ATTENTION SENIORS . . .

The EPILOGUE wishes to remind seniors that appointments for yearbook pictures should be made immediately. Portraits by Homer in the Boulevard will photograph graduating seniors during the month of March only. Students with other graduation photos may submit them to the EPILOGUE office with name, degree, graduation date and area of schooling prior to UNLV included.

For more information concerning pictures or appointments, please contact the EPILOGUE office at 739-3479 as soon as possible.

Additional grant money awarded to UNLV students

The University of Nevada's Las Vegas campus will receive an additional $5,080 to finance Educational Opportunity Grant awards to 16 students, Senators Alan Bible and Howard Cannon said recently.

Bible and Cannon said the funds are for supplemental grants ranging from $200 to $1,000 each academic year for students of exceptional financial need.

Each grant must be matched by an equal amount of financial assistance in state or private aid or through work-study employment or student loans.

Educational opportunity Grants are authorized under the Hieg are authorized under the Higher Education Act of 1965, which Bible and Cannon supported in the 89th Congress.

Panhellenic congratulates newly elected officers

The UNLV Panhellenic wishes to extend their congratulations to the newly elected officers of Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Zeta and Phi Mu for the 1972-73 school year.

Newly elected presidents are: Patti Zane - Alpha Delta Pi Margi Skurski - Delta Zeta Sandy Cooper - Phi Mu

March 1st newly elected Panhellenic officers were installed for the 1972-73 school year. They are Sherry Cox new President of Panhellenic, Sandra Simshauser outgoing president, Jill Snyder new Vice President, Vicky Stewart outgoing Vice President, Vicky Stewart new Sec./Tres. outgoing Terri Wheeler and all the new representatives from Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Zeta and Phi Mu. Advisor is Mrs. Cynthia Themlis. Congratulations to them from all the Sororities.

On March 12th Phi Mus and Delta Zeta will sponsor a Panhellenic program - 7:00 p.m. in the Conference Room Student Union. Everyone is invited.

All Sororities are now conducting rush. Any girl interested

Phi Gamma Nu Business Sorority

Phi Gamma Nu National Business Sorority recently celebrated its 48th Founders Day with a banquet held at the "Round Table." Guest speaker for the event was Mrs. Mary Jane Loper, director of the Southern Nevada Drug Abuse Council.

Mrs. Loper spoke on the current drug problems in Las Vegas and how it effects you, the individual.

On Feb. 19th initiation was held for Miss Gai Loper and a pledging ceremony for Miss Connie Willingham.

Currently Phi Gamma Nu is conducting rush and wishes to extend an invitation to all women in Business and Hotel to join the sorority. For further information call: Carla Parker at 878-7442 or Sandra Simshauser at 735-2276.

New courses to be offered include art appreciation, foreign conversation

Spanish, French classes emphasize spoken word

Foreign language classes for persons wishing to learn how to speak conversational French and Spanish will be conducted this month at UNLV.

Persons with an elementary knowledge of Spanish may wish to enroll in the conversational Spanish class taught from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays in Room 245 of the Humanities Building.

The course, instructed by Dr. Adalberto Meneses, will meet from March 14 through May 4.

Dr. Meneses will also teach an advanced conversational Spanish course for persons with a greater knowledge of the subject who wish to improve their speaking, reading and writing of the language.

This course will meet from 7 until 9 o'clock in the evenings on the same dates in Room 239 of the Humanities Building.

The 14-session conversational French class will emphasize the spoken word. Taught by Dr. Marie-France Hilgar, the class is scheduled from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays from March 13 through May 3 in Room 217 of the Humanities Building.

All three courses, offered at a nominal fee, are sponsored by the Office of Conferences and Institutes at UNLV which is currently accepting advance registrations. (739-3378).

Art awareness spotlighted

Persons will have an opportunity to develop an awareness and appreciation of great works of art during an eight-week class starting March 14 at UNLV.

Prof. Peter L. Myer, an associate professor of art at UNLV since 1962, will introduce community residents to the world of art with lectures, slides and demonstrations.

Afternoon and evening sessions of the course are being sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of the university.

One session will meet from 1 until 2:30 p.m. each Tuesday in Room 213 of the Social Sciences Building on the campus. The other is scheduled from 7:30 until 9 p.m. each Wednesday in SS211.

Registrations are being accepted in advance by the Continuing Education Office (739-3378). Fee is $16 per person.

Prof. Myer has won local, regional and national recognition in painting and sculpture, with one man shows in the Esther Robles Gallery in Los Angeles, the Brena Gallery in Denver and the Salt Lake City Center.

His works are included in the permanent collection of the Denver Art Museum, the Colorado Spring Fine Art Center and the Phoenix Art Museum. In April, 1967, TIME Magazine featured his "Kinetic Light Sculpture."

MISS NEVADA CONTEST

Marlene Pratt, Pageant Director recently announced the deadline for entries into the regional division of the Miss Nevada Contest has been removed. There are still openings for at least four girls in the Las Vegas pageant. This contest will be held in the Cafe Continental (showroom) of the Stardust Hotel.

Girls between the ages of 18 (must be 18 by Labor Day) and 28 are eligible. Entrants will receive individual talent coaching and instruction in walking and poise. This pageant is a scholarship competition and several thousands of dollars in scholarships will be awarded.

The pageant will be held on April 9. This activity is an official Miss America Preliminary and the winner will go to the Miss Nevada Contest all expenses paid. The winner and first runner-up will also receive wardrobes and other prizes to be given.

For more information, please contact Joan Kermany at the Clark County Cooperative Extension Service at 385-6411.

The CSUN Senate was considering sponsoring a candidate for this event, but it was decided that funds were unavailable at this time for an expenditure of this nature. It was suggested that the YELL try to cooperate with the Pageant Director, in order to help create interest in this event among the students at UNLV. With scholarships available for a number of the contestants, it should not be difficult to interest the girls on campus to participate. It is worth noting, that this will require little, if any, financial outlay on the part of the participant. The YELL will also be willing to allow a candidate to use its name, if needed, for entry. As this could be an educational experience, the YELL urges your support of this event.

Woman's Club accepting scholarship applications

The UNLV Women's Club is accepting applications for two $500 scholarships for the 1972-73 academic year. Women students currently enrolled at UNLV who can fulfill scholarship requirements are encouraged to apply. Application forms are available at Student Personnel Services and in the dean's office of each college. Completed applications are due March 20 in the Dean of Women's Office. The Women's Club encourages all faculty to make this information known to qualified students.

Warren to discuss early man at Washington State symposium

An associate professor of anthropology will discuss the early man of the Great Basin and Southern California areas during a symposium next month at Washington State University.

Dr. Claude N. Warren is one of several authorities picked to represent a particular section of the United States at the conference which is examining the vestiges of ancient civilization in this country.

I thought that for a developing country this might be a waste of resources..so I checked into it a bit more deeply...It seems that the king could never bring himself to throw away the OLD throne... So he saved them in the attic of his grass hut...Years passed and the older he got, the more thrones he had stowed away in his attic...Finally he had so many thrones, the whole house fell down...My mission was a success...now the CIA had absolute proof that PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN GRASS HOUSES SHOULDN'T STOW THRONES.....

National Student Lobby progress report

Dear Editor;

Feb. 29 the Senate voted 66-28 for Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma's Amendment (so-sponsored by Sens. Hartke, McGovern, Randolph Mondale) to Higher Education Act favoring students as full-voting members of public and private college boards of trustees.

The surprising large vote margin came after 2 weeks of intense NSL lobbying. NSL worked closely with Harris' staff in contacting each Senator 3 times, in a press conference and coordination with National Student Association, Catholic Univ., Georgetown Univ., Federal C. C., George Mason Col. of U. of Va., Mary Washington Col, and sending a joint Harris-NSL letter to every student body in the country.

Two weeks ago, few people gave any realistic chance for passage, but through personal contact we found support from moderates and liberals, and from some conservatives. Support came from a number of senior Southern Democrats and amazing support came from the 1/3 of the Senate up for reelection this year (24 ayes, 7 nays, 2 not voting). The 5 nays who are running for election are: Baker, Curtis, Hansen, Smith, and Tower. Two nays are retiring.

The Amendment now goes to House-Senate Higher Education Act Conference, with students lobbying members of the House during NSL Lobby-on-Washington March 22-24.

Where I sit

Election time is not far off, and the voter registration has moved from the UNLV Student Union to Keno Radio Station at the corner of Flamingo and Paradise. With some 2,000 young people registered already, and several months left in registration, the youth vote can be a sizable block. When we go to the polls in November, it is hoped that we can use this block to the advantage of the students.

For example, why should we retain in office people like the Regents who voted to keep ROTC mandatory on the Reno campus? They voted that way over the recommendation of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada (Reno), the Reno Faculty Senate, Reno President Miller, and Chancellor Humphrey. These same people voted to look into the possibility of putting ROTC on the UNLV campus. Are we going to allow these people to use callous disregard for the views of the University Community and still retain office?

Last year, with some support from the University Community, Miss Helen Thompson was elected to the Board of Regents. Helen is a student at UNLV. When the chips were down and the vote on ROTC took place, she was one of the two Regents to vote for making ROTC voluntary. It is important, for the sake of academic freedom to have those people on the Board who are a part of the Community.

I hope when election time comes around next year, we will see a student running for the position of Regent.

One thing which disgusts me is the fact that voters have elected and re-elected to this office, a man who falls asleep at the meetings. I will admit they are not the most interesting forms of entertainment I have witnessed in a long time, but if a person assumes an office, he should be at least interested enough not to doze off.

On to other matters. Michael Drakulich, Director of Athletics, finally made it to a CSUN Senate meeting. He appeared last week to answer any questions the Senators might have. He skillfully avoided the questions asked. It was noticed by many other people, too, rewrite this.

While I am still on the subject of athletics, there is one team, reports say, whose coach is very much disliked by the participants. Could this result in a team, which is rated number one in its league, blowing it? Rumor has it, also, that a number of boosters are getting fed up with this man. He has some of the nation's top "ammature" athletes, but still keeps losing. Who could this be?

SANDWICH TESTERS AT WORK

For the past month and a half, students, faculty, and local food service industry leaders have been testing new sandwich recipes in the UNLV dining commons. The nine people who compose the test team have sorted, classified and judged the entries in the National Restaurant Association's contest.

Based on originality, ease of preparation, appearance, flavor and eatability, this team has eliminated all but twenty of the more than 200 entries.

The preparation crew consists of Carolyn King, Harry Pagen, and Gordon Sutherland, all Hotel Administration majors. The faculty members taking part are: Richard Acosta, Charles Levinson and Lendal Kotschevar, a visiting instructor. The food experts from industry include: Maurice Cau, executive Chef at the Sands Hotel; Nat Hart, Executive Maitre d' at Caesars Palace Hotel and Muriel Stevens, a local radio and TV personality.

The last judging in this stage of the competition takes place today (Thursday).

 - G. ABSOLUTELY NO campaigning or campaign material will be permitted within 100 ft. of the polls on election day.

H. ALL candidates will be held responsible for any statements they print against another candidate. The Elections Board will act as a grievance committee and will investigate all complaints made by candidates and students concerning any campaign propaganda being distributed on campus. If the candidate is found guilty of distributing slanderous material, he will print a retraction and distribute it in the same manner, or his name will be removed from the ballot.

I. All candidates may place campaign advertisements in the YELL at a price determined by the staff of the YELL. At the time the candidates place their ads, the full purchase price must be paid. Any outstanding bills owed the YELL from previous elections must be paid before the candidate places ads for this election.

IV. Voting Procedure

- A. In order to vote, students must be registered at UNLV, and have paid their CSUN activity fee.
- B. The voter must show some form of identification.
- C. Voter's name must be included in the IBM list of CSUN students.

V. Determining the winner

- A. The candidates securing the most votes in the general election shall be declared the winner.
- B. In the event of a tie, a vote shall be taken in the Student Senate. A simple majority will determine the winner.
- C. If a candidate receives more than 50% of the votes in the primary election, he will be declared the winner.
- D. The ballots will be counted by the Elections Board, a CSUN representative, and an Administration representative.

VI. Additional Information

- The YELL will NOT be permitted to endorse a preferential candidate for any specific office.
- There will be a mandatory meeting with all candidates signed up to run for an executive office on Tuesday, March 14 at 2:00 p.m. in Room 307 of the Student Union Building.
- Any infraction of these rules by a candidate and/or member of his supporters may result in the removal of that candidate's name from the ballot. His removal will be decided upon by the Elections Board in an open meeting.

Environmental Impact Of Highways

The Environmental Defense Fund filed suit in Federal Court recently to require Secretary of Transportation John Volpe to fully consider the environmental impact of future Federal-aid highway construction.

Volpe is required by the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1970 to provide Congress soon with recommendations for continuing Federal-aid highway construction from 1976 to 1990.

The suit filed in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia seeks to require Volpe to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 in submitting his recommendations.

Under the NEPA, major Federal recommendations must contain detailed analysis of their environmental impact, including immediate and long-term adverse effects and alternatives to action proposed by the agency.

"The National Environmental Policy Act simply requires us to use a little common sense and look before we leap into another 15 years of federal highway construction without considering its impact on the public's environment," an EDF spokesman said.

New York Congressmen Jonathan Bingham and Edward I. Koch joined the suit. Each intends to introduce transportation legislation which they feel cannot get a fair hearing unless Congress is fully informed on the environmental impact of Volpe's recommendations.

These recommendations will play a major role in future highway legislation to take effect when current authorizations under the Highway Trust Fund expire June 30, 1976.

The largely complete 41,000 mile Interstate Highway System financed by the Trust Fund's accumulation of public gasoline taxes has created severe environmental problems for many central cities and surrounding communities.

In February, 1971, Secretary Volpe acknowledged, "Our obsession with the private car is destroying the quality of life in our urban areas . . . it involves all of us in a brutally vicious cycle: more people, with fewer alternatives, means more cars - which require more roads - which take more urban and suburban land off the tax rolls and away from housing, business, and recreation while bringing increased pollution and congestion. This, very simply, is a self-perpetuating disaster."

According to guidelines issued by the President's Council on Environmental Quality, Volpe's upcoming recommendations must consider downtown decay, suburban sprawl and related land-use problems resulting from highway construction in and around cities.

Specific consideration would include the tendency of highways to draw business, jobs and tax revenues away from central cities, destroy low income housing and increase air and noise pollution.

"With the National Environmental Policy Act and the Federal Aid Highway Act, Congress gave Secretary Volpe both a mandate and a unique opportunity to insure federal highway programs in the future don't repeat mistakes of the past," EDF said.

Previous EDF lawsuits successfully forced several major Federal projects to comply with the NEPA including the Trans-Alaska Pipeline, Cross-Florida Barge Canal and the Tennessee Valley Authority's controversial Tellico dam on the Little Tennessee River.

Recycling Bins

The recycling bins are still located on the west side of the Student Union Building, near the back stairwells. Now that the parking lot between the dorm and the Social Science Building has been re-opened, the bins are again easily accessible.

The new recycling center in town located on Bonanza Road now will take ALL bottles and cans, not just beverage containers, as previously. Therefore, we can now accept all bottles and cans in the bins on campus.

The four bins are designated for specific types of containers: cans, clear (white) glass, green glass, and brown glass. It would be greatly appreciated if the users of the bins could separate the containers accordingly. Also, the paper should be removed from cans if at all possible. It is not necessary to remove paper from the bottles.

The recycling bins are NOT garbage cans. They are meant SPECIFICALLY for bottles and cans - no other type of solid waste should be put in them. There are regular garbage cans around campus for this purpose.

Your help and participation in this project are very much appreciated. For further information or answers to any questions you might have, call Environmental Studies - at 739-3548 or stop by Room 212 in the Chemistry Building.

ECO TIPS

Do not use excessive amounts of fertilizers, they may wash off into streams and cause a pollution problem (most fertilizers have either a nitrate or phosphate base).

Plant shrubs and bushes which can live off natural rain fall (water is precious.)

Do not use excessive lighting. Turn off lights when you leave the room.

Choose returnable bottles or containers whenever possible (try Safeway's).

If non-returnable must be used, recycle them.

Recycle items whenever possible.

Separate garbage from household. Recycle cans and bottles, compost organic materials.

Boulder City to Las Vegas

transcendental meditation

Reprinted for the Daily Progress by Tam Roop

Transcendental meditation, also known as TM, is a movement rapidly gathering momentum all over the country and the world. It proves to be one of the most optimistic indications, in our tension riddled times, of better things to come.

Already the movement has enough support in the U.S. so that a national organization with many branch centers in cities throughout the country has been established. SIMS - Students International Meditation Society - is a nonprofit, educational organization and describes Transcendental Meditation in this way: "TM is a natural technique which allows the conscious mind to experience increasingly more subtle states of thought until the source of thought, the unlimited reservoir of energy and creative intelligence, is reached. This simple practice expands the capacity of the conscious mind and a man is able to use his full potential in all fields of thought and action."

Though it seems that TM is practiced most widely by the young the results of this form of introspective study have been so impressive that great numbers of businessmen, housewives, and professional people have begun to meditate.

There are still those who are skeptical of TM, perhaps because they cannot believe that such a relatively uncomplicated method could yield such fruitful rewards in terms of personal gratification and renewed energy. But it is for this reason - the simplified process - that meditation works, according to those who practice.

TM is an ancient technique which was lost for centuries in its pure form, until re-introduced a few decades ago in India. It was the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi who brought it to the United States.

Transcendental Meditation is practiced twice daily, morning and evening, for 15 to 20 minute periods. Effects of this technique are noticed immediately say those who meditate, but more important, the process is a cumulative one, providing increasing insight and strength with each meditation.

The particular purpose of TM is to tap the reservoir of energy and strength deep within, through the transcendental state and bring it to the surface. It provides man with the means to discover his true potential, and thereby noticeably increase his experience and fulfillment in life.

Meditators have declared a pronounced change in many aspects of their lives. Vast numbers of students have noticed their grade points increasing as their powers of concentration grow. Of the meditators who used drugs, most have discontinued the practice because they found drugs to hinder the enjoyment of meditation and because the "need" for drugs is no longer there.

In the same way, TM improves human life at its basis. By increasing our resources of energy and creative intelligence, TM simultaneously improves all aspects of human life and so it's a very practical and real approach to the complicated problems of modern life.

Art Gallery displays paintings

An exhibition of surrealistic paintings by noted artist Philip C. Curtis of Scottsdale, Ariz., opened Sunday, March 5 in the Art Gallery at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. The paintings will remain up for public viewing through March 27.

Curtis' artwork focuses on the psychological aspects of man beyond the real world.

"The artist becomes a surreal ringmaster occupied with the major attraction in the center ring: the empty act of existence," comments Prof. C.E. Licka of the UNLV art department. "One must view his paintings to begin to comprehend his style."

Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce in a recent essay said the emotional impact of Curtis' surrealism is probably greater than that of any magic realist painter in the past decade.

"Curtis' place in the ranks of the surrealists must be left to those whose business is art criticism - or better, to time," noted Mrs. Luce. "But as one who has been a lifetime collector of the European surrealists, I find myself placing him very high."

A graduate of the Yale School of Fine Arts, Curtis has exhibited his paintings throughout the United States and in Europe. He has lived and worked in Arizona for the past 25 years.

The long unhappy cage season

The Rebels finished up the season last Saturday on local TV against the league leading Dons of USF. The defeat was the team's 4th straight loss after a win over lowly St. Mary's. The Dons got it together in the second half and came back from a one point half time deficit to beat the Rebels by 7, in the 90-83 contest.

The Rebels scoring was paced by Jerry Baskerville with 31 points and Bob Florence's 26 points. Booker Washington finished his career at UNLV with 16 points and leaves as 3rd on the all time UNLV scorers list.

The Dons are now 12-1 and figure to take the league title this week in a game against 2nd place Santa Clara at the USF facility. The Rebels finished the season with a 14-12 overall record and an 8-6 conference mark. Besides the brilliant play against South Carolina here in a close loss, there were very few bright moments during the season. The improvement of both Baskerville and Florence, both soph starters and one of the best rebounding team efforts in the league lends us hope to next year's team.

Of course not enough can be said about our super Frosh team that took off at mid-season after a slow start and literally annihilated all its opponents in the last 13 games. Led by 6'9" Jim Baker and little Eddie Taylor at guard, with strong support from big men Dan Cunningham and Don Weimer, next year's varsity certainly should have no trouble in making their presence know to its opponents.

Returning from this year's varsity team are Ed Carmen, Gary Radunich, Toby Houston, Laverd Coleman, Warren Walk, Mike Whaley, Norman Knowles and sophomore sensations Jerry Baskerville and Bobby Florence.

The Rebels non league schedule figures to be one of the best in the nation next year with several of this year's nationally ranked teams included. South Carolina, Hawaii, Oral Roberts, Houston, Arizona and Colorado are amongst the strong opposition the team is to face.

It will also be Coach John Bayer's third year and most of the players will be ones that he and his staff have recruited. As they say, the third time better be the charm.....

REBS SPLIT WITH WEBER

The UNLV baseball team lost the opener in a close contest 3 - 0. With both pitchers going the distance and no runs being scored after a shaky first inning by Rebel standout Jack Lazzarotto, Jack chalked up 9 KO's and only issued one walk as he lost his first game of the season. His record now stands at 2 - 1. Barry Bagley for the winners fanned 14 Rebels and walked 4 as he registered his win in his first start of the young season.

The second game was also a pitching duel as Dan Larson went the distance for the Rebels and allowed only one earned run while striking out 6 in his 5 hit 4 - 2 win. The loser was Day who lasted only an inning and allowed 2 runs while walking 6 batters.

It seems that with our offense only producing 4 runs in 16 innings of ball, the pitching had better be more than up to the task that awaits them when WCAC season opens up at Loyola on March 17.

Larson wins first

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"DO YOU HAVE AN APPOINTMENT?"

Sports shorts

Former Rebel and Portland Trailblazers coach, Roland "Mod" Todd is in town. Could it be that he is only here for a vacation and some sun?

The Rebel's baseball team swept two games from Southern Utah and split a Saturday doubleheader with Weber State last week.

Bobby Florence, Booker Washington and Jerry Baskerville were selected respectively on the first, second and third all conference teams

Rebel basketball forward Warren Walk will undergo surgery on his wrist in mid March.

This year's Del Webb classic will feature two rotary engine off road Mazdas. This is the first time these engines will be run in the race. Drivers of both cars have expressed great satisfaction with the cars and both hope to make a good run for the money.

The course is situated 12 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

Now for the cultural section of the sports:

This article is dedicated to those fans on Cannery Row who like to lose themselves, and while away a sunny afternoon while watching a Rebel baseball game.

Recipe for less-than-a-dollar-a-gallon wine.

Needed: One gallon jug (ripped off from the recycling bins on the west side of the SUB)

4 cups or 156 packages of sugar borrowed from the snack bar
1 package of Yeast - Brewers is preferred to bakers
1 large can (43 cent size) of Welch's frozen grape juice
1 large (10 cent size) balloon from the dime store
Tapwater

What to do: Put sugar, yeast, and grape juice in the jug. Four cups of sugar is needed to carry on the fermentation process. More may be added if a sweeter wine is desired.

Add water to the level of the shoulder on the bottle and mix ingredients until sugar is completely dissolved.

Secure the balloon over the mouth of the jug and store out of sunlight at room temperature for 21 days. The balloon will grow due to the fermentation taking place. If the balloon goes down before 21 days are up, the wine has worked enough and is ready.

When the wine is finished, either siphon off the wine or strain it through cloth to get rid of the settlement. Chill it or serve over some ice and go grape.

Its power of healing cannot be overstated.

P.S. Saturday's doubleheader is here against the Air Force Academy and refreshments are in order to ward off the effects of the hot sun.

Forum flops

What if they gave a forum and nobody came?
 At noon last Thursday, with the TV lounge set up, senators and executive officers gathered, the loudspeaker on, CSUN found out. Nothing.

It seemed that none of the concerned students on this campus were really concerned enough to bother coming. At 12:30 last Thursday, CSUN packed up and went back to their third floor office.
