CSNS ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR FIRST HOMECOMING

EVENT SET FOR HOME GAME WITH WOLF PACK

CSNS President Thomas W. Hribar today announced tentative schedule for the first annual Nevada Southern University Homecoming celebration to be held during the week of the annual home game with the U of N Wolf Pack.

The event, as planned, will last four days, culminating with the game in the Las Vegas Convention Center on the night of January 10.

On Friday, January 7, a concert has been scheduled tentatively in the NSU gymnasium. "We are bringing to Las Vegas and the NSU campus," said Tom Wingfield, SEC coordinator, "the We Five, a folk-singing group who appeared in Reno for the U of N Homecoming last month. The group was so well received there that we decided to bring them to Las Vegas," Wingfield concluded. "This will be their premiere Las Vegas performance and we hope that, for this reason, they will attract a large crowd at the concert."

A pajama rally is set for the night of January 8. This rally will be conducted on Fremont Street in downtown Las Vegas and will be followed by a dance to be held on campus, to be presented by CSNS.

Special ceremonies will be held on the NSU campus by the Alumni Association. The local NSU chapter will handle these arrangements.

Special half-time ceremonies will be held at the game with the activities being coordinated by the Pep Commission under the chairmanship of Cal Robeck. Various floats will be presented by many campus organizations. The after-game dance presented by ATO will follow.

A 1965-1966 Homecoming Queen will be chosen in a special election which will be conducted under CSNS auspices. Petitions and election rules will be announced in the near future by Election Commissioner Jim Gans.

The entire event will be headed by CSNS President Tom Hribar. Dr. Ben Owen will serve as an advisor to the committee. Other students who will assist in coordinating the event are: Marcia Griffin, Chuck Crawford, Hank Saleeby, Jack Abell, Jackie Womble, Sandi Sharp, Sue Wilson, Bill Boyd, Mike Devere; Tracy Goetel, Judy Fleming, Dennis Gomes, the presidents of each class: Chip Mills (Senior Class), Don Aimar (Junior Class), Andy Glass (Sophomore Class), and Randy Frew (Freshman Class).

NSU BOUND — The "WE FIVE," popular folk-singing group, set sail for the First Annual NSU Homecoming celebration to be held on campus during the week of the home game with the U of N Wolf Pack. The group will appear in a CSNS-sponsored concert to be held in the NSU gymnasium.

TWH Appointed To Governor's Commission

Tom Hribar, CSNS President, was today appointed to the Governor's Commission on Education. The Commission will meet regularly in an effort to coordinate educational functions at all levels in the State of Nevada.

In a letter to Mr. Hribar, Governor Sawyer said, "I feel that your interest in education will make you an asset to this Commission."

When informed of the appointment, Mr. Hribar accepted and pledged his full cooperation to the work of the commission. "I am pleased with this appointment and will work with this commission and for the betterment of NSU," concluded Hribar.

The Sawyer appointment marks the first time that any CSNS officer has ever been appointed to a state commission by the Governor.

The Commission was recommended by a six-man delegation of Nevada educators who attended a national conference on the Compact for Education held recently in Kansas City, Missouri. The committee, composed of University Regents Dr. Fred Anderson and Proctor Hug, Assemblyman R. Guild Gray, Dr. Charles Armstrong, University of Nevada President, Byron Stetler, and Louis Bergevin. The committee made its report and recommendations to the Governor on October 19, 1965.

The purpose of the Compact for Education is to establish cooperation among executive, legislative, professional, educational and lay leadership on a nationwide basis at state and local levels; to provide a forum to discuss public alternatives in the field of education and to provide a clearing house for education information; and to facilitate the improvement of state and local educational systems.

BULLETIN

A committee of CSNS Senators toured the facilities of Science Tech Building to view reported "crowded" conditions. The group, headed by CSNS First Vice-President Jack Abell, made the tour just prior to press time.

One Senator voiced amazement at the "conditions as they exist in Science Tech."

The Senatorial Commission called for a report from students in the Science Department and promised to review the situation to see if Student Government could initiate steps to help alleviate the conditions in that building.

Crawford New Pro-Tem Dean

On December 1, Dr. Jerry Crawford assumed the duties of Dean of Faculty (pro-tem) succeeding Dr. Harold Hammond. Dr. Crawford takes over the new position for the balance of this year, but will continue instructing his classes until the end of this semester.

Dr. Crawford comes to the post from the Humanities and Fine Arts Department where he began his post with NSU in September of 1962.

LAWNS FOR NSU AT LAST

"Landscaping efforts will be started within a month," said Mr. Jack Defevre, head of Buildings and Grounds. This includes the area between the Library and Frazier and Grant Halls.

The work of putting in the sprinkling system and planting the grass will take 60 days; the contractors must have the job completed in that time or there will be a fine of $200 for each day over the allotted time period. The total cost of the project will be approximately $52,000.

Installation of the sprinkling systems will take the greater amount of time and sod will be used in the planting, so in a short period of time there will be "instant grass" on the NSU campus.

Landmark Tower Gets NSU Holiday Decorations?

The first field trip of Nevada Southern University's newest class, Tower Decorating 202, got off to a fast start recently when "NSU" was emblazoned atop Landmark Tower with four sets of 15-foot-tall letters.

The members of the class are not known, but it has been reported to THE REBEL YELL that they are running around campus with patches of black paint on parts of their hands, faces, and clothes.

CSNS Student Government, when informed of the fact, immediately laid claim to the title of "World's Tallest Highway Marker."

"It is difficult to see how the Reno campus can hope to equal this claim of CSNS," remarked a spokesman for Student Government.

"The action on the part of these students is, of course, inexcusable, particularly in light of recent campus debates," said CSNS Second Vice President Tracey Goetel. "After all, we can't become involved in any affair that will arouse certain elements of the Las Vegas population. Can you imagine signs being sported around southern Nevada reading: 'NSU GET OUT OF LANDMARK TOWER?'" she concluded.

When asked for a comment on the episode by a RY staffer, CSNS President Tom Hribar had this to say: "No comment!"

Judicial Board Called Upon for By-Law Decision

The CSNS Senate and Executive Committee, meeting in joint session on the morning of November 24, called for a ruling on the part of the Judicial Board on their interpretation of the CSNS Bylaws regarding a section relating to voting procedures when the Senate and Executive Committee meet in joint session.

A controversy arose when several members of the governing bodies interpreted voting majorities to mean two different things. An amendment clarifying the issue was offered, but both bodies elected to call upon the newly organized Judicial Board for their ruling.

Judicial Board Director Bob Jilbert is expected to call the body into session to rule on this matter in a few days. Members of the Judicial Board are Mr. Bob Jilbert, director, and members Janet Hodson, Randy Frew, Bill Ruymann, and Vicki Wilson.

The Rebel Yell HOTLINE

With this issue of the REBEL YELL, a new feature of publication is born — The REBEL YELL HOTLINE. In this column, the editors hope to give campus news in capsule form. Occasionally, we hope to scoop the staff on news bulletins and on news specials. So — with this in mind, let's go to press . . .

Student Body President Tom Hribar announced today that negotiations with the State Highway Department and with the County Planning Board have now been completed and that very shortly highway markers will appear throughout the county marking directional information for Nevada Southern University. "Student Government has been working on this project since last summer," said Mr. Hribar in a recent press conference. "These negotiations included a morning conference with Governor Sawyer," he concluded.

The results of these efforts are already visible, as several signs have recently been erected by the Nevada State Highway Department on the Las Vegas Strip and on Paradise Road and Tropicana Avenue.

That "JOIN AVL" which appeared recently on the CSNS marquee was not what many Rebels thought it was. This writer has been given to understand that it stood for (get this) "Anti-Virginity League." To those who thought it referred to Viet Nam, we have this to say: Come on, fellas . . . that issue died on November 27.

Popular Jack DeFevre, head of Buildings and Grounds, revealed today that bids for NSU landscaping have been opened and work on the project is scheduled to begin within a few days. A new process (at least for NSU) will be used. The landscapers will use sod instead of planting new lawns; we call it "instant lawn." From reading one of the local rags, we find that someone on the staff seems to feel that lawns, among other things, are not needed for NSU. To this we say . . . Ignorance is bliss!

The Newman Club sponsored College Night at the Teenbeat Club on the night of November 23. The event was so successful that the club has scheduled another night at the Teenbeat Club next Wednesday.

All members of Alpha Omega climbed onto the NSU bandwagon and really showed their support of the Las Vegas community drive known as "Loot From Las Vegas." Every member of the sorority gift-wrapped a package destined for our troops in Viet Nam.

The NSU Band and University Singers made their 1965 debut at the recent inauguration of Chancellor Moyer. Many students and townspeople were greatly impressed by their performance. This reporter has learned that the Reno administration was highly pleased by what they saw and by what they heard.

The REBEL YELL went along on a recent excursion to the top of Landmark Tower. The trip was not made for scenic viewing. The results of the efforts of certain student leaders can be seen from all four points of the compass and from a great distance. Wonder if students from "Winston Churchill University" will attempt to put WCU atop that same edifice? Or is Winston Churchill University merely a figment of someone's imagination? It must be a pretty vivid imagination!

Christmas Dance By ATO Rated As Big Success

ATO held its first Christmas Dance on December 4 at the Elks' Lodge in Henderson. The dance, rated a success by those members and their dates who attended the function, featured a holiday theme with favors for the couples.

In other events, ATO would like to thank the members of Sigma Gamma for their compliment on the recent football game.

In the City Football League, the group is participating in a double elimination tournament. So far ATO has won two and lost one game. The defeat occurred in the game with the Marines on Tuesday, November 30. The score was 20-19. Also, the organization will play the IK's on December 12, at Squires Field. Both the groups expect a big turnout.

The ATO's and their dates attended a recent "going away party" for John Pitts, an ex-social affiliate who has entered the armed services.

A spokesman for the club stated that tickets for the TV which the organization is giving away at the Sno-Ball are still on sale and may be purchased from any member of ATO.

CENTENNIAL TREE TO HONOR CLASS OF '64

An evergreen tree, designated the Centennial Tree, has been planted on campus between Frazier and Halls. The tree will honor Nevada Southern University's first graduating class — the Class of '64 — and will serve as the campus Christmas tree.

CSNS will install a bronze plaque near the base of the Centennial Tree commemorating the event. Student Government has made arrangements for Building and Grounds to decorate the tree each Christmas.

ALPHA OMEGA SETS MISTLETOE MAGIC

Alpha Omega has scheduled a holiday dance at the Teenbeat Club to be called "Mistletoe Magic." The event will have a holiday theme and will feature dancing as well as singing and other holiday festivities. "Mistletoe Magic" is scheduled for the night of December 22 at 8:00 p.m.

The organization has scheduled other events for the holidays, which include a sale of Christmas cookies and mistletoe. Both of these products will be sold by Alpha Omega members.

In addition to the above activities, the membership has as its project ushering and baby-sitting for the production of the "Emperor's New Clothes."

Alpha Omega is supporting Allison Derman, Judy Plemendon, Mary Doty, and Dale Hopall for IK Duchess. The organization has also scheduled a volleyball game with members of the IK fraternity, as well as a picnic.

YULE PARTY SET BY NSU NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club of NSU will hold a Christmas Party at St. Anne's Parish Hall on the afternoon of December 18 at 1:00 p.m. The club will host approximately twenty-five underprivileged children from grades one through three. A visit from Santa will highlight the afternoon's activities as well as games being played and refreshments served to the children.

Later in the month, the group will go Christmas caroling and will be accompanied by members of the Gorman High School Band under the direction of Brother Joseph Drolet, C.S.V.

The next meeting of the NSU Newman Club has been scheduled for December 5 in St. Anne's Parish Hall on Maryland Parkway.

Boob on the Brink

By LARRY CLARK

My girl just said, "Shove off," and I am contemplating suicide.

I was going to slice my wrist, but I might get blood on my new sweater — or jump off a high building, except that I'm afraid of heights.

I had to give up the idea of putting my head in the oven because I have an electric range. I would have to be charbroiled to death.

I was even going to put my finger in a light socket, but, alas, it's AC and I'm DC. Anyway, my roommates don't like me running up the power bill.

I even considered taking poison — arsenic, rat poison, etc., but if I could survive the Student Center, I could survive anything. Maybe, if I swallowed a gallon of anti-freeze — but that was the Center's special last week.

I finally decided on hanging myself. The only trouble was that the only knot I knew how to tie was a slip knot and all I succeeded in doing was breaking both my ankles.

"Stop," I said. "why should I kill myself?" Except for her obvious hatred I couldn't figure out why she had dumped me. Maybe because I hit her little brother with that tire iron! Well what else could I do when that two-year-old hoodlum kept cheating at "Old Maid?"

Possibly when I had that hatchet fight with her mother — she had the advantage, though — she weighed over 200 pounds — wheelchair and all.

I finally asked her why and she said that I was eating her out of house and home. (It's lies — I never ate a house in my life — well — maybe a toolshed once!) All I did was to eat three square meals a day and then in the evening I ate three more meals.

THE SITUATION

As The Rebel Yell Views It

The "Great Debate" is now history and it is hoped that the passions which were aroused for a time have cooled. Quite frankly, many of us seriously question if anything was accomplished by having the debate, for, certainly, nothing new was brought out. For the most part, the University merely served as a springboard for certain people to sound off on their own views.

One newsman who witnessed the entire spectacle was heard to remark that the proceedings could hardly be called a debate, inasmuch as the participants, for the most part, were not willing to defend either side of the issue, but were involved only on the side that they were speaking. THE REBEL YELL shares that view. Speaking of this, we would like to commend Dr. John Wright and Miss Phylis Segal for the spirit in which they "debated." These two members of the panel were willing to debate on either side of the issue. We would also like to commend Dr. Crawford for an excellent job as moderator.

To those few students who attempted to heat up the "debate" by clouding the actual issue with the side issue of "Academic Freedom," we would suggest that in the future they confine their energies to factual statements. All of us have seen the "green sheets" that were circulated by certain individuals on this campus which proclaimed in large letters "Support Academic Freedom." The fact is that academic freedom was not then and is not now an issue and for these people to hide behind this "red herring" issue is simply an insult to the intelligence of the student body, the faculty, and the people of southern Nevada.

One of the individuals who claimed to have written parts of the copy for the handbills, stated that the words "Academic Freedom" had "sounded good" when they were written. THE REBEL YELL submits that "Motherhood," too, sounds good, but likewise, it has no place on a handbill reportedly advertising a debate on Viet Nam. "Teach-In" likewise had no place on the handbills because it had been stated emphatically by the faculty that the event of November 27 was definitely not a "teach-in." And, last of all, this group of misguided individuals had the audacity to attempt to force the faculty to change the site of the debate to the gymnasium.

The distribution of these handbills is a direct violation of University regulations, because those who circulated the "green sheets" did not obtain permission from the Office of Student Affairs as provided for in the University Catalog. It will be interesting to see whether or not the administration will have the courage to enforce their own rules. We submit that if they are not willing to take a stand at this time, there is no longer a need for any of the regulations which appear in the catalog.

As for the actual debate, it became apparent many in the audience did not attend in the interest of learning. In fact, the interest reached its peak when the panel walked on to the platform and then went rapidly downhill with each word that was spoken. People began leaving soon after the first speaker and by the time the question period started they were leaving in groups. The audience had come for excitement and, with the exception of the comic interlude provided by the rude individual in a white sweatshirt, there was none.

The panel did succeed in one thing — that of beating old issues and facts to death. Very little new information was brought out in the debate; very few people actually expected to have any new facts presented.

We must also point out to our readers that the debate had its negative aspects and their results will never be fully brought out. This is due almost solely to the amateurish way in which those who sponsored and supported the event handled their public statements and the actual arrangements for the event.

We are convinced that the members of the faculty who sponsored the debate did so in the interest of bringing out intelligent discussion. It appears that some of those students and outside townspeople who were backing the debate were interested in having it labeled as an "anti-Viet Nam policy debate." However, the fact remains that the debate was allowed by someone to be reported to the press as "anti-Viet Nam" inspired. When this happened, the debate's reported purpose died and Nevada Southern University became the only loser.

In short, dear reader, the debate, as a debate, fizzled! The far-reaching consequences of the November 27 folly are yet to be concluded.

LETTERS

TO THE EDITOR:

This letter is in rebuttle (sic) to Chuck Crawford's ludicrous editorial on what, I suppose, was Civil Rights. His editorial (and to give it the title of an editorial is a grace far more than it deserves) was an inane account and complete misrepresentation of the whole struggle of Civil Rights. It delted (sic) completely (sic) in unqualified generalities, and was, in fact, nothing more than a wishy-washy invective from the white-backlash of the editor's own mind.

If he were truly (sic) acquainted with organizations such as SNCC, SCLC, CORE, and many others, if he were truly (sic) knowledgeable of the Mississippi Summer Project and NCUP, if he had even bothered to study the poverty and discrimination in this city by talking with local VISTA volunteers or any of the staff of Project Headstart or Project Independence workers, he couldn't possibly have written such a banal and insipid comment.

If Mr. Crawford wishes to speak of the rising Negro crime rate, and the "flaws" in the Civil Rights movement, I suggest that he lay down his copy of Time Magazine (and with that his stereotyped (sic) images), and confront the problem at the local level. If he will contact any one of the above local organizations and inquire what he can do to help stop the rising Negro crime rate, or tutor a child, I'm sure his next editorial won't be so bombastically ridiculous, and that he won't be so eager to except (sic) what other people have told him.

RY COMMENT:

Goodness, it appears that Mr. Pyes has now added another crusade to his ever-growing list and possibly he has added U.S. News to his reading list. Might we also suggest that he enroll in SPELLING 101.

"Macario" Set For Campus Cinema - Dec. 17

The Spanish film "Macario" will be presented Friday, December 17, at NSU's Campus Cinema.

Within the compelling framework of this story by Bruno Traven lies a marvelous combination of fantasy, reality, horror, and sly humor.

As a special added featurette attraction, Campus Cinema presents a documentary film study of Hugh H. Hefner, founder, editor, and publisher of PLAYBOY magazine. The film "The Most" is based on a party in Hefner's home, one of the parties he holds regularly as a practical example of the Playboy life — everything the camera filmed took place spontaneously.

Don't miss this great program. It will be shown at 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. in Social Science 103. Admission is $1.00 for students and $1.50 for adults.

NSU DELEGATION SET FOR M.U.N.

The third week in April, the 16th session of the Model United Nations, to be hosted by Stanford University, is due to convene. The sessions will be held in Palo Alto, California.

The MUN is an organization which provides members with a working background in the United Nations. Over a hundred West Coast colleges participate. Each school is assigned a country or countries. This year, Nevada Southern University represents Costa Rica and Senegal. CSNS sponsors the NSU delegation.

For the first year, NSU members of the MUN are required to take a class: Political Science 233, Simulation in Foreign Affairs — Theory. The class, worth one credit, is taught by Mr. Lapan.

IK's Set Plans For Sno-Ball

Members of the Intercollegiate Knights have completed arrangements for the CSNS Annual Sno-Ball which is scheduled for the night of December 23 at the Hotel Riviera. The event, which is one of the highlights of the NSU social season, is sponsored by CSNS and is presented by Intercollegiate Knights.

Invitations for the event will be mailed to all members of CSNS in the near future.

A queen for the Sno-Ball will be selected in a special CSNS election and the winning candidate will be announced the night of the dance.

In other IK events of the past week, certain members of the organization were hosted at a pledge party at the home of Johnny Hartman. A friend of the Hartman family, a visiting dignitary from a Far Eastern principality, made an appearance at the function and entertained the new pledges.

The Duke and Pledge Master of IK were guests of Sigma Gamma at a party sponsored by the latter group on the night of November 22.

YEARBOOK STAFF REPORTS ON SAN FRANCISCO TRIP

Four members of the Epilogue staff attended the 1965 Annual Associated Collegiate Press Convention, held recently in San Francisco. The Nevada Southern Press representatives were John Haggerty, editor; Jackie Womble, assistant editor; Dick Cansdale, business manager, and Loni Trunkey, assistant staff member.

Students from the entire nation listened to lectures and attended meetings in the huge convention and workshop. Among the lecturers, speaking on the topic of "Journalism," was Walter Schultz, who spoke on his very famous comic strip, Peanuts.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS PLAN TO CONTINUE DISCUSSION PERIOD

"The Young Republicans will continue to sponsor their open discussion period in room 101 of the Science Tech Building," said a spokesman for the club. "They will continue as long as they hold student interest," he concluded.

The sessions are moderated by faculty member Mr. Douglas Haddad.

The open discussion was cancelled on December 1 in an attempt to switch the topic from our Vietnam policy to one which lends itself to a more varied conversation.

Diane Ruffino, president of the Young Republicans, has stated that the purpose of the discussions is "to provide a release of tensions through verbal expression." The forum is open to any discussion topics an individual feels worthy of consideration.

Dr. Siegfried von Nostitz, West German Consul General in San Francisco, is pictured as he addressed NSU students and faculty on problems in West Germany. At the close of his talk, he presented the University with a collection of German books for use in the NSU library.

Yearbook Sets Picture Rebates

Refunds for the underclass pictures, which will not be appearing in the 1966 EPILOGUE will be available as soon as possible after Christmas vacation.

At the beginning of the year a controversy broke out over whether to put underclass student pictures in the yearbook or to follow the lead of well-known colleges which include only the upperclass photographs. After petitions by both sides, John Haggerty, editor of the publication, decided to keep everyone's picture in the EPILOGUE.

When the pictures were taken, only about 200 underclassmen bothered to have photographs taken and Haggerty reversed his decision.

Students who had pictures taken may pick up their proofs at Ball Studio or they may have the money spent for the pictures refunded.

Preference Ball Rated Success

On Wednesday, November 24, the Second Annual Preference Ball was held in the Convention Center. The dance was sponsored by CSNS and presented by Nu Sigma Upsilon.

The theme of the dance, "Passionata," was carried out with a false ceiling of purple and blue flowers as well as a miniature bridge over a simulated stream.

The winner of the Most Preferred Man contest was Hank Saleeby, with Ron Wielchowshi, Dick Cansdale and Randy Frew as attendants.

Nu Sigma Upsilon is to be congratulated on a very fine dance.

REBS, BAYLOR CLASH FRI. NIGHT

By JACK ABELL, R-Y Sports

Nevada Southern University's basketball Rebels open their 1965-66 home campaign this Friday with a weekend doubleheader at Convention Center against Baylor University of Waco, Texas, and Saturday night's clash with Idaho State University. The plain fact is that the Rebels face a rough season in 1965-66, one which could end in another berth at the NCAA Small College Regionals or in splendid ruin. That's how rough it will be!

NSU this year has a new coach, new game strategy (run), many new faces, and a completely new outlook on the game. The immediate result so far has been encouraging, NSU having proven this to be true at the Redlands tourney last week in Southern California. (See story below.)

Tipoff both Friday and Saturday evenings in the rotunda at Convention Center is 8 p.m. sharp. The NSU JV's will play preliminary contests both nights; Friday against Leavitt Insurance, and Saturday with Victorville College. Both JV contests start at 6 p.m.

Todd is expected to start nearly the same five he did in Redlands.

Baylor's Bears come to Las Vegas as one of the athletic powerhouses of the Southwestern Conference, in itself one of the eight major NCAA athletic conferences in the nation. They are currently on a western road trip.

The Vandals of Idaho State University visit southern Nevada as one of the top three teams in the Big Sky Conference for 1965-66. Idaho State defeated the University of Nevada Wolf Pack last week.

Next Wednesday evening, the Rebels take to the road again, visiting the Axers of Arizona State College at Flagstaff. The home and home series with ASC started back in 1960 with each team now owning five wins over the other.

The NSU five returns to the Convention Center next Friday for a date with Rockhurst College of Kansas.

All Rebel games this season will be broadcast over KORK-Radio, 1340, NBC. Johnny Parker and Hal Morelli will supply the commentary and game color. In addition, Rebel highlights will be aired once weekly over KSHO-TV, Channel 13, ABC.

Tonight's contest will also mark the debut of the 1965-66 Pep Commission.

All CSNS Activity Card holders are reminded that they are entitled to free admission to all Rebel athletic events.

REDLANDS

NSU WINS TWICE IN TOURNAMENT

REDLANDS, Calif. — Dixon Goodwin, playing only in his third game for Nevada Southern, gave the Rebels their only consolation in the University of Redlands "R" Club Tournament here last week.

He launched a shot from the top of the key a split second before the final buzzer sounded giving the Rebels an 85-84 victory over Pasadena College in the consolation finals.

The game before host Redlands University finally pulled away from the Rebs in the waning minutes of the second half to nab an 85-75 victory in the semi-finals.

In the first game of the tournament, Nevada Southern looked like the favorite that it had been picked by walloping LaVerne College, 110-82.

California State University at Fullerton won the tournament by defeating Redlands in the finals, 87-82. The Rebels rolled over Fullerton last year, 106-72.

The Rebels trailed by 13 points at halftime, 50-37, against Pasadena, and when Nevada Southern started to rally the Pasadena five put on a full-court press.

Goodwin wound up with 13 points in the narrow contest. Chuck Campione led Rebel scorers with 19 points, as 6-5 center Silas Stepp nabbed 17 markers.

Stepp nabbed 23 points when NSU romped over LaVerne as four other Rebels hit in double figures.

Opening tournament play made the Rebels' record 2-1, in Rolland Todd's debut as coach.

PASSING GLANCES

with TOM MARTIN

In early December of 1958 Bernie Fumagalli scored 16 points as the College of Southern Utah edged Nevada Southern, 57-52. That sounds unimpressive to NSU fans, nonetheless, that's how the Rebels and basketball got started.

Not many people remember the game, or Fumagalli, for that matter. But seven years is plenty of time to forget and Fumagalli has already been superseded, not only by the best basketball player to come to this desert campus, but by another era in Nevada Southern sports.

In the last four years this college's basketball teams have suffered fewer losses than in the first three years of cage action here. The turning point came in 1961-62 when coach Michael (Chub) Drakulich led the team to a 16-8 record. It was the first time the school had a record over .700, with several of the West's top small colleges on its schedule. That ended the era of the "Local Boys" — Tim Leonard Arlyn Hafen and Bill Farr.

The next two years can be called "The era of the California Boys plus Louisiana." Gary (Tap) Tapper, a lanky 6-5 forward; Jerry Dick, a husky 6-2 utility man; and Chet Hildebrand, a lean 6-3 forward, were imported from California junior colleges.

Then, almost by accident, Drakulich acquired Silas Stepp, whose easy-going Louisiana accent belies his bull-like moves on the court which have made him the school's greatest all-time scorer in three years.

"Big Sy" had come to Las Vegas in the summer of 1962 to visit his aunt and uncle, and a rumor reached Drakulich that there was some good talent in the summer basketball leagues — and the 220-pound, 6-5 footer led the Rebels to a 21-4 record the next season.

He had plenty of help from Dick, Tapper, Hildebrand and local boy Dave Shay, a 5-11 playmaker who now is head coach of Boulder City's high school team.

The next year the Rebels acquired Bob Moon, who at 6-4 could play both forward and guard, and a new coach, Ed Gregory, who is now head coach at Fresno State, which has been ranked among the top ten small college team in the nation for the past three years.

Nevada Southern roared to a 19-7 record that year, and was ranked among the top 27 teams in the nation twice.

Last season Roosevelt Lee became the latest in a long list of stars, as Tapper and Dick graduated. Lee, a wiry 6-4, will be eligible to play again this spring semester.

Gregory's run-and-pick offense, combined with tremendous offensive balance, led the Rebs, more mature last year than ever before, to a 21-7 season record and a berth in the NCAA college division Western Regional Tournament in Seattle. Gregory left a 40-15 record here when he left for Fresno State, which along with San Francisco State whipped NSU in the Regionals.

This weekend Nevada Southern basketball comes of age, for Baylor and Idaho State are hardly unknown names, although the Southwest Conference power is better known for its prowess on the football field. The Big Sky power always contends for nearly every title in its conference.

New coach Rolland Todd, who came from Los Angeles State, along with such potential stars as Bill Davis, Dixon Goodwin, and Bob Brown, Clarence Dawson, Ron Weilechowski and Charles Campione ready to blossom, will start a new era.

It's called "Big-Time."
