need not be a member of the National Society to join the local group.

Those interested in the new group may obtain application blanks in the student government room in Grant Hall, 114, or they are more than welcome to contact Mr. Plankinton at the WBRB, 2753 Highland Dr., Las Vegas, or by telephoning either 734-3198 or 737-4523.

NAT BASSING'S

Momentous Trivia

If you have the time, why not come with this reporter for a drive. We are heading south on Paradise Road and on the left hand side is the Las Vegas Convention Center. The street we are now crossing is Desert Inn Road and on the right is the DI golf course. Now we are crossing Sands Avenue and soon we will be coming to a small shopping center. There it is. Now we are crossing Flamingo Road and on the left is a teenage night spot. Soon we will be turning onto Harmon Avenue.

From here we are following this pencil straight road, past a church sponsored clubhouse, for six-tenths of a mile and if you will look closely and quickly through the windshield to see one of the weirdest sights in the area — a utility pole growing straight out of the blacktop.

The plans for this pole placing must be the same ones used to put a pole in the street off the northeast corner of Maryland Parkway and Tropicana Avenue.

Another access road to the campus is one of the best things that could be done. But will this pole remain in the roadway until someone gets injured, let's hope not. Let's hope that something will be done to correct this very dangerous situation. Let's hope also that the Nevada Southern drivers keep on their very best driving toes, because errors are not corrected very quickly in this fast growing area.

But there is progress in other areas. When a group of touring Frenchmen were asked what in the United States disappointed them most they replied, "No bidet!" Bidet?

After some research, I found this advertisement in a California newspaper: "With a flip of the finger you are washed clean with warm water and dried with warm air. Imagine! No bathroom tissue, ever. So simple, quick, and sure, you can hardly believe it unless you see it and use it."

"Replaces the seat on the present fixture; makes its own warm water and warm air; takes only minutes to install; easily moved if you rent. Low price includes installation. Colors to match any decor . . . and a positive must for busy youngsters."

With our forests disappearing more each year, I believe that this is real progress.

How about a word for the competition? Fine, a new toilet tissue called Aurora is manufactured by the American Can Company.

That Was The Month That Was . . .

Now that we've all survived registration, (we have?) it's time we got down to serious business — like when is the next party? . . . But first a word to the wise: if Pat Stafford goes to any more parties, he may not be around to enjoy them, unless of course they hold the parties on the first floor! . . . Speaking of floors, how many people saw Bill Daley's "floor show" out at Shakey's Ye Olde Pizza Parlour this summer? Others who performed with Daley in his famed Irish jig included Mike Barry, Jim Beaver, Gary Daverso, and Mike McCullough. But please, no comments!! . . . Alright, where was everybody during the Rebel Rouser, particularly the girls! Unfortunately for the boys, the stag ones that is, the ratio was about three boys to one girl. Come on people, let's support our dances . . . And who knows, they may even give away another beautiful 1939 Buick Special (?) . . . Congratulations to Dyann Waite for taking it off the I.K.'s hands. By the way, where did you get rid of it? We just hope you didn't leave it in the parking lot, we have enough problems as it is! In fact, if all freshmen (who else?!) would just park their cars at home and either walk or ride their bicycles and tricycles to school, the rest of us wouldn't have to park our cars on the other side of the street as did Tom Hribar, our illustrious first vice president. He unfortunately parked his car in some sort of muck which seemed very closely related to quicksand!

All those running for senator this year, take heed — your first order of business will be 38 pages of Constitutional By-laws! But don't get discouraged, you'll get $5.00 a month for your efforts . . . Important matters were discussed at the Leadership Conference this year held up at Angel's Peak — like what to do with 50 hamburgers and 20 pounds of potato salad left over. Maybe they'll be able to use it next January for the second Leadership Conference . . . Anybody wanna help 'em eat it? Oh well, it was just a suggestion . . . Well, typical NSU progress is going great guns this year, the roof to the new Social Science building has already caved in. Wonder what'll happen next month? Anyway, at least we can say we have grass in front of our library now. That's progress for you isn't it? One must admit that

Senate News

A lot of work will be facing the members of this year's Senate as they take office on October 2. As in the past, the Senate's powers have been both legislative and administrative. Expected of the Senate, as a legislative body, in the early weeks in session, will be the passage of numerous by-laws to provide a more workable structure to the recently approved CSNS Constitution. The Senate's early administrative duties are approval of committee appointments which have already been passed by the Executive Committee and approval of the general operating budget for the semester ending January, 1965.

All Senate meetings will be opened to interested students. Time will be posted in Grant 114.

ASIS OFFERS SUMMER WORK

It would be wise for those students who plan to go to Europe for the summer of 1965 to check the growing opportunities that can be found through the American Student Information Service.

With headquarters in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, ASIS is now taking applications for those American students who wish to obtain summer employment in Europe next year.

This next summer ASIS estimates that it will have openings for nearly 15,000 college students. It can place students in temporary work in Great Britain, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Sweden, Finland, Norway, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, Austria, Israel, and Liechtenstein.

The jobs offered under the program feature resort hotel work, office work, factory work, hospital work, child care, ship work, construction work, farm work, sales work, and camp counseling. Wages range to $400 a month for the highest paying position.

Those students wishing placement through the non-profit ASIS plan should write to Dept. I American Student Information Service, 22 Avenue de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

It is reminded that the most attractive positions for next summer are to be filled within the next four months.

Pep Band Forming

Play a musical instrument? All students interested in playing in an NSU Pep Band for the upcoming basketball season are asked to leave their names in the student government room, Grant Hall, room 114.

that's better than a tumbleweed (though we don't want to do away with all our tradition and that is certainly part of it!) . . . We wish to heartily bestow our luck upon those working the CSNS booth at the Community Fair and, more specifically, to the Sigma Gamma boys and their loaded milk bottles, which they plan to use at their booth! . . . and now a word to those why may now be venturing to drive home from our most beautiful campus: we would ask you to drive carefully and don't hit any water pipes (if you can help it) . . .

P.S.: We just want to remind all of you interested in drama to be sure to drop by play try-outs and to visit the Gallery Theater on Charleston Boulevard — they have a time and so will you (if you drop in, of course) . . . Also, all you who are interested in politics, be thinking of the coming mock Presidential elections which will be held here on campus. Those interested in working for the Republicans contact Phil Allred and those interested in working for the Democrats contact Ron Maxwell . . . O.K. readers, until next time, study hard and don't get too rowdy . . .

Yours truly,
The Muckrakers!

LE MOT

The word — is supreme. Alone it means little, but sewn together with others in a purposeful manner the word can divide a nation, seal a love affair, or bring order where chaos has prevailed. The word — is malleable. It yields to the manipulations and organization of masters: the writers and speakers of great ideas who have lived, live, and shall live in our disorganized world. Our world's great composers gather in small insignificant crannies of the globe and send us short glimpses of how life with organization and purpose should be. The masters of word composition have worked tirelessly, selflessly, unendingly to achieve their contentment; it has not been easy. But these men are dedicated to meanings that have been splattered on the pages of a great word order as they oppose the sloppy word entanglement of the publicized media throughout history.

How then, do we — the readers of written words and the audiences of that which is spoken — discover the masterpiece: the work of purpose and word order? Especially since we are merely students, how shall we know from whose mind shines the omnipotent light of writing mastery? How can we discover the difference between leadership to organized contentment and "the Pied Piper?" By reading the first and following his direction, we shall discover a world of peaceful purpose; but by flocking behind the other, we shall be led to the precipice of turbulence and by our own momentum be carried over to a life of chaos. How shall we know, in these, our formative years, whom to follow?

From my own experience and from the advice of some of the great men of my acquaintance, I have found two methods successful in determining the direction that is right. A person should have a natural feeling for the presence of well organized word order — the purposeful sentence; and this feeling should tell him when to follow and when to balk. It is also worthwhile to direct one's attention to the creators on the campus: the advocates of better organization. Students who sit together and plan better organization, through word order, for the betterment of their environment are indeed worthy of trust.

Evidence of such contribution is seldom supplied for consumption by a general student body. But when a document is produced, it should receive careful consideration; for it may be evidence of brilliance — it may be a guiding light.

New Scholarship Program For U. of Chicago

CHICAGO, Ill. (UP) — The University of Chicago has revised its policies on special scholarships for persons active in student organizations, according to an announcement by Dean of Students Warner Wick.

Under the new plan, monies from the Henry C. Murphy Fund will be used to "help all students participate in activities which would otherwise interfere with necessary term-time jobs," Dean Wick stated. He urged every student who "thinks he cannot otherwise play a major role in an extra-curricular activity" to apply for a grant.

The old program, under which a number of full-tuition and half-tuition awards were made, is "out of touch with the times and with the needs of many student organizations," Dean

Wick said. Student aid funds will be carefully adjusted to an individual's established need. He added: "The most common form of award will replace the student's term-time earnings to the degree this may be necessary. The idea will be to remove obstacles, or to reward or compensate for services."

No maximum will be placed on the activities awards in order that the Office of the Dean of Students will have the freedom to deal with each on an individual basis, Dean Wick said. When asked whether he thought those students who received activities scholarships would be retained, Dean Wick said he expected they would. In addition, there would be new people who will probably qualify for awards who have not previously received them, he felt.

NEVADA SOUTHERN A Growing Faculty . . .

By BOB SIDFORD

The opening of the fall semester finds fourteen new professors on campus. With this increase in teacher employment the staff will continue to meet adequately the needs of each student. Just as important, this new addition shows as clearly as the thirty-six per cent student enrollment increase that Nevada Southern is a tremendously popular and growing university.

These new professors, however, are more than these impressing figures indicate, for they represent the tremendous drawing power of NSU in the field of bright young talent. From as far away as India, Korea, and the Phillipines and as near as Southern Nevada and Southern California and from many different cultural backgrounds they have come to find a position of new importance and new growth.

Some, such as Mr. Henry Ber-golofsky, an associate professor of Business Administration, have found a permanent position. Others, such as Mr. Ram-zean Dossa, a lecturer in Sociology, who is working on advanced degrees, and who will replace Mrs. Fowler for one semester, are only temporary. One professor, Mr. Andre Simons, is returning after a year's leave to resume his role of assistant professor of Business Administration.

The science and mathematics departments find a welcome addition in Mr. Chad Murvosh, assistant professor of Biology; Mr. William Alsop, an assistant professor of Chemistry, and Mr. Irvin Christenson, a math instructor replacing Mr. Knight.

Others replacing teachers in their departments are Mr. Yong Cho, who attended a Korean University and worked for his Ph.D. at Syracuse University; Mr. Scott Edwards, assistant professor of Political Science, who graduated from Claremont and taught previously at the University of California at Riverside; and Mr. Robert Dav-enport, an assistant professor of History who is writing his dissertation at UCLA.

In the field of Art, Education, and Foreign Languages are Mr. William Bradford, Mr. Francis Rose, an assistant professor, and Mr. Josef Zemek. The English department has added a lecturer, Mr. Paul Marble, and Mr. Antonio Lapitan, a Philippine native who was awarded his doctorate at the University of Oregon, has joined the Sociology department.

A valuable asset, they comprise part of a forward-thinking university staff and characterize the amazing growth of a college honored by their presence.

SOCIAL SCIENCE COMPLEX

Work Speeds

Nevada Southern is currently under construction. By the next fall semester, the Social Science Building will be completed.

Plans for the building of a dormitory are expected to go into progress no later than January 1965. If luck is with us, construction will start December of this year. The cafeteria will also be started approximately the same time as the dorm.

Landscaping will be started as soon as the Social Science Building is completed. Landscaping is to be from Frazier and Grant buildings extending to the Social Science Building. There will be the addition of many trees on the campus, which will add to its beauty.

The Superintendent of Buildings states that between 1965-67, plans to expand the Gym, build an addition on to the Library, and add a Fine Arts and Physical Science building have been talked about. The approval of four million dollars on next years budget, will put the plans into action.

In the 1968-69 budget, we are also asking for four million dollars for more buildings. Reno is asking ten million dollars to improve their campus. As of now, only five million dollars has been offered for capital improvements, which is to cover both Reno and Las Vegas.

First Lecture On October 28

Former Vietnamese ambassador to the United States, Tran van Dinh will speak on "The War in Vietnam," Wednesday, October 28 in the first of a series of lectures sponsored by Nevada Southern.

Dr. Jerry L. Crawford, chairman of the Nevada Southern Campus Lecture Series Committee, said four lectures are scheduled for the fall and spring terms.

According to the schedule of lectures, speaker this fall will be Tran van Dinh and Harry Golden, distinguished editor of the Carolina Israelite, and best-selling author of For 2 Cents Plain, Only in America, Carl Sandburg, and Mr. Kennedy and The Negroes. Golden will speak on "Only in America", Thursday, November 19.

The third lecturer will be Dr. Joseph Krutch noted scholar, author, critic, and educator, who will speak on "What Is The Desert Good For?" on Thursday, February 19.

Dr. Krutch, who taught at Columbia and served on the staff of The Nation, becoming a prominent drama critic, is also an expert on the American desert and has many publications to his credit. Among these are The America Drama Since 1918 and Voice of The Desert.

"An Evening with Hans Conried" is scheduled as the closing lecture of the series. Conried will appear Monday, March 15. Conried is a well-known American actor and lecturer with 28 years of theatrical experience to his credit. A Shakespearean actor and humorist, he has starred in many television programs such as "Playhouse 90," "The Alcoa Hour," "Bob Hope Show," "Hallmark Hall of Fame," "Jack Paar Show," and "The Danny Thomas Show." He is currently master of ceremonies of the comedy series, "Fractured Flickers."

All four lectures are scheduled for 8:00 p.m. in the gymnasium on their respective evenings. Tickets for the general public are available at the Frazier Hall information desk or at the door.

Prices are $1.25 per lecture and $.50 for high school students. Season tickets are $4.00 for adults and $1.50 for high school students.

Doors close at 8:00 p.m. Out of courtesy to the speaker and audience, please arrive early.

For further information contact Dr. Jerry C. Crawford, Grant Hall, Room 211.

A Reminder

Students are reminded that they need to have a parking sticker to be able to park on campus after Oct. 5. Stickers may be obtained from Mr. De-Fever, superintendent of grounds, who urges the students to get this task out of the way soon.

Young Democrats

Once every four years the United States electorate sets about the business of electing a President. During the next four months Republicans and Democrats will be striving to "sell" their candidate to the majority of voters who have never seen the inside of a party headquarters.

This election may be the most important in modern times. Never have the people been given such a choice. In four years you will be living and raising families in the world of 1968. Will that world be one of national security and economic stability or one of nuclear chaos and financial crisis?

In some measure the choice is years.

In spite of all the talk of "smoke filled rooms," political backscratching, and "deals," the truth is that elections are won or lost by the sheer efforts of thousands of unknown workers spending a few hours a week in the important jobs of precinct and party work.

You can now take an active part in the preparation of America's future. Become a Democratic Party Worker. NOW!!

Meet with others who share your concern in your country. Talk to the candidates of your party. Join in the excitement of a great political campaign.

Help decide the future of the world.

NEW REQUIREMENTS AT LINFIELD

McMINNVILLE, Ore. (IP) — Upperclassmen at Linfield College will not need to take Basic Christian Thought to fulfill their religion requirement, according to an announcement here. This is due to recent passing by the faculty of six new religion courses.

The student may now choose from the following courses including Basic Christian Thought, Old Testament Literature, New Testament Literature, Introduction to the Philosophy of Religion, History of Living Religions, and two courses concerning church history, Development of Classic Christian Thought and Development of Modern Christian Thought. Except for Basic Christian Thought, all of the courses will not be offered each semester.

Intercollegiate Knights

By BILL KOOT

In behalf of the Intercollegiate Knights, I would like to extend a warm welcome to all new arrivals at Nevada Southern. For those who missed opportunity of hearing our Nobel Duke, Mike McCullough speak during orientation week, or for those who just aren't acquainted with the I.K.'s, I would like to take this opportunity to acquaint all of you with the Intercollegiate Knights.

The Intercollegiate Knights is a national, honorary men's fraternity. It was first established on this campus in 1959, and was reorganized into its present state early last year. Since then it has surpassed in accomplishment all other fraternities on this campus combined. It is an active fraternity, and therefore demands the same of its members. For this reason we have established a paging program for all potential candidates to knighthood, which is the highest rank a member can achieve. Paging is open to all male students; however, since our freshman mortality rate is so high it is suggested that only those students with an explicit desire to learn take up our paging program. For further information on our paging program please get in touch with James Beaver or call Mike McCullough at 384-9584.

The Intercollegiate Knights is a service as well as a social fraternity; however, the greatest service a member can and will perform by his membership is not to the school, the fraternity, or to anyone else; rather, it will be to himself. The benefits that one can receive by belonging to an organization such as a fraternity are a hundredfold. I have found that my belonging to the I.K.'s has been very gratifying, and I am convinced that most of you would feel the same.

Harris To Stage Fall Play

Nevada Southern will present this fall an American farce comedy "Three Men on a Horse." The authors of this play are Abbott and Holm. The director this year will be Dr. Harris. The technical director will be Dr. Crawford with Sherry Stiles as the Assistant student director.

The play is to be held in the "Little Theater," in room 125, Grant Hall. Curtain is at 8 o'clock in the evening on November 12, 13, and 14. The following week the play will be held on Nov. 19, 20, and 21. All university students were entitled to tryout.

Advance ticket sale will be scheduled in the near future. Everyone is encouraged and invited to attend at least one of the performances at the most convenient date.

Young Republicans

Once again the political fever runs high. Coinciding with the national campaigns are the state and local elections. These local elections directly effect the nation's ticket. Many of you students are under the voting age and may think that there is very little that you can do to effect this wide world of politics. You may not be aware that this world of politics is not so wide, but begins in your own locality — and your locality is Nevada Southern University.

At NSU the NSU Young Republican's Club is beginning a fresh new start with its new and able president, Phil Alred. The NSU YR's held their first meeting Saturday, Sept. 12 and elected their president for the forthcoming year. At this meeting support was voiced for the national and state tickets and a schedule for future engagements was set. The engagements sponsored by the YR's Club consists of a debate on Reapportionment between George Shaner and Mel Close on the 24th of September, a speech by George Von Toble on the 30th of September, and a speech by Paul Laxalt, Rep. candidate for the Senate, on Oct. 14.

RUSH WEEK STARTS OCT. 5

Those interested in joining a social organization should keep in mind that Rush Week will officially open October 5 and will continue through October 9.

Many varied activities are planned for these get-acquainted sessions. These meetings are scheduled in order that the students may find out more information about the individual organizations. They will be able to learn more about the cost, purpose, and activities of such an organization.

Newman Club News

By SUSIE STRICKLAND

Newman Club exists to fulfill the three-fold aspect of college life — religious, educational, and social.

This aim is reflected in the first events of the school year. A Communion Breakfast is held monthly. On Sunday, October 4, the first one will be served in St. Anne's Hall after the 9:30 a.m. Mass. A prominent Catholic cleric or layman will speak at each breakfast.

Father Caesar J. Caviglia, chaplain of NSU's Newman Club, will begin a series of classes on the Ecumenical Council on Oct. 1. The classes are offered every Thursday afternoon at Nevada Southern. No registration is needed to attend. The classes are opened to Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

An "October Fest" party is planned for Oct. 9. Further details will be posted around campus.

This year's officers are: president, Mike Berry; vice-president, Henry Silvestri; Recording Secretary, Pam Willer; Corresponding secretary, Sandra Ryzdewski; treasurer, Paul Stefens; and historian, Vicki Davison.

A business meeting is set for Sunday night, Oct. 11, in St. Anne's Hall. The meeting is to be followed by a dance.

Newman Club invites you to join and take an active part in its program. Only this way can you benefit from the goals it has set for the membership.

Cross Country Team In Second Year

Nevada Southern's two year old cross country track team launches its 1964 schedule by visiting the University of California at Riverside for a dual meet on October 10. Head Coach Bob Comeau has 21 new recruits on the squad this season to bolster holdovers James Whipple, Larry Clark, Cornell Wong, Chuck Cooley, Bob Cummings, and Ron Madden.

Last Year, in their first season ever, the NSU cross countrymen made a fine showing by winning two duals with UCR, tying for eighth in a 15 team tournament at Biola College, and finishing second in a three-way meet at Chapman College. With six returning lettermen to lead a determined crop of rookies through a rough schedule, the Rebel long distance men are certain to improve over last year's won loss record.

NEW DOCTORAL PROGRAM

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (IP) — Lehigh University will take the first step toward a projected course of students leading to a doctoral program in philosophy by establishing a master of arts program in that field. The new curriculum which will start this fall was announced by Dr. Robert D. Stout, dean of the Graduate School.

Through the new sequence, the department of philosophy will offer advanced work in the area of systematics, with particular emphasis on mathematical logic, scientific methodology, epistemology, philosophy of science and philosophical analysis.

Because the department of philosophy is closely linked to the University Center for Information Sciences with respect to research activities and formal course offerings, training in systematics prepares a student for careers in research and industry as well as for further advanced work culminating in the Ph.D. degree. The university earlier this year announced a new master's degree program to be conducted by its division of the information sciences, an outgrowth of the Center for the Information Sciences, also

Rebs Start Drills Oct. 15

Nevada Southern's first and hardest year with a full-fledged NCAA sanctioned basketball program will be opened on Oct. 15, with the advent of a heavy practice schedule.

Rebel's returning lettermen include All-American center Silas Stepp, Jerry Dick, Bill Davis, and Ray Demman. These team-members will spear-head the attack against a host of new opponents, including: Montana State; Greenville College, Ill.; Ambassador College; West Washington State; St. Joseph's New Mexico; and Eastern New Mexico.

Watch the Rebel Yell for exposure of all the games, the first of which is against San Diego Navy, and seven of which will be home games at the Convention Center.

The department has strong research interests in mathematical logic, philosophy of science, logico-mathematical theories of information storage and retrieval, system-construction and model theory. Opportunities exist for well-qualified graduate students to participate in sponsored research programs in these areas, and familiarity with computer programming will be an asset to any student so interested.

Comeau Encouraged

Junior Varsity basketball coach Bob Comeau was recently seen rolling around on the floor of his office making hysterical laughing noises. The reason for this merriment? Comeau had just glanced at a list of freshmen basketball players enrolling at NSU: Frank Koot (former Gorman High, Southern "AA" Conference All-Stater), Art Hughes (Former Virgin Valley All-Stater and leading scorer in the Southern "A" Conference during the 1962-63 season), James Gordon (Western High standout), Joe Coon and Mike Gabriel (ex Rancho Aces), Ed Terwilliger (Edgewood, Calif.), Harry Maloney (Mission High, Calif.), and Allan Wills (Kewanna, Indiana). Hmmm?

With talent like that, it looks like the junior-edition Rebels are going to have ANOTHER very, very, good year.

FALL 1964 INTERMURALS

Intermural basketball and volleyball will begin in the middle of October, according to Mr. Comeau, Director of Intermural Athletics. Basketball teams will be held to seven-man rosters, while volleyball squads cannot exceed eight players. Team rosters are to be given to Mr. Comeau at his office (107, Gym) as soon as possible.

COLLEGE STUDENTS MOBILE

SEATTLE, Wash. (IP) — College students of Washington are a mobile group. According to statistics released by Dr. Frederic T. Giles, Coordinator of College Relations at the University of Washington, more than 4,000 students moved from one college or university in the state to another in 1963. He said their figures mirror a nationwide trend, indicating increasing mobility by college students everywhere.

"We used to think of college as a non-stop train," he commented. "A student got on as a freshman and got off as a graduate. Now we find we have to think in terms of a 'local' train, with side trips and stop-overs along the way."

LOOKS PROMISING — Silas Stepp, Nevada Southern's All-American center, looms as the pillar of the Rebs attack in 1964.

YEARBOOK PICTURES TO BE TAKEN

Students who did not have their pictures taken during registration may have them taken at the Ball Studios, 1703 E. Charleston Blvd. before November 30, 1964. The fee is $2.50 and appointments may be made by calling the studio at 384-5411.

AWS

The AWS under the direction of Sue Wilson, the year's President, has launched a program to transform the organization from that of the stagnant to the active agent of student activity it should be.

The Rebel Roll Call, the student directory, is the first item of business on the agenda of this Thursday's meeting. The AWS traditionally puts out the directory to raise funds for its various service projects.

All interested women students are invited to attend tomorrow's meeting and to participate in the group activities. An active AWS means an improved Student Government.
