

C. S. N. S. SET FOR PROGRESSIVE YEAR

Confederated Students of Nevada Southern University officers don't openly like to admit it for fear of a charge of egotism, but the fact is that the summer of 1965 has proven to be a unique example of hard work, nearly 3,000 man hours worth to be exact.

In capsule form, this past summer saw C.S.N.S. complete a full physical and mechanical overhaul of itself. For the first time, student body officers now have their own "executive offices" in Grant Hall, complete with an official office atmosphere, and the publicity, public relations, and student government have been given their own office in Grant Hall. The entire operation of remodeling took six weeks to complete.

According to President Thomas Hribar, "the remodeling of offices represented a giant step in the modernization of the C.S.N.S. function. It will permit us to act more efficiently, and gives the committees and officers the atmosphere for that efficiency."

Due to the various modernization projects, C.S.N.S. committees have been able to finish and begin major tasks during the summer. The S.E.C., Special Events Committee, under the direction of Thomas Wingfield, has succeeded in setting up the entire social calendar for the year in balanced form, and the publicity and social committees, under the direction of Miss Marcia Griffin and Mr. Hank Saleebey respectively, have acted swiftly to formulate plans, according to Hribar.

Public relations has proven itself to be a vital area of communication within the Las Vegas community, the state, and university students in the nation, and in the words of Ben Knowles, President Pro Tempore of the C.S.N.S. Senate, "N.S.U. student government will attempt this year to establish close ties with all of the news media in the state so as to insure proper publicity of our events, and projects." A local television program, University Forum, is set for airing late this month, and will be designed to help acquaint Las Vegas with N.S.U. Produced by C.S.N.S., it is set to be broadcast on KORK-TV2.

A major project this year for C.S.N.S. will be the formulation of ideas for the size and scope of the student union set for 1968. A Student Center Committee, under the direction of its chairman, Robert Jensen is currently working on student aims in this area, and is set to meet regularly with a faculty committee and the university chancellor, Dr. Moyer.

Another summer project that now stands complete is the "campus center", formerly the Dean's Office. C.S.N.S., working with the chancellor, has transformed the area into an informal lounge-dining area, complete with ladies lounge, vending machines, tables and chairs, and piped-in music.

In order to keep in close contact with the attitudes of the various student groups, Hribar plans to establish a "President's Association" made up of the presidents of all campus organizations. The "club" will meet informally and discuss various projects and issues.

In its total form, C.S.N.S. government is much too extensive to cover only ten paragraphs in the REBEL YELL. It has undergone enormous changes designed to make it more "collegiate" and efficient.

One thing is certain, however, the student body officers are confident of an active year, and optimistic of success. Indeed, from the appearance of the projects, there is much to be optimistic about.

When quizzed, C.S.N.S. 1st Vice President, Jack Abell, confided, "we have succeeded in starting off on the right foot. Our events calendar is truly amazing, our officers and committeemen are eager to do well, and I strongly feel that C.S.N.S., for the first time, is ready to give the students of N.S.U. a highly enjoyable year. I think that N.S.U.'s drive for prominence has begun, and C.S.N.S. is determined to be a vital part of it."

One factor remains unmeasured, however, student support. If the programs are any measure of the support and devotion of the student body, the academic year of 1965-1966 should be a lesson in success.

Moyer Assumes New Duties

FRASIER HALL TO HOUSE CAMPUS CENTER

The first "on campus" student facility, the Campus Center will be open for student use this fall. The Center is an original idea of Dr. Moyer and was carried through this summer by him and the Confederated Students of Nevada Southern. The Center is located in Grant Hall in space previously occupied by administration offices. The Center will be jointly administrated by Dr. Ben Owens, Dean of Students, and a C.S.N.S. Campus Center Chairman yet to be named.

The Center along with the adjoining patio will serve as a complete unit for student activities with fewer and fewer functions being held in the Gym Foyer. The complex will contain a ladies lounge and lockers which can be rented at 10c per 24 hours. Also included will be an AM-FM Stereo Unit which the Senate recently allocated $240 for. Hot and cold, food and drinks, ice cream and pastries will be attainable through the vending machine service. A change machine will be included in the vending machine area. On display from time to time will be various student art works with sales of works being held.

The furniture is being provided for, on a loan basis, by the Associated Students of the University of Nevada. A bulletin board will be established for the use of C.S.N.S. and student organizations in announcing upcoming events and meetings. Daily announcements will be presented at 11:00, 12:00, and 1:00 in an effort to assist in communications between all groups, organizations, and factions on campus.

The Center as is, in Frazier Hall, is only a temporary facility until the completion of the student union. It is hoped that the center will serve as a general and central gathering point for students and their activities. With more and more students gathering at the Center much of the library tension which has in the past been such a problem should be relieved.

Chancellor Moyer Cites Growing Pains

Among the many new personalities on campus this year, some are student's some are faculty's, but one is more welcome than the others. More welcome because he has been needed so desperately for so long.

At forty-seven Dr. Donald C. Moyer has undertaken the newly-created chancellorship with the innate enthusiasm and seasoned ability so desperately needed. Having been raised in Illinois, Dr. Moyer attended the University of Illinois for his Bachelors and Masters degree and later taught math and science classes. He then went on to obtain his Doctor's degree in education and education administration at the University of Chicago. Moving later to New Mexico, he held positions as Director of Higher Education for the state and President of Eastern New Mexico University.

Commenting on the problems Nevada Southern University is now facing, Dr. Moyer stated that there are two major problems stagnating the growth of our University: the lack of money and the lack of enthusiasm by students and state citizens in general.

The cause of the monetary problem, he observed, is very complex, and is brought about by a variety of causes unique to Nevada. The legislature, which must approve all expenditures for education, has been strangely adverse to approving much more than nominal amounts for Nevada higher education. This might soon be changed by the proposed reapportionment of the state legislature; for, it would seem that the present legislators are in cognizant of the value and the consequent necessity of having a well developed program of higher education in this state. He commented: "The greatest resources Nevada has are capital, and therefore, the greatest investment that can be made is in bettering this resource." He added that the legislature will eventually mature and realize this desperate need on the part of higher education, however the citizens of the state must first feel the need enough to force the legislature into taking no other action but that beneficial to education.

When asked whether the state Board of Regents appear to him as overly partial to the Reno campus he stated that this might have seemed to be true at one time, but as far as he could tell the regents are looking forward to the rapid expansion of both campuses, and will do everything possible to help Nevada Southern's growth meet the needs that develop.

It is obvious that "growing pains" are not unique to Nevada Southern. Every time a new campus in any state begins, assuming the location is at least average, there is a problem of the buildings and faculty expansion keeping pace with the student growth, this is particularly true of non-private institutions. "The situation must be met with patience."

But there is also no reason to mistake patience for senseless stagnation. The key to fast growth most probably will be taking advantage of opportunities when they arise. This is, in essence, Dr. Moyer's job: Taking advantage of opportunities that may arise and benefit Nevada Southern.

Steps to be taken will include buildings being built in the near

Juno & The Paycock Tryouts Set

Try-outs for "Juno and the Paycock," a comedy-drama by Sean O'Casey will be held in Grant 125 September 21 and 22. The times of the try-outs are as follows:

Tuesday, September 21—3:30-5:00 P.M., 7:30-10:00 P.M.

Wednesday, September 22—7:30-10:00 P.M.

"There are several roles in this famous play, and consequently I hope that we have a large turn out," stated Dr. Paul Harris, Director of the fall play.

Any matriculated or special student who is interested in acting and/or production work is eligible to try out for "Juno and the Paycock."

Production dates are November 11, 12, 13 and 18, 19, 20. The acting scripts are in the Library on 24 hour reserve for those who wish to read the play in advance of try outs.

Anyone wishing further information should contact Dr. Harris in Social Science 239.

BOB JENSEN

IN A REBEL'S EYE

For us, summer ends today. It was a very enjoyable season but now a new semester is upon us.

Greetings to the 900 new freshmen. Greetings also to the 2100 other REBELS. To any of you who think college work is based on luck, good luck.

When you get the chance, go to the CSNS Executive Offices in Grant Hall. The triplex office houses most student government officers. The old student government room (Gr. 114) is now the Publications Office. The new space was sorely needed last year and will probably prove inadequate this year.

When you enter the office, you will probably notice a beautiful hanging lamp. It is really quite utilitarian in spite of its attractiveness. Actually, you can't miss it. It's hanging right under one of the large florescent lights.

Continuing students will marvel at the changes in Frazier Hall. The former Dean's Office is now part of a temporary student "center." Food and refreshments and conversation will be the main conveniences provided by the new arrangement.

Don't confuse the scope and functions of this temporary "center" with those of our planned Student Center. There is absolutely no comparison. The SC will be the basis of our "campus community."

Incidentally, the Student Center Committee is gathering a group to formulate a concrete plan for the SC. Any ideas are solicited and all will be considered. If you want to serve on this planning group, leave a brief resume in the SEC-SCC section of the CSNS Executive Offices.

A prediction: Some of this year's freshmen will be among the first to enjoy the facilities of the Student Center.

Good intentions are something that I think we all have in abundance. Before the beginning of every semester and before every test, I always pledge to bear down and "crack the books." Somehow or another, the test or semester arrives and I still haven't properly prepared myself.

This time it's going to be different. Tomorrow I'm going to bone up on my French. When French bores me, I'll review my cotinue courses.

When a test comes up or the deadline for a paper approaches, I'll be ready. I'll do all of my assignments ahead of time and even do them twice if necessary.

The above resolution shows that I have at least some good intentions. I fear that the resolution will go where the rest of them always do. C'est la vie!

UNWRITTEN LAW: Students are required to be friendly to one another. Violators will be persecuted by someone.

THOUGHT: Today is yesterday's tomorrow.

THE WORD: Pansophism — pretension to universal knowledge. (Pansophist)

PARKING STICKER DEADLINE SET

The date of October 1, 1965 has been announced as the deadline for the obtaining of all auto window stickers for the upcoming school year. These stickers, which are obtainable from the office of Buildings and Grounds any time between the hours of 9 A.M. and 4 P.M. Monday through Friday. After the assigned deadline parking fines will be in effect, one dollar for the first violation. Parking stickers do not cost anything, unless you do not have one. It would be to your benefit, also, to know your automobile license number at the time you apply for a parking sticker.

ACADEMIC DEADLINE SET

The registrar's office has announced the deadline for late registration as being September 24. By this date students wishing to register for new classes or change classes must have completed this procedure. The final date in the semester for a partial fee refund for students who are registered for six or fewer classes is October 13. October 27 is the last date that a student may drop a part of his program. November 10 is the last date to obtain a partial fee refund for students who are registered for seven or more credits. All withdrawals from the University must be completed by January 13, 1966.

1964-1965 EPILOGUES

Students who have not yet received their Epilogue for last school year and still have their student activity card, may pick one up in the publications office room Grant 114. Students are entitled to only one Epilogue per year.

"FOLLOW ME MEN"

Looking Down the Barrel

With Chuck Crawford

It would be worth contemplating for a moment, as a reader of this publication, exactly what it is; for it is my hope that you will have the interest to read each issue that is published this year. First of all this is a news publication. Secondly, this is a college publication. And this, thirdly, is a student publication. I, as editor, owe responsibility to these in that order.

As a college newspaper, the REBEL YELL must conform to certain accepted journalistic practices. We must have as our first task the reporting of the news. However, this is not the only responsibility we have. As a college publication, the REBEL YELL has the opportunity to freely express the opinions of its editorial staff and interested readers. We believe this to be the greatest virtue of a college publication. We must try to honor this responsibility with every issue of this paper, even though in doing so we might often catch the disfavor of certain groups who do not agree with what we say. We will tolerate those who might dispute our opinions for that is their prerogative; however, let them not dispute our right, as editors of this publication, to voice those opinions. Our editorial policy is simple and will appear in every issue with the words: "I disapprove with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

I cannot state it better than that. I, as an editor of a college publication, have a very special privilege to use; for it is only on a college campus that I have no bounds to what I can say or what I allow to be said. There are no political or financial ties which I must honor first, before I honor journalistic freedom. Let it be known that I expect criticism personally from members of this confederation, but those criticisms will never be bounds to this freedom I will exercise. For whenever an editor of a college publication fears criticism and pressure from his readers and sponsors, college journalism takes a step backward and soon academic freedom on the college level will revert to a policy of regulation. It is my sincere hope that this will never be allowed to happen on this campus.

PEBBLES TO THROW . . . From the sound of C.S.N.S. orientation speeches, it seems that the Hribar administration is on the verge of success already. Time shall give the ultimate answer. . . The first N.S.U. dorm stagnates on the brink of construction. It seems that when the bids were opened every builder was too high. What next???? . . . The latest word from the chancellor's office is that landscaping on the immediate "perimeter" areas of the campus buildings to start in the fall. Someone mentioned a "reflecting pool" to tip the scales at $10,000. Sounds like Reno planning. It seems a bit ridiculous to add landscaping and not give B & G additional men. Of course, with the way some of the "boys" work, it would not take too many good workers to be efficient. . . There are also rumors floating in space regarding the start of work on the two-story addition to the library within six months. . .

SUMMER PROVES WORTHWHILE . . . Official statistics report an increase in N.S.U. undergraduates visited European countries during the summer of 1965. . . C.S.N.S. finally had the nerve to expand its offices and create a work-while atmosphere. . . Executive Committee planning first N.S.U. homecoming this year. . . N.S.U. Alumni Association starting what looks like a strong membership drive. . . Chuck Crawford to lash out at REBEL YELL inconsistency by publishing every two weeks. . . Good luck! . . . C.S.N.S.'s new "campus center" now open. It is a welcome sight, and features food service, music, and lockers which can be rented by the day. . . Hats off to Dr. Moyer for the suggestion!

QUOTES TO PONDER . . . A student heard commenting that a building the size and quality of the new social science should be given to this campus for five years straight in order to make up for the ignorance of the "cow county N.S.U. haters" . . . Students raving over the accomplishments made by the new chancellor in only a period of 2½ months. . . Campus leaders happy over the creation and superb staffing of Dean of Faculty and Dean of Student Affairs positions. . .

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

To the returning members of the student body as well as to the great number of students who will be attending Nevada Southern University for the first time, I extend a most hearty welcome to this campus. I should also like to take this opportunity to inform the members of the Confederated Students of what student government has done during the summer months toward building the groundwork toward a successful year and of what our plans are for the coming months.

Although I believe that we have had a very effective organization operating for the Confederation, the time is now at hand when we must enlarge this nucleus into an expanded organization. In the next few weeks, student government will be asking many of you to work on the various committees and commissions that compose the whole of your student government. It will be the responsibility of these groups to work closely with the executive officers and with the Senate.

So that you will know some of these committees and the chairmen of them, I want to comment on some of them and briefly describe the functions of these groups.

Mr. Thomas Wingfield has been re-appointed to the position of Special Events Co-Ordinator which he held last year. Working on Mr. Wingfield's committee are Mr. Hank Saleebey, Social Chairman) and Miss Marcia Griffin (Publicity Chairman. These people will plan and publicize the entire calendar of events for the coming year.

Mr. Chuck Crawford will edit the campus newspaper, the Rebel Yell, and Mr. John Haggerty will publish the yearbook, the Epilogue. These two men will head the Publications Department. Campus publications are vital to university life. I am certain that both Mr. Crawford and Mr. Haggerty will welcome any of you who are interested and who have experience onto their staffs.

The Pep Commission is headed by Co-Chairmen Jim Bowman and Cal Robeck. Very shortly now, this commission will be calling upon interested students to try out for song leaders and cheerleaders.

It is my expressed belief, which I am certain is shared by all of my fellow officers, that all of the appointments to date are filled by qualified personnel. Every student leader mentioned has had considerable experience in their respective fields.

I have mentioned the above committees because they are perhaps more closely related to the functions of student government; however, I would indeed be remiss if I failed to mention other groups and student leaders who have devoted many hours on your behalf.

The Executive Committee and Senate have met regularly throughout the summer in order to handle many of the obligations of student government, and now they are free to act on current matters coming before them. I should like to mention the following student leaders for their outstanding contributions to this student body: to Dennis Gomes for his efforts in revamping financial procedures in the office of C.S.N.S. Treasurer, to Miss Judy Plant for her work as C.S.N.S. Secretary, to Miss Tracey Goetel for her work as Senate Recorder, to Mr. George Clark for his work in publishing the library handbook, to Miss Diane Spaulding for her work on the new student center in Frazier Hall, to Mr. Bob Jensen for his work on planning and fund raising for a student union, to Miss Carole Kopp and Miss Nancy

Attention Freshmen—This is a warning:

1. Freshmen are not allowed to attend college parties unless accompanied by a twenty-one year old bottle.

2. All Freshmen are required to leave all parties promptly at the hour of one AM of the third day.

3. All Freshmen are requested to keep off the grass (if you can find any), as there is an old wise ground keeper saying "If thou walketh on thy grassy bed, thy will put some hurt on thou head."

4. Freshmen girls are requested to park their cars in spaces unoccupied by other vehicles or buildings as we had trouble last year in girls double parking, one car on top another.

5. All Freshmen will honor thy father, thy mother, and thy Intercollegiate Knight.

If all Freshmen follow these five rules they will get a broad understanding of the better upper classmen and give the upperclassmen a better understanding of the Freshmen Broads.

Nevada Southern is in its first week of mass torture, better known as the spring semester.

Many students have already succumbed to the murderous schedule. The schoolwork is so hard that not only do students fall from over work but also from sprain backs and hernias.

NSU has some pretty rough profesors. It is not uncommon to see one going to class with a chair and whip; matter-of-fact one unmentionable educator is SO rough that he just finished writing a bood titled 'My years with Murder Inc.' He was also reported to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Dumb Students.

When the welcome wagon arrives on campus at lunch time not only does it bring coffee and sandwiches but also medicine, bandages, and plasma. It isn't staffed by a welcome waitress but a nurse; kind of a Ben Casey of the gourmet set. When she asks 'do you want it to go?' she usually means your appendix.

There is some dissatisfaction among students that there is not enough college demonstrations or civil disobedience on campus. They believe that demonstrations are a necessary part of college life. They should even be taught in school with class titles like, "Sit-ins 101, Advanced Freedom Rides 362, and Theories in Mob action 481.

What we really need is a good old fashioned race riot. Since there is perfect race harmony on campus we would have to import a new minority group. How about a Canadian Eskimo?

Instead of rocks, students could throw snow balls, they could also burn whale blubber on his front lawn or use ice picks on his igloo, and call him clever names like "dirty Eskimo". Of course, people would rationalize their actions by saying "would you like your daughter to marry an Eskimo?" or "the value of refrigerators and freezers will go down" even 'some of my best friends are Canadian Eskimos and the only thing I have against them is their race, color, and creed.

Elections Set for Oct. 1-2

Elections for student government vacant positions will be held on September 30 and October 1. The open offices are: two Freshman Senators; Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Presidents and Vice Presidents. Petitions can be obtained on September 20 in Grant 235. In order to run, one must have a petition with 25 names on it. On September 24 the petitions are to be turned in at Grant 235. Campaigning runs from September 24 to the days of elections. To run for these offices, one must be a member of the class one plans to represent. For the offices of President and Vice-President (excluding the Freshman class), one must have a 2.2 over-all grade point average and maintain it throughout the term of office, which is until May 1. All those interested, please come to Grant 235 for more information.

Pep Commission Undergoes Revamping

Whether or not last year was a disappointment for the Pep Commission, the C.S.N.S. Executive Committee and Senate have decided that it was for them, and the commission has been drastically altered in form. In addition, there have been changes in the amount of executive control that is exerted over pep finances.

Physically, the Pep Commission during 1965-1966 will consist of two co-commissioners, Cal Robeck and Jim Bowman, both sophomores. The major changes are the establishment of male-only yell leading positions, three in number, and five female songleading positions designed to incorporate the Pep Band and cheerleading sections.

This year, and in the future, the Pep Band will be organized around a faculty member. Currently, Pep Commission officials are investigating the possibility of organizing the band around a university band course being offered this semester and next, thereby opening the door to credit for membership.

In order to gain a greater understanding of college yell and song leading technique, Robeck and Miss Terri Hayes, a former yell leader, traveled to Dallas, Texas during August for a training forum. They learned much, and also carried back high honors in team competition events at the camp.

Selection of songleaders will begin soon. The voting will be done by the pep commissioners and the Executive Committee.

Children's Theatre to Stage First Production

As part of the rapidly growing schedule of Drama Department activities, a "double-first" has been announced for Nevada Southern's Little Theatre. The first all-student production, as well as the first production of the newly formed Nevada Southern Children's Theatre, will be The Emperor's New Clothes, a play by Charlotte Chorpenning based on the well-known fable. Directors Bob Burgan and Brodie Graves have announced that crew heads are: Lee Strange, Jackie Womble, Sherry Stiles, Vickie Silver, Ernestine Elms, Jackie Chapman, Sandy Rydzewski, Doug Duchin and Dave Smith. The enthusiasm already shown for this first all-student production has been exceptionally high. (If you wish to participate, contact any of the crew heads.) Production is scheduled for late in the semester and exact dates will be announced in early November. Try-out dates and times will be announced in the next edition of the REBEL YELL.

Alpha Omega

By GAYLE HAWKINS

Well, fellow Rebels, summer is over now and it is time to get back into the routine of classes and studying. I guess that will slow down everyone's social calendar a little. Looking back over the past 2½ months, it makes me wonder how anyone survived all the parties, picnics, and bashes at the lake. It was sure fun, though!

First of all, Alpha Omega would like to extend a hearty welcome to the new freshmen here at Nevada Southern and to wish them all lots of luck during their first year at NSU. Secondly, we would like to extend an invitation to all freshmen girls to attend our rush parties during the week of September 27 to October 2. Besides the usual rush parties, there will be a special room set aside on Tuesday and Thursday of rush week so that the rushees can obtain any desired information about Alpha Omega.

Here is a list of our new officers and committee heads for this coming year: Sally Moore, President; Judy Stanley, Vice-president; Linda Estrin, Secretary; Dale Hop, Treasurer; Diana Crow, Parliamentarian; Gayle Hawkins, Pledge Chairman; Margie Haddad, Historian; Sharon Ziemniak, Publicity; and Sue Field and Allison Derman, Social Co-Chairmen.

I would like to congratulate all the speakers at the assemblies on September 8th and 10th and would like to second the idea that more students participate in student government in any one of its many phases.

To Nu Sigma Upsilon: thanks so much for the great time we had at Warm Springs last Sunday! Also, thanks to ATO for all the great parties we had this summer. That's all for now—good luck this year everyone!

The Yell of Organizations

I.K.s are undertaking the most ambitious program in the history of the organization.

First on the agenda is our helping with registration which promises to be the largest ever held on this campus. Then we dive right into our first sponsorship of a social event, the REBEL ROUSER to be held on Oct. 2. Last year we auctioned off a Buick Riviera at the event. Watch this column for big news concerning this year's REBEL ROUSER.

Again this year the men in red blazers will be ushering at all the basketball games of the REBELS. During basketball season the I.K.s will sponsor the Annual Snow Ball on Dec. 18. The Snow Ball is the highlight of the Christmas party season, a formal dance held at one of the strip hotels.

Add to these services for the school, the many activities that deal only with the I.K.s such as, parties, meetings, ceremonies, parties, elections, conventions, and parties and one comes up with a very active year. We may not be unique in our prediction that this is going to be a great year for N.S.U. and the I.K.s, but from this vantage point no other prediction is possible.

Nu Sigma Upsilon

By MARCIA GRIFFIN

We of NSU's oldest sorority welcome you to Nevada Southern. The Rush, social and service calendars for the coming semester have been planned by the respective chairmans of the committees.

CSNS Secretary and past President of Nu Sigma Upsilon, Judy Plant, was married last Friday. We extend our congratulations to the happy couple.

NEY presented a swimming party to the fraternal groups last Sunday at Warm Springs.

The girls have been very busy during the last summer planning the fall activities. Sue Wilson, the social chairman, in conjunction with the Intercollegiate Knights, has scheduled the annual Egg Race and Gully Party. Sandi Sharp and Nancy Schroeder have petitioned Sigma Gamma for the pleasure of their company at the forthcoming Powder Puff Basketball game. We are also in contact with ATO regarding a party in the near future pertaining to the Rush Week festivities. President Cynthia Schultz announced at the last meeting that the girls would be in attendance at the orientation distributing useful information regarding the sorority to the new Freshman women.

If you have any questions please contact a member or call Marcia Griffin at 642-3295. Good luck in all your new classes?

Sigma Gamma

By DAVE GARTENBERG

Sigma Gamma cordially welcomes the new students to campus. We are confident that your time here can be rewarding and pleasant.

Sigma Gamma Fraternity was founded in 1959 by several young men wishing to enhance their social pleasures. For six years the "club" has been undergoing changes which we hope will lead us on the path to becoming a first-rate national Greek fraternity. The door to our goal does not seem far away.

For those men interested in being a part of Sigma Gamma, talk to the "Man in Blue" about it and watch for information during Rush Week.

Young Democrats

By MARCIA GRIFFIN

We, the Young Democrats of Nevada Southern University, would like to welcome you to NSU and present you with the opportunity of participating in an active political club. We were fortunate enough to represent our campus at the State Young Dem convention held at the Riviera Hotel last June. Every political electionship was decided by the five votes extended our 10 man delegation.

If you are interested in becoming an important part of your campus ask for information concerning the Young Dems, or contact one of the officers. Good Luck in all the forthcoming classes and enjoy the social calendar of CSNS.

WILL WE GROW?

By CHUCK CRAWFORD

A record enrollment of more than 3,000 students is expected for this fall semester. A student body size slightly less than 1,000 student smaller than Reno campus. This is shocking when you consider that we are eighty years younger.

With 1,100 new students this fall, about 700 of them freshmen, Nevada Southern is rapidly showing that growth is imperative and that is should become an accepted occurrence on this campus, instead of the all too frequent fight.

Will we grow to meet the expanding desire for a larger campus? Yes. Optimistically, but necessarily, yes. For it seems that our period of virtual stagnation has come to a halt, and that finally our growth program has gained traction and will explode to provide Nevada Southern with the facilities and personnel to handle the frantically large number of students expected within the next decades.

Already underway are the ideas and even the construction necessary for the expansion of this campus. Among the new projects underway are the dormitory and dining commons, which allegedly will be completed by September of 1966; the landscaping of areas in the immediate perimeter of existing buildings by this fall; a fine arts complex, which is just now entering the planning stages; and a student union which could possibly be built by 1969. This, hopefully, is only the beginning of the list of accomplishments due by 1970. Likely there will be many more.

Under the leadership of our new Chancellor, Dr. Moyer, it seems as though new life has been put to old ideas of swift progress, and this reborn spirit has brought about assurance that Nevada Southern's era of slow growth has come to an end and that the next few crucial years will build Nevada Southern physically, academically and socially.

The addition of the 120 bed dormitory in 1966 should begin to erase the almost universal image Nevada Southern has of a "street car student body." This image has been the cause of two negative side effects in the past. First of all it has kept many otherwise interested students from attending Nevada Southern since we have not been able to offer low cost housing for out of state students. Secondly, the fact that this has been a commuter college has brought about disunity and disinterest in the student body which is a direct factor in a bad "campus atmosphere." Both of these problems are a product of our lack of on-campus, low cost, living facilities. However, even when we finally get our first dormitory, this does not assure us of another one in the near future. The financing of the dormitory, largely through a federal loan, is on a trial basis. Our chances of getting another loan for another dormitory is directly dependent on how easily we can fill the first. However, if present suggestive interest in on-campus housing is any indication, the dormitories can be filled quite easily. If that happens we stand an excellent chance of obtaining additional loans to build either another dormitory or an addition to the first the following year.

Assuming we have our druthers come true with dormitories, the addition of a student union will be the next badly needed step in our growth. Right now we have only an area in Frazier Hall set aside as a gathering place for students. While admittedly this is an immense improvement over the art gallery which was supposed to be for that purpose last year, it will soon prove to be entirely inadequate as the size of our cam-

ROYALS AND WARRIORS CLASH IN PRE-SEASON TILT

Las Vegas basketball fans will get their second look at a Professional Team since 1953, the last Pro visit. The game is being sponsored by the Nevada Southern University Booster Club and all proceeds will go to the N.S.U. Scholarship Fund. The game will be held at the Las Vegas Convention Center, September 29, with tip-off at 8:00 p.m.

Jack McMahon's Cincinnati Royals, led by all-Pro Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas, bring to Las Vegas a powerful and strong contender to the Eastern division crown. The Royals, who finished third in the hotly contested Eastern Division race last season, are gunning for the number one position this year. Rounding out the Royals' probable starting line-up will be Wayne Embry, Jack Twyman, and Adrian Smith.

The Bay City Warriors, attempting to climb the Western Division ladder, will field a more rounded and experienced team than last season. Alex Hannum will probably start 6'11" Nate Thurman at the post, with Tom Meschery and Kenny Sears at forwards. Bringing down the ball will be Al Attles and Guy Rodgers.

Tickets are on sale for $2.00 and $4.00 per person and are being sold at the following places: Nevada Southern Business Office, Convention Center, and The El Cortez Hotel.

All in all, it should be an exciting game and a fine opener to the up-coming Rebel Basketball Season.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Engler for their work in handling the Confederation correspondence during the summer months, to Building and Grounds, headed by Fr. Jack DeFerre for outstanding help in the many problems that are continually coming before student government, to the many campus organizations and leaders of these groups who have aided this government in the past, especially during the summer, and lastly, to the many other students who have served this Confederation and who are too numerous to mention, I extend to them and to all of the above a heart felt thanks.

During the summer, I was in the Washington, D.C. area for six weeks of military training and so I want to extend special thanks to Mr. Jack Abell, your First Vice-President, for his leadership and for his work in moving and remodeling the student government offices in Grant Hall. In addition to the fact that this work was badly needed and long overdue, it was our belief that by so doing, we are now better to serve the student body and, because of the nicer surroundings, we will be able to display a better image of this university to the many visitors to this campus and to student government.

An in this last respect, let me once again reiterate that student government exists for one purpose—that being, to serve the student body. The doors of student government are open to any of you and I urge that you make use of our service. I want all of our students to feel free to come to the members of student government with your ideas, your problems, and your projects. We stand ready and willing to assist you in any way. I know that, together, we can look toward a brighter year, a year of progress, and a year of fruitful accomplishment.

future and other "fringe improvements". He expressed optimism toward getting the new, the fall semester of 1966; landscaping within the next few months; a student union by 1970; and a fine arts complex by that time also.

The growth of Nevada Southern is almost inevitable, and certainly must come soon by necessity. It appears as though the right man, with the right personality has been picked. He is a man in a hurry with time enough for everyone. Good Luck Chancellor Moyer.

Summer Jobs In Europe

Start planning your next summer's activities now! ASIS has a summer job in Europe for you! More than 15,000 summer jobs are available throughout Europe. Openings including waiting on tables, farm work, saleswork, construction work, child care, camp counseling, and many more. The jobs are located from Scandinavia to Spain's Costa Brava, from England's Robin Hood country to the Swiss Alps; or spend your summer working in France's Chateau country, scenic Finland, or in a high paying job in Germany or the Benelux countries. Wages range to $400 a month for the highest positions in Germany. A summer job in Europe not only saves one hundreds of dollars in travel expenses, but affords one the opportunity to meet and learn Europeans as they really are! Meet new people, make new friends! Although there is no language requirement for many positions, one has a golden opportunity to develop a speaking knowledge of a European language. One may also participate in the ASIS do-it-yourself cultural orientation tours which include hotel accommodations, transportation, meals, bilingual guides, and on the spot language instruction.

College travel grants and cash scholarships are available to students. Plan now for a fun filled summer experience that will enrich your life and broaden your fundamental cultural background. For complete information sent airmail (a 32-page booklet giving details about all available jobs including photos of American students working in Europe, a job and travel grant application form, and a $2 cash coupon good towards the purchase of the new, 450 page student travel book, Earn, Learn, And Travel Europe) send $2 to the American Student Information Service, 22 Avenue de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

Wind and Sand . . . By CHARLES

Voltaire was full of baloney! If the editor chooses to run it, this column will be dedicated to the encouragement of rumor, distortion of the truth, and the suppression of contrary opinion. Well, it's great to be back at the flax mill. Got through registration dispensing fewer than the usual number of insults to the faculty about inefficiency, and got the usual number of comments blaming the I.B.M. office at the campus. (You know where!) I was going to take tennis this year but chickened out again. Legs just aren't my best feature. Honey.

See that underclass kid in the green and black dress, and the black stockings? Zing. She should be signed up by somebody for something! I like a doll with imagination.

I noted "Chief" Geswicki running around out there, still holding his pants up with a string of silver bullets. Shot anybody's tires out lately, Ed,

EDITOR'S NOTE: WHO ARE YOU CHARLES?

AN INSIGHT INTO

N.S.U.'s Dr. Yong Hyo Cho

By TOM MARTIN
Rebel Yell Writer

Nevadan Lucious Beebe once wrote, "Nevada is the only free state left in the union."

Dr. Yong Hyo Cho, Korean-born political science instructor at Nevada Southern University since fall of 1964, has added a new twist—it takes all the other states of the union to keep it that way.

"Nevada owes more to the other states of the country, in economy and education, than any other state in the union," the specialist in state and local governments pointed out about the only state supported mostly by gambling and tourism.

"Nearly all the highly qualified specialists in the state were educated somewhere else.

"This area's economy, more than any other single area in the country, depends on the healthy economy of the nation, for the impact of a depression would be felt here first," the dapper Oriental stated.

He believes also that Nevada Southern's growth is indirectly tied to areas far distant from Nevada, following this train of thought.

Dr. Cho himself is another example of his idea. He says he likes the advantages of a small college, even though his education is international in scope.

If judged only on appearance, the small man's smooth features belie his age (30) and experiences while hiding from communist intrigue during the Korean War. In fact, he could honestly be mistaken for a student.

As a teacher, he is demanding. In class he mixes cheshire-like grins with a staccato to about even voice while giving taciturn lectures.

The native Korean came to the United States in 1960, when he won a scholarship to Syracuse University sponsored by the Honor Students Scholarship Program. He graduated from Seoul National University with a political science degree that same year.

In his four years at Syracuse, he received both a master's degree (public administration) and his doctorate (political science.)

He was also a graduate assistant on a study titled "Metropolitan America: Government Problems and Fiscal Patterns," directed by noted authorities Alan K. Campbell and Seymour Sacks of Syracuse, which is soon to be published.

He was invited to a five-man panel on American state politics at the American Political Science Convention held in Washington, D.C. Sept. 8-12.

It is an indication of his achievement in less than five years in this country.

Dr. Cho was born in a small South Korean town named Sachun in 1934. As a youth he led a life of intrigue during the Korean Conflict (1950-53).

"My family had to hide in caves during the communist occupation," he recalls. "My family was pursued, particularly because the occupation troops wanted to recruit my two brothers.

"For a while I acted as spy, carrying messages back and forth.

"We were afraid more of local communist officials than

WILL WE GROW?

pus expands so rapidly. Already preliminary plans for the union are being started, and it is even a possibility that if nothing foils our orderly steps toward this goal, we might even see a student center on the Nevada Southern campus within the next four years.

The projected construction of the fine arts complex is another necessary step in our growth. It will soon become apparent that the newly completed Social Science building is merely a pacifier. We most likely will be straining this building by the fall semester of 1966. It appears as though the source of funds for this building will be largely from public donation and partially from available loans.

The most immediate advance which will be made is the landscaping of the perimeter of existing buildings. Perhaps, in terms of being a necessary physical addition to our campus, this is not a great accomplishment, however, the intangible atmosphere that landscaping helps to create is just as necessary for the growth of this campus.

Certainly this is the beginning of a change. From this point we must go forward, growing bigger and better, for stagnation at this time can bring nothing but deterioration. If there is a time to act, this is the time . . . opportunities will not wait for us, neither will education.
