4 Offices Contested; Nine Frosh Compete For Senator Position

By VICKIE JOLLEY

Four contested class offices will be filled through the student election which begins today and continues tomorrow.

To vote, students must show proof of their CSNS membership, such as their library cards.

A majority is required for a candidate to be elected and if in any race no student receives more than 50 per cent of the vote this week, run-offs will be held Oct. 11-12.

There are nine candidates vying for the two freshmen seats in the Senate, the most widely sought office in this election. The contenders are LARRY GANN, SID GOLDSTEIN, RUSSEL HARVEY, JONI MARIE HURST, DOUGLAS JENSEN, FRED JAMESON, MIKE O'DEA, JOE SHAW, and STEVE WINARD.

Three freshmen, LLOYD GANGWER, GARY JENKINS, and BOB ANDERSON are seeking their class presidency. There are also three contenders, SHARON CLEVELAND, SAL GUGINO, and VAL STEWART, for the freshman vice-presidency.

The race for senior class president drew two candidates, BRUCE LAYNE and JERRY KELLER.

There is no one on the ballot for either president or vice-president of the junior class. Running unopposed are KEN JOCHIM, sophomore presidency; JOHN KAMMEYER, sophomore vice-presidency; and RICHARD KNOWLES, senior vice-presidency.

A graduate of Clark High School and a sociology major, LARRY GANN hopes to use his senate seat to "provide for a more informed and useful class in order to help the freshman become a part of the University more quickly."

GANN was a Student Council member in high school, where he participated in "numerous committees."

SID GOLDSTEIN, another candidate for the Senate, commented, "The freshmen need a set of goals. A class of this size can do something of direction for NSU, but no single person can make it effective."

GOLDSTEIN, a political science major, graduated from Valley High, where he served in the student senate last year, chairing four committees. He helped to frame the high school's new constitution.

A participant in the NSU honors program, Senate candidate JONI HURST entered NSU with a 3.57 GPA. At Rancho she was a member of student council, the board of control, and the student court. She was also president of the Nevada Future Teachers of America.

JONI, who wants "to be part of this growing University," seeks a more personal and direct representation for the students. She said that she hopes to become better acquainted with her fellow freshmen and voice their opinions regardless of her own beliefs.

FRED JAMESON graduated from Elsinore Naval and Military School where he achieved the rank of second lieutenant and served on the duty board.

Communication is a major goal of his platform, and he hopes to publish and make available copies of the constitution for all interested students.

JAMESON also feels that rallies are needed to inform the freshmen class when major changes in government are being considered. He said he would like to see the class establish some kind of fund-raising committees.

Hotel administration major DOUGLAS JENSEN seeks to "pro-

Traffic Code Set; Students Pay Fines

Parking zones have been classified for the Nevada Southern campus as Unassigned, Restricted, Reserved, 24-Hour, and No parking. Other violations have been designated by the Board of Regents in the traffic code manual.

A Zone "A" Unassigned area is for all registered vehicles between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

A Zone "B" Restricted area is for all registered vehicles, faculty and staff vehicles between 6 a.m. and midnight, any day of the week.

A Zone "C" Reserved area is reserved for specific individual vehicles.

The Zone "D" 24-Hour area is for residents living in on-campus housing.

The Visitor Zone is for visitors alone and no students, staff, or faculty vehicles will be allowed to park in this zone.

The maximum speed limit on the campus is 15 m.p.h.

Exits will not be permitted at the Maryland Parkway entrance at Grant Hall.

Minor violations include parking improperly, parking in improper zones and parking without a registration sticker. Major violations are moving violations (speeding, running stop signs, etc.).

All violators of the traffic code will be fined by the University Police.

After the citation is administered a Traffic Code fee must be paid within five calendar days in order to reinstate the registration sticker and parking and use privileges. The fee will be doubled after five days.

Students Find Draft Confusing

By CHARLOTTE CRAWFORD

If one feels he is patriotic by supporting the United States in Viet Nam, is he ignorant? Is he so ignorant that he is being unrealistically hampered by patriotism?

Such patriotism has been imposed by tradition and by the American educational system. Traditionally one must always stand behind his country, and the educational system teaches this philosophy.

When there is a war, this patriotism is challenged. Those who are drafted find their own patriotism while those in school are confused. Should they accept their fear, think first of themselves, or stand by their super-patriotic views?

NSU students don't think the United States should be at war, but paradoxically they think we should be in Viet Nam.

"I don't think it's fair that we have to go into the service, but I think it's fair that there should be a draft," responded one prospective draftee.

Another said, "Drafting should be on a volunteer basis and to hell with it."

The fear centers more around the actual draft than Viet Nam. Most young men are rebellious against the mandatory nature of the draft.

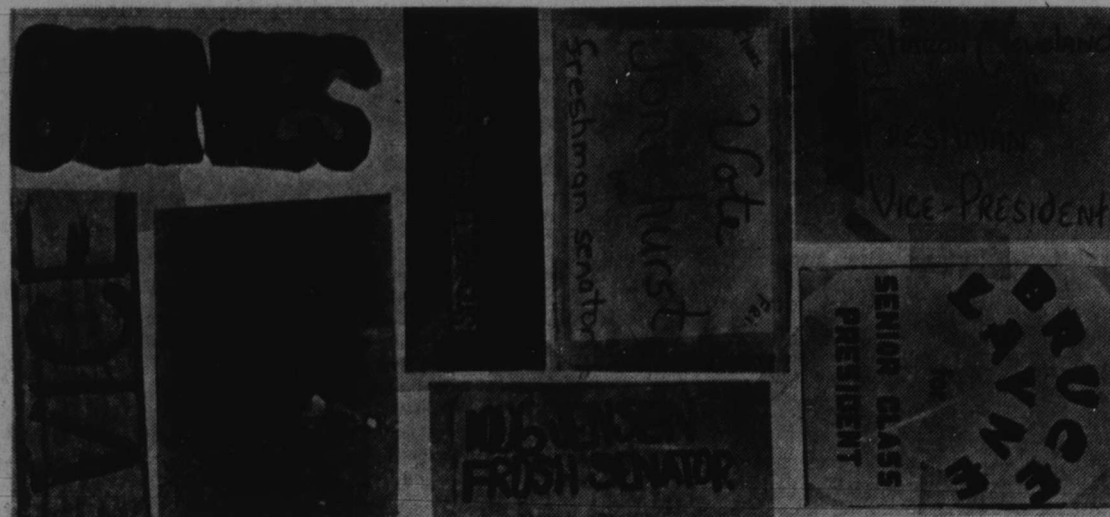

How does it work? When a boy turns eighteen, he must register within five days with his draft board. A full-time student may obtain a deferment until he receives his baccalaureate degree, fails to satisfactorily complete his work as a full-time student, or becomes 24 years old.

Many male N.S.U. students have failed to complete draft deferment cards. Although the registrar has no record of these youths, there is concern. Without these forms, they lose their student status and are easily eligible to be drafted.

What precisely is their attitude? It tends more towards apathy than patriotism. One student remarked, "Listen, we don't just hang around worrying about the damn thing."

POSTERS AND POLITICS ON CAMPUS

Judicial Board Sets Standards for GPA

The Judicial Board has decided that NSU scholastic work is of major importance when determining the grade point average of student government officers.

This interpretation was the result of the recent case of Jean Childs, senior senator. Jean's GPA was in question because she was a transfer student and constitutional requirements as to her status were unclear. The decision of the Judicial Board upholds Chuck Crawford's action in removing her from her seat last summer.

The Board decided that all transfer credits will be established at 2.00. If upon entry the student's GPA is less, credits will be taken at face value.

The Judicial Board in conjunction with the Senate will be the verifying authority concerning grade points in the future. Determining the GPA of candidates will not be a duty of the Election Committee chairman.

The Board also made a recommendation to the Senate for the establishment of a minimum GPA for all students participating in campus activities and organizations.

CSNS Gets Groups' Mail

All organizations may pick up their mail in the CSNS President's office on the first floor of the dorm, or they may leave a name and address to which it will be forwarded.

Students Say How Money Should Go

The results of a senate poll of student opinion indicated that the student body preferred their mandatory activity money to be spent on, in order of preference, special events, publications, cultural activities, and concerts.

In explaining the poll, CSNS First Vice-president Chuck Crawford said, "though senators are representatives of the students, it is not always possible to know what their opinions on senate matters are. However, the expenditure of over $61,000 of students' money is too important a matter to leave to chance."

Drop Date Approaches

The withdrawal deadline for dropping a class or for changing from credit to audit is Oct. 20, according to Miss Muriel Parks, registrar.

After Oct. 20, students may withdraw from the University, but they may not drop a portion of courses in which they are registered. WP or WF will be recorded for students withdrawing after Oct. 20.

There will no classes Oct. 31, during the Admission Day recess.

Annuals Free To Faculty

Last year's yearbooks will now be presented free upon request to the faculty at NSU, Epilogue editor Hal Whipple recently announced.

Students may receive them with preference going to students who attended both semesters last year.

University Methodists To Feature Dr. Owen

Dr. Ben Owens, Dean of Students, will be the key speaker at the 11 a.m. service of worship at University Methodist Church on Oct. 8. He will join other laymen in considering the topic, "Christ's Ambassadors".

The second Sunday in October is traditionally "Laymen's Day" in Methodist Churches. The speaker at the 9 a.m. service will be Dr. James Mason, superintendent of the Clark County School District. Both men are members of the local congregation. Students are always welcome at the church, according to the pastor, Rev. Jerome G. Blankenship, who also serves as a part-time instructor in the NSU science department.

Hooray for Molly Magee!

When, in the course of human events . . . Throughout history it has been the American way to fight for one's rights, from Tom Jefferson right down to . . . well, McCarthy, for instance. And since NSU's about ten years old now, it appears as if it too is ready for a little "revolution".

Thus, we hear that preliminary plans are now being completed on a student movement to draft and present a Bill of Rights to the Board of Regents — a Bill that will call for the right to privacy in dormitory rooms, the right to invite unpopular speakers to campus, the right to engage in off-campus activities, the right to appeal a low grade, and the right to publish any newspaper or commentary.

But why stop here—let's go all the way! It's life, liberty, pursuit of happiness . . . or bust! We want our rights —

IT'S OUR RIGHT to be able to vote on whether final examinations should be used!

IT'S OUR RIGHT to have influence in the hiring of our teachers!

IT'S OUR RIGHT to have the Dining Hall spouts of coke, root beer, and 7-up changed to Coors, J & B, and Manischewitz!

IT'S OUR RIGHT to make the Chancellor a student-elected office!

IT'S OUR RIGHT to make each dorm floor coeducational!

And, by Jack, IT'S OUR RIGHT to have our rights fulfilled!

It's that awkward time of year again . . . The novelty of a summer's end, of a new semester's beginning, is gone. Those well-earned savings—the ones that took more than three months to accumulate—have followed the same fate.

That "new leaf" everyone promised they would turn over has wilted all too soon under the strong influence of three term papers, seven book reports, a couple of exams, and too many boring lectures.

That green romance that was destined to ripen as soon as school started merely ended up a rotten apple.

The high school glamour girls have found themselves to be a routine prop on the college scene, while the former he-men Don Juans have even resorted to studying.

The white castles of which so many were residents have been demolished, leaving room to a smaller, yet more up-to-date, construction.

Yeah . . . it's that time . . .

Looking for a fast Southeastern tour, fellas? Well, then you better get on the ball. The law's changed slightly, but it nonetheless requires all males over 18 to fill out new forms down at the "travel agency." Sure, it might be a little work, but it's only half the job of packing. So get on the phone . . . while you can.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Professor,

Sure, of course you want to enlighten us—but can't you do it within the time you're allotted I'm sure you know how much we would adore sitting, and listening to your fascinating discourses for hours on end, but we just can't do it. We get hungry, or thirsty, or nature calls! And besides, our next-hour profs just refuse to understand when we tell them we're tardy because we were so enthralled with your lecture—you know how it is. So c'mon, play it cool, and give us a break. Look, it's only fair—we'll promise to be on time if you'll promise to let us out likewise. O.K.? Thanks a million.

Sincerely,
I. M. Late

- Last week's R-Y proves it:
- "Sigma Xi Meets Today"
 - "Kappa Sigma Sponsors Queen"
 - "Kappa Sigma Pledges Fifty"
 - "Phi Delt Accept Nine New Pledges"
 - "IK's To Become Greeks"
 - "Phi Mu To Present Fashion Show"
 - "Delta Phi Delta Takes Pledges"
 - "Chi Sigs Take Phi Mu"

Very simply, NSU has gone Greek. It's the IN thing to do, and we've obviously done it. Next thing you know we'll be making Anthony Quinn honorary CSNS Prexy and Melina Mercuri his secretary. We might even call our campus center Piraeus!

Oh, if only Plato could see us now . . . it would even be Greek to him.

WE'VE DONE IT AGAIN . . . We've gotten some marvelous discounts for "Ulysses"—three days after the show closed . . . We've gotten a psychedelic yearbook office . . . And a crowded REBEL YELL office . . . We've found three bald freshmen under those beanies thus far . . .

And we've reached the bottom of the Box . . . see you next week.

At last that rubber stamp labeled "unanimously approved" got tossed out of a University Board of Regents meeting—and on an issue so crucial to our times as to call for three cheers — HIP HIP HOORAY! HIP HIP HOORAY FOR MOLLY MAGEE!

For you Frosh who aren't yet in the know around here, Molly Magee is a northern member of the University Board of Regents. She is also a rancher of some note and an archeologist of much repute on subjects such as Nevada Indians and Southwest historical lore.

But mild-mannered Molly Magee may turn out to be the modern-day Florence Nightingale for our draft-age boys who don't wish to play soldier while they're trying to get an education at the Nevada state universities.

MOLLY MAGEE IS THE ONLY REGENT TO VOTE THIS WEEK AGAINST COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING ON THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA CAMPUS AT RENO!

By doing so, she not only echoes the many voices of the Reno faculty and student bodies, but has shown herself to be an individual with much courage. FOR WHEN CAN ONE REMEMBER ANY ACTION BY THE BOARD OF REGENTS THAT HAS NOT BEEN RUBBER STAMPED "UNANIMOUSLY APPROVED"?

Why is Molly's Rebellion so important to Nevada Southern University. Because, my dear

A Letter to the Editor

To the editor:

I would like to make a few defensive comments in reply to the banner "news" story which appeared in your last edition entitled: Paper Goes Weekly—Rebel Yell, Epilogue Win Budget Battle at Senate.

Although as President of the Senate I remain generally neutral on matters before the Senate I must take issue when a report of the proceedings is distorted as was apparently the case in this story.

The budgets before the Senate are not battles; except, perhaps, in the minds of those who propose the budgets. Indeed, there is debate; however, this debate is not for the purpose of indicting the editors of publications. The fact is, as I am sure you will recall, that the concern of the Senate was one of overall allocation of C.S.N.S. funds. This is an important fact of the issue which was not reported. The Senate was concerned about how much money should be spent on the REBEL YELL and Epilogue—in proportion to the overall expenditures; not whether any money would be spent.

I invite you to attend all meetings in which budgets will be considered and observe that all budgets will be scrutinized to a similar degree.

Budgetary decisions are important ones, and corners should be cut whenever possible if it means securing a greater scope of activities for the students.

In contradiction to the somewhat irresponsible attitude of the REBEL YELL on this matter, I commend the Senate for caring enough about the overall spectrum of student activities to make you defend the budget that you submitted. This attitude on the part of the Senators is more virtuous than allowing budgets to be passed blindly on the recommendation of those who propose them, wouldn't you agree?

Respectfully,
Chuck Crawford
C.S.N.S. 1st V.P.

male students at NSU, military training, or ROTC if you prefer, is now being studied as a possible program to be initiated at NSU.

And now for a short 10-second quiz:

1. Will ROTC at NSU be:
 - (a) compulsory
 - (b) voluntary
 - (c) not at all
2. For approval of ROTC at NSU will faculty and students have:

- (a) complete voice
- (b) some voice
- (c) no voice

Board of Regents Chairman Fred Anderson heard the faculty and student voices on the Reno campus cry out against compulsory military training—and he slapped them in the face with his rubber stamp.

The Magee Rebellion needs YOU!

Reno Speaks for Us?

Since when does that little paper upstate—generally known as the "Sagebrush" presume to speak for the entire university system?

At a time when academic faculties, highest university officials, and out-of-state experts are taking weeks, even months, to study the present state universities system and to decide, with all their years of experience and know-how, which is the best way for the two campuses to grow, that little paper up North presumes to know so much (See Sagebrush editorial "Best President" Sept. 19 issue) that it has already decided—not only that there should be a presidential system—but even WHAT QUALIFICATIONS HE SHOULD HAVE!

If this is not the supreme in editorial egomania, it will do until the Sagebrush tops itself on this one.

IF the presidential system is so all fired great—WHY is the President resigning and getting out of the system?

IF the present system is so great—WHY has NSU been left all these years to pull herself up by the bootstraps; fighting and clawing every inch of the way for even the barest minimum in facilities and programs?

IF the present system is so great—WHY is the bulk of the appropriated monies still going to the Reno campus when NSU is on the verge of overtaking the U of N in student population?

IF the present system is so great and fair—WHY is the chief engineer so biased that he stands up in a meeting and sarcastically remarks about the NSU student center building—which the NSU students are paying for out of their own pockets—"cut some things out of that building; it's too good for those people down there anyway"!

IS A SYSTEM SO GREAT WHEN ITS HIGHEST OFFICIALS ARE WILLING TO LEAVE NSU A SAND LOT IN THEIR BLIND PANIC TO GARNER EVERY MAJOR PROFESSIONAL SCHOOL — MEDICINE, LAW, DENTAL, ETC.—AND TWIST THE ARMS OF THE STATE LEGISLATURES INTO THROWING THE BIGGEST PIECE OF BUDGET PIE INTO THEIR NORTHERN LAPS?

Chi Sigma Chi Sponsors Discotheque Friday

A discotheque sponsored by Chi Sigma Chi fraternity will be held in the Dining Commons Friday night at 8 p.m. for all students. The dance will cost one dollar per person.

Chi Sigma Chi will have the first formal exchange with their sister sorority, Phi Mu, this Saturday night.

Buzz Smith Calls at Square Dance Tonight

Buzzy Smith, president of the Las Vegas Callers' Association, will be the caller for a square dance tonight in H.P.E. 111 from 7 to 9 p.m. sponsored by NSU. The dance costs 50 cents per person.

The dances started on Thursday, Sept. 21 and will be a weekly event open to both faculty and students.

Mrs. Mason, the H.P.E. dancing instructor, said that partners for all can be found at the dances, or dates may be brought.

Phi Delta Chi Treats Rushees to Party

During the weekend, Phi Delta Chi sorority treated open bidding rushees to a coke party and had an exchange football game with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Charlotte Crawford, vice president, is the sorority's representative to the Associated Women Students.

Angie DiVicino Resigns from ISC

Angie DiVicino, of Phi Mu Sorority, resigned from the office of president of the Intersorority Council because of "personal reasons" on Sept. 25.

Angie will either be replaced by an elected Phi Mu, or the seat of presidency will go to Phi Delta Chi, next in rotation.

At a recent meeting of the ISC, rushing and discrimination in national sororities were discussed. The quota of girls for each sorority was also upped to 35.

Alpha Tau Omega Announces New Pledges

Fred Rothwell, president of the national social fraternity Alpha Tau Omega, announced that 17 new members have been pledged to this date. This has boosted the organization's total membership to 39 men.

Pledges include: Tom Donnelly, president of the pledge class; Mike Cerdas, treasurer; Tom Johnson; Harvey Dublin; Steve Bursell; Jerry Ridge; Ron Schennel; Dave Dykstra; Bob Anderson; Mackie Mullins; Ken Stewart; Don Lytle; Terry Leggett; Steve Fine and Tom Rasmussen.

The fraternity's annual barbeque last week attracted 17 alumni. The first exchange football game between Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Delta Phi Delta Sorority ended in a 0-0 tie.

The fraternity's other officers are Fred Hubbs, vice president; Larry Cerdas, treasurer; and John Cook, secretary.

Forensics Recruiting Interested Members

Anyone interested in participating in the forensics program, should contact Mr. Wallinger in S.S. 324, any afternoon Monday through Friday. This program will range from campus debates to intercollegiate competition.

Deserets Open with Meet-cha, Swim Parties

The Deseret Club, last year the largest organization on campus, has scheduled a Meet-cha party Oct. 15 at the LDS Institute and a swim party Oct. 22, Darrell Smith, president of the LDS sponsored club, announced.

The times and places will be announced by posters on campus, Smith added.

A forum featuring guest lecturers and films sponsored by the group, is held at noon each Friday in the Institute building behind the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Smith added.

Kappa Sigma Fraternity See 'Sand Pebbles'

Friday night, approximately 80 actives and pledges of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, attended the movie, Sand Pebbles, starring Steve McQueen at the Fox Theater.

Alpha Epsilon Looks for House

Alpha Epsilon, a new Jewish fraternity on campus, is looking for a house. President Jerry Gordon, a sophomore, said the club needs to immediately establish a location near the university for holding parties and other Alpha Epsilon activities.

The fraternity has been in existence since April when it was chartered by Dave London, Henry Pepper, Loren Relin, Larry Brown and Jerry Gordon. It held its rush activities at the end of August in co-operation with the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Newman Club Holds Opener

The Newman Club began this year's activities Sept. 15 with a party at the home of Vice-President Dennis Hughes.

The campus's branch of the national Catholic organization has a variety of annual events scheduled including a Thanksgiving scavenger hunt to collect canned goods for the needy, a Christmas tree party at Caliente and a retreat to the mountains for religious inspiration later in the year.

There will be a membership drive this month. The club is open to non-Catholics as well as Catholics.

Meetings are held once a month on Sunday at 8:00 p.m. in SS 113.

Psych Club Holds First Meet Today

Nomalee Tilman, president of the Psychology Club, announced that the first meeting of the year will be held today at 12:15 p.m. at SS 314. This is an organizational meeting to plan the curriculum for the coming year. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Phi Mu Sorority Presents Fashion Show

Phi Mu Sorority presented its Fourth Annual Fashion Show last Sunday at the Teenbeat Club. Fashions were modeled from The Other Place.

Music Department Sponsors Pop Concerts

Each Tuesday and Thursday, in the art gallery of Grant Hall, Hal Whipple and Dr. Chase, Professor of Music, will present music concerts. This is the second year for this particular venture, and the free sessions are to be held at 12:00 noon. Throughout this past summer, Whipple has been increasing the collection of music tapes, and has added several jazz selections to the all-classical collection of last year. Ives, a reported favorite of last year's audiences, will again be among those well-known artists to be featured.

Four Offices Contested

mote a good image of the freshman class and the University. "He sees a need for more freshman activities with a better participation.

JENSEN graduated from Clark High School where he participated in student council and belonged to the election board.

A student body president in junior high school, and a representative in the Rancho High student council, MIKE O'DEA feels there should be more unification of the classes.

O'DEA wants to establish a lecture hall which is open several times a week for students who wish to express their opinions. He has proposed a "student services" office in the new Student Union to provide the students with office equipment they can use.

STEVE WINARD calls himself a "progressive candidate." He said he is running for office "to help improve NSU, to make the freshman class the best, and to help his fraternity."

WINARD is a history major who graduated from Valley High, where he was a student councilman for two years, co-chairman of the constitution committee, a member of the assembly committee, and senior ball chairman.

In the running for the freshman class presidency are two former student body presidents, BOB ANDERSON, from Western High and GARY JENKINS of Valley, and the former junior class president of Rancho High, LLOYD GANGWER.

ANDERSON, who is a political science major, hopes to establish a council of presidents to coordinate all class activities.

He considers the Student Bill of Rights as being, "extremely necessary to define the role of the administrator and administration, the student and the student government, the realms in which they must operate, and the power each has."

ANDERSON, besides being student body president, served on the executive board of the Clark County Association of Student Councils, was the Nevada representative to Boys' Nation and the State Controller at Boys' State.

GANGWER plans to induce productivity in the freshman class by establishing a class project. He also sees a need for more minor activities, such as weekend dances.

GANGWER, in addition to being junior class president, also held offices during his sophomore and junior years of high school.

JENKINS, a physical education major is attending NSU on a baseball scholarship. He noted that the baseball field needs improvement. He also feels that it would be helpful to have a parking lot in front of the dorm paved.

JENKINS, who was student body president for two years, also belonged to the Lettermen's Club and the Ski Club. He commented that he "likes to do things for people".

Two of the candidates for freshman vice-president, SHARON CLEVELAND and VAL STEWART are education majors. The third, SAL GUGINO, is concentrating on political science.

SHARON CLEVELAND is a former representative to the Colorado Girls' State where she served as a Supreme Court Justice. She also was student body vice-president in high school and sophomore class secretary.

SHARON views the vice-presidency as "a leaning and supporting post for the president."

GUGINO was a representative from Clark High School to Boys' State. He served in student council for three years and was vice-president of his junior class.

GUGINO believes that the vice-president is responsible for "putting the president's theories into action."

VAL STEWART commented, "I am sincerely interested in NSU, its present and future and would like to participate in its growth."

She explained that, "the role that an effectively student-run student-oriented campus union can play is immense. We should take great care to see that it is well-organized and well-run."

JERRY KELLER and BRUCE LAYNE will compete for presidency of the senior class.

KELLER, a biology major, is active in the Biology Club and Kappa Sigma fraternity and has done photographic work for NSU publications.

LAYNE was sophomore class president in high school and is vice-president of Chi Sigma Chi. He feels there should be a closer coordination of U-Days and commencement and hopes to establish the senior prom and picnic as annual events. LAYNE is an economics major.

Those candidates whose views are not presented failed to complete the newspaper's questionnaire concerning their platforms. However, all candidates were notified of this opportunity to present their ideas.

New Class Teaches Students To Care

A new class on caring is now in full swing on the NSU campus. The program, Helping (Social) Services, has been described as "the most exciting and emotionally rewarding course I have ever taken," by one of its students.

Director of the program, Dr. Bernard Greenblatt described the program as "tremendously encouraging." Having anticipated an enrollment of 15 or 20 students for the pilot program, Dr. Greenblatt admits surprise over the enrollment of 40.

Helping Services is an undergraduate program working in connection with the Welfare Division of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and vocational rehabilitation and correctional institutions under the local agencies. Enrolled students are expected to make significant contributions to the community.

Volunteer work is not only approved but encouraged. Many enrolled students have had jobs or are now working for some helping service agency.

Students hoping eventually to major in the field are encouraged to take sociology, anthropology, and psychology. The course centers around man's concern for his fellow man.

Local Doctors Exhibit Art Collections Here

Many varied exhibits, such as: "Viento" (The Wind), "Rerato Estudio" (Figure Study), and "El Monstro" (The Monster), are included in the new Contemporary Art Exhibit in Grant 122A, which will continue until Oct. 26.

The pieces on the exhibit have come from the private collections of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Armour, Dr. and Mrs. James Gorman, Drs. Theodore & Darvin Jacobs, and Dr. and Mrs. Harris Knudson. One oil of special interest is that entitled "Retrato Estudio" (Figure Study), owned by Mrs. Gorman.

ID Cards Still Not Here

Student Identification cards will not be available for approximately three weeks, since the IBM listing numbers will not be down from Reno until that time. The cards may be picked up from the CSNS offices when they arrive.

B'nai Sholom To Hold Box Luncheon Sunday

A lox and bagels luncheon is set for Oct. 8, at Temple Beth Sholom's Danny Kolod Youth Center as the opening event of the newly organized B'nai Sholom Society, a student Jewish organization.

B'nai Sholom will be open for membership to any Jewish students on campus. Details are available from Pam Phillips, 878-0704.

The organization hopes to eventually affiliate with Hallel, the national university Jewish society.

Booster Club Gets Let Down

By DAVID KATZMAN

If the estimated 1100 fans that turned out for the NSU Booster Club sponsored pro basketball tilt on Sept. 25 is any indication of the upcoming Rebel cage season, then something is wrong someplace.

Comedian Don Rickles remarked during his hilarious half time performance that "This turnout is embarrassing." The comment was followed by instant applause from the Convention Center audience who obviously agreed with Rickles.

Dave Pearl, Booster Club president, and spokesman for the group who promoted the contest, attributed the poor attendance to a general lack of community interest, and apathy on the Nevada Southern campus.

Despite various snags, the game managed to garner almost $500 for the NSU Athletic Scholarship Fund, and provided thrills and professional style for sports enthusiasts.

U of N Residents Sponsor Bicycle-In

Close to 300 students took part last week in a bicycle marathon at Reno. Residents of the University of Nevada's Nye Hall dormitory began a five day bicycle marathon on Sept. 25 and continued through Sept. 30.

This stunt was intended to bring residents of Nye Hall closer together. Some of the university's administrators even got into the act. James Hathborn, Dean of Men, started the proceedings, and he was cheered on by Chancellor N. Edd Miller, and Sam Basta, Dean of Student Affairs.

BERETS STALK BEANIE BOOBS

"No need for panic," announced Joe Lendini, CSNS Coordinator of Special Events. The green berets that you have observed floating around campus do not mean that the war has escalated, and reached the western United States."

The Green Berets, Lendini explained, is an especially formulated group of upper classmen whose job it is to enforce the wearing of beanies, and whose set goal is "to strike fear into the hearts of all disloyal members of the Frosh class."

At first, the upperclassmen strategy was to incarcerate all unfaithful freshmen in an iron fortress that provided maximum security. Their precise planning and the ingenuity with which they carried out this task was amazing, until the jail disappeared!

It is believed that more than one cunning thief was involved in the crime. At press time, the whereabouts of the jail and identity of the culprits who absconded with it were not known. However, a motive has been established, the motive; to stifle the Green Berets!

For days the Green Berets were not visible. All that could be heard from the dormitory headquarters was the pounding of hammers. Then, suddenly, on Thursday, Oct. 5, at 8:00 a.m., the Green Berets unleashed its most humiliating punishment to be meted out to all non-conformists, THE STOCKS!

Today, beanieless Freshmen can be observed squirming in the dreadful stocks!

A word to the wise from the Green Berets: "Take stock in the stocks, buy a beanie, wear it every day until 5:00 p.m. and to all CSNS sponsored events, and above all, be HAPPY!"

SENATE SEEKS IDEAS

Steve Cochran, senator from the junior class, has announced that a suggestion box will be installed on the first floor of the dormitory between the CSNS offices. Students may submit any suggestions or complaints dealing with NSU. They will be reviewed by the senators.

'63 NSU Hoopster Stars for Nationals

Another success story from the back files of NSU sports history...

Chet "the jet" Hildebrandt is currently in Las Vegas for a three week rest before returning to the "Big City" and pre-season workouts with the New York Nationals.

Chet was an outstanding guard for the Rebel hoop crews of '62-'63, the years that stars like Silas Stepp, Gary Tapper, Jerry Dick, and Bob Moon powered the "red and grey" to national recognition.

Hildebrandt has toured with the New York Nationals for the past year. The Nationals have the unique and difficult task of playing as opponents to the original world famous Harlem Globetrotters. Playing opposite the Globetrotters, sometimes referred to as the "good-will ambassadors of sports," offered Chet the opportunity to travel. Chet's ventures have taken him all over the United States, Canada, South America, and even as far as Europe.

Chet reports that he is looking forward to his upcoming cage adventures with the Nationals that promise to take him to Australia, New Zealand, and Hawaii.

Van Tuyl To Coach Cross Country Team

This year's cross country team will be coached by Mr. Jan Van Tuyl. The team consists of junior Westley McGirr, freshman Craig Knutson, senior Gary Halko, freshman Danny Gutierrez, freshman Fred Ashmead, and freshman Mike O'Dea.

Coach Van Tuyl said he is very pleased with the team and particularly with freshman Mike O'Dea. He feels that Mike could possibly reach the N.C.C.A. finals in the very near future. O'Dea is the son of cross country coach at Rancho High School.

This year all meets will be held at NSU. Each meet will be on Saturday at 10:00 a.m. Coach Van Tuyl has announced a tentative schedule.

Starting Oct. 14, NSU meets the University of California at Riverside. The following Saturday NSU will be involved in a four-school cross country dual meet between Azusa, Chapman, and Northern Arizona University.

Clark's Corner

By DOMINIC CLARK

One independent win, one Fraternity victory and a scoreless tie, highlighted the first day of the 1967 Intramural flag-football season. In last Sunday's action, Phil's Chevron blanked the Intercollegiate Knights (IK's) 19-0; Chi Sigma Chi tromped over Alpha Tau Omega (ATO) 27-0; and the Gaels and Kappa Sigma fought to a scoreless tie.

Dick Pruitt, Phil's Chevron's ace quarterback, ran and passed his team to their 19-0 white-washing of the IK's. Early in the game, he hit his right end with a pass good for 40 yards and a touchdown. He then successfully ran the point after (PAT) to make it 7-0, Chevron.

Both teams traded the ball several times until late in the first half when once again Pruitt took to the air lanes. This time he connected with his left end good for 15 yards and six more points. The PAT failed and Chevron led at the half, 13-0.

The final tally in the game came midway in the second half when Pruitt burst up the middle for 30 yards, making the final score 19-0, Chevron.

One spectator was overheard commenting on the Chi Sigma Chi, ATO game. He said "The Chi Sigs just ran over, under and through ATO and over Mother Earth like it just wasn't there."

On the first offensive play for Chi Sigma Chi, half-back Russ Sanserino galloped 60 yards to paydirt. The PAT failed and Chi Sigma led 6-0.

Then Quarterback Tim Toth went to work. He completed his first of two touchdown tosses to end Chuck Campione. It was for 10 yards and Sanserino scored the PAT.

His second TD hurl was a 70 yard pass-run play to Rich Livermore. On a tackle-eligible, Gerry Genovese grabbed Toth's aerial for the PAT.

Toth finished the 27-0 skunking of ATO himself, muscling his way five yards for a TD and passing to Sanserino for the PAT.

This Sunday the Gaels meet ATO at 1:00 p.m., Kappa Sigma plays Phil's Chevron at 2:15, and the Intercollegiate Knights encounter Chi Sigma Chi at 3:30.
