

CSNS Elections Officially Underway

By RITA HADDAD

CSNS Student Body President will be chosen at the primary election this year for the first time. Since only two candidates are running, whichever receives 51 per cent of the first casting of ballots this Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26, will be declared the winner.

Elections are now under way for all CSNS governmental offices. Those whose candidacy includes more than one or two people will be voted on again in a run-off election on Thursday and Friday of next week, May 2 and 3.

Candidates for CSNS positions are:

President: Terry Lindberg and Bill Terry; First Vice-President: John Daleske, Thomas Donnelly, Michael Curley, and John Kammerer; Second Vice-President: Randy Frew; Secretary: Marie Christenson, and Susan Hind; Treasurer: Bruce Boles, Johnny Clark, and John Cook; Senior Senator: Bob Cummins, Michael Mullaley, and Larry Zervas; Junior Senator: Pam Phillips, Mike Stuart, and Mike

West; Sophomore Senator: Robert Anderson, Rita Haddad, Dan Roman, Dan Pitts, and Julie Ann Holland; Pep Commissioner: Val Stewart; AWS President: Jo Ann Janes; AWS Vice-President: Pennie Bailey, and Joni Hurst; Secretary: Judy Fleishman and Linda Havens; AWS Treasurer: Sharon Dillman.

The REBEL YELL recommends that before casting a ballot for the presidential candidates, students read the following platforms submitted by Bill Terry and Terry Lindberg, respectively.

PLATFORM: TERRY LINDBERG

We are no longer in high school. It is time for university students to start being treated as responsible adults. We do not need to be told what to do. Given the chance, I feel that university students are perfectly capable of facing, living with, and ultimately solving their own problems without being subjected to the parental control of university administrators.

At present there remain a few of the so-called "student-faculty" committees on which the student members do not have the right to vote. The reluctance of the faculty and administrative heads to give the students a representative voice on these committees must be overcome, and the student members of these committees must be given a vote if their position is to have any meaning.

NSU is "behind the times" in researching the desirability for a feasibility study for the establishment of a pass-fail system for units of study outside of major areas of study. I propose to push for a student-faculty feasibility study of a program of this nature. If accepted, the program would allow a student to register for units outside of his major and receive a grade of either "P" or "F". This way a student may concentrate on his major and not have to worry about low marks in unrelated subjects which would detract from his overall grade point average.

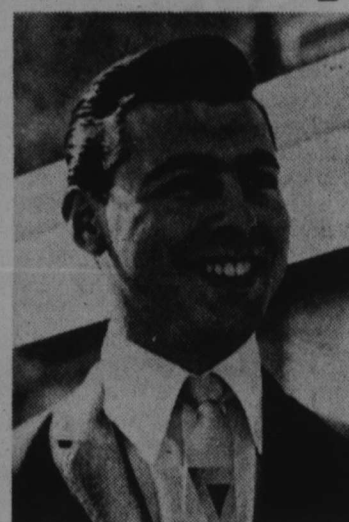

Although much progress has been made in the push for NSU autonomy, there are still many obstacles to overcome. I propose to keep the autonomy push alive by (1) taking a leadership position in attending and speaking at the University of Nevada Board of Regents meetings, and (2) offering whatever support I can to autonomy-oriented groups such as STRUD, and the Executive Committee for Autonomy.

Under the present structure, eight students, two from each class, are being asked to represent the views of 3,000. This is neither realistic nor representative. I propose a major restructuring of the Senate, based on representation from each school.

At present there is no orderly and procedural method of appeals to which a student may take a case if he feels that he has been assessed an unfair grade in the classroom. I propose to push for the creation of a student-faculty Academic Board of Appeals, hopefully provided for within the Student Bill of Rights, which will insure fair and just procedure for all students.

There are certain inherent rights of citizens which should not be forfeited when the citizen enters college. There have been instances where due process of law has been ignored in the dormitory; and there have been instances where unfair and academic disciplinary action has been taken by the administration. I believe that a document, insuring the inherent rights of the citizen as a student, is necessary on this campus.

In conclusion, let me assure you, I will not be satisfied with the status quo.

PLATFORM: BILL TERRY

The paramount and pervading issue of my platform is to insure representation of ALL students. Upon being elected president, I shall call a constitutional convention, which will result in the complete revision of the present constitution, so that it adequately serves all students. Included will be a total reorganization of the Senate according to proportional school enrollment: for each 300 students, one senator shall be chosen. In addition, IFC and ISC will each be allowed one senator. The dormitory will be allowed representation according to the number of students living there.

A new committee, known as the Interclub Council, shall be established in which all clubs shall be members, as well as having representation in the Senate. The purpose of these measures is to promote communication on campus.

An important measure to be included in the platform is the Student Bill of Rights. It will allow students an opportunity to protect their rights as individuals and provide a means of appeal for correction of injustices, such as an unfair grade.

I shall also establish a freshman workshop and retreat, the function of which will be the introduction of the freshmen to a detailed study of what they can expect at Nevada Southern University. Faculty and student leaders will be given a chance to speak to the freshman class. At the retreat, they will learn what student government is, how it works, and basically what they can expect in college.

I also intend to establish a President's Council, so that all students will be able through their appointed representatives, to help formulate policies of presidential initiative.

I firmly stand on these policies and, if elected, shall work throughout the summer to make sure they are acceptable to the students. I intend to make sure that all students may have a direct voice in what occurs on the campus. With all of these policies I believe that, for a change, ALL students will truly be represented, and, as a result, will take an active interest in college life.

With a sincere vow, I pledge to be an honest representative of the students.

Greek Week Inaugurated

Greek Week activities including a nice skating party, Olympic activities, formal dance and a toga party started yesterday.

Wednesday, April 24. Ice Skating Party at the Ice Palace. One dollar includes skates. All NSU and prospective NSU students are invited.

Thursday, April 25. Torch carrying relay, skits, crowning of Greek God and Goddess.

Friday, April 26. Chariot races and events. Coat and Tie Dance, downstairs Elks Lodge.

Saturday, April 27. Afternoon. Lee's Canyon party and Olympics. Free drinks. Evening, Toga Party, Elks Lodge.

The Greek Week activities are open to Greeks and their dates only. Greeks should wear sweatshirts and/or pins at the activities during the day.

New Editor and Assistant Appointed

Freshman Jeni Pryor, former assistant editor of the REBEL YELL, became the new R-Y editor upon the resignation of Miss Vickie Jolley, Tuesday, April 2.

Miss Pryor's appointment by C.S.N.S. President Mike Clark was contingent upon the appointment of staff member Rita Haddad as the new assistant editor. The appointment came on April 16 by unanimous vote in a joint session of the C.S.N.S. Senate and Executive Committee.

In addition to being the former assistant editor of the REBEL

YELL, Miss Pryor is the reporter-historian of Alpha Delta Pi; and in high school served as a reporter, circulation editor, and sports editor of the school papers. She is a freshman majoring in political science.

Her editorial policy has been stated as, "... if a person is not ashamed to be given credit for the article, I will publish it." Miss Haddad is also a freshman, and is majoring in medicine.

Miss Jolley's resignation came after C.S.N.S. Senate President Chuck Crawford invited her to attend a Senate meeting at which her recall from office had been included on the agenda. Crawford stated that it is his policy to include any matter on the Senate Agendas and that "three or four senators had requested that the matter be discussed before the Senate, it was my obligation to include the matter and inform Miss Jolley that the matter was to be discussed."

Miss Jolley had previously been the object of recall discussion before the Senate this semester for "mismanagement of funds."

Labor Problems Viewed

The first annual Labor Relations Seminar, involving participants from four states, was held at the Aladdin Hotel, on April 19 and 20. NSU sponsored the Seminar under the auspices of Title I of the Higher Education Act.

Chairman of the Political Science Department at NSU, Dr. Albert C. Johns, spearheaded the organization of this Las Vegas first. He served as chairman of the Seminar at each of the sessions on both days, and deserves much credit for such a successful event.

Thomas Donahue, Assistant Secretary of Labor and Administrator of the Department's Labor-Management Services Division, gave the keynote address on "Current Issues in Labor Relations," which opened the program.

Harvey Dickerson, Attorney General of Nevada, was the featured luncheon speaker. He expounded on Nevada Labor Laws and the "Right to Work" Law. Following this luncheon address, a panel of experts presented different points of view in response to Dickerson's address.

Labor lawyer, Ira Scheier, of Tucson, Arizona, whose clients include the Musicians' Union, compared the Arizona "Right to Work" Law with that of Nevada. Jack Butler, Las Vegas attorney, discussed how "An Attorney for Management Views Nevada Labor Laws."

Kenneth Larson, executive secretary of the Federated Firefighters Association of California, spoke on "The Right of Public Employees to Strike." This concluded the opening day's events, and also served as a springboard for the Saturday morning session.

The Saturday, April 20, session advanced the discussion of "Public Employees and Their Employment Rights" with a panel which considered "Collective Bargaining vs. Civil Service for Public Employees."

Panelists included in addition to Larson, Renny Ashleman, Las Vegas attorney who represents Local Union 1285 of the International Association of Firefighters, and Kenneth Hedberg of San Francisco, Regional Director for the U.S. Department of Labor.

A panel synthesized the arguments of the aforementioned speakers. It included Kevin Efrogmson, Chief Legal Council for Reynolds Electric; Roland Davis of San Francisco, attorney for the Las Vegas Culinary Workers Local 226 and other labor unions on the West Coast; Bill Campbell, Director of Labor Relations, Nevada Resort Association. Judge John F. Mendoza of Las Vegas District Court Eight served as moderator.

Dr. Albert Johns closed the Seminar with "The Need to Look Ahead" and concluded by thanking the many persons who traveled from various states to attend and participate.

Matrix Now Out

The CSNS literary magazine MATRIX is currently available in office 119 of Tonopah Hall. The illustrated spring edition of MATRIX can be obtained for no charge at CSNS (for CSNS members) and costs but $1.00 for all others.

Vista Earn and Learn Offered this Summer

Vista's local "earn and learn" program is now offering summer jobs with a future.

The program will last ten weeks: June 3-Aug. 9. Employees will be paid full-time wages all summer, plus a bonus of about $125.00 and free medical insurance.

Many valuable experiences in organizing and supervising enjoyable activities for children and adults.

Most VISTA associates will lead games, sports and other activities at playgrounds near their homes.

The leadership training received during the summer will prove valuable in organizing your community to solve problems.

Anyone may apply as long as he is 18 years old. For more information, call Sharon Jones, 642-0707. Or else visit the office at this address: Economic Opportunity Board of Clark County, 932 West Owens Avenue (in West Owens Shopping Center, near "H" Street).

Scholarship Available

The Southern Nevada Chapter of the Woman's Auxiliary to the America Institute of Mining Engineers has made available a Gift Scholarship worth $500.00 to a Nevada Southern student for the academic year 1968-69.

This scholarship will be used to aid any student in pursuit of a degree in engineering, mining, metallurgy, geology or industrial chemistry. To be eligible, a student must be enrolled for at least 15 hours, be a resident of the state of Nevada and hold at least a 2.5 GPA. Application deadline is April 29.

R-Y Endorses

It is time to vote. It is time for change. It is time for students to voice their opinions.

These opportunities are now present for all conscientious students. Today and tomorrow are the elections for all student body officers. All students who want to change the student government should vote for the candidate they believe will do the job closest to their wishes.

All students who have been sitting back criticizing the government and their actions this year should get out today or tomorrow and vote.

This editor has considered seriously and decided on the candidates who I believe will do the best jobs for the students. My decisions appear to the right of this article.

I made my decisions on the basis of experience, platforms, dedication to the school and the desire to better it, dependability, speaking their minds and not sitting back watching problems pass them by. All these offices are demanding offices. They require continuous work, and when you choose your candidates, remember the work involved, and choose a person who will dedicate himself to this work. The progress of NSU depends on the candidates who are chosen at this time.

The most important decision I made was the candidate for CSNS president. I studied the candidates closely and decided that Terry Lindberg is the man who will do the most for the students. His platform is strong and his proposals are what this school needs. His past experience shows that he has always tried to do the best for this school and will continue to do his best in the office of CSNS president.

Regents vs. Academic Freedom: Loser - NSU

Things may be looking up for Nevada Southern University. What does this mean? Well, not that the budget will be two or four or maybe not even one million dollars larger next year when the legislature meets. But the thing that occurred may be of even greater significance. The Regents were up to their old tricks again at the last meeting, which was held Friday and Saturday, April 12 and 13. It seems that they have not been very happy with some of the statements which have been coming from certain members of this faculty . . . and particularly Mr. Ronald C. Jack. Therefore, with the best intentions (for their behalf) and with the greatest sincerity of purpose (again for the same reason), the members of that Board voted to table the contract of Mr. Jack for next year.

This would have been fine if there had been any real basis for such a decision; however, since the fact is that the only reason this was done was because Mr. Jack was exercising his right of academic freedom, this action of the Board of Regents of the University of Reno . . . (oops) Nevada clearly shows that, if they so desire, they shall continue to step on anyone who they feel threatens the present power structure of the Nevada University system.

So, anyway, three cheers for Fred Anderson for trying to pull off such a smooth move, but sorry, Freddy, it just isn't going to work this time. You see someone from the "radical" campus, which means it won't accept nothing when its country cousin (Reno) is getting all the money, told the boys and girls on the Board that we just weren't going to be too happy about this thing which they had done, and if they could count they had better refigure the score for it looked as if they were going to lose. . . . Meanwhile, back at NSU . . . Mr. Ronald C. Jack has been given his contract but hasn't signed it yet . . . and the grapevine has it that there remain a number of faculty members who have also not signed as yet.

Just a word of advice . . . although it is evident that the Regents have not heard the term yet . . . Academic Freedom is very dear to the hearts of everyone connected with a university. Therefore, if I were you, and God knows I would like to be, I would re-evaluate my positions on a number of things, i.e., ROTC, funds for NSU and the thousand other things you have ignored for this campus. Reno may be 500 miles from Las Vegas . . . but the polls are only a few blocks and they are going up in the fall.

Letter to the Editor

Your editorial concerning the Talent Show was rather typical of the narrow-minded unthinking viewpoint which has dominated R-Y articles this year.

It is true that the audience left much to be desired in both good manners and good taste. It is also true that certain parts of the program were very "no talent" in every respect. However, branding the entire affair as a "no-talent farce" was completely uncalled for.

As for the emcee, just what does the editorial staff know of ~~being~~ sexual reactions? Do you have any idea what it is like to stand in front of several hundred people with a partially prepared program and to have the "star" give you the agenda as the evening progresses? We're

Degrading Criticism of Talent Show Termed Offensive Garbage

By RITA HADDAD

Will the real anonymous theatrical critic of NSU please stand up? Your casual retrospective comments recently regarding the Talent Show were deplorable, blatantly vulgar, and, generally, in keeping with the staff perspicuity exhibited this year in our calendar sheet known as the REBEL YELL.

The first five paragraphs of the editorial are justifiable. The Talent Show was not the best NSU has seen and audience "participation" well-deserved the chiding it received.

However, the criticize the audience, and to criticize the performers are two distinctly different things. It requires a good deal of intestinal fortitude for students, not professional and not conditioned for performing, to be a part of any sort of exhibition. All participants are to be thanked, for responding to ads for the show, which were made public nearly a month in advance.

The job of emcee was open to anyone who would take the time, yet we saw no one desperately seeking the responsibility. To say that John Vallance presented the image of a "cow in heat", as the story did, is lewd defamation of character, and the author expediently avoided a punch in the nose by not signing his name to that abomination. It isn't even a good analogy, lacking any trace of satirical finesse.

It can well be imagined that Pam Phillips would have been offended if the young men in the audience did not shout, "Take it off", a vocal expression of enjoyment. However, they did so compliment her. Miss Phillips' dance was impromptu, which makes it quite noteworthy, but also negates the factuality of the "hours of work" phrase printed in the critique.

Miss Val Stewart performed a most refreshing strip-tease under a strobe light to a song from the musical "Gypsy". There were 14 acts in the show and Val was number 12. She was strategically placed because people tend to grow tired of sitting and watching, toward the end of any show. Her act was one of the best-received and turned out to be just what the show needed to renew the responsiveness of the audience to acts that followed.

Last week's editorial said she "would do ANYTHING to get in a Talent Show." This comment was cruel, absolutely puritannical, and had no foundation, especially since she did the number as a favor to a friend.

(Incidentally, I operated the music for Val and played the wrong song. My public apologies. She was forced to improvise the whole number, a particularly laudable achievement.)

Granted, Randy Frew did not look like he stepped out of a Band Box. Perhaps if he had gone home the night before, instead of setting up scenery and preparing the gym, he would have looked more fashionable. Where was our critic when Randy needed a hand? His job was thankless enough without castigations regarding his personal cleanliness.

The fact is, Joe Lendini and Randy Frew were the only two people who did any work on the show at all. No one bothered to assist them for a better production. Isn't it clever how people can pass the buck, then do nothing but criticize the party it was passed to?

The conclusions drawn from this smashing review were totally inconsistent with its substance. It said that NSU students need baby-sitters, they should rejoice over meddling administration, and should be banned from the Spring Arts Festival. One could almost suppose the administration wrote the slanted article.

Isn't it comforting to know that there do exist people who will speak in favor of the students? Equally comforting is the fact that NSU is not without a true connoisseur of the theatrical arts.

Unfortunately, because there was no by-line on the story, we don't know who this fine person is. However, that she/he is allowed to publicly print (such) garbage in this former static cesspool of a newspaper is sufficiently revolting.

My name was probably connected with the editorial on the Talent Show. It is indeed a sorry situation when distinctions are not drawn valid debatable questions and plain-ridicule. If my name belonged to that piece of insipidity, it would have been publicly displayed at the top of the story.

Aggressive Administration Pushes NSU Over Cliff

By GREG WADDILOVE

History shows that societies follow a pattern. They are born, then they flourish. Later they become rigid and corrupt and then die.

Our university is dying. Sectionalism, community apathy, and a provincial Board of Regents have all contributed to its decline.

A temporary respite in the person of President Donald C. Moyer seemingly reversed the degeneration. Expectations rose at NSU but Moyer failed as a redeemer.

Buildings were built, money was raised, and P. R. men persuaded. On the campus students and faculty were deceived into believing that they had a voice in the destiny of the university.

A facade of progress and vitality was erected, NSU is an empty hollow fraud.

This situation exists because the administrative faction has usurped the role of students and faculty and become the dominant force in determining the character of NSU.

This is antithetical to the raison d'etre of a university.

Only students and faculty should determine the character of their school. They are like the soil and water to timber. Socrates had no administrators unless you consider his executioners.

A university administration is at best a contrived instrumentality. Yet somehow the administrator dominates wherever he functions.

Administrators are neither students nor teachers, yet the university becomes their domain. It is as though the purpose of a forest is the cultivation of moss.

A university administration is parasitic in nature, and like most parasites it becomes a burden and threat to its host.

At NSU the administration follows a policy of paternalism toward students and professors. First of all this is insulting and demeaning. Secondly, the only recourse open to paternalism, when challenged, is autocracy which is oppressive and vindictive.

In any dynamic, democratic society paternalism will be defined as a natural course of action. Being accustomed to democracy it becomes difficult to relate to autocracy.

The administration has been challenged by the dynamic and democratic segment of our university. Because it is rigid and authoritarian, the administration has reacted in a predictably irrational, brutal manner.

Democratic due process no longer applies at NSU. Summary dismissals disguised as "relief of duties per investigation" and non-renewal of contracts for similar unacceptable and doubtfully legal reasons have befallen the faculty.

A cabal between the university administration and the state Attorney General's office has decided to outlaw the American Federation of Teacher's (A.F. of T.) despite the fact that there does not seem to be a specific state statute forbidding such a union.

At NSU freedom of speech and the right of association is met with administrative reprisals and collective bargaining is not legal. This is oppressive despotism not democracy.

The administration applies the same paternal attitude toward students as it does toward the faculty. However it is wielded through the Office of Student Personnel Services. A perusal of the NSU General Catalog 1967-68, pages 6-12, reveals that the Office of Student Personnel Services is concerned mostly with student registration and control.

Many of its regulations, powers, and practices would fall vis-a-vis constitutional law and the federal courts.

For professors, the focal point of their grievances with the administration is the A.F. of T. With students it is yet to come. But when it does it will be over the control and politics of the Campus Student Center.

The dichotomy and dilemma which exists at NSU is a direct result of administrative transgressions and usurpations.

A reevaluation of NSU's power structure is both necessary and imminent. The primary function of a university, the learning process, should govern its policies and characteristics. The lesser function of administrating should play a corresponding lesser role.

To achieve these ends requires a union of students and faculty. Such an expression of unanimity will revitalize NSU. Do you value your university?

One Rebel Yells, Library Procedures Violate Rights

By CRAIG PYES

To: Library Committee
Re: Unlawful search and seizure of personal property.

Sirs:

It has come to the attention of the CSNS senate that the library policy of mandatory inspection of exiting students' briefcases is in violation of certain basic rights of the individual. It is felt that this procedure is injurious to the student body as a whole, because it is demoralizing, and that it is especially intimidating to the individual student, who under the present policy, is under suspicion every time he chooses to use his campus' library facilities. Furthermore, the presupposition of the student's guilt is an affront to his dignity, and this is contrary to the whole raison d'etre of a university.

Lastly, the present practice is discriminatory in that it intimates only students with briefcases are offenders, and that women with large purses or students with bulky clothes are not. I realize that a student carrying a briefcase is given the alternative of leaving it at the check-out desk if he wishes to avoid the inspection of its contents, but this deprives that student of ready access to his materials. Women are not required to leave their purses at the desk, nor are students wearing bulky clothing required to leave their vestments, though it's obviously more difficult to conceal a book on a naked body than on a clothed one. We are certainly dealing here with something more than efficacy!

It is felt that the use of the library is a Right as well as a Privilege. And though we look askance at some facets of the present policy, we are also deeply concerned by the depletion of the library's resources and wish to aid this committee in preventing theft. Practices of this sort cannot be approved. Practices that may violate Due Process, and therefore the student body must be counseled.

In making our resolution we've taken into consideration the fact that each student, upon payment of his fees, is given as a receipt his library card, entitling him to use of the common resources. We agree that proof of his membership must be shown. As a driver's license must be produced upon the request of a policeman, so must a library card at the request of the librarian; as the rules of the road must be obeyed, so must the rules of the library. Further similarities ensue: both institutions charge fines at the breach of their rules; both institutions have established procedures to guide them; and yet, both institutions must yield to greater bodies of interpretation. There is a basic difference, though, and this is that by being a student one need not relinquish certain rights in order to use the facilities: this is a Right guaranteed upon the acceptance of the registration fee, and not, as in the case of a driver's license, a Privilege. It is with this in mind that a resolution was passed by the CSNS senate on 6 March 1967, which I would like to restate here for your benefit:

1) CSNS recommends that the library committee immediately curtails the present policy of mandatory search and seizure of exiting person's personal property (briefcases, attache' cases, handbags, etc.).

2) CSNS recommends a lessening of library fines as a deterrent to would-be thefts.

3) CSNS recommends that at least one student from each school be included on the library committee, and that these students are accorded full rights and privileges as the rest of the members of that committee.

It is felt that these recommendations along with mutual cooperation will be an aid to the library staff as well as to the whole student body.

Thank you,
CRAIG R. PYES

Community Members Generous

Art Center Reality

These are the selfish ones: The Grand Founders, the Founders, of the Nevada Southern Fine Arts complex. But, with the use of the word selfish here we find an ultimate irony in the meaning of the term.

In last week's appreciation dinner address by Jerry Lewis in front of the Grand Founders and Founders (over sixty of them), he described them as selfish in their motives for donating to the University Performing Arts Center. But he revealed indirectly that this selfishness was one of greed for the feeling of achievement, and that, in fact, the "self" of each donor had expanded to where the community was a part of him.

None were motivated by glory, or material betterment; this is the essence of their humility. If there can be genuine achievement by citizens it is when personal efforts are instrumental in achieving ecocentric goals.

We, the students of Nevada Southern, find it difficult to express the appreciation we feel for the contribution of the community in our future. Though many of us will benefit directly from the buildings that community contributions have made possible, we all will benefit from the fine institution that is developing. Thank you for helping Nevada Southern. And thank you for helping Nevada Southern help Southern Nevada.

Choice 68 Held Here

Yesterday, NSU joined with 1400 colleges and universities across the nation in CHOICE 68, a nationwide college presidential primary sponsored and underwritten by Time Magazine.

With over five million students participating, this event is expected to have considerable impact on the presidential election in November.

The ballot offered 13 candidates: Fred Halstead (Socialist worker), Mark Hatfield, Lyndon Johnson, Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King, John V. Lindsay, Eugene McCarthy, Richard Nixon, Charles Percy, Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller, George Romney, Harold Stassen, and George Wallace.

Also included was a provision for a write-in candidate.

In addition to the presidential selection, the ballot proposed three referendum questions with five alternatives each: 1) What course of action should the U.S. pursue in Vietnam. 2) What course of action should the U.S. pursue in regards to the bombing of North Vietnam. 3) In confronting the "urban crisis," (what) . . . should receive highest priority in government spending.

The IBM ballots will be tabulated by the Sperry Rand Division of UNIVAC and the results sent to NSU a few days after the election.

Cinema X Sponsors Four Films Wed.

Daudeles sponsored Cinema X resumes its spring slate May 1 when it presents an evening with Ed Emshwiler, including four films.

Tote, the first film, is an Emshwiler interpretation of "the ballet" by Elwin Nikolaus. Critic Willard Van Dyke comments on "relativity," the second presentation. "The artist's search for the meaning of his own existence is never ending and takes many forms. Emshwiler's remarkable epic "Relativity" continues this exploration with extraordinary frankness and technical skill. The sequence which symbolically portrays a woman at the moment of sexual climax is one of the most beautiful in the literature of film."

Thanatopsis and Transformation close out the Cinema X presentation.

Several of the acts were good enough to be professional. I'm sure if you had bothered to check you would have discovered this. Your editorial was most unfair to those people with genuine talent, who worked very hard preparing for that evening.

Come out of your box and look around. I strongly suggest that you think a little and try to see things from more than one point of view before you open your mouth to belch your ignorance. As for the amateurish, no-talent work — have you read the REBEL YELL lately?

FELLOW STUDENTS

Having served in student government for four years now, I have realized that experience IS closely linked to effective student leadership. This is true, if for no other reason, because the effective fulfillment of related responsibilities is a good indicator of interest, and capability. I, therefore, heartily endorse those who have taken the responsibility of gaining first-hand familiarity with positions they seek. I endorse, personally, Terry Lindberg, John Daleske, Randy Frew and Marie Christenson for the above reasons.

Model United Nations Students Represent South Vietnam, Syria

Twenty-three Nevada Southern students are presently in Tucson, Arizona, for the XVIII Model United Nations conference of the Far West hosted by the University of Arizona. The students are Nevada Southern's delegations, representing Syria, Denmark, and South Vietnam.

The students attending are all enrolled in Political Science 233, Simulation in International Relations Theory which is designed especially for the preparation of delegates to represent a particular nation as a delegate to mock committees of the Model United Nations.

This is the fifth conference which Nevada Southern has participated in and Nevada Southern has become the first school in the history of the conference to represent three nations at one conference. It is the usual policy of the conference to assign only one nation per school. Two of Nevada Southern's assigned nations require delegates to the Model Security Council of the Model United Nations.

The student-instructed course is advised in its preparation and in conference performance by the actual instructor, Yung Wei. The co-chairmen of the delegations are Chuck Crawford, a senior political science major who has chaired Nevada Southern's delegation for three years, and Bruce Heskett, also a senior political science major who is delegation chairman for the nation of Syria. He is a one-conference veteran.

Checkmates Highlight Cancer Benefit Concert

The fabulous Checkmates, Ltd., Trini Lopez, The Ink Spots, Gisele McKenzie, and others will headline a benefit concert to be held in the gym on Friday, April 26. The program is sponsored by Chi Sigma Chi in conjunction with several other groups on campus.

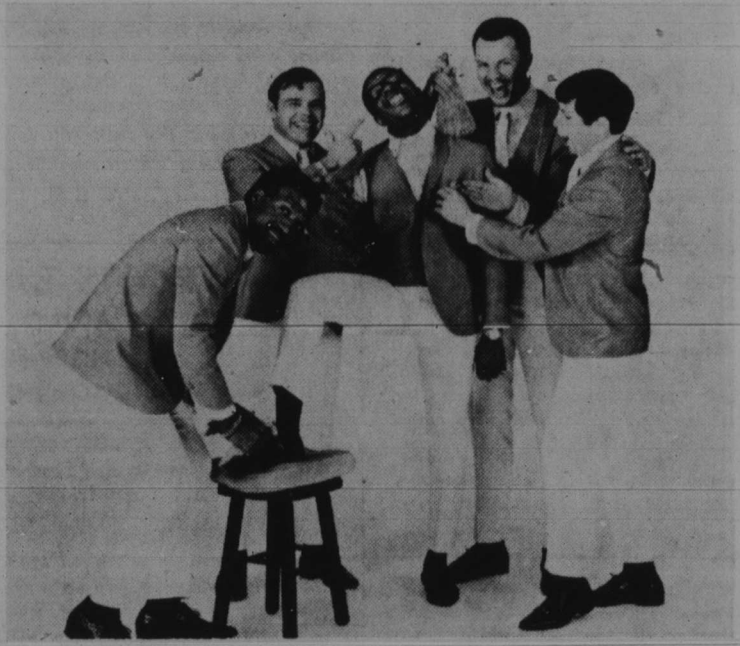

The benefit is to support the Cancer Crusade and price of admission is the price of two raffle tickets, or $2. These tickets may be purchased in front of the library through Friday morning and the concert will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday afternoon.

First prize winner of the raffle drawing, to be held on May 6, 1968, will receive a round trip for two to Hawaii, with seven days accommodations at the Reef Tower Hotel. Second prize is a round trip for two to Mexico City with five days accommodation at the famous Maria Isabel.

Third and fourth prizes include three days accommodations for two at the Mountain Shadows Hotel in Scottsdale, Arizona, and three days for two at the Sahara-Tahoe-State-line. Winner need not be present.

The entertainers are taking time out of rigorous performance schedules to give this benefit, which truly should be a worthwhile afternoon. NSU students are encouraged to make every effort to attend.

The fabulous Checkmates, Ltd., (shown above) highlight the benefit concert high here at NSU in the gym tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Tickets are $2.00.

WAS KEATS THE BOB DYLAN OF HIS DAY?

Who was the greatest of the English Romantic Poets—Byron, Shelley or Keats? This question has given rise to many lively campus discussions and not a few stabbings. Let us today try to find an answer.

First, Keats (or The Louisville Slugger, as he is commonly called.) Keats' talent bloomed early. While still a schoolboy at St. Swithin's he wrote his epic lines:

*If I am good I get an apple,
So I don't whistle in the chapel.*

From this distinguished beginning he went on to write another 40 million poems, an achievement all the more remarkable when you consider that he was only five feet tall! I mention this fact only to show that physical problems never keep the true artist from creating. Byron, for example, was lame. Shelley suffered from prickly heat all winter long. Nonetheless, these three titans of literature never stopped writing poetry for one day.

Nor did they neglect their personal lives. Byron, a devil with the ladies, was expelled from Oxford for dipping Nell Gwynne's pigtailed in an inkwell. (This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day.) He left England to fight in the Greek war of independence. He fought bravely and well, but women were never far from his mind, as evidenced by these immortal lines:

*How splendid it is to fight for the Greek,
But I don't enjoy it half as much as dancing cheek to cheek.*

While Byron fought in Greece, Shelley stayed in England, where he became razor sharpener to the Duke of Gloucester. Shelley was happy in his work, as we know from his classic poem, Hail to thee, blithe strop, but no matter how he tried he was never able to get a proper edge on the Duke's razor, and he was soon banished to Coventry. (This later became known as The Industrial Revolution.)

One wonders how Shelley's life—and the course of English poetry—would have differed if Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades had been invented 200 years earlier. For Personna is a blade that needs no stropping, honing or whetting. It's sharp when you get it, and sharp it stays through shave after luxury shave. Here truly is a blade fit for a Duke or a freshman. Moreover, this Personna, this jewel of the blade-maker's art, this boon to the cheek and bounty to the dewlap, comes to you both in double-edge style and Injector style. Get some now during "Be Kind to Your Kisser Week."

But I digress. Byron, I say, was in Greece and Shelley in England. Meanwhile Keats went to Rome to try to grow. Who does not remember his wistful lyric:

*Although I am only five feet high,
Some day I will look in an elephant's eye.*

But Keats did not grow. His friends, Shelley and Byron, touched to the heart, rushed to Rome to stretch him. This too failed. Then Byron, ever the ladies man, took up with Lucrezia Borgia, Catherine of Aragon, and Annie Oakley. Shelley, a more domestic type, stayed home with his wife Mary and wrote his famous poem:

*I love to stay home with the missus and write,
And hug her and kiss her and give her a bite.*

Mary Shelley finally got so tired of being bitten that she went into another room and wrote Frankenstein. Upon reading the manuscript, Shelley and Byron got so scared they immediately booked passage home to England. Keats tried to go too, but he was so small that the clerk at the steamship office couldn't see him over the top of the counter. So Keats remained in Rome and died of shortness.

Byron and Shelley cried a lot and then together composed this immortal epitaph:

*Good old Keats, he might have been short,
But he was a great American and a heck of a good sport.*

Truth, not poetry, is the concern of Personna, and we tell you truly that you'll not find a better shaving combination than Personna and Burma-Shave, regular or menthol.

Cagers Honored At Annual Affair

Nevada Southren's Athletic Department will host the annual "Honor The Basketball Team Night", on Sunday, April 28, at the Flamingo Hotel. One of the many highlights of the evening will be an after-dinner address by Pete Newall, the Athletic Director at the University of California, Berkeley.

The affair, this year, will pay tribute not only to one of the most outstanding teams in NSU basketball annals, but also one of the Top-Ten College teams in the nation. The team that in one season defeated two previously unbeaten Major Colleges, won the NCAA Pacific Coast Regionals, advanced to the National Finals in Evansville, had an All-America player, lost by a mere 9 to HOUSTON, reached the No. 6 spot in UPI's ratings, scored an amazing 94.4 points-per-game, had a starting five that all averaged in double-figures, was 7-4 against Major college opponents, posted a 22-7 season record, and much more.

Head coach Roland Todd announced that the occasion will be marked by the presenting of the five traditional awards — 1) Most Valuable Player, 2) Most Outstanding Player, 3) Best Free-Throw percentage, 4) Leading Rebounder, and 5) Most Inspirational Player.

Tip-off for the banquet is 7:00 p.m., in the Lake Mead and Sage room at the Flamingo. Reservations are being taken by telephoning 736-6111, ext. 295. Donation is $6.00 a person.

Horsehidiers Post 18-9 Record

RICH GONZALES

Over the last three weeks the Rebel baseball team won eleven straight ballgames for a school record and moved their overall record to an impressive 18-9. The eleven game streak was brought to an end against highly rated Chapman College after the Rebels had defeated Chapman in the first game of their scheduled double-header. Also during this same period of time the Rebels won their second tournament as they swept the NSU Tournament with four straight victories against tough competition.

During the weekend of March 29 the Rebels won their first two conference games by scores of 4-3 and 3-2 against the University of San Diego. The Rebels then went on to defeat the College of Colorado Mines the following Wednesday by the score of 8-5.

NSU then played the University of California, Riverside, and won two more conference games by scores of 5-0 and 4-3. In the first game Ralph Garcia picked up the win and pitched a one-hitter for his second conference win. Russ Farrell also won his second conference game which was climaxed by four runs in the last two innings to overhaul a three-run deficit. These wins made the Rebels 4-0 in conference and tied with Chapman for the lead.

Easter Vacation was an exciting one for the Rebel baseball team as they won the NSU Tournament with wins over San Francisco State University 3-1, Claremont College 1-0 and 9-7, and the University of Montana 10-2. John Lundquist, Ralph Garcia, Bob Fichera, and Jeff Dick all received wins for the Rebel pitching staff in the tournament.

The weekend of April 13 was probably the Rebels most important to date as they traveled to Orange, California to play Chapman College. Chapman had been in the Ratings all year and was currently tied for first in conference with NSU. The Rebels won the first game by the score of 3-2 as Ralph Garcia turned in an excellent pitching performance for the Rebels. He struck out nine and allowed only one earned run for his third conference win of the season. The second game was a different story as the Rebels were defeated 9-2 by Chapman to remain in a tie for first place.

On Thursday of last week the Rebels played another highly rated team in the University of Northern Arizona and won both halves of the twinbill by scores of 6-0 and 3-1. Bob Fichera went all the way in the first game and Jeff Dick went the distance in the second.

Bob Fichera is currently leading the pitching staff with a 1.46

earned run average and is closely followed by John Lundquist who has a 1.55. Jeff Dick is currently 3-0 and has been improving with each game. NSU's two work horses of the pitching staff are Ralph Garcia, who is 5-3, and Russ Farrell, 4-3.

Last weekend the Rebels were defeated twice in conference games by the University of San Diego. The losses made NSU 5-3 in conference and 18-9 overall. The score of the first game was 8-3 and the second game went eleven innings before the Rebels were defeated 7-3.

Rebels Win 10 Straight; Now 14-2

The Rebel golfers will attempt to improve on their already phenomenal record as they challenge Cal Poly, Pomona, on Friday and Saturday, here in Las Vegas.

Mentored by Chub Drakulich, the linksters posted a 14-2 record after winning their first ten matches without a loss. Their season to date includes double victories over La Verne, Glendale, and the University of California (Riverside), with their only blemishes coming from UC (Riverside), and Northern Arizona University.

The Rebels are constantly led by Don Baranco, Don Speer, and Steve Turner. Turner has the low score for the year, 69, shot over the Dunes course.

The Pomona - NSU match will be played at the Paradise CC starting at 12:30. Saturday's tee-off time is 7:00 a.m. at Winterwood CC.

Gridders Start Drills

58 energetic Rebels hit the gridiron on April 17 for NSU's first annual Spring Football Practice, Head Coach William Ireland recently announced.

To help kick-off the event were many local and state officials, including Governor Paul Laxalt and President Donald Moyer, who congratulated the coaches and boys and wished them all the best of luck and health.

Ireland also announced a tentative nine-game schedule, including seven home games to be played at Cashman Field.

The spring practice will culminate on May 10, with an intra-squad game. Practice sessions are being held at Valley High School in the afternoon.

An Open Letter to the Students of Nevada Southern University:

Fellow Students,

You know where I stand. This is my often repeated campaign phrase which I now ask you to consider more closely. It is important to you, as members of this confederation, to realize the caliber, capabilities, and ideas of your student officers; for they speak for you to the outside world and they are able to influence greatly what you get out of your university.

My opponent, as you may have observed, has a somewhat similar platform to mine. However, what I feel to be the basic difference is the MEANS of achieving these many goals. He claims that his "sincerity and determination" can accomplish what he proposes. I ask, "How do we know?" I maintain that the only ones who preach that experience isn't necessary are those who have by-passed the responsibility of experience. A person can be successful without experience, this is true. But you, the students, have a right to know what you are getting. You have a right to a proven leader.

I do not propose to continue with past policies of present student "leaders". My experience in student government has shown to me that present policies are out-dated. What is most important is that I have PROVEN that I can do more than PROMISE results. It takes more than promised sincerity; it takes more than promised diligence. It takes seasoned know-how.

My opponent readily admits that he lacks this contact with experience. This is why his proposals are un-original. They are, in most cases, second-hand from people who know the problems of this confederation first-hand.

I am running for this office because I know these problems first-hand. I am running to CONTINUE working for these goals. He is running to START working for them. I have attended almost every Student Senate meeting for the past two years. I have attended almost every Executive Committee meeting for the past two years... I have been a Co-Chairman of the Student Bill of Rights Committee since December. I have had constant contact with the University of Nevada Board of Regents during this period. I have been working with the Student Union since its inception. In all of these instances my opponent's contact has been direct ONLY SINCE HE ENTERED THIS CAMPAIGN. He preaches sincerity, but in fact practices opportunism. I ask again; "How do we know?"

I ask you not to be persuaded by campaign sincerity, not by underdog sympathy, not by eloquence... Vote for proven leadership.

Idealism alone can stagnate noble ideals. You must be sure of what you are getting. Fellow students, you know where I stand!

Sincerely,
Terry Lindberg
