VOL. XII, No. 9

An Editorial

FOOTBALL?.....YES!

The University of Nevada Board of Regents is scheduled to meet at Nevada Southern this Saturday. Among the items to be discussed and acted upon will be a proposal for the initiation of an intercollegiate football program at N.S.U. The plan must be approved by the Board before it can reach the State legislature in January of 1967 for its final okay.

The program, as proposed by Chancellor Donald Moyer, has been examined closely not only by students and faculty members, but also by many individuals from within the Southern Nevada community. Both the weaknesses and strengths of the plan have been made apparent.

The REBEL YELL firmly supports this proposal. We feel that the time has come for Nevada Southern University to take this step forward in an attempt to heighten itself amongst the evergrowing number of recognized universities throughout the nation. We feel that this proposal, if nothing more, is at least a step in this direction.

In view of this stand, then, we urge each member of the Board of Regents to vote affirmatively on NSU's intercollegiate football proposal. At this hour, the decision rests with you.

Junior Senator Suspended

Junior class senator Andy Glass was removed from office last week due to excessive absence from C.S.N.S. Senate meetings, Senate President Bill Ruymann announced today.

Glass had been absent more than three times without excuse, according to Ruymann. The C.S.N.S. constitution allows a senator only three unexcused absences per semester.

"This is no reflection on Glass's ability," Ruymann said. "He (Glass) had simply been absent too much, more than the three times he is allowed."

Ruymann, also C.S.N.S. First Vice-President, has the authority, under the constitution, to remove any senator from office who has been absent more than three times per semester.

The Senate will have only seven acting members until a new member is selected. According to the constitution, Ruymann may appoint a new senator, but his appointee must also secure two-thirds vote of the C.S.N.S. legislative body to become a member.

Any junior (over 60 hours) may apply to Ruymann for the office. Applicants must be full-time students (taking over 12 hours per semester) and must have a 2.2 grade average at the time of application.

Glass had been serving since last June after being elected to the post in the April C.S.N.S. general elections.

Glass's wife, Judy, recently gave birth to the couple's first child.

CHET HUNTLEY

Chet Huntley to Launch C.S.N.S. Lecture Series

One of the nation's top news commentators, Chet Huntley, will launch Nevada Southern University's student-sponsored lecture series Dec. 10.

Huntley, famed anchorman for NBC News' "Huntley-Brinkley Report," and recognized for his outstanding interpretive reporting, will speak on "Broadcast Journalism."

Huntley will be the first of three distinguished lecturers to appear at Nevada Southern during the 1966-67 school year.

Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, world renowned political scientist from Harvard University, will speak on "A New Approach To International Affairs," on January 9, and former Assistant Secretary of State Abba Schwartz is scheduled to lecture on "The Open Society" in April.

All three lectures will be held in the University Gym.

Huntley's lecture will begin at 4 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 10. Admission is $1.50 for adults, $.50 for high school students, and college students who do not have an activity card.

Students with cards and members of the faculty will be admitted free.

Publications Committee Established by Moyer

A committee for student publications has been recently established by Chancellor Donald Moyer.

Dr. Moyer, in establishing the committee, delegated both students and faculty members as representatives of their groups.

Chairman of the committee is Dr. Richard Byrns from the English Department. Also representing the faculty and administration are: Dr. Ben Owen, Director of Student Personnel Services; Dr. Charles Sheldon, Chairman of the School of Social Sciences; and Mr. Frank Whitaker, Assistant to the Chancellor.

Student members of the committee are Ron Wielochowski and Nancy Ward.

Lani Trunkey, EPILOGUE Editor, and Terry Lindberg, REBEL YELL Editor, are ex-officio members.

As I See It

by Terry Lindberg

There could be fireworks at the University of Nevada Board of Regents meeting to be held here tomorrow and Saturday.

Sources tell me that representatives from Nevada Southern's underpaid faculty are going to lay a few things on the line concerning (1) their paltry salaries, and (2) the absurdly low appropriations which we find are usually funded to N.S.U. through the Board.

From what I understand, this is one time that the Board had better listen to the cries of the "Southern Cousins". I think that the Board will, this time, have more to say than "poo-poo" and "tsk-tsk".

Also, watch for a push from representatives of the student body (C.S.N.S.) to receive commitments aimed at bringing N.S.U. its own campus engineer. That ridiculous dormitory still isn't finished.Not to mention the sidewalks, and the parking lots, and a thousand and one lesser items of importance.

Another possible arena of battle lies in the intercollegiate football proposal. Some speculators say that the Northern Regents won't go for the plan.

I disagree.

The proposal has the support of the Faculty Senate, the C.S.N.S. Senate (finally), the Executive Committee, the Interfraternity Council, the REBEL YELL, and countless groups and organizations from within the Southern Nevada community. It would take some pretty numb skulls (pun--get it?) to vote against the football program.

But then again.....

Speaking of numbskulls, guess who's setting some sort of record in total accumulation of "D" and "F" midterm reports? I received so many that there wasn't enough (AS I SEE IT Continued on Page 3)

Boob on the Brink

by Larry Clark

I just had my geneology researched and the result was a family tree that looked like a Weeping Willow. My ancestors, though they were in every line of endeavor, had one thing in common--cowardice. A famous saying that originated in the Kentucky hills when a family of cowardly Clarks cringingly crept out of town after some infamous stab-in-the-back-deed was: "Wonder where the yellow went?"

My great, great grandfather, Bull Clark, who during a battle in the Civil War threw down his gun and ran when he was confronted by a charging drummer boy, had a battle named after him: "The Battle of Bull Run".

Or, how about my great Aunt, Rose Clark, who lived in Texas. Unlike other Western women of her time, she did not fight for her men. Not only did she meekly give up her lovers, but she also gave green stamps. A song, "The Yellow Rose of Texas", was dedicated to her.

The only Clark that the family could have any pride in was my uncle, the submarine commander. He has the distinction of destroying over one hundred thousand tons of Japanese shipping. The only trouble was that he accomplished this feat in 1954. Anyway, he set a new peace time record.

As captain of his first surface vessel, he acted like a typical Clark in-as-much-as he did not go down with his ship. As a matter-of-fact, at the first sign of an overcast sky he deserted and the ship was left in dry dock. He was nicknamed, "Chicken of the Sea".

We are so timid that our telephone numbers are listed in the yellow pages. When a Clark dies, his body doesn't go to a funeral parlor. It goes to Chicken Delight.

A Clark jumped a lady from behind. She was old, crippled, and blind. He broke her leg and smashed her nose, but on her head he stubbed his toes. Crying that it was all her fault, he brought her to court on a charge of assault.

Letters to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Who said fix in the recent "Most Preferred Man" contest?

It is true that C.S.N.S. got out of the dance business, but when they did they left the elections that went along with these dances hanging in mid-air. So, the first group that sponsored one of these dances with an election attached, took over the election and ran it the way they wished.

The questions at hand are, whether or not these individual groups should be allowed to open and close the polls whenever they so desire; whether or not the number of ballots cast correspond to the number of signatures of students voting; and why the counting place was changed from a certain sorority president's house only because the constant pressure of doubtful students forced it.

What right has this leader to rant and rave at the polls because a few of these questions were challenged?

These are a few of the incidents concerning the past election that MUST be changed in order for a student to have faith that the candidate he is voting for has a chance to win.

Girls, look to your leaders, for when they act their act represents you. Who said fix? I sure didn't. Name Withheld

Dear Sir,

Since there seems to be confusion relative to my party registration, I would appreciate your referring to the voter registration lists in Clark County and to the party membership lists of the County. I believe that you will find that I have always been registered as: Juanita Greer White, R., meaning Republican.

I believe that the Honorable Madison Graves, Esq., may have been responsible for the original error since he incorporated it in his Letter to the Editor of recent date, but since the error keeps cropping up, I believe it must be corrected.

I do have a Southern accent but that does not make me a Democrat. Neither does Mr. Robert Kennedy's Yankee accent make him a Republican. I believe in a two-party system, and when we cease to have a multi-party system, I believe our democracy will be in danger.

Very sincerely yours,
Juanita Greer White

REBELLION

by Chuck Crawford

This is getting ridiculous!

I have been following the exciting episodes of our famous (or rather the term is more appropriately notorious) Negro Congressman from New York. Have you ever heard of Adam Clayton Powell? Sure you have.

Powell, among other things is Harlem's chosen representative in the House. At least they THINK he is. In reality, there is no one in the House of Representatives that has been able to break his record for absences. (Though someone dear to our Nevada hearts has been giving it a nice stab lately.) Powell, the defender of the Negro, has often been mistaken for a caucasian because of his light skin -- except, of course, when he is there to vote on Civil Rights legislation.

So here's the punch line to his story. If Harlem voters want to continue electing him due to ignorance of his record they are going to have to become even more ignorant. If they don't feel that his absence for voting has really hurt his effectiveness as a Congressman yet, then they may still accept the fate that's coming to him. Powell is being sought by the New York Supreme Court to serve a possible sentence of one year in jail.

The dope on this is that he called a Harlem widow a "bag woman", or graft collector, and was successfully sued for defamation of character. He didn't pay the $164,000 judgment, so he was given a 30 day contempt of court sentence. Since then, charges arising from the original suit have added up to one year imprisonment. That is, if he ever goes to New York again so that they can serve the papers.

You know, I wouldn't be too surprised in two years if he is re-elected. Even after serving a year in the pen while being Congressman.....or even if he never goes back to New York. Harlem voters sure are getting what they ask for.

RANDOM RAMBLERS

There is a sorority that has been invited to go national. As far as I know, Phi Delta Chi will be setting two firsts if the arrangement is agreeable with both sides.

It seems that a telegram was sent to Jackie Womble, President of the sorority (Nevada Southern's newest) inviting the chapter to attend the national Phi Delta Chi convention in Los Angeles next week. Some members of the N.S.U. sorority are contemplating the trip now. For, it seems that the two firsts set would be that this would be the first sorority group to go national from the Nevada Southern campus, and probably the first sorority chapter to go national...national fraternity. It seems that the telegram was actually addressed to Jack Womble and that Phi Delta Chi is a national pharmacist's fraternity. Good luck on your trip to L.A. girls!

Hell of a Holiday For Yearbook Editor

There was a note tacked to the bulletin board in the REBEL YELL office last Monday. On the outside of the note was written: "Please try to get this in your next issue of the REBEL YELL. It's been a hell of a holiday!" ...signed, Lani.

The contents of the note is as follows:

"On Wednesday, November 23, a silver gothic styled watch belonging to Lani Trunkey was noticed missing from the Residence Hall bathroom. The return of the watch will not be questioned. It has great sentimental and monetary value. The loss of the watch has been filed with the Clark County Police Department as a grand theft. If you have any information concerning this watch, please notify Lani Trunkey or the dormitory residents, Mr. and Mrs. Haddad."

A description of the watch was then given as: "White gold heart band, raised crystal with three diamonds on each side of the watch. Made by Gothic. Reward for return."

".....Also, will the girl who took my coat in place of her own at the Preference Ball Wednesday night please return it. You will find your own coat at the home of Pam Callos, Nu Sigma Upsilon Sorority member. Any information regarding the white lamb texture material coat with gold buttons will be appreciated. Hollywood Trip Planned for Dec.

A "theatre party" bus trip to Hollywood to see plays by O'Neill, Noel Coward and Moliere, is being planned for December by a Nevada Southern University group.

Jody Meswarb, NSU drama instructor, said the two-day trip is set for Dec. 16-17. Students, faculty, and the general public are invited to go on the tour.

Plays to be seen include O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet", Coward's "Tonight at 8:30" and Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid".

All three performances are in the Huntington Hartford Theatre in Hollywood. Reduced prices for bus and theatre tickets will be available if the group is large enough, Mrs. Meswarb said.

Local residents who wish to go on the theatre party bus trip, call Jody Meswarb at NSU drama department.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB TOURS ROSE de LIMA

On Friday, November 18, 1966, fifteen members of the PSYCHOLOGY CLUB, together with their adviser, Mr. Robert Linzmeyer, Psychology Instructor, toured the Psychiatric Ward at Rose de Lima Hospital in Henderson. Doctor James O. Ferguson was host to the group at the hospital.

Membership has been increasing steadily in the PSYCHOLOGY CLUB and all newcomers are welcome; it is not necessary to be a Psychology major to participate in the club's activities.

The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, December 15, 1966, at 12:30 in Room 314. Arrangements for yearbook photos will be made at this meeting.

Glances From Behind The Bench

By Tom Martin

Football stars--whether playing in high school, college or professional ball--have attained a godlike stature in American life today. Girls swarm around these conquerors of the gridiron; coaches are very nice to their proteges for fear they'll forget to come to games; and the pro scouts tell the boys in the front office to leave blank spaces on checks for bonuses. But how do we know what these super stars are really like? One of these heroes was questioned after a recent game last Saturday by our Smiling Announcer, and here is how the imaginary interview went, along with some additions of our own to tell you, dear reader, what really goes on in a football star's mind:

SMILING ANNOUNCER (SA) -- Hello football fans, here we are at Frank Underwood Normal (FUN) in Slumbering, Ala. . . . And now fans, the star of today's game, JOE FOOTBALL (pounding of footsteps, and the breathing of a savage animal)

JOE FOOTBALL (JF) -- Hi, and 'tanks Mr. Smilin' Nouncer.

SA -- You put on quite a show out there today. How do you feel about new record for pass interceptions?

JF -- Well sir, Ah guess twas 'bout th' best game Ah ever played. A fella's got tuh really be up fer thet. (What really happened: JF made a deal with opposing quarterback, a distant cousin, and the referee, a distant uncle, so he could impress his newest girl. The uncle was taken care of with a year's supply of Jim Beam. JF will miss a few tackles when the two teams meet next year and repay the quarterback's favor.)

SA -- Your team is rated No. 1 this year. Do you think you'll win another Dixie League title and go to the Creampuff Bowl?

JF -- Gee, Ah jist dunno. We jist play-em as they cum. (What he really thinks: Doesn't this guy read the papers. The teams in this league are pushovers. It's OUR turn to win the title this year---if all the opposing coaches want to stay alive.)

SA -- You also perform well in the classroom, as well as on the field. How do you manage to keep up your 4.0 average?

JF -- Aw, it's jist a ting o' bidgitin tame. (What he really thinks: This guy must be kidding. I haven't done a homework assignment since I redshirted as a freshman. My frat's new pledges do all my studies. For tests, we've got this guy who is a genius at disguises and forgeries.)

SA -- Even though you're only a junior, the pros want to draft you already, and they think you're a definite All-America prospect. Would you want to go to the pros?

JF -- Ah don't think 'bout thet too much. Ah don car 'bout all them honors and such. Ah jist wan tuh play. (What he really thinks: This guy is really stupid. If I don't make All-America, we'll just take way those new cars all the sportwriters got. Unless the pros offer me a million bucks, a new car, a new house and a spot in the starting lineup, I won't play -- even with a bulletproof vest.)

SA -- Thank you Joe Football, and good luck (What he really thinks: That guy needs Secret and Brylcreem.)

JF -- 'Tank yuh Smilin' Nouncer. I'd lak to say hullo to mom in Nowhere, Texas, Hi Mom. (What's really going on: That's the secret signal for the guy in the hills, JF's great uncle, to bring down moonshine for tonight's frat party. JF was actually born in Albania, so he's never going home. The coach recruited him after he saw the kid's war record.)

REBELS START PLAY AT IRVINE

Nevada Southern's hopeful Rebels open the 1966-67 basketball season on the road tonight, in what coach Rolland Todd points to as one of the most important games of the season.

The University of California at Irvine, an NCAA independent, will host NSU in battle that could determine how both teams shape up for a berth in the NCAA college division regionals next spring.

"This game and the one we have next Monday with Idaho State in Pocatello will be big wins to us, because it will mean that we can start our home season against Northern Arizona with a 2-0 record," said coach Rolland Todd at a press luncheon this week.

"Besides, Irvine is an independent, and they will want one of those regional berths, too," he continued.

After the two-game road trip the Rebels rest four days before opening their home season Dec. 10 at the Las Vegas Convention Center with Northern Arizona, an NAIA team. Two days later NSU hosts Adams State College, which travels from Alamosa, Colo.

Todd will rely greatly on the jump shooting and rebounding talents of Clyde Dawson, whom he named team captain. Dawson, who stands 6-foot-4, averaged over 14 points and 13 rebounds per game last season.

Jerry Chandler, also 6-4, will start as guard for NSU and could become one of the team's top scorers, according to Todd.

Chandler is a transfer from San Francisco City College.

Two other junior college transfers, 6-6 Victor Morton of Imperial Valley College and Elburt Miller of San Diego City College, will also have shots at starting positions.

Charlie Payton, a 6-0 returner from last year, and 6-1 Dixon Goodwin, who averaged 10 points

N.S.U. ALUMNI NAB VICTORY

OVER '66 VARSITY, 78-72

Nevada Southern's 1966-67 version of the Rebels found NSU basketball alumni too tough to handle, as they fell, 78-72, in a game that disappointed coach Rolland Todd.

"I didn't think we played well at all," said Todd after the game last week. It was the first time the alumni had played varsity in the school's history.

The Alumni, led by Bob Moon's 23 points, ripped to a 20-point lead in the first half, 43-23, then held off successive rallies by this year's varsity in the second half.

The closest that Todd's team could come to the Alumni, except for a 4-4 tie early in the game, was the final margin of six points.

Moon, who played on the first team from NSU to ever make the NCAA regionals in 1965, the year he graduated, probably had Todd wishing the 6-2 guard still had some eligibility left with his superb drives and moves.

Silas Stepp, the first All-American at NSU who graduated last year, tallied 16 points for the winners, mostly on jump shots from around the key, and pulled down 21 rebounds.

per game last season, are going after the other guard spot.

Todd's chief reserve for the front line will be Ed Terwilliger, another returning letterman, who stands 6-5.

Ron Welechowski (1963-65) tallied 12 points for the Alumni, and Gary Tapper (1962-64) added 11 more.

Clyde Dawson led the Rebels with 12 points, followed by Chuck Campione, who came off the bench to score 11. The ball handling of Jerry Chandler and the defensive play of Charlie Payton also highlighted an otherwise frustrating night for the Rebels.

Also representing the Alumni were Dave Shay (1961-65); Tim Leonard (1960-64); Ray Demman (1961-63); and Jerry Dick (1963-64).
