EDUCATORS ADDED TO COLLEGE

Hotel Administration Adds To Faculty

Four educators in hotel and food service management have joined the College of Hotel Administration faculty at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Dr. John H. Rudd, Dr. Richard E. Basile, Charles Levinson and Richard Acosta begin full-time duties with the start of the fall semester, according to Jerome J. Vallen, director of the College.

Rudd, a full professor of hotel administration at UNLV, is a former director of the hotel-restaurant department at the College of the Virgin Islands, and has served as chairman of the hotel technology department at New York City Community College.

A former Statler-Hilton executive and member of the New York bar, Rudd also served as administrative assistant for the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

He is a former vice-president of the Caribbean chapter of the American Association of University Professors and is currently a member of the National Miami, Caribbean and New York City Hotel Sales Manager Association, Hotel Executives Association, Hotel Executives Association, College of Hospital Administration and the Food Service Executive's Association.

Basile, who received his doctorate degree from Combs College, was a corporate vice-president of Davre's, public restaurant and catering division of Ara Services, Inc., before coming to UNLV.

In addition to his work as administrative dean and managing director of the Saranac Lake branch of Paul Smiths College in New York. He has served ten years on the board of directors and six years as president of the General Hospital of Saranac Lake.

Basile, who will serve as a lecturer in hotel administration, is listed in WHO'S WHO IN FINANCE AND INDUSTRY, the INTERNATIONAL BIOGRAPHY OF WORLD EXECUTIVES and the INTERNATIONAL WHO'S WHO OF HOTEL EXECUTIVES.

Acosta, UNLV assistant professor of hotel administration, received his bachelor's degree from Florida State and his master's degree from Michigan State.

A previous assistant to the controller at Ceasars Palace, he gained practical experience in positions with the Michigan State University residence halls, Lansing Country Club, Grand Bahama Hotel Jack Tar, Playboy Clubs International and the Otesaga Resort Hotel of Cooperstown, New York.

Levinson, a UNLV assistant professor of hotel administration, earned his bachelor's and master's degree's from Cornell University in New York, and is a specialist in the food and beverage industry.

His former teaching experience includes an instructorship at the State University of New York at Cobleskill and Indiana University in Pennsylvania.

Levinson, who owned and operated a New Jersey restaurant for six years, is a Schlitz scholarship winner, and a recipient of the National Restaurant Fellowship for graduate study in 1969.

G.I. Bill Increase Benefits

V.A. Receives Hospital Aids

Veterans Administration hospital beds for intensive care of acutely ill patients were doubled during the past year, and more will be added this year.

J. Musser stated that 45 intensive care units with 634 beds were built or improved during the past 12 months, and construction of 19 additional units is planned during the current fiscal year.

Intensive care units provide continuous and specialized care for patients with serious coronary, medical or surgical problems.

Specialized life-saving measures are constantly available, and the professional staff is trained to monitor patients' vital signs with the help of advanced electronic equipment similar to that used to check astronauts during space flights.

"Studies indicate that this method of providing intensive care is more effective than supervision of severely ill patients individually by special nurses," Dr. Musser said.

Dr. Musser, who has been responsible for VA's nationwide system of hospitals since January, said that the program of adding new intensive care units is one of many examples of how VA medical care keeps pace with medical advances.

New Construction is planned for 1971, he said, including designing new hospitals, modernization of others, and such improvements as air conditioning, intensive care units, and remodeling at more than 50 hospital.

The Veterans Administration has provided some 1,350,000 servicemen in Vietnam with basic information on government programs available to them both before and after discharge.

In "Operation Early Word", the overseas portion of VA's "Outreach" program, VA representatives in Vietnam discuss VA's benefits in group sessions and personal interviews.

The story of how America's fighting men get the word is fold in "Two Years of Outreach", a booklet recently distributed by the VA.

In its forward, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson notes that a recent amendment to the current G. I. Bill increases veterans' adjustment benefits, and calls for an intensification of VA's "Outreach" activities.

These representatives helped veterans and servicemen file more than 53,000 applications for vocational training, and nearly 78,000 applications for disability compensation.

Veterans may visit, write, or phone U. S. Veterans Assistance Center, the nearest VA office, or local service representative for help or counseling in matters ranging from education to employment and from health to housing.

Real Estate Seminar Begins Sept. 25 at UNLV

A 17 week seminar on the fundamentals of real estate will begin Sept. 25 at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The course, designed for persons in the community who are interested in learning more about the subject, will meet from 7 until 10 p.m. each Friday, and from 9 until noon on Saturdays in Room 116 of the Social Sciences Building.

Lectures will be presented by local attorneys, engineers and other experts in the field of real estate. There are no prior education requirements for admission into the class.

Panther's Constitutional Convention recessed with new radical Constitution for United States

PHILADELPHIA (CPS) -- The Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention, called by the Black Panther Party, has recessed until November 4, when it will meet in Washington to reach final agreement on what is intended to be a new constitution for the United States.

At the first round, held here over Labor Day weekend, over 10,000 delegates, more than half of them black, agreed to general principles for a socialistic America, but disagreed on some particular points. The convention avoided the drastic open splits which characterized last summer's United Front Against Fascism (UFAF) conference in Oakland, the last attempt by the Panthers to unify the radical left.

Proposals were made in the form of reports by discussion groups to a plenary session of all attending the convention. No votes were taken, although the favorable reaction to some proposals clearly indicated their popularity with the crowd.

Attending the conference were members of groups covering the entire radical spectrum, including Student Move, Youth Against War and Fascism, the Progressive Labor Party, SDS, Gay Liberation Front, and Women's Liberation Front. The Panther's were the only Black group represented, as many Black groups were in Atlanta for the Congress of African People, where 2,500 delegates including Black Muslims, Whitney Young, Julian Bond, Jesse Jackson and Imamu Baraka (Leroi Jones) discussed the creation of a world African party.

By concentrating on the kind of society radicals want after a revolution, the Panthers hoped to avoid the friction over means of bringing about a revolution which has characterized previous meetings of different radical groups. In large measure, the tactic succeeded, although Michael Tabor, one of the New York Panther 21, issued a broadside calling the Progressive Labor Party "enemies of the people" for attempting to organize a march on City Hall which the Panthers feared would bring the Philadelphia police down on the Black community.

By tying in the new constitution with the old, and by emphasizing the Declaration of Independence's guarantee of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," the Panthers attempted to make the basically socialist program seem more in keeping with American traditions.

The proposals presented to the plenary session by the discussion groups included:

*Plans to end American imperialism. Discussion groups called for the immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces from around the world and for the abolishment of the standing army, to be replaced by a system of people's militias, with all people in the militia holding other jobs and working only part time in the militia.

The United States, with 6 per cent of the world's people, currently consumes 60 percent of the resources, and the delegates recognized the ending of imperialism would necessitate a somewhat lower standard of living.

*Community control of police. The police would be under the supervision of community-elected boards, which would be able to fire policemen. Non-uniformed police would be prohibited, and the combined budget for police and the military would be less than 10 percent of the national budget.

*Land reform. Control of land will be vested in the communities, with the entire nation determining a general policy for land use, and the communities handling local problems.

*Basic rights for all people. The right to food, shelter, employment, medical care, education, birth control, and abortion, would be guaranteed.

*An end to oppression of women. Discussion groups called for free child care centers, free child delivery, free abortion, and for 50 percent of all leadership positions to be held by women.

*The end of the nuclear family. This proposal provoked considerable disagreement, with one discussion group saying the nuclear family might work out under socialism and the groups on women and gay liberation opposing it.

afternoon after Huey Newton, the Black Panther Party founder who was recently freed from a California jail, set the tone of the convention with a rousing call for a socialist America. The proposals were presented to a mass meeting Sunday night. Delegates met Monday in regional groups to select a continuing committee to work on possible drafts of the new constitution.

The general meetings were held in the new multi-million dollar Temple University gym, which sits arrogantly in the middle of the North Philadelphia ghetto. Security was tight, especially for the Newton speech, and commercial press reporters who identified themselves were barred.

Attendance at the convention was apparently swelled by the tactics of Philadelphia Police Commissioner Frank Rizzo -- called "Bozo" by the Panthers -- who raided the three Panther headquarters in Philadelphia less than a week before the convention.

The police ripped the headquarters apart in their dawn raids, and then ordered fifteen Panthers to strip outside while police held guns pointed at the heads of the Panthers. The pictures of the stripped Panthers brought more support from the Philadelphia Black community than anything the Panthers have done so far.

Bail was first set at $500 for the fifteen arrested Panthers, but Rizzo stepped in and got Judge Leo Wenrott, who has criticized the Panthers many times, to hear the case. He decided to raise bail to $100,000 each. Appeals finally got the bail down to $5,000.

The raids followed the Sunday killing of a policeman in a Philadelphia park. Although there was no visible connection between the Panthers and the shooting, Rizzo used it as his excuse for the raids.

Rizzo, who was now calling the Panthers "yellow dogs, psychopaths, and cowards", and saying it was time for a "shootout", was blasted by numerous community groups, who were outraged by his treatment of the Panthers.

Community residents flocked to the Panther headquarters to help clean up the destruction caused by the police. During the clean-up, one youth threw a pocketbook out the window. The police immediately evacuated the area and brought in the bomb squad, which carefully opened the purse. Out crawled two roaches. "Wow," said one spectator, "We've got a new weapon against the police -- roach bombs. We oughta manufacture them. Roaches don't cost anything, they're one thing we've got plenty of."

Rizzo's men stayed away from the convention, and there were no incidents.

As the convention moves to Washington, at a specific place still to be determined, the major questions are whether the Panthers, leadership can continue to keep various other radical groups from attacking each other, and whether the constitution, once adopted, will prove to be the rallying point the Panthers want it to be.

VIET ROCK HELD OVER ANOTHER WEEK

Owing to highly favorable public response, the musical production "Viet Rock" will be held over Sept. 25 and 26 at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas Little Theatre, according to Director Lon Schleifer.

Many theatregoers without reservations have been turned away at the door although the 120 seat theatre has been rearranged to facilitate an additional 20 to 30 people, Schleifer commented. He added that each performance has ended with standing ovations.

"Viet Rock", an anti-war play in song and drama, in no way criticizes the U.S., Schleifer said. For this reason it is appealing to all age groups.

Schleifer attributes the favorable response to the fact that people are genuinely surprised at the play. They arrive at the theatre with closed minds, he said, expecting to dislike or disagree with the subject matter but find the show entertaining and expressive. Another factor contributing to the success of the show is the spirit and talents of the cast, he added.

Ticket prices remain $1 for students and $1.50 for non-students, with curtain time at 8:15 p.m. Reservations may be made by telephoning the College of Fine Arts at 746-6111, ext. 325.

Tryouts for Blithe Spirit by Noel Coward will be held Monday and Tuesday, September 28 and 29, from 7:30 - 10:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre. All students are eligible to tryout. There are good roles for two men and five women. Scripts will be held in the library on reserve until noon September 28.

"This comedy is Noel Coward's best play and it should be an enjoyable one for our audiences," stated Dr. Paul Harris the director.

REBELS OBLITERATE T-BIRDS 28 - 6

Saturday night was definitely the night of the defense, as the Rebels obliterated the Thunderbirds of Southern Utah State 28-6 before 4,000 fans at Butcher Field.

Opening their third season, the Rebels made it look almost too easy as they pressured the T-Birds into two fumbles and one interception. All the SUS miscues were turned into Rebel scores.

The interception by Rebel defensive back Pat Medchill in the second quarter crushed a T-Bird drive and netted the first UNLV touchdown of the game. On first down at the UNLV six-yard line, Buck Paopao, Utah State's quarterback, faded back to pass, but Medchill snatched the ball at the two-yard line and rambled 98 yards for the score. Vince Hart converted to give the Rebs a 7-0 lead.

Mack Gilchrist, UNLV candidate for All-American honors, crunched in from the nine-yard line late in the second quarter to give the Rebels a first half total of 13 points.

Gilchrist scored two additional TDs on runs of seven and five yards, collecting 106 yards in 27 attempts. Running out of the I formation, Gilchrist's pounding runs through six and seven SUS players brought the crowd to great yawning cheers.

Actually, everybody expected a Rebel win, and Ireland probably would have been lynched if the T-Birds had dumped the Rebs.

Still, it was an interesting opener, topping the shutout at the hands of Cal Lutheran that opened last year's season.

In a last, desperate attempt to score, the T-Birds brought in Jim Easley, who promptly directed the SUS offense to a touchdown in the third quarter. The drive went 78 yards in 6 plays, with George Stephanos diving three yards for the score.

In the fourth quarter, however,

UNLV defensive tackle Tommy Rowland smashed Easley hard, causing a fumble. The Rebs recovered on the T-Bird 24.

Gary Washington, power runner from De Anza Junior College, carried twice in a row for four yards and fifteen yards over right tackle, setting the scene for Gilchrist's final touchdown.

Taking the ball from the Utah five, Gilchrist blitzed his way over to make the score 26-6. Kennedy then connected with split end Greg Brown for a two point conversion, making the final score 28-6.

UNLV Invitational To Be Held Sept. 25

The most ambitious track meet ever held in UNLV's history is slated to occur on September 26th. The UNLV Invitational, will feature over 100 harriers from 13 colleges across the nation, including the universities of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada-Reno, and Sacramento State.

The race will feature a unique format and method of scoring. Rather than having a mass start of 100-plus runners in one single race, each coach will rate his runners from 1-7 and there will be a single race for each number group. The eventual winner will be determined by the total points accumulated in all races. Obvious advantages of this system are decreased confusion, increased interest on the parts of both runners and fan, and the ability for more participants to trophy in their respective classes.

To prepare for this rugged test, Coach Edwards and seven Rebel runners have taken to the high mountains of Utah, near Navaho Lake. After spending a week at their training camp at an altitude of 7500 feet the Rebel harriers will return to Las Vegas. Here, they will continue to train for the September 26th opener.

Returning members to the squad are: Doug Clarke, Bill Jones, and Jacl McDonald. Freshmen include Rick Miller, a 4:24 miler from Modesto, California; Efren Rodriguez the L.A. City Champ at 1320 last year; and Hector Flores, a 9.9 sprinter from Los Angeles,

TULSA DEFEATS IDAHO

Tulsa University, its defense scoring more points than the opposition, routed Idaho State 38-13, Saturday before 15,250 spectators at Skelly Stadium.

Hurricane defensive linemen twice blocked Bengal punts and took them in for scores.

Tulsa now stands 2-0 for the year and Idaho State is winless in two outings.

Tulsa scored first in the initial period when senior quarterback Johnny Dobbs connected with tailback Josh Ashton on a long pass play to the Idaho State eight-yard line.
