UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, LAS VEGAS

Merry

The sun arose in the darkness,
A ray of sunlight glowed deep in a blade of grass,
The warmth kissed life,
And then there was love,
A revolving spirit reproduced in the night,
And the image was kissed by the sunlight,
And then there was man.
And man was love, and man was darkness,
And the Sun wanted balance,
And the Son came to Earth,
And for a frozen, eternal moment.....
there was peace.....

Once again, the name change is to come before the students for a vote. An initiative petition was presented to the Judicial Board last week. Judicial Board Chief Justice William Mannard reports that the petition contained 399 signatures and that 200 of these will have to prove valid for the petition to be accepted.

According to CSUN President Dick Myers, the balloting shall take place on the 13 and 14 of January. Voting shall be by a yes or no type ballot.

At its December 9 meeting, the Joint session passes a motion setting the dates for the initiative election, and outlining the procedures to be followed should the name be defeated. This involves the formation of a committee of students, alumnus, faculty, and President Zorn. This committee shall choose three names from a "community wide contest" which shall appear on a ballot. This was amended to include a $100 savings bond as an award to the person who submits the winning name. Another amendment to the motion was that if the students vote not to retain the present name, it cannot be brought up again by the committee.

REGENTS DECISION PAINT IT!

At its recent meeting, the board of Regents approved a recommendation by UNLV President Zorn that the Chemistry building be given a "decorative and waterproofing multimil texture coating" at the cost of $11,920,000. This approval was given over the recommendations of both the architectural firm of Jack Miller and Associates which designed the structure and Planning Board Manager William E. Hancock.

Those who were opposed to the painting of the building had recommended that the building be allowed to "exist as is approximately one year and then give consideration to the pigmented stain application."

The new split-level Chemistry Building--the first addition of classroom facilities on campus in five years--opened its doors this semester at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Cornerstone ceremonies conducted recently by the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons marked the official opening of the $1.5 million structure.

Designed to house an undergraduate chemistry program for a 12,000 to 15,000-student university, the facility will more than double UNLV's permanent science space.

The building contains 11 major laboratories, a reference library, five classrooms, office and research space for 16 faculty members, two major stockrooms and a variety of spaces for special

The building's design emphasizes informality among students and faculty, said Dr. Robert Smith, dean of the College of Science and Mathematics. Faculty offices, equipped with personal laboratory equipment have been located adjacent to student laboratories to achieve maximum student-professor contact, he added.

Classrooms seating from 12 to 100 persons, a sheltered patio and a sundeck are some of the features of the building which also accentuate interaction among instructors and students.

Original planning of the building was initiated in the fall of 1966. The state legislature funded the project in 1967, and construction began in the spring of 1969.

Architect Bob Fielden of Jack Miller and Associates designed the building and the J.A. Tiberti Co. was the contractor.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which contributed $500,000 toward the funding of the 47,000-square-foot structure, was so impressed with the plans, Smith mentioned, that the Washington office requested a set of blueprints as a model of how the job should be done.

CORNHUSKERS BUY

REBEL SHOP SOLD

The Board of Regents in their meeting last Friday and Saturday, December 11 and 12, approved President Zorn's proposal to close the Rebel Shop. Zorn's accepted proposal recommends that "1) The Bookstore be closed immediately; 2) Its assets liquidated to satisfy liabilities; 3) A contract be made with the Nebraska Book Company to operate the store in conformity with the terms stated; and 4) Any unsatisfied liabilities after liquidation be paid by the Student Union Board out of subsequent rebates by the Nebraska Book Company."

This proposal was accompanied by a letter from Zorn to Chancellor Humphrey, and a memo from Winston Burbank, Chairman of the Student Union Board, stating the Board's reasons for their decision to accept the offer of Nebraska Book Company. The explanation, in short was that Pollet's offer was four per cent rebate purchase of equipment, and not to purchase the stock on hand, while Nebraska's offer, basically, was for six per cent commission, purchase at one third discount the stock on hand, and not to purchase the equipment.

Under the Nebraska offer, the Bookstore is expected, based on current sales, to be clear of debts by June of 1972. This includes some thirty thousand dollars in loans from the Capital Improvement Fee Fund.

Board Decision Upheld

RANKE VOTE!

The Student Union Board held an open discussion meeting on, December 10, 1970 to discuss its November 16 decision asking Mr. Ranke, Student Union Director, to resign. Approximately 70 students attended this meeting to give their opinions to the Board and to hear the Board's explanation of its decision.

order by chairman Win Burbank. After the minutes were approved from the previous meeting, a presentation was made of the criteria that the Board based its decision on.

The insolvency of the Bookstore was the major topic of discussion during the 3 1/2 hour meeting. Many other problems were brought up and discussed at the conclusion of the open discussion. Many other problems were brought up and discussed.

At the conclusion of the open discussion session, the Union Board recessed for five minutes and reconvened in Dick Myers' office for another personnel session to reconsider its previous decision.

This meeting went on until 12:30 a.m. The Union Board with one abstention voted to maintain its original position.

There were many good points and questions raised during the open discussion meeting, which the Board brought into consideration.

Win Burbank said the meeting went very well since it provided an avenue of communication with students who provided the Board with additional opinions to consider. All parties concerned wish to thank everyone who attended.

FOREIGN AID NEEDED

There are currently 35 foreign students attending classes at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas who desire to understand the United States and its people more fully during their limited stay here.

Consequently a host family program has been organized in which Las Vegans extend a foreign student an invitation for afternoon coffee, evening meal, holiday visit or any other social affair at which the American and the visitor can share in an exchange of ideas.

The main purpose of the program is to provide foreign students an opportunity to gain insight into American home life while simultaneously allowing the family to learn about the students' culture.

A host family may help to familiarize a foreign student with such items as vending machines, laundromats, supermarkets, banking procedures, city bus routes or local recreational facilities.

Mrs. John Standish of the Community Campus Committee for Foreign Students at UNLV said 25 more families have volunteered already for the host program, but that a few more are needed to invite students into their homes. She said application forms are available from the Office of Student Personnel Services in Room 120 of the Campus Union in UNLV.

DISCOUNT SERVICES TO BE OFFERED TO STUDENTS

All students at UNLV will be interested to know that the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity has signed up merchants all over town to offer substantial discounts to both students and faculty at the university, as well as to high school students and faculty. The list of local merchants will be announced shortly in The Yell, and the fraternity will be offering discount cards to students and faculty very soon.

One of the new merchants that will honor the "Student Discount Card," as it is already known nationally, is A plus University Services. A plus was started last week because the university is growing very rapidly, and yet there is no one-stop/discount shopping service oriented to the needs of students. A plus has recognized this need, and they are now offering services that all students need at one time or another, and they are offering them to the student with free on-campus pick-up and delivery. For example, you can have anything typed at Aplus, since they have 15 very experienced typists, all at competitive rates. Drop off your typing now or during vacation time--they will be open during the holidays--and pick it up after you come back. If you need something printed, off-set printing, mimeographing, and dittoing are offered at the lowest cost in town. Xerox services are offered at lower prices than the coin-operated machines on campus, and for those who want to type their own papers, typewriters are offered for rent at the lowest prices in town. If you need to write a report in a hurry, you can call A plus and get a 20-subject bibliography on any subject. If writing the report has kept you up all night, you can make use of Aplus's wake-up service so you can make that 8 o'clock class. When you are getting ready to look for a job after graduation or a part-time job while still in school, A plus offers counseling by a Ph.D. with business experience, who will take your best qualities and turn them into an outstanding resume, and mail them to 25 firms that would be especially interested in hiring you. Their address and phone number are in the full-page ad in today's Yell. Beginning in the spring semester, A plus will have several more surprises in store for students, but the Yell can't tell you what they are yet, since they are still in the planning stages. Be sure and watch The Yell for more information. One new service, especially, will probably be demanded by every student on campus, but A plus doesn't want to give all its secrets away all at once.

As an example of the value of the "Student Discount Card," A plus University Services will offer a 5% discount to all students if they save their receipts and turn them into A plus at the end of the semester. Other things you can get with the "Student Discount Card" are: $12 worth of Pizza Hut coupons, a free roll of Kodak film, guaranteed reservations at any Ramada Inn at reduced rates, a free meal at Der Wienerschnitzel, among others. If you are traveling to Los Angeles, you can take advantage of such hot discounts as 10% off at the Liverpool "mod clothing" shop on La Cienega, 10-15% off on Suzuki and BSA motorcycles at Louie Thomas Modern Cycles on South Atlantic Boulevard, and $2.00 on men's hair-styling, including shampoo, cut, and comb-out at Mahny's on Broxton Avenue. In Reno, you can get 10% off on everything at the M.B. Record Corral on California Avenue, 20% off on everything at Mr. Anthony's Hair Designer's and 2¢ off on each gallon of gas and 10% off on tires and batteries at Walt's Gulf Service on North Virginia Street.

MR. EDDINGTON

RECIEVES AWARD

Any industry that is as diversified as the hotel industry is, has a need for a specialist in upper management. This week the Hotelman's Association saluted Mr. Eddington, a representative from the sales department of the Flamingo Hotel.

Interview with Mr. Paul Eddington an advisor to the Hotelman's Association is as follows:

Question: Would a college graduate interested in a position in hotel sales find it difficult to obtain a position?

Answer: No, but I would suggest that the graduate find a position and experience within other phases of the hotel operation first. I would suggest the front desk to be the start of gathering this essential experience. The sales department encompasses all aspects of the hotel's overall operation. To sell a product you must be knowledgeable about the product.

Question: Mr. Eddington there have been rumors around Las Vegas that the Hilton Hotel Corporation is going to get involved with the International Leisure Corporation.

Answer: Recently, the Hilton Corporation acquired an interest in International Leisure Corporation, which owns the Flamingo and International Hotels. As of now, the Hilton people have an interim management agreement with us. The consummation of the deal is to take place after the first of the new year. Already we are experiencing a sales advantage with the Hilton Corporation. We are on line with the Hilton's Reservation Service and have access to sales information leads that were not at our disposal in the past.

Question: Mr. Eddington, do you think that a position in convention sales is less secure than other staff positions within the hotel?

Answer: In reply I would have to say no, because if a salesman is doing his job, his performance can be measured, more so than someone else's position can be measured. Las Vegas is now and will in the future more and more depend on the convention market and the expanding leisure market.

Question: Do you see an advantage to Mr. Vallen's incorporating a tour and travel study?

Answer: Yes! I think that tour and travel is a dynamic and growing area for hotel sales. I am delighted to see Mr. Vallen initiate this study in tour and travel. The Flamingo Hotel has specialized in tour and travel for the past two years. It has proven to be an excellent source of business for our hotel. We are attempting to expand this market to include more international tourism as well.

question: In closing Mr. Eddington, what do you think of Las Vegas as a place to work and live?

Answer: I think Las Vegas is a great place to live and work especially for hotel people. In the United States and the world there are a lot of magnificent hotels but none to compare with the hotels in Las Vegas. Working in Las Vegas is an exhilarating and exciting experience; it's truly the major league of our industry.

"PASS FAIL APPROVED!"

The Faculty Senate, in their December 15 meeting, approved a pass-fail system for the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. This program will be submitted to the Board of Regents for their approval.

Under the new system, any undergraduate student may take not more than one course per semester on pass-fail, and a maximum of twenty-four credits for a student on a degree program. These grades, earned under the pass-fail system are not to be computed in his grade point average.

In addition, the instructor shall know who is enrolled under the pass-fail system. The proposal, introduced by Paul Aizley of the College of Science and Math, also stated that the "other requirements and conditions shall be determined by the separate colleges except that there shall be uniform registration procedures throughout the University.

A VIEW FROM THE LOCKER-ROOM

by Bill Jones

The stage is being set and UNLV stands to get the leading part in the play. Just three days after the flying red ball express has delivered his gifts, the Rebels will swing into action, Holiday Classic action.

In past Holiday Classics the Rebels have stacked up an impressive record. In the years from 1961 to 1969, the Rebels have won 4 out of 9 championships. Each year the all tournament team along with a most valuable player for the tournament, are chosen. Every year from 1961 to 1968, UNLV has placed one or more players on the all-tournament team and has secured 4 out of 8 most valuable players for the tournament. Some of the outstanding UNLV names behind the history of the Holiday Classic are: (1961) MVP-Tim Leonard, (1964) MVP-Silas Stepp, (1965) All-Tournament-Clyde Dawson, (1966) MVP-Elbert Miller, (1967) MVP-John Trapp, (1968) All-Tournament-Curtis Watson & Bruce Chapman. UNLV holds 18 out of 19 tournament records in Team Tournament, Individual Tournament, Team Scoring, and Individual Player records. In summary, UNLV has dominated throughout the history of the Holiday Classic.

But now in the closing days of 1970, UNLV is back again to try for another championship. And we can do it to, with the defensive pressure of Al Clise, the tenacious scoring of Odis Allison, the powerful rebounding of Toby Houston, the melodious scoring of Booker Washington, and the combined effort of Mike Whaley, Robert Riley, Len Zarndt, Ed Carman, Andy Riley, and George Warner, we should crush Indiana State and blitz the tournament runner-up. Yes, our team is really !! getting it together!! and coach Bayer is the man who deserves the credit.

If you like fast-paced, winning basketball, come to the Holiday Classic and see ramble ball at it's best.

INDOOR TRACK SEASON STARTS

The indoor track season is just two months away. The first meet will be at Pocatello, Idaho on January 30, 1971 in the mini-dome and the second one at the same site on Feb. 20. The competition on those dates will include Idaho State, Utah, Colorado University, Utah State, and Washington State.

The time to begin training for your event is here. My policy in the past and present is that only those athletes who are working out on a regular basis will be taken to the indoor meets. Coach McDaniels and Coach Edwards will be available at 3:00pm every day at the gym to coach the various events.

The outdoor season starts on March 5 with Palomar Junior College & Laverne College.

It is important that you pre-register this semester for the spring semester. Official team practice will start with the issue of equipment on Jan. 4 and 5. Practice will start at 3:30pm so try not to schedule classes between 3:00 and 6:00 pm.

WANT MORE ON SPORTS?

Interested in sports and recreation on campus? I am, that's why I write articles in the Rebel Yell. I am interested in your opinions. Any reasonable article will not be edited. Don't care to write your self? Then just contact Bill Jones and give me your opinions and I will put them in the paper. Pro or con, we want to hear about it. We are trying to improve the paper, the students paper, so let's have some student articles insports so that we can have better sports coverage. We can have a better paper with intelligent comments and relevant campus news if the students get behind us and get involved. I don't read minds very well, so if you care to have opinions heard, leave articles addressed to Bill Jones in care of Rebel Yell in the student Union Director's Office; or bring them upstairs to the Rebel Yell office.

PROFESSOR

RECEIVES AWARD

One of the nation's most respected educators of handicapped and emotionally disturbed children has been appointed Distinguished Adjunct Professor of Special Education at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Dr. Newell C. Kephart, founder and director of the Glen Haven Achievement Center in Fort Collins, Colorado, will continue residence in Colorado, but journey to UNLV often to consult with the Department of Special Education on research projects, publications and program development.

Announcement of Dr. Kephart's appointment was made by Dr. Anthony Saville, dean of the College of Education.

Traditionally, the adjunct professor is a man of prominence in his field who lends insight to the development of a particular subject and asks no financial reimbursement for his efforts. This was explained by Dr. Saville.

"We are pleased to note that Dr. Kephart, who will add considerable dimension to our program has selected UNLV as his only direct University affiliation.

In addition to his work with faculty, Dr. Kephart will supervise students in their classwork, internship programs, independent study and also student teaching experiences, according to Dr. Robert Gelhart, department chairman. Once a year, he will conduct a workshop on the campus on the latest techniques of educating the exceptional child.

Conversely, the educator will make available to the department the facilities, pupils, and personnel of the Glen Haven Achievement Center for purposes of student teaching, internship and research, Dr. Gelhart said.

Nationally recognized for its approach to the teaching of the handicapped, the achievement center is where Dr. Kephart not only treats afflicted children but conducts extensive research into the methods of rehabilitating handicapped children.

With more than 20 years experience in the field of learning disability, Dr. Kephart is known worldwide for his special treatment technique known as the "kephart method". He has written eight books on his research principles and published nearly 100 articles in professional journals.

Prior to his foundation of the Glen Haven Achievement Center, he was a professor of special education at Purdue University.

MR. "G" LEAVING

Paul D. Greenberger, Dean of Men, will not be here when the new year begins. Mr. G. has decided to return to Hofstra University in New York, where he was employed before he came to UNLV.

Mr. G. earned his B.A. from Wilmington College, Wilmington, Ohio, with majors in English, Art, and Psychology. He received his M.A. from Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, with majors in Anthropology and Sociology. At Temple University, Philadelphia, Penn. Mr. G. majored in education towards his doctorate for one year. He also attended New York University, where he majored in sociology with plans to earn his Ph. D. degree.

Mr. G. has been with us since July of 1969. In addition to being Dean of Men, he is head of Tonopah Hall, Associate Dean of Students, Selective Service Advisor, a member of the Student Union Board, and has served on various other committees.

Mr. G. is well known around the campus, and will certainly be missed. Last year when he lived in the dorm, a lot of the students got to know Mr. G. It will be a difficult job trying to find someone to replace him. In his short time here, he has added a flair that will not only be missed but will be hard to copy. We all wish Mr. G. success in the future at any school he goes to and hope that he will not forget his years at UNLV.

As has been expected, the Board of Regents last week gave their OK to the plan which calls for the increase of Capital Improvement Fees by $42 per semester. This is an increase of 100%. Also in these plans is the $100 per semester increase in Out-of-state tuition.

This money is to be spent for projects within the University of Nevada System, with about 58% of all project funds earmarked for UNLV.
