Spring. The birds and the bees. The CSNS Presidential election. A time of the year to dread... the time of the year to haul out our scoopshovels, for no matter where one chooses to walk, it always seems to be a path on which he will immediately sink knee deep into petty politics.

But, despite the unpleasantness of it all, one is forced to choose the BEST representative amongst the three Presidential hopefuls. The task is not an easy one--especially this year where there appears to be three near-equal men running for the top office.

Nevertheless, the BEST of the three must be chosen.

I choose and endorse Mike Clark for the Presidency of the Confederated Students of Nevada Southern University.

He is the kind of person who will, if elected, carry the essential maturity and objectivity into the office of CSNS President. His horizons are broad and his views diversified. He can talk and LISTEN to opposing opinions on both the "right" and the "left", and later can measure, after investigation, the strengths and weaknesses of those opinions.

But Mike Clark's record and experience are probably his greatest assets. Before coming to NSU three semesters ago, Mike had been the elected Associated Student Body President of Los Angeles Valley College, an institution boasting an enrollment of over 15,000 and handling a student government budget of over $250,000. And, although there is no concrete means by which we may measure his performance at Valley, the awards and scholarships he received while attending that institution (too numerous to list here) must certainly be an indicator of Clark's competence and ability.

REJECT TALK! FREW = PRES.

The race for the C.S.N.S. Presidency goes to the wire this Thursday and Friday when a record number of NSU students are expected to turn out at the polls to vote for the candidates of their choice.

This year's election, thought by many to be the most highly contested in C.S.N.S. history, features the current President Pro Tempore of the Senate, Mike Clark; the current CSNS 2nd Vice President, Randy Frew; and former Western High School student body President Mike Devere.

Clark, currently a senior in business administration, came to NSU last spring from Los Angeles Valley Junior College of California where he had previously been elected Associated Student Body President. He was elected to the post of CSNS Junior Senator last year, and is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, national business fraternity.

Devere, to be a junior next semester, served as CSNS Freshman Senator his first year on campus, and had been appointed to the post of Special Events Coordinator last spring before resigning from the office because of what he termed an "inability to work under the present administration".

Frew, also to be a junior, is a political science major, was Freshman Class President 1965-66, and served on the C.S.N.S. Judicial Board last year. He is a

NAZI ROCKWELL MAY VISIT CAMPUS

There were scattered reports today that CSNS has arranged to have George Lincoln Rockwell, Jr., the head of American Nazi Party, speak on the N.S.U. campus sometime in May.

Rockwell and several of his brown-shirted followers have been appearing recently on west-coast college campus protesting dissent over the Vietnam War, the Civil Rights Movement, and Judaism. They appeared at the University of California in Santa Barbara two weeks ago.

Jack Abell, CSNS President, did confirm that CSNS had been in contact with Rockwell. He said, "We are attempting to build a university in Las Vegas. A university's essential essence is diversity of opinion, and Mr. Rockwell does represent an opinion."

Abell added that CSNS will be presenting some type of event that is politically significant during May. A possible seminar on Vietnam was mentioned as a replacement for a speaker.

CSNS, two years ago, set a precedent at N.S.U. when it scheduled Dorothy Healy, a member of the American Communist Party, to speak here. The speech brought violent opposition from some local organizations, but was, nevertheless, carried-out.

Boob on the Brink

by Larry Clark

"Cheney" is his name and incompetency is his game.

Joe Cheney is a so-called sports writer for a local news sheet, the Review Journal. But, calling Mr. Cheney a sports writer is like calling Hitler a humanitarian or Hemingway an illiterate.

If ability could be converted into money, he would be a pauper. "Joe's" "style" is from the old school---Nursery school. It isn't that his man doesn't want to write properly, it's that he doesn't know how.

This scribbling scribe, whose literary license should be revoked, watches an athletic event with the alertness of a cadaver, his powers of observance have the reliability of a fairy tale. Furthermore, he is an individualist who doesn't surcomb to such weaknesses as responsibility, ethics, and decency.

It has been reported that Cheney has been a script writer in Hollywood specializing in fiction and it is evident that he has carried his speciality into his new endeavor. With him, "the events have been changed to protect the truth."

Mr. Cheney is the mental defectives answer to Damon Runyan. Actually, the only difference between Cheney and Runyan is in ability and originality.

His vocabulary ranges between that of a parrot and a "Matel" talking doll. For example, in reporting a boxing match every description sounds the same: "He hit him from top to bottom," or "a right hand smash to the beak," and if a home town boy wins he always uses the cliché, "Christmas came early."

But alas, poor Joe is suffering from the infirmities of age. If sinility were a virtue this man would be a saint. The R.J. must feel sorry for him because if they didn't give him a by-line he would be in the bread line.

Face the fact "Joe", in getting this job "Christmas came early for you."

"NOW, WHAT'S THIS RUMOR COMING BACK TO ME THAT YOU FEEL I'VE BEEN PICKING ON YOU IN CLASS."

Letters to the EDITOR

Dear Sir:

In your issue of the REBEL YELL of April 20th, 1967, you had an article on the international students at NSU. It may be of interest to your readers to know that there is also a student from Chile. I am that student.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) Anne Peterson

Sir:

I was notified that one of Mr. Pfaff's pictures in his one-man show was defaced.

One who views Mr. Pfaff's show has the right to disagree with the ideas and feelings that he is attempting to communicate, but no one has the self-appointed prerogative to destroy his or any artist's work.

The Department of Art contributes a great deal of time and effort to exhibit works by local and visiting artists for our pleasure and stimulation. Mr. Pfaff and his colleagues do not deserve such acts of childish arrogance.

Sincerely,

R-Y FORUM

L.B.J. Guilty of War Crimes?

Dear Mr. President,

In the spring of this year, the Bertrand Russell War Crimes Tribunal is scheduled to meet to consider serious charges against you and other officials, charges of war crimes and crimes against humanity, in the sense laid down in the Nuremberg decisions.

While there has been much criticism of this tribunal, for example, that it is biased, still this tribunal must be taken seriously by you and all of us; for it is of historic importance that two of the most eminent philosophers of the twentieth century, Bertrand Russell and Jean-Paul Sartre, should sit in judgment of anyone, however powerful he may be.

In any case, the very existence of this tribunal, independent of the question of competence, has stimulated me to think about this issue of war crimes.

Given the evidence so far available to me, I take a non-dogmatic position. I do not know if you are guilty of war crimes or crimes against humanity, in the sense laid down in the Nuremberg decisions. But possibly you are. Several indications lend support, though not proof, to this charge. The following acts have been charged against you.

(1.) Responsibility for the use of napalm bombs on South Vietnamese villages suspected of supporting the Viet Cong, resulting in hundreds of thousands of deaths, wounds, and burns to men, women, and children.

As luck would have it this paper is in print. We came close to being caught in the middle of a little trivial politicking when the extension to the REBEL YELL budget came before the C.S.N.S. executive committee.

It seems that editor Terry Lindberg made the mistake of letting the wrong persons know that he might be endorsing someone other than Randy Frew for student body President, so naturally when he came before the latter there was some curious superscrutiny of the budget extension.

The extension came because of a printer's billing error that wasn't brought to our attention until after the last issue. Consequently the budget was quickly cut down to about $80; hardly enough for the necessary two additional issues. The extension request was for $680 so that two more issues could be published.

On Friday, April 21, a special meeting of the C.S.N.S. executive committee was called supposedly for the express purpose of approving the extension. Although editor Lindberg was not there to verbally present the problem President Jack Abell did, quite adequately. There was a motion made by yours truly on the matter...WITHOUT a second by Vice-President Frew or Secretary Sandi Sharp. Treasurer Dick Everson was not present for the meeting. There was little disagreement on the extension by the other two except the opposition they raised over Lindberg's absence. They would not act, allegedly on the grounds that they did not know enough about the request.

So, another meeting was called on Monday, April 24, for the express purpose of having the extension approved. This time, the meeting had shucked some of the guise of ignorance it had on Friday. AGAIN the motion was made by yours truly to grant the extension... there was no discussion...and no second. Later, after some severe prompting the two other members of the student executive committee present, Dick Everson and Randy Frew, (Sandi Sharp being absent this time) finally commented. Randy was opposed on the grounds that budgets shouldn't be extended. Dick Everson said something to the effect of "Daa", Peculiar grounds for opposing the publication of a student newspaper, aren't they? This action was extremely important to students, yet the opposition to the extension took only the double-talk vagueness of Mr. Frew and Everson.

Anyway, a student Senate meeting was scheduled to approve the extension (which I had thought would surely be forwarded to it by the Executive committee that day) and; because of the failure of the Executive committee to approve the extension, was faced with the possibility of no more student newspapers this semester. Since the Senate cannot initiate expenditures, the only action that could be taken was to send a recommendation to the Executive committee to reconsider a third time the extension. This they did.

(2.) Responsibility for the use of "concentration camps" to regroup South Vietnamese villagers resulting in inadequate living conditions.

(3.) Responsibility for the use of chemical weapons to poison the crops of certain South Vietnamese peasants suspected of supporting the Viet Cong.

(4.) Responsibility for the use of anti-personnel, experimental weapons in North Vietnam designed specifically to kill people indiscriminately and not to damage property or military targets.

Now all these acts, I believe, can be fairly well documented. However, these acts, though unspeakable as far as I am concerned, do not yet constitute a proof of war crimes or crimes against humanity. For the extent, quality, and context of these acts are crucial for determining whether crimes, in the sense of the Nuremberg decisions, have been committed; but this has not yet been determined.

Even if these acts should later be judged as crimes, I still would not compare them with Nazi war crimes. For after all, the Nazis went so far that I do not think you could compare with them. On the other hand, it is not necessary to go even half so far to be guilty of war crimes. One may do much less than the Nazis did and still be a war criminal. But again, I do not say that you have gone even this far.

But I will commit myself to saying, and it gives me great pain to have to say it, that you have at least approached the borders of war criminality. And this produces a certain anxiety in me, for I do not know what my duties are or how I should behave in the face of such a borderline case. For example, I know what I should do with regard to war criminals, I am obligated to work for their violent downfall in some sort of underground resistance or simply to leave the country. But as regards your case, I believe I am not obligated to go so far. But I do think that I am obligated to work for your defeat in the next election, even if it allows victory for someone who might also approach the borders of war criminality or even cross those borders. For we can never know what someone else would do after becoming president, despite his campaign promises. I believe that you above all others should agree with at least this much. Even more important, someone else would not be bound up in commitments to forces of evil and to his own pride.

So let me take this opportunity to promise you my efforts in behalf of your defeat in the next election. And let me also plead with all others to make similar efforts.

The following is the material in the form which they wished to be presented.)

CLARK

We at Nevada Southern have unjustly suffered from the incumbent belief that election to the office of CSNS President is the end rather than the beginning of one's service to our school.

WE NEED A CHANGE!!

Students are fed up with the squandering of their money on useless ostentations.

Students are saturated with discontent over the manner by which the ideas of a minority are conveyed to the press as the pre-occupation of the majority as was done with SHAME.

Students are remorse over the unrepresentative and cliquish nature of the CSNS executive.

Students want REAL representation on student-faculty committees, not just "lip service", and they want more spectrums of the student body represented on these committees. (One student alone is on three of these committees)

Consequently, I have decided to offer this campus REAL ALTERNATIVES, based on four years of collegiate student government experience which includes the presidency of an institution having some 12,000 more students than Nevada Southern, with a budget of a quarter of a million dollars. In addition my 23 years as a resident of this state - living both in Reno and Las Vegas - has fortified me with an understanding of the needs of the students and community alike.

WE NEED A CHANGE!!
"Mike Clark offers REAL ALTERNATIVES:"

Concerts - NO!!, at least in the money-making manner in which they have been conducted in the past. We should bring in someone big (Righteous Brothers, etc.) in conjunction with our Homecoming activities for a combination show and dance at one of the local hotels. And then it should be FREE to CSNS members.

We should provide regular inquiry into matters of timely and topical significance, such as:

1. Draft
2. Warren Report
3. Drugs on Campus
4. State Budget
5. Birth Control

With such speakers as:

1. Floyd Lamb (chrm. Senate Finance Committee)
2. Hank Greenspun
3. Bill Raggio (D.A. from Washoe County)
4. Governor Laxalt
5. Chancellor Moyer

In short, I believe N.S.U. should not only be the academic and cultural center of our community, but the forum as well - a place where the student and citizen alike may benefit from the first-hand observations of key community and political leaders.

ALL students MUST be represented. Student polls must be taken and the results used as a guideline for CSNS planning. Joint meetings between CSNS officers and organizations' representatives should be held REGULARLY as re-

Friendship Comes Hard

Foreign Students Lonely In Vegas

by Vickie Jolley

Chancellor and Mrs. Donald Moyer were hosts to a reception for N.S.U.'s foreign students last Thursday. They called it the First International Students' Coffee Hour.

Faculty members, especially those with a foreign background, were there. A few campus leaders came, too. Most of them are running for office again this month.

Less than half of N.S.U.'s 29 students from abroad attended.

Why?
A Filipino girl told me:

"Another girl from the Philippines came to N.S.U. this year. We've never met, but I tried to contact her before the reception. I didn't want to come alone."

"It's so hard to make friends here," she continued. "Really,

I know no one. My English, it is difficult to understand. I think people are scared to talk to me."

Bolivian engineering major, Steve Waldman, was anxious for conversation in his native language. "Do you speak Spanish?" he kept asking.

N.S.U. has no international organization for foreign students. By and large, no attempt has been made to include them in social affairs. Girls at the reception wanted to know what a sorority is.

Mi Ae Choe, a Korean girl studying business administration, got a job in the library to make friends.

Some of the others are going home in June. It's just too lonely to stay in Las Vegas any longer.

Today is May 3. There are 17 more school days.

tion (since the Senate could revoke his C.S.N.S. membership if they were ever inclined to) he called another Executive committee meeting that afternoon and beforehand had another discussion with the C.S.N.S. business manager to make sure his budget could absorb the extension. It very easily could.

The meeting lasted only a few moments. And I was bound and determined that I wasn't going to make the motion for approval the third time. So, without discussion, Dick Everson made the motion to approve an additional $700 for the REBEL YELL and Randy Frew quietly made the second.

This action inferred that Everson had been enlightened as to the financial capacity of the Confederation to handle the extension and Frew had been informed that politically he had better grant the extension... because Frew's position on the matter hadn't been altered. He still opposed the extension for some reason or another and yet voted for it.

I would say this to Dick Everson on the matter: "You said that you opposed the extension because you didn't know that we could afford an extension. That's precisely your job on the executive committee TO KNOW and act as a expertise advisor on those matters. Your initial opposition was apparently out of ignorance on the matter."

And to Randy Frew, I would say this: "I don't believe your opposition was more than a crude attempt at censorship on the editor of the REBEL YELL for his opinion on the quality of student government this year, and his opinion concerning who could best improve it in the future. And if it wasn't I apologize, and reprimand you for what you said was your opposition: simply that enough money had been spent on the REBEL YELL. I believe that cuts on spending should start at your trip with Jack Abell to San Diego for a basketball game, or the $17,000 you requested for Special Events this year. There are a thousand other items to save on before you take away the only method of communication we in student government have with the students. Maybe you have your sense of values distorted as far as spending the students money."

I now have NO regrets in endorsing Mike Clark for student body President.

Clark's experience and record at NSU is also truly remarkable, for in the relatively short while Mike has attended this campus, he has, amongst other achievements, risen to the elected office of CSNS Junior Senator and President Pro-Tempore of the Senate. # N.S.U. TO HOST CHRISTIANSEN CHORAL SCHOOL AT SUMMER SESSION

Nevada Southern University will host the world-famous Paul Christiansen Choral School during the first week of the second summer session, July 23-28.

Dr. Christiansen is chairman of the department of music, Concordia College, Concordia, Minnesota and director of the Concordia Choir which has toured all of the principle cities in the United States and many of those in Europe. Critics and audiences alike have marveled at the fine musicianship and spontaneous singing of this choir.

Annually the Paul Christiansen Choral Schools have attracted choral directors and singers from all sections of the country. Dr. Christiansen will bring with him Carl O. Thompson, chairman of the Division of Fine Arts, Bemidji State College, and Richard D. Hoffland, Director of Choirs, Millikin University as members of the staff for their NSU appearance.

The curriculum for the Choral School will include School Music Materials and procedures, Elementary Conducting, Choral Rehearsals, Church Choir Music, Conducting and Interpretation, and sectional and ensemble rehearsals. There will also be a concert on the final night of classes.

The schedule calls for classes to begin at 8:30 a.m. each day, concluding with final ensemble rehearsals at 8:45 p.m. Both undergraduate and graduate credit will be offered.

Interested persons may also enroll as auditors. Detailed information may be obtained by writing to Dr. Howard Chase, Nevada Southern University.

Summer Class Offers "Instant" Languages

A complete course in one of four foreign languages can be taken by southern Nevada residents as a part of Nevada Southern University's Summer School.

French, German, Russian and Spanish are being offered in concentrated summer courses by the NSU Department of Foreign Languages and Literature starting with registration on June 7 and 8. Classes begin June 12.

French will meet daily from 2 to 5 p.m. German, Russian and Spanish Classes will meet daily from 6 to 9 p.m.

"Anyone planning to take a trip to a foreign country, anyone wishing to acquire college credit towards a degree, or merely to have the knowledge of a foreign language will benefit from this summer course," Professor Christian Dolin, Chairman of the Foreign Languages Department said.

For further information call Mr. Dolin at NSU, phone 736-6111, extension 331.

REBS BURN CHAPMAN

The weather has been scoring more victories recently than Nevada Southern's baseball team, but the Rebels will try to make up for it as they near the end of a surprising season.

the Regents should give it further thought.

It is no secret that matters in our postal system are thoroughly bolixed-up. I suspect that when future mail is addressed to our resident students at Goldfield Hall, Virginia City Hall, Coaldale Hall, or Ploche Hall that quite a little of this mail will be routed to (you guessed it) Goldfield, etc. The boys at the post office do those things!

As alternatives, we suggest the dorms be named something else: Pinuon, Juniper, Aspen, Birch, for instance. Why not Paiute, Shoshone, Goshute, or what have you. If you want to go a bit farther out, how about Anderson, Armstrong, Moyer, or Crawford?

TO THE STUDENTS OF NEVADA SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

In the forthcoming elections on May 4th and 5th, students will be able to decide what kind of government they want--a representative one or one in which two or three people decide the issues without regard to student opinion.

I am presently serving as CSNS Junior Senator and have been since early February when I was appointed to fill a vacancy. Since then, I have conscientiously worked with my fellow Senators in an effort to legislate policies which will benefit our Confederation.

Recently, our CSNS President, Jack Abell, publically referred to me as an "incompetent and inefficient Senator". I stand firmly on my record in the Senate and herein challenge you, Mr. Abell, to substantiate your accusations with fact. Or is it possible that you are so afraid of honest government representing the students that you will resort to unfounded slander to prevent its appearance? Yes, Mr. Abell, you SHOULD be afraid of me--and all other individuals who believe that student government is a vehicle for the students, and not for personal ambitions and gains of the officials.

In closing, may I make an appeal to the students of NSU. Next year will be a new year with a new student government. Regardless of your choice of candidates, make sure that they are YOUR choice. NSU, under an honest student government representing the students, can go a long way in becoming a truly outstanding University.

game Friday and a doubleheader Saturday.

Last weekend the Rebels tangled with league power Los Angeles Loyola in a three-game series at NSU. Going into the Loyola series the Rebels were 9-11-2, after five straight losses, but came back strong against the California power rolling to three straight victories in two days. The Rebel nine nipped Loyola 11-10 in the first game, roared to a 14-4 victory in the second, and outlasted the visitors 4-2 for the third win.

The Rebels lost three to Chapman in a league series, then dropped another pair to Glendale College of Phoenix, Ariz.

Golfers Host U.C.R. Friday

Nevada Southern's young, strong golf team hosts the University of California, Riverside, in two matches this week, beginning Friday at the long Dunes Country Club.

Last week NSU lost two to Glendale Junior College of Phoenix, Ariz., dropping its record to 3-5, and played another match with Victor Valley JC of Victorville, Calif.

After Friday and Saturday's matches, NSU will host the University of San Francisco, a traditionally powerful golf school, at the Dunes Country Club Monday and Tuesday.

The Rebels will close their season against UC Riverside in California, May 26-27.

After that the weather set in, and a three-game series with Pepperdine in Los Angeles was rained out even before the team left Las Vegas. It was the second time the series had been rained out, and the games will not be rescheduled unless they make a difference to the league lead.

Snow forced cancellation of a two-game series with the College of Southern Utah in Cedar City, and also with the University of Nevada in Reno.

The Nevada games, a doubleheader, have been rescheduled, but no date has been announced.

After this weekend's series in California, the Rebels come home to face nationally rated small college power Cal Western May 13, then head for Flagstaff, Ariz., for two games with sixth-ranked Northern Arizona.

NSU tied and lost to NAU earlier this year.

The Rebels now boast six batters over .300, led by surprising combination shortstop and right fielder Ernie Acevedo with a .462 average, followed by catcher Jerry Lund, of Western High in Las Vegas, at .419.

Others over and near .300 are first baseman Bruce Layne, left fielder Al Caponetto, third baseman Travis Bonneville, right fielder John Huber and centerfielder Jerry Mendenhall, who has stolen 12 bases.

Leading NSU in pitching is Russell Farrell (5-2) and Ralph Garcia, 3-4. Garcia has the lowest earned-run-average of the two, 3.38 to 5.89.

Thinlies Still Looking For Win

Nevada Southern's track team, which has two more meets in which to look for its first win, heads for Flagstaff, Ariz., Saturday to compete in a triangular meet with Western New Mexico and host Northern Arizona.

Northern Arizona recently won a track meet in Las Vegas, as Dixie Junior College of St. George, Utah, was second and NSU was third.

Last weekend the Rebels participated in the Mount Sact Relays in Walnut, Calif.

Leading the Rebel thinclads has been 440-yard and 880 man Gary Halko, and mile and two-mile entrant Tom Whipple.

Dashman Roger Wagner and vaulter Dennis Hall have also been performing well for the Rebels, coached by Bob Comeah.

In an outing against Azusa, Calif., Junior College, NSU finished way ahead in running events, but lack of depth prevented a win as Azusa won, 72-58.

Halko is the most consistent performer for NSU, boasting a personal best of 50.3 in the 440 and a 2.00 in the 880. He, Dennis Hall, Mike Riordon and Wagner make up NSU's 440 and mile relay teams.

A.A.U. All-Stars Nip Italians

Clyde Dawson, Charlie Payton and Dixon Goodwin, all graduating members of Nevada Southern's tenth-ranked small college basketball team, were chosen to play with a select group of American All-Stars against the Italian National Champion, Ignis of Varese, last Tuesday.

The Amateur Athletic Union sponsored All-Stars defeated the Italians with a strong rally led by New Mexico's Mel Daniels and Oregon's Nick Jones, 91-80.

NSU's Rolland Todd, who has coached here for two years, directed the US team, which was behind by as much as six points at various points in the game.

Also playing for the All-Stars was Craig Raymond of Brigham Young; Mike Gervisoni of Santa Clara; Kieth Swaggerty and Mike Krulish of the University of Pacific.

Stan McKenzie, a former American player at New York University, led all scorers in the game with 42 points for Ignis.
