SPEC. COLL.

City Leaders, NSU Students To Compete in Tug of War

Ten city officials have accepted NSU's challenge to a tug of war at the gala barbecue and yearbook party here Saturday night.

The festivities, which will take place at the Social Science patio, 6-11 p.m., include the Battle of the Powers, a watermelon bust, dinner and dancing.

Representing the Las Vegas community are Wes Howery, Grant Stewart, and Phil Mirabelli, City Commissioners; Darwin Lamb, County Commissioner; Phil Cummings, Public Administrator; Frank Young, Assemblyman; Ralph Lamb, Sheriff; and Chic Hecht, State Senator.

CSNS President Mike Clark will captain the NSU stronghold, members of which will remain anonymous until that evening.

Clark commented:

"Rumor has it that NSU's physical prowess surpasses that of the city officials who may just find themselves cooling off in the 'loser's trench.'"

That trench is a pit, 10 feet long and three feet deep which will be filled with water.

Two bands, The Little People and The Chosen Few, will provide music for the occasion.

Dinner price of 50 cents includes hot dogs and soft drinks. Summer school students (from the first session) will be admitted without charge upon presentation of their registration stubs.

The 1967 Epilogue yearbook is scheduled to arrive by truck that afternoon from its publishing house in California. Members of the Intercollegiate Knights will assist in distribution of the annuals.

Kappa Delta Phi fraternity is handling preparations for the watermelon bust, and the pom pom girls will serve at the barbecue. All other arrangements have been made by Joe Lendini and his Special Events Committee.

Members of the committee are Sandy Spayers, Margo Blom, Randy Frew, Leslie McNamara, Fran Perlmutter, Mila Blom, Mary Manning, Shirley Gravert, and Dorothy Woodhams.

Registration Ends Today For Second Session

Registration for the second summer session began yesterday and continues today, between 9 and 11 a.m., according to Dr. Herbert A. Derfelt, school director.

The second session is required to meet the demands of a record summer school enrollment, Derfelt said.

NSU's first session, which started June 7 and ends July 21, drew 1,233 students, the highest summer enrollment in the university's history.

The second session, only four weeks long, will start on July 24 and end Aug. 18.

Both undergraduate and graduate courses and workshops are being offered in a variety of subjects.

A new schedule of classes for the second session is available in the Registrar's Office in Frazier Hall.

Joint Session Debates, Passes Financial Amendments, Budget

By JENI PRYOR

Debates over summer salaries for certain student officers and other financial amendments to the CSNS Constitution were ended last Sunday when, at this year's first joint session of the Executive Committee and the Senate, the proposals were passed by unanimous vote.

The most controversial of the bills, sponsored by Tom Irwin, CSNS treasurer, proposed summer salaries at 50 per cent the rate paid during fall and spring semesters to officers already on those budgets.

CSNS President Mike Clark told the joint session that he favored the proposed summer salaries, particularly for the Executive Committee, senators and the REBEL YELL editor. "But," he added, "I am against changing the pay scale so that it would benefit those who made the change. It is a much needed transition, but it should not be made effective until next summer."

Irwin stated that the salaries could be justified by the amount of work the officers do during the summer. With the summer semester, the work load is increased. He commented, "if we can justify it for next summer, we can justify it for now."

Larry Payne agreed with Irwin that the officers will be criticized for the amendment no matter how it is arranged, so they should get compensation for their work this summer.

Another amendment provided for a Finance Committee which will be composed of the CSNS President, Treasurer and Business Manager, a Senate member and an undergraduate and a graduate member of CSNS. Members not named specifically shall be appointed by the Treasurer with approval of the President.

The purpose of the Finance Committee as stated in the amendment is to consider financial requests not previously budgeted, to consider all semester budgets, to perform annual audit of CSNS records and to report to the Executive Committee the results of their findings.

This committee would make it easier for clubs and organizations to petition for money from the budget. They could contact the Finance Committee who would report to the Executive Committee where all financial matters originate.

Irwin explained that this would give the Executive Committee and the Senate more "sound advice on financial matters."

Also passed was an amendment calling for a CSNS Photographer who will take pictures requested by the Epilogue editor, the REBEL YELL editor and the CSNS President. CSNS will appropriate money for a camera which will remain with the University.

The summer budget was approved in its entirety by the Executive Committee and the Senate. The budget appropriates approximately $3500 for the summer. More than twice as much as was received from the summer activity fee is being spent.

In a meeting of the Executive Committee which preceded the Joint Session, a loan of $100 to the Intersorority Council for publication of a history of Greek sororities at NSU was passed.

Cheerleaders Leave For Redlands Camp

The six NSU cheerleaders will leave Sunday to spend five days at a high school and college cheerleading camp at the University of Redlands.

NSU Enlarges Hotel Program; Among Top 12 in United States

NSU's Hotel Administration program, newest of the 12 American large-scale schools of its type, will be expanded to a full department this fall.

Mr. Jerome J. Vallen arrived here July 1, from Canton, N.Y., to assume his duties as director of the program. He will replace Acting-Director Richard E. Strahlem, who is returning to the Accounting Department.

NSU Museum Receives Memorial Display

An unusual collection of valuable artifacts — including stone knives, points, and axes, more than 500 years old — have been donated to the new Nevada Southern University Anthropology library and museum.

The gift was made by Mrs. Mary Rathbun, of 2210 West Bonanza, in memory of her late husband, Mr. Frank D. Rathbun, Sr., who spent a lifetime gathering the items from Southern California, Arizona, and Southern Nevada.

Mr. Rathbun, a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, also did extensive research into Indian rock paintings, recording the sites in detail and photographing them. Both the descriptions and photo negatives have also been turned over to the NSU Anthropology Department by his wife.

Concert Pianists Start World Tour From NSU

Nelson and Neal, an internationally renowned piano team, were featured in a special concert here yesterday. Their NSU performance marked the beginning of a world-wide tour of 120 concerts, embracing 16 nations and four continents.

Played on two matched Baldwin concert grand pianos which accompany them on their tours throughout North America, the Nelson and Neal NSU concert included Brahms' "F Minor Sonata"; Rapsodie Espagnole, one of Ravel's earliest and most successful compositions; "Fantasie in F Minor," a Schubert duet; and "Introduction and Rondo all Burlesca, Opus 23, No. 1," written in 1940 under the shadow of World War II.

Allison Nelson and Harry Neal met while both were students at Philadelphia's Curtis Institute of Music. Today they are two of the world's busiest artists. Their research has produced an array of North American and Twentieth Century premieres of many lost or forgotten original works.

Several classes in hotel management were offered during the spring semester, attracting some 80 students. The Department anticipates a 50 per cent increase in its fall enrollment, with 60 returning majors and 60 new or transfer students.

Two new instructors have been recruited and another may be hired if the Department expands beyond the estimated 120.

Mr. Boyce Phillips will arrive on campus August 1, also from the State University of New York. Mr. Phillips, whose field is management with a background in the social sciences, will stress the sociology of innkeeping.

Mr. George Bussel has already arrived in Las Vegas from the University of New Hampshire at Durham. He is spending this week in California to study the purchasing market there. Mr. Bussel is a lecturer in food services.

Hotel Administration graduates can expect a minimum starting salary of $8500 per annum, according to Mr. Vallen's estimates. Career opportunities are great, and the trend in the United States toward more leisure, more money and more travel foreshadows a continuing increase.

Last year there were 25,000 job vacancies for four-year graduates, but the schools turned out only 1,000 new professionals.

The Department expects to establish a placement service for its students. However, through its internship program they will also have an opportunity to make their own unique professional contacts.

Laboratory experience for the students will be provided by the 12 Strip hotels belonging to the Nevada Resort Association. The internship program will follow classroom experience, giving the student a chance to apply what he has learned in theory.

The new department is organized within the School of Business, and its students graduate with Bachelor of Science degrees in Hotel Administration. By choosing appropriate electives they can become eligible to do graduate work in Business Administration. Several courses in the program are of interest to non-majors.

Six hours a week for two semesters, students will actually work in the local hotels. During the first semester, their lab experience will be in "the front of the House"—accounting, front desk and house-keeping. Later practice is in purchasing and food procurement and service. In addition, there is a work experience requirement of 400 out-of-lab hours.

ISC Rush Workshop Next Weekend

The newly formulated NSU Intersorority Council will sponsor a Rush Workshop July 28-29, to be held on campus. The University's three sororities are requiring their members to attend.

Friday, July 28, the girls will meet in SS room 117 from 7:30-8:30 p.m. Mrs. K. W. Vorderstrasse, vice-president of City Panhellenic, will be their guest speaker.

The workshop will convene again Saturday morning in SS room 103, 8 a.m. to 12 noon. At that time, introductory remarks will be made by Dianne Abercrombie, ISC Coordinator and Miss A. Tippy Smith, faculty advisor. Mrs. (Faith) Vorderstrasse will present the keynote address.

Later the delegates will break into discussion panels to be followed by a group question and answer period.

A luncheon is scheduled to follow the Saturday meeting.

Officers of the ISC were formally installed Sunday, July 16, at a tea in the Chancellor's Gold Room.

Angela DiVicino is the new president. Carole Smith is secretary-treasurer and next in succession, and Karin Borgman is vice-president.

Other Council members are Carol Kingstedt, Nu Sigma Upsilon representative; Colleen Bell, Nu Sigma Upsilon alternate; Pam Calos, Nu Sigma Upsilon president; Linda Dopico, Phi Delta Chi representative; Linda Clark, Phi Delta Chi alternate; Val Moon, Phi Delta Chi president; Cathie Lincer, Delta Phi Delta representative; Margie Rudishauser, Delta Phi Delta alternate; and Francie Schwaegerle, Delta Phi Delta president.

The officers of City Panhellenic were guests of the ISC at the Installation Tea.

The Intersorority Council has been in the organizational process since February when Miss Smith, Dianne Abercrombie and Val Moon attended a rush workshop on the Reno campus.

Last month its formulation was completed, and its constitution was prepared.

The purpose of the ISC is "to maintain sorority life and intersorority life on a high plane, advance scholastic interests and compile rules governing rushing, pledging and initiation."

Dianne Abercrombie, who was affiliated with a national sorority while attending the University of Nevada, explained:

"It will organize the sororities, binding them together and creating a different kind of 'harmonious' competition among them. It should promote a better sorority image."

Dianne and Miss Smith will be assisted in their advisory functions by Dinah Schofield, a member of the national sorority Chi Omega. Dinah is the wife of Mr. Paul Schofield, new member of the Personnel Services staff, and she will be a student here this fall.

Lamplighters Choose 'Service' As Motto

Lamplighters, an honorary organization for sophomore women, which has adopted the motto "at your service", is now seeking official CSNS recognition. The group, under sponsorship of Miss Tippy Smith, hopes eventually to become a chapter of SPURS, a national sophomore service league.

During the spring semester Janice Fallman and Cindy DiFiore who were then sophomores attended a SPURS convention in Reno. According to Janice, they were most impressed by the enthusiasm of their fellow delegates. These girls are now serving as advisors to the Lamplighters.

Members of the NSU organization must have a 2.5 average or better when they are installed. They must also have a sincere desire to serve the campus and the community and time to contribute.

At a picnic luncheon they held at Paradise Park Saturday, June 24, the Lamplighters selected their basic uniforms. These will be A-line shifts of white linen featuring a cowl neckline. The girls will also select a pin or an emblem, and they plan to add a jacket or pull-over sweater for winter wear.

Prospective plans for the fall semester include a book exchange for students who wish to sell or buy used textbooks. Lamplighters will also be helping with registration.

National Social Frat Accepts NSU Chapter

Sigma Gamma is now the Kappa Alpha chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity, the first Greek national social fraternity of Nevada Southern University.

Petitioning to become a national fraternity started about a year ago, and the goal was realized last month with the help of initiating teams from four other chapters. The teams came from University of California, Davis, University of Utah, Arizona State University and the University of Arizona.

On the evening of initiation, June 2, when the former Sigma Gamma fraternity received its Kappa Sigma charter, the Worthy Grand Master, Richard G. Miller, and the Ritualist, Robert Holbrook, were present for the occasion.

The following night a banquet was held at the Aladdin Hotel with Mr. Cliff Jones, alumni, acting as Master of Ceremonies. At the banquet several men were honored, notably Mr. William Beitz, principal of Clark High School, who received the award of "Outstanding Alumni of 1967."

BUSINESS FRATERNITY LAUDS RETIRING DR. JOHNSON

Dr. A. Rex Johnson, retiring Director of the School of Business and past National Vice-president of Alpha Kappa Psi, was honored by the local chapter of that business fraternity at their final spring business meeting.

Dr. Johnson was thanked for his guidance and support during the chapter's growth into an established campus organization and was presented with a set of gold fraternity cuff links. He was recognized as a man who, in four years at Nevada Southern, "has become more than just an educator—someone hailed as their own 'Mr. Chips' by the thousands of students who have known him."

The Director's office door was always open and he kept an ever-ready invitation for all "sit and chat."

Speaking on behalf of the fraternity, Brian Harris, past chapter president, noted that Dr. Johnson

Journalism Classes To Staff University Newspaper, Annual

A cooperative program between the CSNS government and the School of Humanities will allow for a journalism program which will combine the beginning reporting class (Journalism 221-222) with a publications workshop for students working on the campus newspaper and the yearbook. The program begins this fall.

For the first time, under the new system, students working on publications will receive course credit, this amounting to three units per semester.

The course, open to freshmen through seniors (except English A students) will be taught by Mr. Frank Whitaker, Director of the NSU Office of Information and Publications.

Whitaker, who received his B.A. in journalism from Indiana University, has more than seven years experience on daily and weekly newspapers as a writer and editor. Before coming to NSU he was Medical-Science Writer for the University of Southern California School of Medicine and Assistant Director of the USC News Bureau.

plans to remain at NSU next year in a teaching capacity. Harris pointed out that though the sign "Director, School of Business" will be gone, the line of students outside Dr. Johnson's door will be as long as ever because one sign will always be there—the one with the letters that spell W-E-L-C-O-M-E.

Replacing Dr. Johnson as head of the School will be Dr. Tom White, a recent member of Robert MacNamara's staff. Dr. White, past attache to Rumania behind the Iron Curtain and a retired Air Force Colonel, will assume his new duties Sept. 1.

College Investment Gets Higher Returns

It pays—in career choice and in cold cash—to be a college graduate, Dr. Ben Owen, Dean of Students at Nevada Southern University, reports.

"Our recent graduating students are getting twice the number of employment interviews they had in previous years, and they are being offered five per cent higher salaries," Dr. Owen said.

He explained that the surge in demand for college trained employees by business, industry and government has caused a 42 per cent increase in the number of offers each graduate receives. Technical students are being offered 59 per cent more jobs than last year.

Dr. Owen's optimistic outlook for this year's crop of college graduates is based on a survey of 116 colleges and universities taken by the College Placement Council.

NSU will expand its graduate placement program starting July 1 with the hiring of a Director of Placement, the Dean said. The new program will first concentrate its efforts on placement of graduates in the Southern Nevada areas and the State.

Business Fraternity Plans Tour, Dinner

Alpha Kappa Psi professional business fraternity plans an industrial tour of the Federal Aviation Administration facilities and commercial airlines operations at McCarran airport during the latter part of August.

Itinerary for this second summer program will include a brief explanation of fair traffic control procedures, visits to the control tower, radar room and weather bureau, and a behind-the-scenes look at commercial airline operations.

Following the activities at the airport a barbecue will be held at the home of Glenn Reed with the girls of Phi Gamma Nu sorority as guests.

Crawford Appoints Gayle Horch As Freshman Summer Senator

Gayle Horch has been named freshman senator for the summer. The appointment was made by Chuck Crawford, CSNS First Vice-president, at the first Senate meeting of the year. Gayle will hold the office until freshman elections are conducted this fall.

She qualified for the post because of her above 2.2 grade point average and her freshman standing. Gayle is the newly elected treasurer of Phi Delta Chi sorority and its former pledge class secretary.

Gayle entered NSU last fall as a nursing major after graduating with honors from Western High School in 1966. She plans to transfer to Reno in 1968 to continue her four-year nursing education there.

The new senator said her appointment was "a great honor." She explained that she has wanted to participate in the growth of NSU but has never before had such an excellent opportunity.

Delta Phi Delta Elects First Slate of Officers

Delta Phi Delta sorority, which received official campus recognition last month, has announced its first slate of officers.

Francie Schwaegerle was elected president for the upcoming year. Other officers are Karin Borgman, vice-president and Intersorority Council representative; Rona Shore, secretary; Cathie Lincer, treasurer; and Sally Moore, pledge chairman.

The new sorority plans to adopt a Viet Nam war orphan as its project for the year. It is now holding weekly meetings.

There are 14 charter members. In addition to the officers, they are Debbie Croenus, Mary Doty, Rosie Grady, Jill Lily, Ginny Nelson, Janet Palmer, Margie Rudishauser, Gayle Shreiner and Jimmie Willman.

Cheerleaders Leave

There the girls will attend classes in cheerleading psychology, sportsmanship, pom pom routines, tumbling, gymnastics and the promotion of school spirit. The week will be climaxed by competition between the schools represented at the camp and critical analysis of their squads.

The cheerleaders, Darlene Workman, Marsha Goodwin, Vicki Wilson, Connie Fortier, Marie Warner and Marcia Nelson, will drive to Redlands in Marsha Goodwin's car. They will stay in the dormitory there.

NSU Yell Leader Gary Nelson has been chosen as one of the camp's instructors.

The trip will be financed partially by CSNS funds and partially by the girls themselves.
