Zorn Writes Letter to Welcome Students

The University extends a cordial welcome to all of its registrants, both new and returning students, and we look forward to a productive academic year. The campus is the place for questioning, for searching for meanings, and for becoming involved. Since our main concern is with teaching and learning, we hope that your enrollment will contribute significantly to your intellectual development.

As the 1970-71 academic year begins, there is tangible evidence of growth and expansion. Construction of the Chemistry Building has just been finished; the foundations of the new Humanities Building are being laid; and the building sites for Teacher Education and Fine Arts are being staked out on the northern edge of the campus. But there are other and more important aspects of growth at UNLV.

In recent years there has been substantial progress in building a strong academic program. The faculty has been enlarged and fortified with scholarly talent, and our curriculums have been diversified and enriched. Moreover, there has been increasing interaction of students, faculty and administration, and consequently the emergence of a more dynamic academic community.

During the past two years, UNLV students have gained a much greater voice in campus affairs. Now, through membership on departmental committees and university-wide councils, students are influencing policy and planning in many aspects of the University. We invite your participation in the efforts of students, professors, and administrators to improve UNLV.

In an era of unrest and upheaval on college campuses, we have proved at UNLV that violence is not a prerequisite for needed changes. We have learned that communication and mutual respect make it possible for issues to be debated and adjustments implemented. Inevitably, rapid growth and development will create more problems and tensions, and we will need to overhaul both policies and operational systems. The input of student thinking will be a vital ingredient, and we desire effective student collaboration.

The new academic year will move along rapidly. We hope you will make the most of the educational opportunity and also that you will be involved in the constructive improvement of UNLV. And again, welcome to the UNLV academic community.

Group Reviews UNLV

A Committee on the Developing University has been established by President Zorn to review the institutional structure of UNLV and to define the academic objectives of the University as a whole.

Members of the ad hoc group are Dr. Paul E. Burns, chairman of the Department of History; Dr. Robert B. Smith, dean of the College of Science and Mathematics; Dr. Jerry L. Crawford, professor of theater arts; Dr. Janet L. Travis, chairman of the Department of Philosophy; Dr. Robert O. Boord, associate professor of education; and Dr. Donald H. Baepfer, vice president for academic affairs.

The fact-finding committee, which is intentionally small so that it may conduct business often and informally, will solicit viewpoints from all segments of the University community before preparing a formal report in December.

One or more special sessions will be arranged with students during the next two months to learn of their interests and ideas in the development of UNLV.

After the report has been submitted to President Zorn, it will be forwarded with his commentary to both the Faculty Senate and the CSUN Senate for further review and recommendations.

Announcement of the appointed committee was made at the annual meeting of the faculty earlier this month.

National Tests Available For Grad. Studies

Planning to pursue a career in medicine, the legal profession or to enroll in graduate studies?

If so, a number of national tests required by colleges for students wishing to continue their education is now available through the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The tests are designed for students seeking college admission or for graduates attempting to further their studies, according to Dr. Ben Owen, director of counseling and testing at UNLV.

Owen commented that registration for these tests is usually one month in advance of the testing date. Registration forms are available in the Office of Student Personnel Services at UNLV. Unless otherwise indicated, all tests are administered in Room 103 of the Social Sciences Building.

The American College Test, required for admission to UNLV, will be administered at 8 a.m. Oct. 17, Dec. 12, Feb. 20, April 24 and July 17.

The Graduate Record Examination will be given at 8:45 a.m. Oct. 24, Dec. 12, Jan. 16, Feb. 27, April 24 and June 19. This test consists of a three-hour morning test and a three-hour afternoon exam. Each student may register for either or both tests, depending upon admission requirements of the graduate school(s) of his choice.

The admission test will begin at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 17, Dec. 19 and April 17.

An occupational interest survey, helpful for students desiring assistance in choosing a profession, will be conducted at 10 a.m. Oct. 10, Dec. 5, March 13 and May 8.

The National Association of Security Dealers test will be administered each month at 9:30 a.m. in locations for this test should be made through a sponsoring broker.

Counselor Heads New Federal Program

A counselor and former elementary school teacher from Las Vegas has been selected to direct a $90,000 federal assistance program for disadvantaged and handicapped students at Nevada's two universities.

Edmond Lee Lewis, 27, will act as chief administrator for the counseling and tutorial project which is expected to serve nearly 200 students at UNLV and UNR. His appointment was announced by University President Roman J. Zorn.

Entitled Special Services for Disadvantaged Students in Institutions of Higher Education, the assistance program has been funded through the U. S. Office of Education and will be headquartered on the UNLV campus.

Two full-time counselors will be hired at both the Las Vegas and Reno campuses to help meet the goal of allowing students from low-income families a chance to undertake a college education with dignity and a promise of success.

During the past year, Lewis served as a counselor with the Nevada Statewide Talent Search Program, identifying and motivating youngsters in 15 Southern Nevada high schools to continue their educations beyond the secondary level.

No longer in existence, Talent Search was funded through a grant from the U. S. Office of Education in collaboration with the University of Nevada System.

During his two years as a teacher at Kit Carson Elementary School, Lewis was active in a number of community and educational ventures, serving as coordinator of a special reading program, member of the human relations council and senator for the Clark County Classroom Teachers' Association.

He earned a bachelor of science degree in social science from Northern Arizona University in 1967, and expects to complete all requirements for a master's degree in student personnel services by next year.

Lewis was the recipient two years ago of a special award in race relations from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Last spring, he was honored with two awards from the Confederated Students of UNLV for his outstanding service to the University and to the students, and was key note speaker at commencement exercises for Tonopah High School.

Free Receives Grant

A $1,500 grant has been awarded to a University of Nevada, Las Vegas student by the National Restaurant Association.

Kenneth C. Free, Jr., was named one of five national recipients of the honor. He was selected because of his success in the restaurant industry and his academic achievements at the University.

The three year grant carries a $1,500 annual stipend, plus up to $1,500 a year in matching funds provided that Free maintains employment in a food-related industry.

After completing four years of service with McDonald's Hamburgers, Free left his job as assistant manager to assume his present position as assistant purchasing agent for Interstate Restaurant Supply.

Ranked ninth in his Gorman High graduating class of 1969, the recipient currently maintains a B average at UNLV. He is an active member of the Hotelmen's Association.

Wegner Stars in T.V. Program

Dr. Hart Wegner, UNLV professor and authority on film and filmmaking, begins a twice-weekly quarter-hour program on Channel 10 Monday, October 5 and will be seen Mondays and Fridays at 7:30 p.m.

The series is an examination of the film scene, local, national and international. Film, filmmaking and film as an art and entertainment, will be covered in reviews and interviews with involved people.

The critiques will include reviews of films currently showing in Las Vegas and films made in the Clark County area.

One segment in the "Hartbeat" series was filmed in Salzburg with Viennese actor Joseph Meinrad. Another segment is with Dennis Sanders, director of the two-hour panavision documentary "Elvis," filmed at the International Hotel in Las Vegas.

Dr. Wegner will teach aesthetics and film criticism in the Spring semester at UNLV.

Interview the Stars

For Jack Benny, at 75 years of age, delving into nostalgia is a complete waste of time. He's currently active in nightclub appearances in Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe, is scheduled for numerous concert dates with world-reknowned philharmonics, and will soon begin taping an hour long "Anniversary Special" for television, in which the cast of his former television series will all appear.

"A basic philosophy of mine is that you can't live by nostalgia." "I'm only interested in what's happening now, and what will happen tomorrow." Living by that philosophy, Jack Benny is well-prepared to discuss exactly 'what is happening now'.

"One of our country's main political problems is its two-party system." "There are so many ardent Democrats that if Mickey Rooney were running on their ticket they would vote for him."

Benny has certain sympathies for the present administration in the White House, admitting that student unrest and the Vietnamese war would be major dilemmas for any President to overcome in trying to reunite our "great" country. Also, Benny goes on to say that "People tend to dislike a President while he is in office." "Look at Truman", Benny says admiringly, "Look what he went through while he was in office!" "And as soon as he stepped down from office, editorials proclaimed he would go down in history as one of America's greatest Presidents."

In citing Truman as a President who had "guts", Jack Benny whole-heartedly believes that if the "great Missourian and ex-Commander-in-Chief" were much younger, he would have ended the Vietnamese situation long before it ever reached its present stage. Not underestimating Nixon though, Benny says hopefully, "we don't know yet, but that Nixon is doing the right thing--time will tell."

If there is one thing that disheartens Jack Benny more than anything else, besides war and incompetent politicians, that is the current trend in Hollywood. "Hollywood is in a rut," says the eminent comedian, "they should try to be successful financially with nice, good pictures like they once made." But Jack Benny is a man of today and sees nothing wrong with sex in movies as long as it's done in good taste. "Sex in nice love stories like 'A Man and A Woman' is nice, there's nothing wrong with that, but when sex is just done for the sake of pornography, then we are cheating the public out of good pictures Hollywood is capable of making."

As for Jack Benny's nightclub appearances, he says, "I hope we don't get to a point where show-business gets so dirty it even affects my work whereas people would say, 'we don't want him, we want somebody dirty.'"

THOUGHTS TO PONDER

By Joe Warpinski

I find it rather hard to believe that one person, in public office, can manage to be so contradictory during his campaign as our District Attorney, Mr. George Franklin, who has jumped from one side of the proverbial fence, to the other, in his never ending fight for the almighty vote.

I think it is quite tragic that one man should be allowed to use his office as a means to benefit his political campaign for reelection. I sincerely doubt, however, that our District Attorney cares what I think, just as long as he can run his campaign in any way that he sees fit.

There have been obvious attempts, recently made by Mr. Franklin, to gain support for his campaign. Both attempts were predicted on the All-American ideal of "tearing down the big guy" and, to some extent, they unfortunately succeeded. Mr. Franklin first calculated move to fire-up the electoral engine, was taken when he decided to investigate the entire back ground of actor-singer Frank Sinatra. What the indepth investigation of Mr. Sinatra will reveal, some how illudes me, however it will no doubt be good campaign material. And it will cost the tax payers a considerable amount of money. His second and most recent move to sway the voters of Clark County, was the presentation of warrants for the arrest of two Las Vegas Physicians. The warrants, supposedly handed down by the Clark County Grand Jury, were served for narcotics violations. Mr. Franklin's office was kind enough to inform the local news papers about the warrants.

It is rather interesting, academically of course, to note that the Clark County Grand Jury did not hand out warrants for the arrests of the two physicians and, to be quite honest, actually refused to even hear the case presented by the District Attorney's office.

I honestly fail to see how Mr. Franklin can have the unmeditated gall to preach that he will enforce the laws of our society, when he seems to be encountering considerable problems obeying its' rules of ethical procedures.

Hopefully, the time will come when the public will no longer have to worry about the whim and fancy of a powerful Public Official trying to maintain his position at election time.

Hopefully, the public, who elected the official, won't be constantly abused by slanted, slanderous and wrong information from his office.

Hopefully, the elected officials will finally realize that they should protect the rights and freedom of their constituents rather than the presevation of their personal social-political statis.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

EDITOR'S NOTE: The People's office was started last spring under the name of People's Legal Defense Office. As the name implies, we began as a bail fund. To fund our project we followed the lead of the Berkley Third World movement and the Ann Arbes based White Panther Party. We promoted low cost rock concerts.

After school let our the Peoples Office began having weekly low cost rock concert using local groups and low cost groups out of Los Angeles. As time went on we began having groups off the strip start playing free. This was about the time KLUC was plugging the Jay Sarno super rip off. The man was advertising acres of green grass to sit on with no mention of cement bleachers. When asked about his "festival" by nervous city officials, Sarno stated, true to form, that he forswaw a draw that was at least two times what anybody that had sense expected to come. L.A. and San Fransico gets better concerts for less money and calls them "concerts". (Exaggerating the expected attendance is an old type trip used by most plastic rock promoters which they probably learned from Jerry Ruben

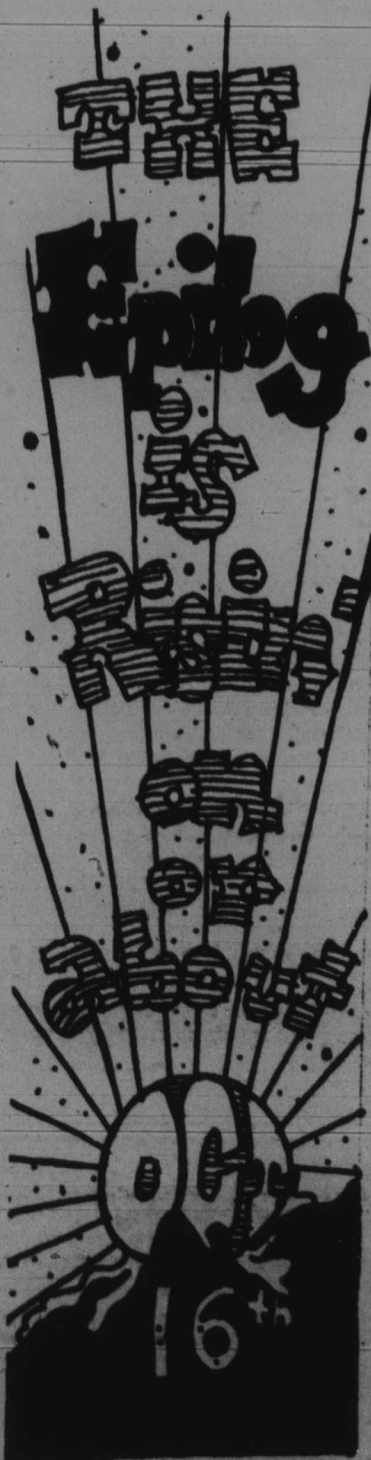

At any rate, we the people payed for their games. P.L.D.O. (Wow we're already a buracracy) joined with some far out high school people and formed a group called Young People for Justice. We chose this name and approach because we now know what we were up against.

Our daily news papers and our reactionary politicians had people believing that Las Vegas was about to be over run with about 500,000 wild long haired San Fransico crazies, (wouldn't that be beautiful) instead of the audience of about 14,000 (mostly local) that would have been there. We held a rally at city hall and a free concert after that outside in front of the Student Union. With the help of Frank Shreck we made at least token gains from the city and a giant step with the county. As a result of this step we decided to take advantage of our success and celebrate. The result, as many of you know was a 12 hour free rock festival which drew, over the course of the day somewhere in the neighborhood of 12,000 beautiful people.

P.L.D.O. is now in the process of changing to a People's Office with such things as bail funds, Social Action, Rock concerts etc. all working and hopefully communicating together. We now have an office in the Student Union building and we are presently looking for an old warehouse for an artist Co-Op and coffee house.

If you can dig getting into political or social action or if you just dig holding tura-ons, then come and see us. All Power to the People

REBEL RAPPINGS

By Fred Rosenfeld, Sports Editor

UNLV's loss to the Bengals was coming since last year. Early season losses to Drake and Tulsa meant little. The Bengals are rated to take the Big Sky.

Oregon Tech is a patsy. The Rebels will eat them alive. Final: Rebels 42-13. Tech was beaten this week 14-6 by E. Washington, who ain't no powerhouse!

Congratulations to Coach Gordon Edwards for the fine UNLV Invitational. An outstanding effort in establishing this annual event. Team tried very hard and should be complimented on their efforts, simply overpowered and outclassed.

This week we will get a few columnists from our Journalism class. If anybody is interested in working on the paper in any capacity, i.e. columnist, ads etc., contact the publications office in room 302, 303 or 304 in the Student Union. Help is wanted and needed.

Next week the RY sports staff gets the service of last years famous columnist and sports seer "Baltimore Benny" whose phenomenal accuracy in prediction wins and scores makes Jimmy the Greek seem palled by comparison. Watch for this featured columnist!!!

Rebels Pounded In To Ground By Bengals of ISU, 64-34

Revenge-minded Idaho State University pounded out a 64-34 victory Saturday night before 12,440 win-starved fans. The jammed stadium and home opener provided the inducement needed for the Bengals to snap a five game losing streak that began with the 1969 upset victory of the Rebels 35-31 at Cashman field.

ISU opened up the scoring in the first quarter with quarterback Jerry Dunn sneaking over the 1 yard line on a keeper. With the Rebs down 7-0 Kennedy went back to pass and unloaded a 61 yard bomb to Nate Hawkins to set the ball up on the ISU 12 yard line. On the next play Kennedy drilled a 12 yarder to Hawkins and he stepped across the line to tie it up 7-7. George Saphire punched his way over from the 1, late in the 1st quarter. The drive covered 78 yards in 9 plays including a 48 yard pass play to Gregg Brown. Vince Hart toed the extra point and the Rebels led 14-7.

With the Rebels gaining confidence with each play, and the Bengals floundering helplessly it looked as if a repeat of last years victory was in the making. It was at this point, however, that the "dome fell in". Dunn threw for a ten yard pass to Harris for a TD and conversion making the score 14-14. Early in the second quarter flankerback Tom Ude outran George Powell and hauled in a Jerry Dunn pass on the 26 and scampered 74 yards for the score. The PAT made it Bengals 21, Rebels 14.

Gary Washington received the kick-off bringing the ball out to the 42 on a fantastic run, only to have it negated when he fumbled away. Seven plays later Jimmy Jackson slashed his way over from the 13 on a hand off from Dunn. The Rebel defensive line men got in there and blocked the extra point try to make the score 27-14.

The Rebels took over but were unable to move the ball and had to punt to the ISU 2 yard line. It took the Bengals 12 plays to move the 98 yards and hit paydirt with Tyrone Watley, Ron Havinear and Jimmy Jackson cracking out the yardage. Jackson again carried the ball over, this time from the 4. Hurst's try for the extra point was good and the sad figures showed the Rebels down 34-14. Idaho St. scored it's 4th 2nd quarter TD on a 19 yard run by QB Dunn capping a four play drive to the Reb. 19. The kick failed and things looked bad, 40-14. Gregg Brown fumbled on the Las Vegas 24 and the Bengals got the ball. Five plays later Dunn popped a two-yarder to Ude for 6. The extra point made the score a devastating 47-14. Late in the second quarter the Rebels showed some spasms of life as they marched to the 2 yard line with "Big Mack" Gilchrest crunching in for the score. Gilchrest carried the ball in for the PAT and the dejected Rebels walked into the dressing room at half-time on the short end of a 47-22 score. The Rebels toughened up in the third quarter and held a 47-22 score. The Rebels toughened up in the third quarter and held Idaho State to a 39 yard field goal and a safety when Leonard Failed to get out of the UNLV goal area. The UNLV offense was unable to generate a score and at the end of the 3rd quarter it was 52-22 Bengals. In the 4th quarter Jim Starkes came in for Kennedy and sparked the Rebels to a TD on a 59 yard pass play to Nathaniel Hawkins. The point after touchdown failed. ISU then drove to the Rebel 2 where Millward punched in from, the extra point failing. Starkes then wound up the Scarlet and Gray and took them down to Idaho St.'s 14 where he promptly passed to Greg Brown for the final UNLV tally. The try for the extra point failed and the score stood 58-34.

ISU's Millward again drove in from the 3 yard line for the final Rebel humiliation. Rebel defensive linemen, doing an excellent job of blocking point after touchdown attempts, again caused the PAT try to fail, the final score reading ISU 64, UNLV 34. Head coach Bill Ireland did not attempt to make excuses for the poor performance of his squad. He did, however, mention that a last minute substitution rule invoked by the Bengals five minutes before the game rattled his team. "This meant we had to juggle out punt return and kicking teams, and with such confusion going on we were inclined to lose our concentration," he said.

Ireland especially praised QB Jim Starkes for his performance in engineering 2 touchdowns late in the game. This is Starkes' second appearance this season. The freshman QB completed 10 of 17 for 169 yards and a sparkling .588 percentage completion average.

FACTS ABOUT THE DRAFT LAWS

Students Play Game With Lottery Numbers

As December 31 approaches, students across the country must decide upon their final and most important play in the Lottery "numbers game."

Students with "low" Lottery numbers know only too well they must remain deferred through December 31 or face "Greetings." They will choose to request the II-S student deferment in September. A year from now they may take their chances, hoping for a change in draft calls, the law, the war, or their health.

A student with a "high" Lottery number will want to put his year of draft vulnerability behind him. To do so, (1) he must be in class I-A, I-A-O, or I-O on December 31; and his Lottery number must have been reached by that date. If the student meets both these qualifications on December 31, he will descend from the 1970 "first priority" group to the 1971 "second priority" group on New Year's Day. For all practical purposes, this descent assures virtual immunity from induction.

Assuming the student with the "high" Lottery number is not going C. O., he will have to seek a I-A this fall. In order to do so, he must not request the II-S deferment. According to the law, a local board should not place a student in class II-S unless he has requested the deferment. This rule applies regardless of whether the student meets all the other requirements for a II-S.

A college cannot legally request the deferment for a student. Furthermore, a II-S request for a prior academic year cannot be construed as a II-S request for the current year.

Students with Lottery numbers in the "middle" would appear to be in a real quandary. They cannot predict with certainty whether they will be called. Should they take a chance, not request a II-S, and hope their Lottery numbers prove safe? The lure of "second priority" next year is great.

Or should students in the "middle" opt for security, request a II-S, retain it through December 31, and face "first priority" again next year? Security is also tempting, but it may cause bitter disillusionment when the student in class II-S on December 31 discovers that his number was not reached, and he would have made it.

The dream of students in the "middle" would be to wait until December 31 before deciding whether or not to be deferred on December 31. The I-S (C) deferment is a dream come true.

The I-S (C) deferment is available to any fulltime college student who, while satisfactorily pursuing his studies, receives an induction order. If the student has never held a I-S (C) deferment and does not have a baccalaureate degree, he is entitled to have his induction order cancelled. He qualifies for class I-S (C), where he must be kept until the end of the 12 month academic year.

Consider the utility of this deferment: Suppose a student has Lottery number 190. He is unsure whether it will be reached. Nevertheless, he does not request a II-S and remains I-A through the fall semester.

Unfortunately, before December 31, the student loses his gamble. Lottery number 190 is reached, and the student receives an induction notice. The student immediately requests a I-S (C) deferment, proving to his board that he actually was a full-time student, making satisfactory progress, when he got his order. The order will be cancelled --not merely postponed-- and the student will have to play without one of his favorite gambits, since the I-S (C) provides a convenient way to hedge on the I-A bet. However, there are two potential pitfalls: First, the board may classify the student II-S even though he makes no request. Second, assuming the student gets a I-S (C), his tactics may be considered a delay. Consequently, when his deferments run out, he may be immediately ordered to report, despite the fact that his number has not yet been reached in the year he becomes I-A. A safe path across these pitfalls will be described in the next column.

NEVADAS YOUNG CITIZENS MET SUNDAY TO DISCUSS SELECTIVE SERVICE MATTERS

Nevada's Young Citizens Advisory Council to the State Director of Selective Service met Sunday in Carson City to discuss various selective service matters and welcome two new members.

Elected as officers for the coming years were Chairman Roger Puccinelli, Sparks, representing the Joint Apprenticeship Council; Vice-chairman Mike Jessup, Reno, representing the University of Nevada, Reno Campus; and Secretary Julie Mastroianni

Girls State representative from Carson City. Outgoing officers were Rene Arceneaux, Las Vegas; Joe Pedrojetti, Hawthorne; and JoAnn Forman, Carson City.

New members to the council, Chris Kaempher, Las Vegas, representing the University of Nevada, Las Vegas Campus; and Louis Test, Reno, representing ROTC, were given the oath of office by Colonel Addison Millard, State Director.

The 1971 lottery which determines the order in which selective service registrants will be called was discussed. Continuance of student deferments and their status as well as violators and enforcement practices were reviewed. Other matters involving recommendations from the July Youth Advisory Council meeting in Washington D. C., and the appointment and composition of local draft board membership were on the agenda. Chairman Puccinelli advised the next meeting will be held on

ARE YOU READY FOR THE WAR

Draftees Killed At Faster Rate

WASHINGTON--(CPS)--Army draftees have almost twice as high a chance of being killed in Vietnam as non-draftee enlisted men, according to a U. S. Army study.

During 1969, draftees were killed at the rate of 31 per 1,000 and injured at the rate of 203 per 1,000, while first term enlistees were killed at the rate of 17 per 1,000 and injured at the rate of 120 per 1,000.

The reason draftees tend to be killed at a much higher rate is that the Army, in a procedure different from previous wars, allows men who enlist for three years to choose what job they want. Because of this, draftees who make up 56 percent of the men entering the Army, tend to make up a much higher percentage of combat units.

William K. Brehm, assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and reserve affairs, explains that "the popular jobs are the ones for which people enlist. They don't enlist for the hard-core combat skills; 70 percent of the infantry, armor and artillery are draftees."

A Defense Department manpower expert, who refused to be quoted by name, told a reporter for National Journal, a newsletter which requested the Army study, that "we've studied this problem very carefully. People don't deem to enlist in the Army to fight. We recognize the inequity this causes in a shooting war, but we don't know what to do about it."

College graduates are slightly less likely to be assigned to combat duty but there are no figures separating draftees from enlistees among college graduates. 36.2 percent of the graduates who entered the Army in 1969 were assigned to combat jobs, compared with the overall rate of 43.3 percent. 61 percent of the graduates were draftees.

The higher death rate of draftees in Vietnam would have been ended by an amendment to the military procurement bill, which would have barred the sending of draftees to Vietnam unless they volunteered to go. The amendment, authored by Sen. William Proxmire, (D-Wisc.), was rejected by a vote of 22-71.

The Army says it has no figures on the chances of a draftee serving in Vietnam, but other figures indicate that 8,000 draftees are sent to Vietnam each month. The monthly draft call has been running about 10,000. 30 percent of all draftees then in the Army were serving in Vietnam on July 1, compared with 25 percent of first term enlistees.

Many persons, including Sen. Proxmire, feel that the three-year enlistee should not be able to cop out of the combat while draftees must fight; the Army is apparently un-willing to remove the provision because enlistments might drop, forcing a drastic rise in draft calls. "As strange as it sounds," Brahm said, "only 800 young men a month out of 200 million Americans are enlisting for combat. If we went to an all-volunteer force in Vietnam, it's quite conceivable that that's all we might get."

PEOPLE RELATE TO DIRECTOR

By Chris Kaempfer.

Presently there exists in Nevada, a Young Citizens Advisory Council to the Selective Service. Its purpose is to relay the ideas of the young people of Nevada to the State Director, Colonel Millard. Two months ago I was appointed to that council by Dr. Roman Zorn to represent our campus, and just recently the first meeting of the Council was held in Carson City. At that meeting, I learned quite a bit about the functioning of the draft system and every citizen's rights within that system. It was an awakening experience.

I found that many of my notions about the draft system, most specifically the draft lottery, were incorrect. Fearing that many of my false notions are still held by some students, I will attempt to explain the lottery as I now interpret it. My first misconception was that after one year of eligibility at 1-A, a person was free from draft call.

This is not correct. As he gets older, his chances of getting called are diminished, but not extinguished. And this does not only occur in a national emergency, but could occur in any tense situation.

Let me explain. This year, the draft call on the national average is to be 195. Apparently those numbers 196-365 are not eligible for the draft, as their one year eligibility expires. But the following year, they are still in the draft lottery and will be inducted if that year's call goes over 365. and in some states, local boards have already exceeded the 300 mark. If the war expands, Jordan gets hotter, or anything else happens that threatens the world situation, the lottery system could run through 365.

Let's say your number is 200 in 1970 and you are now 1-A, and still eligible for the draft. Next year, 1971, the first to be called will be those people classified 1-A in 1970 who had delays that prevented them from being drafted.

The President has failed to define "delay" and many local draft boards are supplying their own definitions, some more harshly than others.

After that group, the lottery for 1971 will start. If that lottery goes all the way to 365, the next to be called will be those from the 1970 lottery, starting with 196. Number 200 would be the fifth man to go in 1971.

In 1971 his number would be in essence 370 and his eligibility for the draft real. As the years progress, his eligibility becomes less threatening but it is always present, until he reaches the age of 35. It is important to make clear that a national emergency need not exist before the call is expanded. Only a situation where the national government decides that more manpower is needed.

Reforms are constantly being considered, such as: lowering the age and tenure requirements of board numbers, developing a nation-wide draft call to eliminate such things as some boards reaching 365 while others only 150.

It again has to be stressed to each student the importance of knowing where he stands with his board, and what rights are open to him. In future weeks, we'll discuss the Selective Service and it's view of conscientious objectors, the rights of appeal, how the Selective Service sees an all-volunteer army, minority members on local boards, suggested reforms, the new director, and how the Selective Service deals with violations of the draft, and many more questions of interest to students.

This state has a director who is receptive to new ideas. Some of those ideas he gets from me and the other members of the board. And I get my ideas from you. Let me know your ideas. As senior senator, I have office hours on the 3rd floor of the Student Union every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10-12. Please come and see me with your questions and ideas. At the present time the draft is a fact. We must work within that frame-

ONLY INVITATIONAL IS SUCCESS

Ralph Ortega over Larry Mann by a half-step.

By Fred Rosenfeld

The 1st Annual Unlv Invitational got underway Saturday morning under what must be considered the brightest and clearest sky this valley has seen for a long, long time. A festive, if almost carnival-like atmosphere pervaded the scene. The multitudes of varied colored jersey's, and red-hatted officials bobbing about like red corpuscles had to be likened to a scene from Kubrick's 2001. It was definitely, however, business time for Coach Gordon Edwards, meet director. Tearing about the field, he had his hands full keeping the meet running smoothly. The cooperation of everyone involved was fantastic and certainly enabled the meet to proceed almost without a single mishap. It was Cal State Fullerton which took home the glory Saturday. With an "A" and "B" team entered in the meet they were certainly well represented. Running away from the rest of the field, Cal State Fullerton took 5 firsts, 1 second and 1 fourth. Top time of the day was by Mark Covert, CSF "A" who turned a 19:53.5 for the 4 mile run. Total team time (computed by adding time for all 7 runners) was 144:33.9 almost five minutes better than runner-up UN, Reno.

Powerful University of Nevada,

Reno edged out the University of Arizona on the strength of 1 second, 3 thirds, and 1 fourth, to take home second place. Total team times were 148:04.6 and 149:01.4 respectively.

A quick controversy erupted during the first race (number 7 runners) as it was charged that 2 runners failed to clear a small fence as instructed and avoided it. As no official was on the scene (are they ever?) the charge had to be dismissed, much to the chagrin of a few of the coaches. On the whole, however, officials did an excellent job of steering runners on the course, and timing correctly.

It must be noted that the officials were composed almost completely of volunteers who generously donated their time for the university. The use of Bulova sports stopwatches was also donated by local business man Vern Christiansen of Christiansen Jewelers.

For the most part, it must be stated that cross country meets are not spectator sports. Nevertheless, the sparse turnout of spectators really did not do the runners justice as they developed some terrific running duels nearing the finish line. The most exciting race of the meet featured Ralph Ortega of Arizona and Larry Mann of Cal State, Fullerton "A". Both of these runners exploded into a full run approximately 500 yards from the finish and matched step for step to the finish line Ortega edging out Mann by a half-step. It was a terrific finish bringing hundreds of official, coaches, teammates and spectators to their feet exhorting them on.

Looking at the entire meet in perspective, we can only say that it was a resounding success. Coach Edwards put one hell of a lot of work into this meet dating back to the spring of 1970. If desire is any parameter in achieving success then subsequent invitations will certainly improve in quality.

UNLV's leather-lungers consistently gave good accounts of themselves but were simply out-classed by the powerful cross-country squads of the larger universities. Top UNLV time of the day was Blaine Clarke #4 runner who turned a 22:19.3 and gained a 9th place finish for his efforts out of 14 runners. High place finish went to Ed Brown in race #5 with a 22:28.1! For the day, UNLV finished 10th, ahead of Pacific Azusa College, but less than a minute behind 9th place Cal Poly, Pomona.

Lovely Val Zupson, 1970 homecoming queen awarded the trophies and individual medals to the runners.

Coach Edwards announced that the meet has been dedicated to the late Juan Moser, UNLV student and member of the team. Juan was killed last week in a car accident.

This week the squad will travel to Fresno Pacific at Fresno, for a meet on October 3rd.
