UNLV DRAMA DEPARTMENT PRESENTS "LYSISTRATA" APRIL 17, 18, and 19

Tickets have gone on sale for the University of Nevada, Las Vegas' major spring dramatic production of the Greek comedy, "Lysistrata."

The play will be staged in the Grant Hall Little Theatre on campus April 17, 18 and 19, and again April 23, 24, 25 and 26.

Dr. Jerry L. Crawford, chairman of the UNLV drama department and director of the play, suggested that reservations be made as early as possible since the Little Theatre seats only 100 persons.

"Lysistrata," the hilarious classic by Aristophanes, concerns an attempt by the women of Greece to halt a major war in their country.

Cast in the lead role of "Lysistrata" is Elizabeth Wilson, a junior theatre arts major. Other principal roles are played by Trudi Smolens, Chris Evans, Richard Smith, Herb Fitzpatrick, Ken Zinck, Ernestine Elms, Bea Runkle, Estelle Pratto and John McHugh.

The second-annual Spring Arts Festival featuring four days of cultural entertainment for students and the general public begins Thursday (April 17) at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Dr. Paul C. Harris, dean of the UNLV College of Fine Arts, said classes will be cancelled on Thursday and Friday of this week to allow students to attend the various events.

The festival will feature a number of classical and contemporary musical concerts, lectures, dramatic presentations, cinematic productions, forensics, an international art exhibit, modern dance recital and oral interpretations.

Co-sponsors of the festival are the University and the Confederated Students of UNLV.

"We have assembled a variety of artists, performers and exhibits not only for the enrichment of students, but for all Southern Nevadans with an interest in the arts," Dean Harris commented.

"The festival days have been set aside by the University so that the students may extend their educations beyond the classroom and broaden their cultural outlooks, regardless of which studies they are pursuing."

Bible Seeks Lowering of Voting Age to 18

WASHINGTON -- Senator Alan Bible, D. Nev., introduced a joint resolution last week to lower the national minimum voting age to 18 by constitutional amendment.

"When an American citizen becomes mature enough to negotiate legal contracts, earn his living, pay taxes, start a family, become a soldier and take on many other responsibilities at age 18, I say he is mature enough to vote," Nevada's senior senator declared.

Bible's proposal would require a two-thirds majority in both Houses of Congress for enactment, plus ratification by three-fourths of the 50 state legislatures.

A longtime champion of the lower voting age, Bible said, "no sound reason has ever been offered" in opposition to the proposal.

"There is no special wisdom that is magically acquired on reaching age 21," he added. "Indeed, heavy responsibilities come to young Americans long before they reach the present voting age.

"More than ever before, our young citizens are better educated, better informed and better equipped to participate in our democratic form of government. The average 18-year-old undoubtedly knows more about issues, events, politics and government than his counterparts and many of their elders at the turn of the century."

Bible acknowledged that acts of violence on high school and college campuses may create opposition to a lower voting age. But he urged his colleagues to "maintain a proper perspective, since only a tiny minority" are involved in the disturbances.

"For every rowdy demonstrator there are thousands of serious, responsible youngsters going about their daily business of earning a living or getting an education," he added.

"They don't make newspaper headlines, but they constitute legions of socially-minded men and women who are eager to take part in the democratic process."

Bible, a senior member and former chairman of the Senate District of Columbia Committee, recalled that his committee twice recommended the 18-year-old vote for citizens of the nation's capital. However, the measures failed in the House of Representatives.

Clearwater to Come to Palace

Electronic Activities is presenting another rock concert, dance and light show Friday, April 25, featuring Creedence Clearwater Revival, whose single "Proud Mary" and LP "Bayou Country" have hit the top of the charts recently.

The show, set for the Las Vegas

Ice Palace, will also include Pulse, a new electronic percussion sound from San Francisco. Pulse is Brem Lewis manipulating six drums connected to a $50,000 computerized light sound machine. The machine transforms the drum rhythms into magical sound and flashes a coordinated light show on the drums and on the wall behind.

Help Needed for Coffee House

Behind the Ballroom, on the second floor of the Student Union, there is a large room which is presently being converted into a coffee house. The purpose of this project is to provide students with a place to relax or listen to music (live or recorded) or whatever we, as students, would want from a coffee house. We have the space and the money. The Senate recently appropriated 850 dollars. What is needed however, is the interest and the support to get the job done. If you are interested, we need labor, pillows, cloth, wood, carpeting, and anything else that would be appropriate in a coffee house. We also need someone to fill the position of student manager.

The coffee house can only be what we make it. If you can dig it, help it! Show some interest! Contact Conni Bonaffini or Scott Bell, or leave your name with Mr. Procter's secretary.

Delta Zeta actives and their ten pledges held a slave sale to raise money to attend Province Day at San Diego, on April 12. Province Day was attended by all the Delta Zeta chapters in California and Nevada. One of the more popular songs in Province Day observation was written by U.N.L.V. member Sally Moore.

On Tuesday, April 8, Phi Mu sang their sorority songs for their alumni. The girls are currently planning a trip to Warm Springs for April 27 and 28. They will also be collecting for their Cancer Drive on April 17. Vice-President, Candy Schumacher, is a contestant in the Miss Nevada Universe Pageant. Debbie Petroff and Melissa Kramer were recently initiated as new pledges.

Alpha Delta Pi held a bake sale Wednesday, and a car wash Saturday in order to raise money for the upcoming semi-formal dance which they are sponsoring. The theme of the dance will be "Moonlight and Roses," and will be held in the Student Union Ballroom. Alpha Delta Pi has also held a very successful show of Bridal fashions, modeled by the members of the sorority.

On March 23, Chi Sigma Chi's dream of becoming a Sigma Chi chapter finally became a reality. The initiation banquet at the Sahara Hotel was attended by approximately 200 Chi Sigs from other states. The Chi Sigs also had a fine party at Mike Hine's ranch.

Alpha Epsilon Pi is offering a national contest to all undergraduates and alumni. The prize is an expense-paid trip for two to Las Vegas.

Kappa Sigma moved into their new house last week. It is located at Rochelle and Pecos. They held weekend clean-up parties with the assistance of the Kappa Sigma Stardusters. Activities of the past week also included a surprise birthday party for Ken Jochim on his 21st birthday. Wednesday night, the brothers and pledges held a party at which paddles were exchanged. The Kappa Sigs are looking forward to a fine baseball season, with their opener last Sunday against Alpha Tau Omega.

Thursday, April 3, Kappa Alpha Psi sponsored an Easter egg party for approximately 50 children at the Operation Independence Center #3. The Fraternity distributed more than 50 egg baskets and assisted the state in conducting an egg hunt. Because of the Easter vacation, many of the members were out of town, so Robert Fisher and Bruce Adams officially represented the Fraternity. Future plans for Kappa Alpha Psi include work in the up-coming election, and sponsoring the Guide Right Program, which will be held April 24, 11:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom and Lounge.

The Eta Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega wishes to announce that they will hold a kegger on Wednesday afternoon, April 16 at Paradise Park. The fee is $1.00 for men and $.50 for women. Last week, the Alpha Tau Omega Little Sisters cooked a delicious spaghetti dinner for the entire chapter. According to James "Bear" Wike, not one member had to have his stomach pumped.

For Delta Sigma Phi, last Saturday was "Ed Dibble Day." The brothers had a party at Red Rock in honor of the occasion. The brothers are hoping to field a good softball team this season, and their opener was last Sunday against the "Fraternity Stompers."

Congratulations to Donna Klein. Donna has been selected to represent U.N.L.V. on the College Board of "Mademoiselle" Magazine. As a member of the board she will have the opportunity to contribute to "Mademoiselle" and to help the magazine keep abreast of campus trends.

College Board members report regularly to "Mademoiselle" on events at their colleges, research articles and help their fashion editors select models for college fashion features. Board members are selected on the basis of entries they submit during the magazine's annual nationwide College Board competition.

This contest is designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, editing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising, retail promotion and advertising.

UNLV PROFS to ATTEND NSF

Two mathematics professors at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas have been elected to attend National Science Foundation summer institutes this year.

Dr. Lloyd C. Nietling, associate professor of mathematics, will travel to Pennsylvania State University to participate in computer science institute June 23 until August 22.

Prof. Chester Landaker, assistant professor of mathematics, will attend the summer institute for college teachers June 23 until August 15 at the University of Oregon.

Purpose of the institutes, according to Dean Robert B. Smith of the College of Science and Mathematics at UNLV, is to give faculty members an opportunity to learn and discuss current theoretical developments in the branches of mathematics which they teach.

"The institutes will directly benefit the quality of instruction which these professors provide our students," Smith commented. "They will return to teaching as-

The National Science Foundation was established in 1950 by Congress to carry out the responsibilities of strengthening research and education in science, mathematics and engineering.

Nietling, whose special interest is numerical analysis, will be supervising the development of computer courses within the UNLV mathematics department.

He was on the faculty here during 1960-62, but returned to Ohio State University where he completed work for a Ph.D. degree. He rejoined the UNLV faculty in 1967.

Landaker came to UNLV in 1962 following retirements from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and receipt of a master of science degree from Purdue University.

Since then, he has been teaching graphics in the engineering program as well as a number of introductory mathematics courses. He also had prime responsibility for developing work in finite mathematics for students in the College of Business and Economics.

All interested people are to report to the UNLV Art Gallery at 1 p.m. From there, they will leave, in private cars, and travel to an appropriate desert location, where the participants will all gather rocks at their own discretion. After having completed their collection, they will then travel to another place, where they will again gather rocks. After having done so, they will then arrange the rocks into the form of an aerial marker.

Having completed the aerial marker, the group will then gather at the location of the marker and discuss the implications of their actions. At the conclusion of that discussion, they will then cover the aerial marker with lime, and return to the University.

what the future holds. Included in this program will be discussions on the war, the draft, the current college dilemma, and civil unrest, just to name a few. It is hoped that this program will provide a new enlightenment into the problems of modern society.

FRATERNITY NEED MONEY?

Steve Miller, owner of the newly constructed Warehouse, has announced a program concerning all fraternities on the U.N.L.V. campus. The program is being initiated in order to publicize the establishment and to help the fraternities on campus.

Mr. Miller is willing to donate one night a week to any fraternity that wishes to sponsor a dance at the Warehouse. He will supply the live music, and will charge $1.50 per person for admittance. The fraternity which sponsors the dance will receive 10% of the gross total.

In order to ensure adequate publicity, Mr. Miller also suggested that the sponsoring fraternity place an ad in the Rebel Yell prior to any event.

Dear Editor:

We are looking forward to a very interesting and worthwhile series of events which will constitute the UNLV Spring Arts Festival for 1969. The Festival has been oriented towards the interests of the University students and faculty, and in order to permit everyone to participate fully in the Festival, we are releasing students from classes on April 17 and 18. We certainly hope that all members of the academic community will take full advantage of this opportunity to participate in the Festival, which runs from April 17 through 20. We hope that this will be an annual event and that it will grow in stature each year. The success of this year's program will very much influence the size and scope of next year's Festival. Hence, I hope that this year's program proves to be a worthwhile educational experience for all of us.
