

Check-
mates
p. 3

The
Nevada Southern University
REBEL YELL

Sports
See
Page 6

THE REBEL YELL

NEVADA SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

JULY 23, 1968

Cheerleaders Win at Camp

NSU Early Admissions Soar

As of July 15, 850 new students were admitted to NSU for the Fall, 1968 Semester. Dallas W. Norton, director of admissions, reports that this is a 58 per cent increase over the 538 new students admitted by that date for the Fall, 1967 Semester. In addition, 868 more applications are now being processed.

"We estimate that the total number of new students to be admitted this year will approach 1900," Norton said. "If this is achieved, our total enrollment will be approximately 4500." This is by far the largest number of new admits in the history of the university, and will result in the highest enrollment.

Of the 850 new admits 609 will enter the four-year Baccalaureate degree program and 211 will enter the two-year Associate degree program.

"This tremendous surge in admissions," Norton said, "is due to several factors. The dormitory and the football and hotel administration programs have attracted a large number of out-of-state students." Norton said that these programs were contributing to an increased awareness of NSU in the East.

"Before these programs were initiated, about 96 per cent of NSU admits have been local," Norton added. "That figure has been reduced to 82 per cent since the dorms opened." The Office of Admissions reports that, without the new programs, the increase would have been about 20 per cent. The two-year program alone has seen a 200 percent increase for this fall. Transfer students have increased by 100 per cent.

Bill Terry, CSNS president, was asked to comment on the increase. "Ninety per cent of our facilities were being utilized last year," he said. "If NSU expects to survive with such an increase in enrollment, it must obtain more funds, a larger faculty, and more buildings."

TRIUMPHANT RETURN -- NSU Cheerleaders display trophy won at Squaw Valley Cheerleader's Camp. Grand Champions are Connie Bach (left), Head Cheerleader Marsha Goodwin, Helene Fiore, Marilyn Hall, and Donna Moore.
-- Photo by Val Stewart

Adams Joins VISTA

Few long-term residents of Las Vegas and NSU students will fail to recognize the name of Bruce Adams.

A native of Las Vegas, Bruce has been active on the social and political scene locally and nationally since his first years at Las Vegas High School. His scholastic achievements have brought him acclaim both in high school and at NSU, where he was a sophomore last year.

At NSU, he served on the REBEL YELL staff, Model United Nations, and many other university-wide organizations. His record in political and intellectual activities has been outstanding.

Unfortunately for Nevada Southern, Bruce will be absent from our campus for a year. He is presently in Denver, Colo., undergoing training for VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America). He has turned the brilliance of his mind and the invaluable expertise of his services toward another frontier.

We wish him luck and hope for his early return.

Epilogue Out Sat.

The EPILOGUE, NSU's yearbook, will be distributed at the yearbook party on Saturday, July 27, editor Hal Whipple announced recently. The party will be held on the Social Science patio at 8:30 p.m. The book will be distributed free to any student presenting a 1967-68 CSNS activity card.

For those who are unable to attend the party, yearbooks will be available to the EPILOGUE office (TH 16) any time after July 29. Or they may be obtained by sending name and address to the EPILOGUE in care of Nevada Southern University.

Although students will have first choice of the books, no faculty member attending the party will be denied a copy. Thereafter, a date will be announced upon which faculty members may request yearbooks, which will be given them as long as the supply lasts.

Capture Championship

By Dominic Clark

"There is no comparison between this years' cheerleaders and the cheerleaders of past years." These words of Pep-Commissioner Val Stewart express the general feeling of the student body towards the group that just captured the Grand Championship at the annual Squaw Valley Cheerleaders Camp.

In their first trip to the camp, the girls garnered a 2nd and two 1st place ribbons in the three-day competition.

The girls, who practiced seven days a week before the June 29-July 4 affair, are Marsha Goodwin, Head Cheerleader; Connie Boich; Helen Fiore; Marilyn Hall; and Donna Moore.

Marsha is the former Mascot of Rancho HS where she graduated in 1966. She was a varsity cheerleader here at NSU last year, and, according to Miss Stewart, "Marsha lives and breathes cheer-leading".

A Valley hs alumnus, Connie is in her first year of cheerleading and is "doing excellent". She is a sophomore and a member of Delta Zeta sorority.

Helen graduated from Gorman HS in 1966 where she was a cheerleader. "The top of the pyramid", she is a Jr. majoring in Elementary Education.

Another Valley HS grad, Donna was a varsity cheerleader for two years before coming to Nevada Southern. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority.

Marilyn is a Clark HS graduate and was a jv Cheerleader here last year. She has been active in gymnastics.

There were over 300 cheerleaders at the camp, representing some 30 universities.

The cheerleaders are a vital part of the Pep Commission and the commission is planning a very active year. The commission will sponsor a bus to the Rebel football game at Azusa-Pacific, and if interest warrants it, will hire a bus for the game in San Francisco and make arrangements for motel accommodations. All prices will be nominal. A 'card section' is also being planned.

The Pep Commission also wishes it to be known that the Yell Leaders, performing at all sporting events, will, for a change, act as such this year. "Tryouts," Miss Stewart said, "for any who think they can meet the qualifications, will be held July 25 in the Gymnasium from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m." Two varsity gymnasts and a varsity basketball player have already applied for the positions.

The Rebelles, a precision dancing group, will be holding training sessions July 24, 25, 29 and 30. There are openings in the group for five girls. Tryouts will take place July 31. All training sessions are mandatory. All tryouts and training sessions will be held from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. in the Gym.

King Fund Started

To realize the dream of a late American civil rights leader, the Las Vegas community now has the opportunity to provide a first-class learning experience for Negro students at Nevada Southern University through the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Designed to promote higher education for young Negro scholars in Las Vegas while encouraging the intergration long-sought by the scholarship's namesake, the King Fund was conceived by Reverend Douglas Harrell of the First Methodist Church and Father Tally Jarrett of Christ Episcopal Church.

"All of our churches have programs to help minority groups and the underprivileged, but usually this results in segregation. We send Negroes to the South for education," Reverend Harrell said. "We want to be able to allow Negroes to be integrated while being educated."

Presently starting its funding appeal to the Las Vegas community, the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Scholarship Fund hopes to offer its first award next fall. Donations will be placed in a capital fund, the interest from which will provide the scholarship.

(SEE KING PAGE 2)

The Apathetic Generation

Since the first embryonic years of Nevada Southern's development, there has been constant argument (or bickering, to be exact) concerning its ills and the ways and means by which to cure them. I am sure that few who read this editorial have not participated in such a discussion at one time or another.

Let me ask one question: When you finished such a conversation, what did you do?

Not much, one would think. For the last eight years, though NSU has grown physically, it has not progressed greatly administratively and academically. It has remained in the hands of much the same people, welding the same brand of power under unchanging policies. Although we appreciate this growth, we think that is time for intellectual progress. Considering the calibre of these people, I would suggest that they have retained power because their policies went unchallenged, rather than because those policies were sound and workable.

And why have these policies gone unchallenged? Only you can answer that, for you, if anyone, must be the challengers. For whatever reason you have remained aloof (or deluded) in the past, I must remind you that there lies in this matter one consideration which must override all others in making the decision as to whether or not to act. That consideration is your life.

The calibre of the university you attend will influence your entire subsequent existence. Prospective employers will consider your educational background. Once employed, the quality of the decisions you make will depend largely upon your general education. Your success or failure in any given field will, in most cases, be determined by how well you have been educated in that field. Ultimately, the destiny of all the peoples of the earth will fall into your hands, for you are the new generation.

The things you do in the university will play a major role in all of these things. So what are you doing?

I do not presume to diagnose the ills of NSU, and I am not qualified to prescribe the program to cure them. But I do have some ideas, and if enough other people expressed the same ideas, I might begin to think they contained some semblance of validity.

John Hollobaugh has pointed out that the democratic process requires an open debate. But such a debate cannot take place if there are no debaters. Without new ideas which only you can furnish, the system must fall into stagnation and decay.

The expression of ideas does not require a revolution. Do not be afraid of being branded a radical because you speak what you feel is the truth. You are the new intellectuals, and the world is badly in need of your ideas. If any revolution is needed, it is a revolution of ideas. A grappling of minds in a battle for the life of man. It is your battle.

Why do you stand aside so comfortably and allow others, perhaps less capable than yourself, to slough through its ruins?

You ask; How? What can I do? I will tell you:

Talk. Talk to those who are in power, and make your purpose and your ideas known.

Write. I offer you the pages of this newspaper, as other editors have offered theirs. I charge you with the responsibility of making it a paper worthy of a place of learning.

Argue. Argue rationally and fearlessly for the truth. Hundreds of classrooms and other meeting places are provided for you. Use them.

But most of all, think. Evaluate everything you see around you. Ask not whether things are good or bad, but whether things could be better, and take steps to make them better. Think seriously, for the burden you must bear is heavier than that borne by any man before you.

Even in writing this, I feel as though I am speaking into a vacuum, where there is no air to carry my voice. And, were there air, I fear that voice would fall upon unhearing ears and enter empty minds. It is my task, as editor of this newspaper, to change that situation. It is your task to prove that the situation no longer exists.

Ironic as it may sound, the subject of student apathy has long been a major topic of discussion on this campus. The reader, however, might not be aware of this. If he is not, I suggest that it is he who has been under discussion.

Yellers Sponsor Kegger

The Yell Leaders will start off the new semester with a bang (or a bust) as they sponsor a kegger on Saturday, August 3.

It will be drink all you can for one thin dollar, if you get to The Gully very soon after 5 p.m. At least three kegs of pure ecstasy will be available.

TROY'S BARBER SHOP

1131 TROPICANA EAST SHOPPING CENTER

736-9991

(1 BLOCK SOUTH OF THE CAMPUS NEAR SAFEWAY)

King Fund The Checkmates Ltd. Started Are Coming Soon

(Continued from Page 1)

Tax-deductible donations of any size may be sent to the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Scholarship Fund, Bank of Nevada, P. O. Box 1720, Las Vegas, 89101.

"We want to have a fund large enough to allow a student to attend NSU and live on campus," Reverend Harrell explained. "We already have $420, and that's without any soliciting whatsoever. We're confident we'll reach our goal. With this fund, it could be possible for us to educate 25 Negroes in 100 years."

Chairman of the Scholarship Fund Committee is Mayor Oran Gragson of Las Vegas, while other members include Reverend Harrell; Father Jarrett; Dr. Ben Owen, Director of Counseling at NSU; Dr. Jerry Crawford, Chairman of the Speech and Drama Department at NSU; Rabbi Aaron S. Gold; Mr. Charles Siefert of the Bank of Nevada; Mrs. Ralph Orduo; Dr. James Coffman; James S. Ryan; and Father Patrick Toomey.

Soul explosion is what happens every night when the incomparable Checkmates Ltd. take to the stage of Nero's Nook, the lounge at Caesar's Palace. You will DIGI-T digit as the Checkmates light your fire with songs like "Woman," "If I were a Carpenter," "Sonny," and many others, as they sock-it-to-ya as only the Checkmates can.

The Rebel Yell Wednesday morning obtained a personal interview with the Checkmates. Following the groups first show, the interview was conducted in the casual atmosphere of their dressing room. Here are some excerpts from that interflow.

What other cities do you appear in?

Bobby Stevens: "We play most of the major city, class A clubs. Puerto Rico, Hawaii, International Market, Eden Rock in Miami, Sherman House in Chicago.

"We do college tours and concerts and we also travel with Herb Alpert, almost exclusively because of the fact that we're on A and M records, which is his label. So, we've played from Madison Square all the way back to the C. P., and that's what's been happenin' in the last four years."

We asked Sonny Chaires about the possibility of an instrumental number for the group.

"We've been thinking about adding an instrumental segment to our show, but it is still in the planning stages. When you're playing an instrument, you are more or less limited to show value -- to the visual effects you can get. But we're working on it."

Do you feel that you're somewhat limited by playing the bass?

"I think that's mainly the stereotype bass player, and I don't hold to too many stereotypes of any sort. I think that this is evident in the way I play.

Enter Sweet Louie!

"Hi, y'all. This is Louie! How are you? This is Sweet Louis the drummer, and it's a pleasure to be in this interview. And I hope to get to see you people soon, because you been really great to us since we got here.

"I understand that we're supposed to have an autograph session. If it's at all possible that we can make it, we will."

(The Checkmates will appear at the Yearbook Party Saturday).

When asked whether any one person does most of the arranging for the group, Sonny Charles said: "Everybody's given full freedom to express whatever ideas they have. If you have one, maybe two, guys, everything begins to sound like them. So we try to keep from having that. We like to have variety and give everybody a chance to do what they can do.

We asked the Checkmates if they would call their music jazz.

Bobby Stevens: "Jazz is more thecnical... We wouldn't call our music Jazz. Our music is more of a show rhythm and blues. Show fun and happy music.

Nuff said.

IN YOUR HANDS -- NSU swelters and grows visibly under the hot summer sun. (Photo by Allen White)

Cannon Sponsors Youth Act

WASHINGTON -- Calling for fuller mobilization of the idealism, energy and imagination of the nation's youth, Nevada Sen. Howard W. Cannon today joined in sponsoring the Youth Participation Act of 1968.

Cannon said the purpose of the bill is "to provide opportunities for American youth to serve in policymaking positions and to participate in federal and local programs of social and economic benefit to the country."

The bill would establish a youth-run national voluntary service program and create national and state youth forums "for the discussion and resolution of issues which concern young people," the Nevada senator said.

It would set up a U. S. Office of Youth Participation to administer a new grants - in - aid program for public and private organizations for involvement of youth in decision making at all levels. It would also sponsor an expanded youth volunteer program in a broad variety of public service fields.

Cannon said these young volunteers would become involved "in programs which concern youth generally, programs aimed at reducing poverty and physical blight, improving health, education and welfare and achieving equal justice under law for all citizens."

Cannon, who is also sponsoring legislation to lower the voting age to 18 as a means of bridging the "generation gap," said he believed the nation's youth would be challenged "to use these opportunities to work for constructive social and economic goals which benefit the entire country."

Workshop to Study Crime Psychology

Nevada Southern will offer a workshop on Criminal and Legal Psychology August 5 and 16. The workshop will study the legal, preventative, and rehabilitative aspects of crime and delinquency.

During the third session of summer school, the program will be taught by Dr. Robert Levinson, Chief of Psychological Services, U. S. Bureau of Prisons.

Ralph J. Roske, Dean of the College of Social Science said, that "The course will be of particular interest to lawyers, law enforcement officials, and other interested citizens who are concerned about legal, preventative, and rehabilitative aspects of crime and delinquency."

Registration for the third session of Summer School will be held Monday, August 5, from 8-11 a.m. at Frazier Hall.

A SOUL EXPLOSION AT CAESARS

The Fabulous
Check-
mates
Ltd.

See Them

At NSU

Saturday

PHOTOS BY DON DALTON

GUESTS AT YEARBOOK PARTY

Terry Asks Assistance

CSNS Has Busy Summer

(Following is a question-and-answer interview with CSNS President Bill Terry. The interview was conducted by R-Y editor James Christ on July 17.)

Q. What would you say your biggest problem has been since you assumed office?

A. My biggest problem to date is to persuade a significant number of students to become involved in CSNS projects. For instance, we are presently working on a Freshman Workshop, rewriting the CSNS Constitution, and organizing various committees. Secondly, we are trying to straighten out the office in order to proceed with next years plans. Organizing the budget for presentation to the Executive Committee takes an enormous amount of time. Very few people are interested in helping.

Q. What CSNS - sponsored activities will take place this summer?

A. The only major CSNS activity to be held this summer will be the yearbook party, July 27, at which the yearbooks will be distributed. (See p. 1 and p. 3).

We had hoped to dedicate the Student Union building this summer, but the lettering for the name of the building won't arrive for two months. The dedication, therefore, probably won't take place until October.

Minor activities include a few outside lectures. One is scheduled for this Monday evening. We are trying to provide at least a minimum of entertainment for the students in return for their dollar and a half summer CSNS fee.

Q. What is CSNS in general doing this summer?

A. Quite a few of the officers have summer jobs that keep them busy. Those who have been really active in CSNS so far are Marie Christensen, Danny Roman, Johnny Clark, myself, and a few others.

In general, we're getting ready for next year. We are currently formulating our budgets and initiating a number of new programs. Rewriting the Constitution requires a lot of work.

We are also working on a new type of student identification card.

The card will bear the student's picture and the number of his class, among other things. It would be updated every semester and thus would be a four-year card.

There is a possibility that it may also be used for check-cashing purposes in the community.

Q. A problem in the past has been that there has been little or no communication between CSNS as a governmental unit and the student body. How, if at all, do you plan to alleviate this?

A. The most important way would be through the campus newspaper, if it should attract student interest more than it did last year.

In addition, I have a good man lined up to appoint to the position of Publicity Chairman. He has quite a few ideas, and we will be erecting more posters and other publicity devices on campus. There may even be a newsletter distributed each month. An information booth will be placed inside the new Student Union building.

It has also been suggested that I hold a bi-weekly or weekly press conference, as is necessary. In such a situation, the students will be able to ask me, as a representative in government, just what is going on, and what I feel about certain things. Other CSNS officers could be invited to speak as well.

This would be a chance for students to directly involve themselves with what we're doing, and, if they wish, to give them a chance to participate in student government. We can always find a position for a good, hard-working student that wants to participate.

Another important public relations device will be the Presidents' Council, which will be composed of the presidents of the various organizations on the campus. This organization has been provided for in the present Constitution, but former presidents have not attempted to utilize its concept.

The council will meet to discuss certain issues that I feel are important, and to be informed concerning CSNS activities. The council will also act as an advisory board to me. I plan, in fact, to use them during the next several weeks to learn their opinions concerning the summer editions of the newspaper. This will help me to choose an editor for next year's publication.

Q. What progress has been made in the Constitutional Convention which convened on June 6?

A. Excellent progress has been made. I am, however, disappointed in a number of people. Although I sent out sixty letters to individuals asking them to attend, the convention was open to all students who were interested. On an average, about fifteen people have attended each meeting.

To date, we've completed the Judicial Board reorganization and the Student Bill of Rights. Next week, we will begin working on the reorganization of the Senate.

Eventually, the document will be taken before the students, and their vote will decide its acceptance or rejection finally.

Q. Upon what factors do you rely most to make your administration a success?

A. Student interest. I feel that anything can be done with enough student interest. If enough people know what's happening on the campus, they could easily tell the other students. Publicity is important.

Communication and cooperation between the various officers, the administration, and the Board of Regents is another important facet of what takes place here.

For instance, after completing the of the Judicial Board reorganization, we asked for comments from the Faculty Senate and the Office of Student Affairs.

A. I feel that the Executive Committee will play the largest role, together with the office of the Second Vice President. His special events committee will be taking care of such things as social events, publicity, public relations, assemblies, etc.

TERRY

We are seeking to strengthen those organizations provided for by the constitution. Most of them have been functionless and powerless before. My object is to utilize the people and all these different organizations within CSNS to their fullest capacity.

Instant MBA Offered

The drive of business to get better trained personnel will be given a great impetus with a new program designed to give post graduate teching to those who hold non-business degrees. It will be a 60 unit course taught at night to allow for working schedules.

There is a limitation of 6 units for graduate special status.

For admission, students must meet the general university requirements for graduate standing and have a satisfactory score on the admission test for Graduate study in Business. Six hours of undergraduate mathematics is also required.

This course reflects the shift from undergraduate to graduate level teaching, thereby eliminating some of the general business courses and now emphasizing the case study type course where students deal with realistic problems.

THE REBEL YELL

is published by the Confederated Students of Nevada Southern University. Offices are located at 4505 Maryland Parkway, Las Vegas, Nevada, in Tonopah Hall room 118, on the grounds of Nevada Southern University.

Editor James Christ
Assistant Editor Julie Holland
Sports Editor Dominic Clark
Entertainment Editor Russell Harvey
Business Manager Dick Fontaine

STAFF

LaRae Bringham, Richard Donaldson, Doreen Fox, Sal Gugino, Andrew Hansen, Davina Heater, John Hollibaugh; photography; Don Dalton, Allen White; proofreader; Judith Hansen.

MOYER HONORED -- The Board of Regents in a recent meeting voted to change the name of the new student union building to the "Donald C. Moyer Campus Student Union."

Bussell Gets Hotel Grant

The National Restaurant Association has recently awarded a summer grant to a Nevada Southern University Hotel Administration professor, one of four recipients of the grant throughout the country.

Receiving the $500 award is

George Bussell, Lecturer in Hotel Administration at NSU, who will apply his grant for tuition at Tulane University in New Orleans, where he is taking a course in the application of computers to hotel and restaurant management.

SO WHAT

By Sal Gugino

There's been a lot of talk about having a compulsory ROTC program on the NSU campus. And, you know, I can't get used to the idea. Now, don't get me wrong. I'm really patriotic. Every Fourth of July I light firecrackers. I say the Pledge of Allegiance before every meal. Even my underwear is red, white, and blue. My favorite record is Kate Smith's rendition of "God Bless America".

But back to the ROTC business. The reason that I am opposed is due to my encounter with an army recruiter, who was on campus last semester. All I was doing was walking along singing the national anthem when this cat rushes up to me and says, Recruiter: Psst! Hey boy!

Me: Yes, sir?

R: Listen, son, how would you like to be a hero?

M: Me, a hero?!!! Golly, gee whiz! Holy smoke! How can I be that?

R: Well, son, you can join the ROTC program that we're gonna put on campus.

Me: ROTC? Well, I don't know. I don't want to join the army.

R: Join the army? Who's saying that? This isn't the real army. We're just gonna play army. We're going to march around the football field in over-sized uniforms and do other exciting things.

Me: Well....why should I play army anyhow? After all, I'm a philosophy student.

R: What do you mean boy? We got a lot of room for philosophy in the army. We want you to think in the army.

M: But....but....

R: Shut up, boy I'm talking. You gotta have a philosophy. You need a philosophy. You need a philosophy to peel potatoes. You need a philosophy to clean out garbage cans. You need a philosophy to get out there and kill.

Just then Professor Wei walked by, but before I could shout out, the recruiter had him in a headlock. "VC! VC! VC!" he was shouting.

"Talk, you gook! Where's the rest of your battalion?!!"

Professor Wei threatened to burn his contract. "What contract?" the recruiter cried! "Where is this secret communist document you're talking about?" Then he used his knuckle-to-the-eye treatment.

I finally blurted out that the "prisoner" was a professor, and that there were a lot of orientals on campus who held high positions. "What," he cried. "It's a VC stronghold! Call in the copters! Wipe 'em out! Troop support! Get me Westmoreland!"

Giant Management Institute Proposed

Dr. William White, Dean of the College of Business at NSU, recently announced that a Management Research Institute has been proposed which would have the following purposes (as set forth in a letter from President Donald C. Moyer to Chancellor Neil Humphrey):

1. The MRI would provide for business and industry in Southern Nevada an immediately available business research service similar to that provided, for example, by Arizona State University at Tempe, Arizona. In this function the research institute would prepare on a cost basis specific research studies desired by private enterprise.

2. The MRI would give special attention to the preparation of studies which are of value to the economic community in Southern Nevada but which may not benefit any particular firm to the extent which would cause that firm to be willing to pay the cost of such a study. To provide funds for this type of study, the MRI should be authorized to solicit general contributions from the Southern Nevada business community, from federal and state government sources, and elsewhere as appropriate.

3. Initially, the MRI would concentrate on the significance to Southern Nevada and to the Southwest generally of the rapid improvement in transportation and communications systems. Particular attention would be given in the early studies to the effect of modern data processing systems and modern air transportation on the future location of management centers. Dr. White paints a glowing picture of the possible growth of Southern Nevada when businessmen realize that they may manage their companies from the pleasant surroundings of the area without sacrificing any efficiency in communication and so he hopes, have at their disposal a giant research facility. The MRI may just be the catalyst for that growth.

Regents, Candidates Differ on Issues

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Four of Southern Nevada's Regents' posts will become vacant this year. Tom Bell, Paul McDermott, Dick Ronzone and Archie C. Grant, the incumbents, will all run for re-election.

(As of July 15, James Bilbray and Sondra Lawlor had filed to oppose them.

(With a view toward enlightening NSU students and the public at large concerning the views of the candidates, Julie Holland has conducted interviews with two incumbent Regents and one candidate. It may be anticipated that the remaining candidates will be covered in subsequent editions of the R-Y.)

By Julie Holland and James Christ

Tom Bell and Paul McDermott are incumbent members of the Board of Regents of the University of Nevada. James Bilbray is a candidate for a position on the Board. All three have recently expressed their views concerning a number of issues important to NSU students.

The topics on which the candidates were asked to comment include ROTC and the possibility and extent of its future existence on the NSU campus, the role of the Board of Regents in University affairs, student participation in academic affairs, autonomy and reapportionment. Following is a comparison of their views.

ROTC

The question of initiating a Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) program on this campus promises to become intensely controversial during the next academic year.

All three candidates favor such a program to a certain degree. McDermott believes that ROTC "adds to a young man's character in a world of conflict. It benefits every man to learn to protect himself."

He takes a dim view of those who would eliminate the source of that conflict. "A man must have pride in himself. Hippies have no pride in themselves and consequently have no pride in their country." Apparently ROTC has a sure-fire method of building self-pride.

The main controversy concerns whether or not the program should be compulsory. Tom Bell observed that a mandatory program would be necessary if enough students were to volunteer for the training. "However," Bell said, "if a sufficient number of volunteers is not obtained, the program would have to be made mandatory." The choice is between coming with your hands up or with them tied behind your back.

Bell conceded that it might be possible to test the acceptance of the program with an experimental period of one year. In any case, it is likely that he would defer to the choice of the other Regents.

The other candidates gave equally sound reasons for their views. McDermott would make the program compulsory because Reno's program is compulsory. "It's only fair," he said, "that one campus should have what the other has."

Bilbray thinks that a voluntary program would draw interest to the campus. "A mandatory program costs the government more," he said. "Should the program, whether mandatory or voluntary, prove to be not feasible, it should be withdrawn immediately."

THE ROLE OF THE REGENTS

There has been much controversy, especially in the last year, concerning the extent of the realm over which the Regents should hold sway. Bilbray, Bell and McDermott here comment on their views of the function of the Board.

Bilbray voices the opinion of the majority by saying that the Board should "coordinate the activities of the two campuses and act as a policy-making aid to the presidents." He believes the decisions of the Board "could affect the morale of the students through the influence they (the Regents) have tically stute manner, observed that, "every thought you have, every comment you make, has a consequence." He did not relate this announcement to the role of the Regents, except insofar as to say, "Everything is relative."

MC DERMOTT

STUDENT PARTICIPATION IN ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

NSU students have long been clamoring for a more influential voice in the university's academic affairs. The candidates' reaction to this demand was varied.

Bell feels that students could serve well in an advisory capacity. "Student evaluation of courses and faculty members in an effort to achieve competency is quite permissible," he said. He added that he would favor the allocation of funds to finance such a project.

Bell stressed the point that lines of communication must be maintained. When pressed, however, he said that, "Because of other considerations, only the Board of Regents, not the students, should hold decision-making powers."

McDermott believes that the faculty should decide the degree to which students should influence the academy. "Students," he said, "should be close enough, however, to influence the faculty in working toward common goals." He emphasized the need for an exchange of ideas, and is not adverse to funding a program for student evaluation of academic affairs. Bilbray advocates that formation of a "regent-Faculty-Student Coordinating Committee." Such a committee would presumably act as a communicating link between the groups named.

AUTONOMY AND REAPPORTIONMENT

The autonomy issue flared anew during NSU's Spring, 1968 semester. A great deal was accomplished in this direction when the Board of Regents granted partial autonomy within the university's system.

Reapportionment of the Board of Regents after the 1970 census will drastically affect the crux of this problem; the degree to which NSU must depend upon the northern Regents for funds and favors.

McDermott advocates autonomy within the system. He notes that, "although the campuses are administratively equal, they are unequal under the law. This creates a psychological undermining that could be eliminated by cutting out Sections one and three of Nevada Revised Statute 396.010."

McDermott claims that there has been no sectionalism involved in Board of Regents decisions. He notes, however, that 51 per cent of the state's educational budget has gone to Washoe County, while only 17 per cent has been allotted to Clark County.

"Budgets that have gone in previously," McDermott said, "have not been practical and have been cut. The state has need of a wider tax base from which adequate funds for NSU could be drawn."

Although Tom Bell was quoted in local newspapers as advocating full autonomy, he told this reporter that he would retain the present single system. He does advocate independent administrations, however, and believes that each campus should have its own budget and budget officer.

BELL

"Sectionalism is an important factor on the Board," Bell said. "Statute 396.010 should be revised so as to remove the legal stigma of NSU's 'branch college' status."

Bilbray advocates full autonomy for NSU. This involves two entirely independent Boards of Regents. "This is the only system under which NSU can obtain a fair share of the university budget," Bilbray said. "Then NSU building programs could be emphasized, and long-needed faculty pay-raises could be enacted."

The Board of Regents could make or break Nevada Southern. Evaluate the candidates and act upon your choice.

The Interview

By Richard Donaldson

Recently this writer had the pleasure of being interviewed for a newspaper article about the Young Republicans. The following dialogue is given to help other students who may be interviewed avoid certain pitfalls such as allowing themselves to be interviewed at work. This was the gist of the conversation:

Interviewer: I'd like to ask you about the Y-R's. What are your goals?

M: Freedom and Democracy.
I: "That's too hokey for the paper."

M: "I suppose that lets out mom and apple pie."

I: "How drole; please try to be less inspiring."

(Editor enters)

E: Rich will supply us the cool concise copy we need; he has a keen mind and talent for understatement.

Both stand silent in anticipation of the great words that are sure to follow. I stand waiting for the keen mind to take over; boy any minute now the keen mind will start to work.

An unwanted customer breaks the train of thought.

UC: What do you think of this shirt?

M: It's perfect for the beach.
UC: I don't go to the beach.

M: Due to the great versatility of that particular shirt it also happens to be just perfect for not going to the beach in.

UC: You're full of prunes! (One word changed to meet editorial standards).

M: Then trot your buns over to Penny's. They've got some nice not-going-to-the-beach shirts over there.

(UC leaves in huff).

I: Even your off the cuff comments will have to be ghost written.

M: I'm not at my best today.
I: (Stifling a yawn). That's a powerful understatement; perhaps we can fill out the article with comments from other members.

(Editor and Interviewer talk it over and decide to talk to Julie Holland in another department.)

As if in answer to my question as to whether this were an isolated case or not I learned that Julie, on finishing her ordeal, suffered such extremes of emotion that she went to a doctor to have zippers attached to her writsts.

Barnson Joins Rebel Grid Staff Clark Hi Coach Comes to NSU

The appointment of Clark High School football coach Roger Barnson as an assistant at Nevada Southern University was made recently by Rebel Athletic Director Michael Drakulich.

Barnson's appointment rounds out coach Bill Ireland's staff for NSU's inaugural season which gets underway August 25. The first game will be September 14 when St. Mary's College of California comes to Las Vegas.

The 29-year old Barnson leaves Clark High after a successful three year tenure which was climaxed last fall with a trip to the State Championship game. The Boulder City native compiled a 17-8-0 mark in three seasons with the Chargers.

Clark High opened in 1965 and the Barnson led Chargers were 4-4. In '66 the team improved to 5-3 and last year they were 8-1, with the only loss coming in the state finals against Reno's Wooster High.

Prior to taking over at Clark the new Rebel coach was an assistant football and baseball coach at Western High. He also served as an assistant in baseball at Clark.

Barnson is a 1957 graduate of Boulder City High School, and he proved himself one of Nevada's all-time prep greats with spots on the All-State football and baseball teams for three seasons.

After high school he concentrated on baseball at Arizona State University and his prowess as a pitcher led to several pro offers which were turned down in favor of a coaching career.

In 1961 Barnson received a BA degree in Education from ASU and this summer he finished work on a Master's degree at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff.

Barnson and his wife Christina live at 4205 Alta Drive. They have two children; Leigh, 3 and Roger, Jr., 2.

Westmont Joins Conference

With the addition of Westmont College, the Southern California Athletic Conference now has five teams for the 1969 season.

The other members of the league are: Chapman College, Nevada Southern, U of San Diego, and the U of California, Riverside.

The league originally had six members, but Loyola and Pepperdine resigned their positions after the 1967 season.

Westmont is a co-ed institution located in Santa Barbara, California. Prior to the 1969 season the Russell Carr led Maroon and White have been independent NCAA university.

NSU coach Robert Doering was reportedly very pleased after hearing of the new expansion. "The more competition the better," commented the successful Rebel leader.

The Rebels finished second this year and third last season in the SCAC. Their two year total is 12-12.

Chapman College, the winner of the 1st Annual NCAA College World Series in Springfield, Mo., has won the conference title both years of the leagues existence. This season they posted a 9-3 mark with two of their setbacks coming at the hands of Nevada Southern. The Reb's conference record this season was 6-6.

R-Y SPORTS

Dominic Clark
Sports Editor

NCAA Schedule Set

With the approval of a number of additional dates and sites for 1968-69 at the recent meeting of the NCAA Executive Committee, the championship events schedule for next year is nearing completion.

Listed below are the events, sites host and dates for 1968-69 as of this date.

Event	COLLEGE DIVISION Host Institution	Date
Baseball-2nd	To be determined
Basketball-13th Regionals	To be determined	March 7-8
Finals	University of Evansville	March 11-13
Cross Country - 11th	Wheaton College Wheaton Illinois	November 16
Golf - 7th	University of New Mexico Albuquerque, New Mexico	June 16-20
Gymnastics - 2nd	To be determined
Swimming - 6th	Springfield College Springfield, Massachusetts	March 20-22
Tennis - 7th	To be determined
Track & Field - 7th	To be determined
Wrestling - 7th	Cal Poly, SLO	March 14-15

DATE	TEAM	LOCATION
Sat., Nov. 30	Hastings College (Nebraska)	Conv. Center
Fri., Dec. 6	University of Oklahoma	Norman, Okla.
Sat., Dec. 7	Oklahoma City University	Okla. City, Okla.
Tues., Dec. 10	Athletes in Action (San Bernardino)	Conv. Center
Fri., Dec. 13	Univ. of Southwestern Louisiana	Conv. Center
Mon., Dec. 16	Southern Michigan Univ.	Conv. Center
Fri., Dec. 20	Hiram Scott College	Conv. Center
Mon., Dec. 23	Loyla Univ. (New Orleans)	Conv. Center
Fri., Dec. 27	Holiday Classic: San Diego State College Southern Illinois University Univ. of Montana	Conv. Center
Mon., Dec. 30	Texas Christian Univ.	Conv. Center
Thurs., Jan 2	Creighton Univ.	Conv. Center
Sat., Jan 4	Denver Univ.	Conv. Center
Sat., Jan 11	Portland State Univ.	Conv. Center
Mon., Jan 13	College of Southern Utah	Conv. Center
Tues., Jan 21	College of Southern Utah	Cedar City, Utah
Sat., Jan 25	Univ. Of Nevada	Reno, Nev.
Fri., Jan 31	Northern Arizona Univ.	Conv. Center
Sat., Feb 1	Long Beach State College	Conv. Center
Thurs., Feb 6	Houston Univ.	Houston, Tex.
Sat., Feb 8	Loyola Univ.	New Orleans, La.
Mon., Feb 10	Centenary Univ.	Shreveport, La.
Sat., Feb 15	Univ. of San Diego	Conv. Center
Tues., Feb 18	Univ. of Nevada	Conv. Center
Mon., Feb 24	Long Beach State College	Long Beach, Calif.
Thurs., Feb 27	Northern Arizona Univ.	Flagstaff, Ariz.
Sun., Mar 2	Univ. of Albuquerque	Conv. Center

BETTERTON

Information Director Appointed

Nevada Southern University Athletic Director Michael Drakulich announced recently the appointment of Steu Betterton, 29, as the Rebels first full-time Sports Information Director.

Betterton comes to NSU from Hayward, California. During the past year he was a high school basketball coach and journalism teacher.

Prior to that the California native spent two years at the University of Iowa as the assistant Sports Information Director. Betterton also taught journalism and coached basketball, baseball, and golf for two years at Clovis, California.

The new Rebel publicity man is a native of Visalia, California, and was an all-league performer in both basketball and baseball as a senior in high school in 1957.

In junior college Betterton was an all-league selection in baseball and after transferring to Fresno State College he spent one year on the track team and set a school mark in the triple jump. The record was short-lived however, as former NCAA record holder Charles Craig came along two years later.

Betterton graduated from Fresno State in June, 1962 with a BA degree in Social Science. In 1967 he received a Master's degree in journalism from the University of Iowa.

Betterton's wife Sandra and one-year old son Kyle will be joining him in Las Vegas in mid-August.

DATE	TEAM	LOCATION	TIME
Sat., Sept. 14	St. Mary's College	Las Vegas	8:00 p.m.
Sat., Sept. 21	Azusa-Pacific College	San Bernardino	2:00 p.m.
Sat., Sept. 28	Univ. of San Francisco	San Francisco	8:00 p.m.
Sat., Oct. 5	Westminster College	Las Vegas	8:00 p.m.
Sat., Oct. 19	Southern Colorado St. College	Las Vegas	8:00 p.m.
Sat., Oct. 26	California Institute of Tech.	Las Vegas	8:00 p.m.
Sat., Nov. 2	College of Southern Utah	Las Vegas	1:30 p.m.
Sat., Nov. 16	Univ. of California (San Diego)	Las Vegas	1:30 p.m.
Sat., Nov. 23	Calif. Luthern College	Las Vegas	1:30 p.m.

Name	Cl.	Pos.	Age	Ht.	Wt.	Hometown
21 Ackerley, John	Jr.	HB	19	5'9"	170	Bakersfield, Calif.
29 Anderson, Joe	So.	HB	20	5'9"	165	Las Vegas
60 Arceneaux, Rene	So.	LB	20	5'4"	175	Las Vegas
69 Barnes, Emmett	Fr.	LB	28	5'10"	220	North Las Vegas
66 Bates, Lee	Fr.	LB	18	5'9"	175	Las Vegas
74 Brent, Charles	Jr.	T	20	5'11"	230	Bakersfield, Calif.
18 Bruno, Frank	So.	HB	18	5'6"	160	Las Vegas
89 Buettner, Hunt	Fr.	T	18	6'2"	220	Las Vegas
79 Burton, Robert	Fr.	T	21	6'1"	220	Las Vegas
30 Busick, Steve	Fr.	FB	18	5'10"	208	Sparks, Nev.
50 Creel, Melvin	Fr.	C	18	6'0"	201	Westport, W. Va.
76 Denham, John	So.	T	19	6'3"	240	Los Angeles
65 Duer, Layton	So.	G	19	5'1"	212	Powell, Wyo.
64 Gibson, Harold	Jr.	G	20	6'0"	210	Bakersfield, Calif.
27 Gutierrez, Dan	Fr.	HB	18	5'8"	181	Las Vegas
25 Haynes, Fred	So.	HB	22	5'11"	168	Las Vegas
15 Johnson, Edward	So.	QB	30	5'11"	195	Henderson, Nev.
24 Jolly, Greg	So.	HB	21	5'10"	170	Las Vegas
88 Kiddy, Mike	Fr.	E	18	6'2"	210	Las Vegas
87 Larson, Mark	Jr.	E	20	6'2"	185	Bakersfield, Calif.
72 Latham, Tig	Fr.	T	19	6'1"	197	Las Vegas
23 Logan, Richard	So.	HB	20	5'9"	183	Las Vegas
68 Lomphey, Ernie	Fr.	G	28	5'8"	175	Henderson, Nev.
52 Lupo, Joe	Jr.	G	21	5'8"	200	Las Vegas
62 Massano, Mike	Fr.	G	18	5'4"	160	Denver, Colo.
67 Mawson, George	Jr.	G	19	6'0"	205	Bakersfield, Calif.
61 Morgan, Dick	Jr.	G	21	5'11"	210	Las Vegas
71 Naegle, Shirl	So.	T	19	6'1"	183	Boulder City
47 Powell, George	Fr.	LB	18	6'0"	195	Las Vegas
84 Provencal, Frank	Jr.	LB	19	5'9"	200	Bakersfield, Calif.
77 Rowland, Tommy	Fr.	T	20	6'1"	210	Bakersfield, Calif.
59 Sewell, Kevin	Fr.	LB	18	5'11"	182	Las Vegas
11 Smith, Carl	So.	QB	19	5'10"	170	Bakersfield, Calif.
32 Staresinic, Steve	Fr.	HB	20	5'8"	140	Las Vegas
85 Stefanelli, Angelo	Fr.	E	22	5'9"	157	Bakersfield, Calif.
22 Thompson, Jim	Jr.	HB	19	5'9"	174	Bakersfield, Calif.
51 Vincent, Richard	So.	LB	26	6'0"	212	Henderson, Nev.
83 Wagoner, James	Jr.	E	19	5'11"	194	Monterey, Calif.
35 Wright, John	Fr.	FB	19	5'10"	200	Fallon, Nev.

Rebels Club Elects Bowler

Austin Bowler, local Insurance Agent, was recently elected President of the University Rebels' Club. Assisting Bowler for the next academic year will be -- Vice-President Bill "Wildcat" Morris; 2nd Vice-President Dr. Tom Armour and Secretary - Treasurer Dick Davis.

The boosters assist the PE department with grants and other aids for student athletes.

Helping the officers will be the 15-man board of directors: Al Benedict; James Bilbray, Jr.; JOHN Bilbray, Jr.; Vernon Bunker; Ed Fike; Pete Findlay; Walter Fitzpatrick; Gardner Greenman; Harley Harmon; J. K. Houssels, Jr.; Floyd Lamb; Myron Leavitt; Paul McDermott; Dave Pearl; and Woodrow Wilson.

MAKE SURE YOUR "WHEELS" ARE "A-OK" FOR SUMMER DRIVING

- Air - Conditioning Service
- Lube and Oil Change
- Tires
- Tune-ups

UNIVERSITY PHILLIPS 66
(Across From the University)