

GLENNEN HEADS UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

The

Volume 20, Number 1
Las Vegas, Nevada
September 6, 1972

Yell

PRESIDENTIAL WELCOME

Dear Students:

A cordial welcome to all new and continuing students registering for the fall semester at UNLV. The entire academic community—students, faculty, and administration—looks forward to a rewarding year of accomplishment. We have excellent prospects for this not only because we have better resources but because of a renewed spirit of optimism and a continuing momentum in University development.

UNLV has extricated from many of its old inadequacies in budgets and facilities, and there are tangible gains in our academic and physical plant capacities. In supplement to the traditional curriculums, we have initiated a number of interdisciplinary classes which intergrate several areas of knowledge into one course unit. In the fields of environmental studies, correlation of the arts, ethnic studies, etc., updated approaches are providing stimulating and relevant learning. This effectively reinforces our conventional courses and diversifies the alternatives for advanced education.

The long awaited University College, headed by a new but experienced Dean, will provide a more individualized counseling approach than hitherto available to freshmen. This should help incoming students to find successful pathways in higher education. At the opposite end of the educational program, the Graduate College will also have new leadership and hopefully will offer broader and more flexible opportunities at the master's degree level and beyond.

This is also the first full year for the University Senate, the chief academic policy making agency for the campus, which now combines student representation with faculty participation in academic governance. This can provide a broader representation of the campus, and it can effect a stimulating interaction of the total academic community. Other potentialities are related to an improved campus physical plant. Several new buildings provide the space and related facilities long needed to serve our growing enrollment and diversified curriculums. The parking lots, landscaping, and lighting will enhance convenience and should considerably improve the appearance and general context of the campus.

The University is generally progressing, and we hope that momentum for improvement will be reinforced by the next legislative session. With a constructive reputation, UNLV will justify continued improvement in state support.

The university is creating the resources and the climate for significant higher learning. We hope that you will benefit from a faculty increasingly fortified with a scholarly talent, that you will take advantage of more accessible participation in campus affairs, and that you will vigorously pursue your educational goals through the curriculums and learning resources available here. Certainly we wish for you a good start in fall semester studies and for continued success as a member of the UNLV academic community.

Roman Zorn, President

A former associate dean at the University of Notre Dame has joined the faculty at UNLV as the first dean of the institution's newly-created University College.

Dr. Robert E. Glennen, Jr., a specialist in the unique problems of beginning college students, will be in charge of organizing many of the programs and concepts of the new college for freshmen just getting under way this fall at UNLV.

"The first year at a university is a period of adjustment for any student," Glennen said in an interview upon his arrival on campus. "That's why we're designing the new college around the special needs of freshmen, with emphasis on counseling, course selection and program planning."

Glennen brings a broad background to his new post at UNLV. Seven years ago, when colleges first-year students were having trouble in their studies, he was hired by Notre Dame to help establish one to the nation's first counseling programs geared expressly for beginning students.

A team of advisers selected from each of UNLV's six other undergraduate colleges will form the nucleus of a new counseling center—a place where freshmen will be able to visit anytime they have an academic problem.

Students in the college will not be required to choose a major right away, since many of them are undecided on an academic specialty in the beginning.

"Instead, it will be a year of sampling and experimentation into a variety of academic areas," he said. "We will be formalating interdisciplinary courses and programs which combine the input of several different departments, giving freshmen and sophomores broad backgrounds before they start to specialize."

As associate dean of the school's Freshman Year of Studies program, he developed innovative classes, intensified advisement and succeeded in lowering the first-year dropout rate from 28 per cent to a very low two per cent. "We are hopeful we will be able to accomplish the same thing at UNLV," he commented. "We're going to streamline our advisement and give freshmen a stimulating learning experience."

Glennen, who earned his doctorate in educational psychology and counseling at Notre Dame ten years ago, said all freshmen will spend their first year in the University College.

Advanced coursework will be prescribed for gifted students, while remedial tutorial programs will help those who are marginally qualified, he explained.

Dr. Robert E. Glennen, Jr., dean of the new University College.

Glennen has taught at Eastern Montana State College, Ohio State University, Montana State University, De Paul University, and the University of Portland where he earned his undergraduate and master's degrees.

He is the author of guidance textbook and a number of articles which have appeared in national publications and has served as a consultant to school systems and public agencies.

BAYLEY PORTRAIT IN NEW THEATRE

An oil portrait of the late Mrs. Judy Bayley was donated to the University of Nevada, Las Vegas last May in memory of the deceased Las Vegas businesswoman and civic leader.

The painting, which will be displayed in the performing arts theatre named in her honor, was presented to the University at a brief ceremony by Mrs. Joan Raithebrook, co-executor of Mrs. Bayley's estate and director of the Hacienda Hotel.

Local hotel owners, entertainers and governmental leaders who knew Mrs. Bayley attended the presentation a long with administrators and faculty members from UNLV.

The portrait, set in a hand-carved heritage frame, was officially accepted on behalf of the university by President Roman J. Zorn.

"It is only fitting that the theatre which Mrs. Bayley helped to erect should contain such a suitable reminder of her participation," commented Mrs. Raithebrook. "It was one of her favorite portraits." Her remarks were seconded by President Zorn, who praised Mrs. Bayley for her humanitarian efforts not only on the campus, but on many other charitable endeavors such as the cancer and heart crusades.

The Bayley Theatre, a 600-seat hall on the north side of the campus, opened last semester to capacity houses during the premiere production of its first play.

The cultural center will accommodate musical and theatre performances by campus groups and touring professionals. Its acoustics, lighting and sound facilities are said to rank with the finest in any university theatre.

Dr. Roman Zorn, President of UNLV.

Inside

Budget	2
Editorial	2
UNLV pioneer retires	3
Little Man On Campus	3
Odds & Ends	4
Play It Again, Sam	5
People every student should know	6 & 7
Sports	10 & 11
CSUN activities schedule	12

1973 - 1975 UNLV BUDGET

The budget for the University of Nevada System for the 1973 - 1975 biennium was approved by the Board of Regents at their July meeting in Reno. It must now be analyzed, discussed, and approved, or cut and approved by the state legislature.

The overall budget calls for more than $78.5 million to be allocated throughout the system during 1973 - 1975, $25 million greater than during the 1971 - 1975 biennium. This increase, according to a report submitted by K. Donald Jessup, Director of Institutional Studies and Budget, reflects "the necessary cost required to: 1) maintain the existing programs of the University of Nevada System at the current level; 2) escalate the cost of the existing programs by an inflation factor; 3) escalate the cost of the existing programs by an enrichment factor; 4) escalate the cost of the existing programs to fund the recommended salary increases; and 5) fund new programs approved by the Board of Regents . . ."

The total recommended allocation for UNLV is $22,730,483. Of that amount, funds are expected from the following sources:

State Appropriation: $18,554,143
Registration Fees: $2,862,340

Non-Resident Tuition:	$ 906,000	Administration and General Expense:	$ 3,377,490
Application Fees:	$ 72,000	Instruction and Departmental Research:	$ 12,802,546
Research Indirect Cost Allocation:	$ 40,000	Library:	$ 1,644,017
Interest:	$ 100,000	Operation and Maintenance of Plant:	$ 3,666,013
Federal Funds:	$ 176,000	Intercollegiate Athletics:	$ 511,692
Miscellaneous Revenue:	$ 20,000	Grant-In-Aid (Other):	$ 470,520
		Reserves:	$ 258,205

Below (figure # 1) are pie diagrams showing the percentage of revenue by source as budgeted in 1971 - 1973, and as projected for 1973 - 1975.

These monies will be used to provide services to you, the student, and to the community in general with the following cost distribution.

Administration and General Expense:

$ 3,377,490

Instruction and Departmental Research:

$ 12,802,546

Library:

$ 1,644,017

Below (figure # 2) are pie diagrams showing the percentage of allocations to the various areas within UNLV, comparing the 1971 - 1973 budget with the recommendation for 1973 - 1975.

This is a very basic outline of the UNLV portion of the budget. The actual budget approved by the Board of Regents is far more detailed and contains figures for the entire University of Nevada System. If you would like to see the document which the Regents acted upon, it can be seen in the YELL office, MSUB - 303.

Figure 1
Revenue by Source, University of Nevada, Las Vegas
1971-73 Budgeted, 1973-75 Projected

Figure 2
Allocation of Resources by Budget Function
University of Nevada, Las Vegas
1971-73 Budgeted, 1973-75 Recommended

editorial opinion

Where I Sit
Bill Schafer

I wish the people who run for CSUN offices would take their job a little more seriously, and try showing up at meetings. . . Ask your representative (if you know who he or she is) how many times he was absent from senate meetings over the summer. . . Part of the blame can be given to our CSUN V.P. who scheduled meetings without knowing the work schedules of the members of the senate.

The theatre Department's first two productions, FLEE IN HER EAR and HAPPY BIRTHDAY WANDA JUNE were excellent. . . Have heard that the rehearsals for PLAY IT AGAIN, SAM were coming along just fine, and we can expect the same fine quality this time. (See publicity on page 7.)

Note to Evan Blythin: What happened to that excellent theatre schedule for the coming year? Why has THE PERSECUTION AND ASSASSINATION OF JEAN - PAUL MARAT AS PERFORMED BY THE INMATES OF THE ASYLUM OF CHARENTON and HOUSE OF BERNARDA ALBA been replaced by TROJAN WOMEN and THE FANTASTICS? Are we bowing to the wishes of a few prudes in the community who are offended by a little of the "common man's language" and some insanity? If so, perhaps there is some insanity at the University. . . Would appreciate (and print) any answer you may have.

The staff of the YELL hopes you voted yesterday, and if you have not registered as yet, you still have time to do so for the general. Register before October 7. If you are unable to vote at the polls on Election Day, vote ABSENTEE at Election Department. Phone 382-4982 for details before Oct. 31.

Have you purchased Student Insurance? Have been told this is an excellent buy, yet many students are waiving their right to this service.

Did you hear about the instructor who was offering a cash incentive to people who recruited other people to sign up for his summer school class? Is this legal?

Also heard there was an anti-semitic running rampant in his department here at UNLV a few years back. He is still around. Rumor has it that this Austrian cannot say where he was during the war years. He fired every Jew in his department, and has not hired even overly qualified candidates because of ethnic background.

NOTICE

The YELL currently has several openings for reporters, advertising salespersons, headliners, photographers, sportswriters, and proofreaders.

Some of these are paying positions, others have their own rewards. If you are interested in journalism, or are just interested in contributing something to your university, please apply for these jobs in the YELL office (north side of the third floor, Moyer Student Union Building, Room 303.)

The Yell

Editor - William Schafer

Managing Editor - Michael Malone

Sports Editor - Kenneth Baxter

Circulation Manager - Richard Schioldager

Typist - Aliss Brody

The YELL is the official publication of the Consolidated Students of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. Editorial offices are located on the third floor mezzanine of the Moyer Student Union Building, 4505 Maryland Parkway. The opinions expressed on this page are those of the editorial staff, unless signed by the authors of such articles. Any comments on this page are not to be construed as the opinions of CSUN, its members, members of the faculty or the administration.

Copy for the YELL is due in the editorial offices by noon Wednesday for the following Tuesday. All copy should be typed, double spaced. Advertising information may be obtained by phoning 739-3479.

UNLV PIONEER RETIRES

One of the pioneer faculty members at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas was honored for his contributions recently upon his retirement from fulltime teaching.

Dr. Herber Derfelt, UNLV professor of education administration assumed the honorary title of professor emeritus July 1, when his regular contract expired.

Dr. Derfelt, known for his personable warmth and administrative ability joined the UNLV faculty in 1957. The year the first building was constructed at the Maryland Parkway campus.

During his 15 years with the institution, Dr. Derfelt saw the enrollment of UNLV grow from less than 300 students to the almost 6,000 scholars on the campus today.

He indicated that he was ready to relax after all these years. "I don't mind telling you," he quipped, "That I'm going to do as I please. My wife retires with me and we plan to relax and do a little traveling."

When asked about his 47 years in education, he commented: "When I started teaching in 1925, I had all the aspirations of a young man out to change the world. Now in 1972, I look at all I've done and I am ready to take a rest."

Dr. Derfelt received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Kansas State Teachers College and his doctorate from the University of Arkansas.

As a young man, he served in numerous capacities in the public school systems of Kansas, including the roles of elementary teacher and principal, junior high school principal and senior high school teacher.

Finding a challenge in school administration, he was successfully elected county superintendent of public instruction for Cherokee County Kansas in 1941.

"That was a very difficult period," Derfelt commented, "since teachers were leaving schools to prepare for the war. We had to staff the schools with people who had less qualifications, and it forced us to change our educational format."

For the ten years following this appointment, he also served as superintendent of schools in Columbus and Kanopolis, Kan., and as principal of Chase County Community High School in Cottonwood Falls.

Before coming to UNLV, Derfelt taught at numerous colleges, including Kansas State Teachers College, Baker University, the University of Arkansas and at the University of Nevada, Reno.

"You know, when my wife and I first settled here," he reminisced, "there was just a dirt road leading to the one building on the campus."

"Among other things I was in charge of," he continued, "was the audio-visual section. At that time, we had three pieces of equipment which we stored in a cupboard in the faculty room. But the potential was here, and I never doubted in my mind that the University would be like it is today."

Since working his way from assistant to full professor of education at UNLV, he also held the posts of director of off-campus classes, director of audio-visual communication center, director of special programs, coordinator of University programs for Nellis Air Force Base and director of the UNLV School of Education.

Dr. Derfelt was honored by his friends and colleagues at a farewell dinner in the Aladdin Room of the Aladdin Hotel.

"You know something," he said, "One of these days I'm going to write an article on how to retire gracefully and still get the respect of others. And the only way you're going to do that," he joked, "is to retire early."

RETIRING PROFESSOR—Dr. Herbert Derfelt, faculty member of the College of Education at UNLV retired recently after 47 years in education. He was promoted to the rank of professor emeritus in recognition of his service to the university from its earliest days to the present.

Important role at UNLV

RESEARCH CONTINUES

What does the biological control of mosquitos have to do with reading problems in young people?

Nothing directly. Except that both are topics of research which have been conducted recently by faculty at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

As one of the principal obligations of any university, research plays an important part of the overall educational program at UNLV, with dozens of projects now in progress on the campus.

Working under state, federal and private grants, professors have studied such diverse subjects lately as the problems of drug abuse, human psychological behavior, interest rates, and the geology of avalanches.

Scientists at UNLV are now researching the effects of pollution on Lake Mead, the impact of environmental overpopulation on health, and an intriguing examination of how crude oil is being destroyed by populations of micro-organisms.

A wealth of information on the state's pre-history is being uncovered through archeological excavation supported by research funds. Other faculty members are finding new perspectives on social studies, extending the realm of mathematics and seeking new avenues of expression through art and creative writing.

By investigating new areas of as it affects the state's economy was generated recently through the research program, as was a textbook on Nevada government and politics.

By investigating new areas of knowledge, UNLV's faculty is keeping up to date on the latest advances in their academic fields so that they can convey this material in a first-hand fashion to their students. It has proved to be one of the best ways to maintain a quality education in the classroom.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"IT HAS COME TO MY ATTENTION --- OUCH --- THAT YOU HAVE SHOWN DISRESPECT FOR YOUR INSTRUCTORS --- OUCH --- AN'TH' RULES --- OUCH --- GOVERNING THIS INSTITUTION."

VOTE

Medieval & Renaissance Colloquium

The Medieval and Renaissance Colloquium was organized in the spring of 1972 by a group of persons interested in furthering the understanding of the Medieval and Renaissance periods of western development. The Colloquium meets approximately every other Monday evening at 7:30 pm. The format for the meetings is generally broken down into a presentation, either a lecture by a faculty member or a panel discussion, followed by a refreshment break and then an open discussion. All persons who are interested in the Medieval and Renaissance periods are welcome. The discussions are usually lively and very informative. The Colloquium also sponsors a limited number of informal meetings and an occasional field trip.

FALL 1972 PROGRAM

September 18

Speaker: Mr. F. Perazzo
Topic: Renaissance Architecture

October 2

Speaker: Professor Paul E. Burns, Dept. of History
Topic: Medieval Russia

October 16

Speaker: Professor Donald E. Schmiedel, Dept. of Spanish
Topic: Alfonso el Sabio and Spain's 15th Century Renaissance

November 6

Speaker: Professor Janet L. Travis, Dept. of Philosophy
Topic: The problem of Universals

November 27

Speaker: Professor Dallas J. Reed, Dept. of Sociology
Topic: Law and Crime in the Middle Ages

December 11

Speaker: Professor Norma Engberg, Dept. of English
Topic: The Iconography of the Christmas Story

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
DR. JANET L. TRAVIS, DEPT. OF PHILOSOPHY, 739-3433

UNLV lecturer, Hilton executive co-author article

An article on real estate taxes written by two Las Vegas accountants has appeared in the June issue of "Spectrum," the official publication of the National Association of Hotel/Motel Accountants.

Robert Moore, lecturer in hotel administration at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, and Leo Lewis, assistant to the executive director of the Las Vegas Hilton, have co-authored a provocative article titled "Protesting An Over-Assessment."

The article offers a mathematical model which allows the taxpayer to weigh the cost of fighting a re-evaluation against the probability of winning it. The published work is a combination of Lewis's practical experience and Moore's theoretical thinking.

Lewis is the former controller of the Horseshoe Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas. He has been an active member of the Las Vegas Hotel/Motel Accountants and has held major offices and committee appointments for the association. He earned his bachelor of science degree in accounting from New York University.

Moore was controller of the Restaurant Division of Great Western United (Shakey's Pizza) BEFORE JOINING THE UNLV fact He holds degrees in economics and in finance from the University of California at Los Angeles and is also a certified public accountant. He is currently preparing two hotel accounting texts for the American Hotel/Motel Association and is a regular contributor to "Spectrum."

William Brown attains near-perfect GPA

A chemistry student from Las Vegas has won the Nevada Centennial Medallion Award for achieving the highest four-year grade average at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

William Michael Brown, 21, earned the medallion by compiling a near-perfect 3.99 overall academic average at the university. A 4.0 average represents perfect marks.

The recipient, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Brown of 420 S. Jones Boulevard, made "A's" in all but a single one-hour course during his academic career at UNLV. He received a bachelor of science degree this spring, and will attend medical school next September in Southern California.

Each year, the Centennial Medallion is presented to the graduating senior holding the highest four-year scholastic record earned entirely at UNLV.

The first medallion, representing the state's 100th birthday, was awarded in 1964 to a senior in the university's first graduating class. The last of 101 medallions made available by the Rotary Club of Las Vegas will be presented in the year 2064 on Nevada's bi-centennial anniversary.

Earlier in the semester, Brown was one of only 16 students in the nation selected to receive a coveted Sparks Fellowship from Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society. Top scholars in 128 colleges and universities applied for the prestigious award worth $3,000 for graduate study.

Brown was first vice president of UNLV's Phi Kappa Phi chapter during his senior year. He is a 1968 graduate of Western High School and has lived in Las Vegas for more than 20 years.

WILLIAM MICHAEL BROWN

ODDS & ENDS FROM SUMMER

Dr. Geuder attends

Boston meeting

An assistant professor of English at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas recently attended a meeting of educators in Boston, Mass.

Dr. Patricia A. Geuder represented UNLV at the annual meeting of the College Conference on Composition and Communication which met at the Statler Hilton Hotel in downtown Boston.

An expert in "mainstream black," the type of English spoken by many black Americans, she discussed "A Prescription for Acquiring the Standard Dialect."

Dr. Geuder asserted that while the Black dialect has a structure and history of its own, its speakers must learn the standard speech form in order to participate fully in all aspects of life.

Dr. Geuder and her husband, Richard, have been educators in the Las Vegas area for several years.

Mu Nu officers elected

The Mu Nu chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society, elected new officers at a recent meeting on the UNLV campus.

The new officers are Mrs. Kathryn Augsburg, president; Richard Garman, vice-president; Mrs. Ermagard Sparling, secretary; Mrs. Helen Wilgus, treasurer; Barbara Schaad, historian; and Charles Mercer, parliamentarian.

The two-year-old chapter boasts a membership of 93, including students and faculty from UNLV and teachers from Clark County. Membership in the organization is based upon scholastic achievement and leadership in the field of education. Students in the group are among the top five per cent academically at UNLV.

Outstanding Educator

The chairman of the department of social services at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas was recently nominated to appear in the 1972 edition of "Outstanding Educators of America."

Mrs. Harriett Sheldon was selected by UNLV and volume editors for her exceptional contributions to her community and profession.

Former assistant director of the Family Service Center at Syracuse University, Mrs. Sheldon received her bachelor's degree from Ohio State University and her master's degree from Syracuse University.

During a long career in the field of social work, she has served as a child welfare worker, a juvenile probation officer and a social case worker. She joined the UNLV faculty in 1963.

Mrs. Sheldon is recognized in "Who's Who in American Women" and "Who's Who in the East."

UNLV to host geologists

More than 1,200 geologists will be the guests of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas in the spring of 1974.

Dr. Robert B. Smith, dean of the UNLV College of Science and Mathematics, said the Cordilleran Section of the Geological Society of America recently selected the University to host its 70th annual meeting.

The organization includes geologists residing in Alaska, Hawaii and all parts of the United States west of the Rocky Mountains. Joining the group at the meeting will be members of the Paleontological Society and the Seismological Society of America.

"Apparently the proposal to hold the meeting in Las Vegas was met with great enthusiasm," said Dr. Smith. "Since the Society generally schedules field trips in connection with such conclaves, our local area was a major selling point in attracting the meeting here."

Pamphlet for sr. citizens

The first comprehensive listing of services available to senior citizens in Clark County has been published in booklet form by the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The 50-page pamphlet was produced by the Senior Citizen Resource Center at UNLV through a grant from the Older Americans Act of 1965.

The directory is designed to aid older people by listing the agencies organized to serve them. Copies are available free of charge to all people over 55 years of age at the UNLV Resources Center (739-3289).

If elderly residents are in need of hospitalization, nursing or convalescent care, the booklet tells them exactly where to go for services.

Other sections are devoted to educational opportunities, counseling centers, financial information, employment and welfare offices, housing data, legal services, libraries, recreational opportunities, senior citizen organizations, thrift shops and volunteer services.

All organizations are listed alphabetically and an index serves as an easy reference to various entries.

Funds for the printing of the pamphlet were administered through the Nevada Division for Aging Services.

Special rate for 62 & older

Lower fees for all regular and non-credit classes will be available to senior citizens this fall at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The Office of Conferences and Institutes at UNLV is now providing a 50 per cent rate reduction to persons 62 and older who wish to enroll in any scheduled non-credit course.

Elderly residents may also attend any regular class for only $10 provided there is space available in the classroom. However, they must attend as auditors, meaning they earn no university credit and are not responsible for homework or examinations.

A special registration will be conducted Aug. 28-30 at the Senior Citizen Resource Center on the UNLV campus, and classes begin Sept. 5.

Non-credit courses will cover a wide variety of subjects such as conversational French and Spanish, gardening in the Nevada desert, a look at China and the geology of Las Vegas. A complete listing of classes is available at the resource center.

The center will be in the process of moving to new campus offices during registration, and interested persons are requested to call persons are requested to call 739-3378 for information.

NEED A RENTAL HOME OR APARTMENT???

We can find it for you, and save you money and a lot of unnecessary leg work
Phone
385-4282

HOMEFINDERS

300 Properties available every day
through our listing service
ALL AREAS — ALL PRICES
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK TIL 9 P.M.

We specialize in finding listings for:
STUDENTS, LONG HAIRS, PET OWNERS
Fastest service
608 Las Vegas Blvd. South

ERROR-FREE TYPING
NYLON TYPING RIBBON
CORRECTION RIBBON

ERRORITE™ AT YOUR BOOKSTORE

THEATRE PRODUCTION PREMIERES THIS WEEKEND

a light-hearted, romantic comedy will open the first theatre season for the Judy Bayley Theatre at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, Sept. 8 and 9, and 14 and 15. "Play It Again, Sam," the story of a shy film critic and his romantic fantasies, is a contemporary play by comic Woody Allen.

The University production will be under the direction of Robert N. Burgan, assistant professor of theatre arts at UNLV.

Burgan describes the play as "terrific, imaginative fun," and he feels it is the type of entertainment that will appeal to university students as well as adults of the community.

"A bright talent like Woody Allen will appeal to both those audiences," commented Burgan. "The play grows out of a wild humor that's reminiscent of Nichols and Elaine May, and it's very contemporary."

The main character in "Play It Again, Sam" is Allan Felix, a divorced man who has trouble finding romance. His biggest fantasy is that his chief assistant is Humprey Bogart, whom Felix idolizes.

"The script offers new challenges to the cast," said Burgan, "because there is a constant jumping back and forth from fantasy to reality."

Playwright Allen, who stars in the movie version, describes his main character as a "hyperactive mass of preposterously neurotic contradictions that make the world a little too much for him. He looks as if he just stepped out of a Jules Feiffer cartoon."

The part of Felix will be played by Ed Borasky, a graduate student in math at UNLV who was voted outstanding drama student in 1970. The talented actor's latest role was in the university production, "The Hostage."

Ken Zinck, who has been a theatre arts special student at UNLV for several years, is cast as Bogart. Zinck's most recent acting role was as Herr Schwartz in "A Flea in Her Ear," the premiere production at Bayley Theatre last April.

The central female character in the play, Linda, will be played by 20-year-old Rhonda Blair. She has been costume crew chief for numerous productions as well as appearing in performances.

Other cast members include Becky Mills, Maria Fornaris, Diane Robinson, Shayne Collins, Barbara Brennan, Judy Goldstein and Andy Halen.

Assistant director and stage manager for "Play It Again, Sam" is Bud Stephen, who received the American College Theatre Acting Award for one of his roles in a recent UNLV production.

Fred Olson, technical director for Bayley Theatre, is scenic designer for the comedy. Costumes will be designed by Patricia Crawford and Iolanthe Bruton, and lighting design is by Denny Lauderdale.

Burgan assumed a full-time teaching position this fall in the theatre arts department. He has written several original one-act plays which have been successfully produced, and he has served on the Regional Constitution Committee for the American Theatre Association.

The box office at Bayley Theatre opened Aug. 23 from 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays. For reservations, call 739-3641. Curtain time is at 8:30 p.m.

Pictured at right are Ed Borasky (Felix), Ken Zinck (Bogart), and Rhonda Blair (Linda) who play the leading roles in "Play It Again, Sam."

PLAY IT AGAIN SAM

A Contemporary Comedy
by Woody Allen

1972-73
Theatre Season

- Play It Again, Sam
by Woody Allen
September 8, 9, 15, 16
  - Dial "M" For Murder
by Frederick Knott
October 13, 14, 20, 21
  - The Jumping Frog of Calaveras
County by Lukas Foss
La Serva Padrona
by Giovanni Pergolesi
November 4, 5
  - The Fantasticks
December 8, 9, 15, 16
  - The Trojan Women by Euripides
February 23, 24 and March 2, 3
  - Peter Pan by James M. Barrie
April 20, 21, 27, 28
  - Hamlet by William Shakespeare
July 13, 15, 21
  - Rosencrantz and Guildenstern
Are Dead by Tom Stoppard
July 14, 20, 22
- For Reservations Call 739-3641

Judy Bayley Theatre
September 8, 9, 15, 16
8:30 p.m.

University Students With ID Cards—FREE

PEOPLE EVERY STUDENT

Dr. Donald Baeppler - Vice-President for Academic Affairs. Any problems in the Academic area can be referred to his office on the seventh floor of the Humanities Bldg.

Dr. Dean Black - Moyer Student Union Director. If you have a problem concerning the SUB, he is the person to see. Room rentals, etc. are his responsibility. His office is located on the first floor of the Humanities Bldg.

John Glass - Director of Services. He serves...

Dr. Jack McCauslin - Dean of Students. From his office on the third floor of the Humanities Bldg., he takes care of any problems that might crop up in a student's life.

Judy Morris is in charge of student placement. Need a job - part-time or full-time? Judy's the person to see. Ms. Morris' office is located on the third floor of the Humanities Bldg.

Nick Paul - Veterans Affairs. To the third floor of the Humanities Bldg. come the Veterans. Information on their matters is the one to see on the third floor.

STUDENT NEEDS TO KNOW

Glass - Director of Food Services. He serves our food.

Eleanor Harris - Financial Aids counselor. Eleanor is very helpful in finding a student with financial problems money. She is also on the third floor of the Humanities Bldg.

Mark Hughes - Director of Information. From Mark's office in the Humanities Bldg., flows much of the publicity and information of the University.

Paul - Veterans Counselor. On the third floor of the Humanities Bldg. come the Vets, etc., for information on their checks. Nick is one to see on these important matters.

Dr. John Standish - Associate Dean of Student and Director of Financial Aids. One of the more popular officers on the third floor of the Humanities Bldg. This is the place to go if you need money.

Dr. Robert Stephens - Dean of Men. Adviser to fraternities and is available to all dorm residents who have problems. Dr. Stephens' office is located on the third floor of the Humanities Bldg.

LET US HELP

Summer course for teachers - 'child's play'

A new course was conducted at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas this summer which is all about "play" and how it functions as an important aspect of learning in early childhood.

Designed for elementary and nursery school teachers, "Play, Play Equipment and Materials in Early Childhood Education" was taught by Dr. Agnes Lockette, associate professor of the Department of Curriculum and Instruction.

"We study ancient philosophies of play and compare them to current theories," Dr. Lockette stated. "We do this in order to help teachers understand the importance of play as a learning device in the regular classroom."

Her class consisted of 16 Clark

County elementary school teachers who studied all sorts of play materials and decide what learning objectives can be applied to each object.

"Since we are concerned with the development of the total child, we check to see how these materials will develop language, motor, intellectual, social and creative skills, Dr. Lockette remarked. To gain a better understanding of play materials, Dr. Lockette's students constructed many manipulative objects themselves. Most of the hand-made materials were made from wood donated by a local lumber company.

The students built story boards upon which a youngster is able to arrange the events of a story into a logical sequence. There are counting boards which have raised number figures to give children a tactile experience with numbers, and puppets which help pupils work out their own way of expressing things while developing language and vocabulary skills. Dr. Lockette's students limited their study to play materials for children in the age group from first to the third grade.

"In the next few years, day-care centers and nursery schools will be springing up all over the country and parents will insist upon their children being exposed to instructive play materials in these environments," Dr. Lockette said. "We are identifying the proper objects now in our class."

FALL LIBRARY HOURS

Monday - Thursday	8am - 11pm
Friday	8am - 5pm
Saturday	- 5pm
Sunday	2pm - 10pm

CLOSED DATES

November 23
 December 23 -25, 30 - 31
 January 1, 6 - 7, 20 - 21

SHORT HOURS

Oct. 23 & 31 (8 - 5)
 Nov. 24 (8 - 5)
 Dec. 26 - 29 (1 - 5)
 Jan. 2 - 5 (1 - 5) Jan. 8 - 12 (1 - 5)
 Jan. 15 - 19 (8 - 5)

ARA Services awards $2,500 grant to hotel student Gary Brown

A hotel administration student at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas is the recipient of a unique $2,500 grant from ARA Food Service Co.

Gary W. Brown, 22, a senior at UNLV from Deerfield, Ill., won the award because of his high scholastic marks, personality, interest and experience.

The award not only gives Brown a scholarship to pursue his studies next year at UNLV, but will give him a one-semester internship with ARA next fall in its management program at Loyola University in Los Angeles.

He will receive $100 a week for 15 weeks while working in the campus food service there, and will be awarded an additional $1,000 stipend to offset the costs of an extra semester on campus after his internship with the company.

"Gary will have a unique opportunity to prepare for a career in institutional food management under the guidance of one of the largest food service companies in the world," said Jerome Vallen, director of the College of Hotel Administration.

Details of the plan were developed by ARA and Dr. Richard Bastie, currently on the UNLV faculty and formerly a vice president of ARA. It is the first time that ARA has tried such a scholarship plan at any university. If the pilot program proves successful it will be instituted in several universities nationally, according to ARA officials.

Brown has interned in the Las Vegas hotels and has been assistant manager at the Butterfield Country Club in Hinsdale, Ill. His career in the food service industry actually began at the age of 14, when he worked as a short-order cook in a New York restaurant.

ARA Food Services Co. is a division of ARA Services, Inc., a management and consumer services organization headquartered in Philadelphia, Pa. Vallen praises ARA for its far-sighted attitude and its willingness to be a partner--not an observer--in education.

Loveday to review Flippo

A professor of management at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas has been invited by the Allyn and Bacon publishing company to review and criticize a proposed text on the principles of management.

Dr. Paul N. Loveday, chairman of the Department of Management at UNLV will review "Principles of Management: A Behavioral Approach," written by Dr. Edwin Flippo of the University of Arizona, Tucson.

"The text combines classical and behavioral approaches with a mathematical approach to management," Loveday stated.

He added that the 500-page book would be of value to all persons engaged in modern management.

Loveday joined the UNLV faculty in September of 1969 after teaching management at the University of Arizona for 11 years.

His previous publications include the co-authorship of two studies on values of hunting and fishing in Arizona.

Flippo, author of the proposed text, is one of the only 44 Fellows of the Academy of Management.

TERM PAPERS

Send for your descriptive, up-to-date, 128-page, mail order catalog of 2,300 quality tempapers. Enclose $1.00 to cover postage and handling.

WE ALSO WRITE CUSTOM MADE PAPERS.

Tempaper Arsenal, Inc.
519 GLENROCK AVE., SUITE 203
LOS ANGELES, CALIF. 90024
(213) 477-8474 • 477-5493

"We need a local salesman"

tej travel tips

A Job By Any Other Name Is Still Work

By Randy Mink

Not all students who go overseas hit the books or the beaten tourist paths. Besides summer opportunities for travel and study, another alternative is work abroad. Working in a foreign country, getting to know people in everyday situations offers the curious student a chance to experience the world more intensively.

But with the rewards of toiling abroad come many hardships—long hours of lowly work for lowly pay, a tough time adjusting to an alien environment. Most Americans, frankly, are not cut out for tackling a job situation overseas. It takes a special type of person who really wants to rub elbows with different people, speak their language, adjust himself to their ways of doing things.

While some advertisements make student jobs abroad sound glamorous, the positions available, in truth, usually involve performing tedious tasks for six days a week, maybe 10 hours a day. Being a waitress at a Swiss resort may be tempting, but the demanding schedule, which allows little time for travel and relaxation, might dampen your enthusiasm once you arrive in the Alps.

In examining job programs, beware of agencies that show only what a ball you're going to have living and working in foreign surroundings. The U.S. State Department advises you to avoid agencies that neglect to mention the problems you may encounter.

A number of job-finding organizations in the United States and abroad will be glad to send you their brochures. Since landing a job on your own involves a lot of red tape, these agencies conveniently take care of all that—for a fee, of course. (Incidentally, it would be foolish to arrive overseas without a guaranteed job. Start searching now.)

Such companies try to find you a job in the category you choose. Job categories include factory, construction, restaurant-hotel, agricultural, camp counseling, voluntary work camps, Israeli Kibbutzin, child care and office work. Caring for children and doing secretarial work are considered the most desirable positions, though open to girls only.

The placement agency will obtain your work permit from the foreign government, arrange a brief orientation session abroad and sometimes arrange for roundtrip trans-Atlantic flights.

Such a package, with flight, could end up costing you $500. This may be more than you want to pay. But since you'll be making a little abroad—say, between $50 and $200 a month, with room and board possibly provided free, it will cost you less than a $1,000-and-up study program or a wayfaring journey on your own.

Furthermore, by working and living with foreigners, you may wind up learning more about their culture and language than your friends flitting around from country to country.

For students with no foreign language ability, England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland are good places to land a job.

Information on working on a kibbutz is available from TEJ.

BELGIAN EDUCATIONAL STUDENT TRAVEL SERVICE
22 West Monroe Street
Chicago, Illinois 60603
Telephone: (312) 726-6636
291 Broadway
New York, New York 10007
Telephone: (212) 346-1316

unlv is looking for girls with these qualifications

ATTRACTIVE GOOD FIGURE ABILITY to DANCE

to try out for SONGLEADERS

see Pat Dillingham, HPE 108, Ext. 208 or call Connie at 739-3523

John Glass, director of food services, had a problem.

Not enough students were eating lunch. This meant they were going to class hungry. They could not study effectively, because their stomachs were growling.

John wanted to do something.

He thought and he thought. At last he had an idea.

He would give the students

a free meal
But how could John
pay for this?

He would give them more food than they paid for.

So John had tickets printed which allow the purchaser to receive $11.50

in food while paying only $10.

John hopes you will try his new idea and let him know how you like it.

John's bright idea (worth $11.50) can be purchased (for only $10.) from the cashiers in the Snack Bar and Dining Commons. These great values can be used in either area.

Sports

Kenneth J. Baxter - Sports Editor

Season opens Saturday

Following the first week of practice, UNLV head football coach Bill Ireland reports the "Rebels' progress has been satisfactory."

The Rebels begin the season this Saturday night at 8:00.

Ireland indicates that increased conditioning is needed by the squad. To aid this goal, the Rebels' traditional "Big Six" endurance circuit will be used this week. A hard-nose football drill, it is designed to increase agility, mobility, and hostility.

Western Illinois will be a tough test for UNLV as the Rebels begin "A Year of Challenge." Under their veteran head coach Darrell Mudra, the Leathernecks have had seasons of 8-2, 7-3, and 8-2.

At the first intra-squad scrimmage of the enthusiastic Rebels, the result was smiles on the faces of the UNLV coaches.

Offensively, three touchdowns were scored, and defensively three passes were picked off and four fumbles were recovered.

Ireland has installed a Veer-I offense into the program and the top three quarterbacks showed they can score using that offense. In the scrimmage Dan Arana handed - off to sophomore tailback Roy Lee who scored a 51-yard touchdown for the first score for the offense. The second quarterback to account for a touchdown was junior two-year varsity letterman Jim Starkes who found flanker Floyd Toliver on a 70 - yard pass play.

Sonny Brasile, the Rebels highly - touted junior college transfer, directed the third scoring drive as he took his unit 70 yards in seven plays before rolling out to score himself from two yards out. It was the only sustained scoring drive of the scrimmage.

The defense looked good too in the two hour scrimmage as vets Patt Medchill and Greg Mitchell each picked off a pass as did Fresno City College transfer Mike Brock.

Several linemen also looked good in the scrimmage. On defense returning players Scott Orr, Wayne Cleveland, Jim Branch, and Julius Rogers all got in some good "hits." Senior Mike Lee also had his usual strong effort.

Offensive linemen also did a good job opening holes for the runners, especially on Lee's run, and their coach, Ron Smeltzer, is very pleased with their performances to date.

Running backs Ira Porter (220), Steve Matousek (195), and Gerry Hemmingsen (215) picked up some good yardage during the scrimmage. Fullback Wayne Nunnely (205) proved he was very strong during the session, but sustained a slight injury to his left knee.

Receivers also seem to be plentiful in the fired - up Rebel camp as transfer student Mike Anton, from U.C. Santa Barbara, snared four passes as did tight end Cary Mitchell. Tight end jc transfer Jack Hansen looked sharp as did wide receivers Jerry Webb and Toliver.

Here's JoeKing

THIS SEASON'S FIRST RERUN

BY Joe King

Since this is our first issue, and the first year of college for many, I'll be true to the JoeKing tradition and have a re-run of one of the finest of last year's articles. I'll dedicate this article to all the incoming freshmen so that they can start the year off right, and to Joe and Joyce Schlozman of Overland Park, Kansas, who I hope have a chance to get away from it all in the next year.

So, here it is:

RUBY REBEL ROSE

You need:

- 1 large can frozen grape juice
- 4-1/2 cups sugar
- one package dry yeast (try to get brewer's, so your wine won't taste like bread).
- one clean gallon jug
- one 10¢ size dime store balloon
- one source of water

Do:

Put everything in the jug, (except the balloon), fill with water to the shoulder, and mix thoroughly. Tie the balloon over the mouth of the jug. Let it stand at room temperature for 21 days. The balloon will expand greatly. If it relaxes before 21 days your wine is done. After 21 days you can GO GRAPE!

P.S. You can also add fruit to the bottle, but you're limited by size. Some of my friends fourple (four times) the recipe and use a Sparlett's bottle, but you have to use a bigger balloon (like a garbage can liner).

Anyway you do it, have a good time!

EDITOR'S NOTE: This recipe really works. The YELL staff's is great.

Returning lettermen . . .

- Jim Branch - Def. tackle (below)
- Ron Husband - Running Back
- Patt Medchill - Def. Back

New Las Vegas Stadium dedication slated for Saturday

Sept. 9	WESTERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY	8 pm PDT
Sept. 23	CAL STATE, LOS ANGELES	8 pm PDT
Sept. 30	U. CALIFORNIA, RIVERSIDE	8 pm PDT
Oct. 7	MISSOURI SOUTHERN COLLEGE	8 pm PDT
Oct. 21	UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA	8 pm PDT
Nov. 11	UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA	1:30 pm PST
Nov. 18	UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO	1:30 pm PST

STADIUM

Sitting like an oasis in the desert, the sparkling new Las Vegas Stadium provides the location for UNLV's seven home football games this year.

Built by the Las Vegas Convention Authority at a cost of $3.5 million, the 15,000-seat spacious arena is the newest facility with Astro-Turf in the United States.

Seven light standards provide enough brightness to broadcast color TV at night and the palatial facility, truly built in Las Vegas style, has a fine press box, and complete dressing room facilities for both the Rebels and their opponents.

Designed with the future in mind, ultimate expansion, as needed, calls for 60,000 seats and a triple-decked press box.

The stadium is located in East Las Vegas, approximately seven miles from the UNLV campus. The Rebels practice at the facility daily in the late afternoon.

Open for the first time when the Rebels lost to Weber State College, 30-17 last October 23, official stadium dedication ceremonies will be held during the halftime of the Rebel-Western Illinois game on September 9.

Everyone who has seen the stadium agrees that it is definitely another showplace in the entertainment capital of the world.

15 REBEL LOCALS MAKE VARSITY SQUAD

Top row: Mike Whitemaine, Jim Thayer, Vince Hart, Scott Orr, Steve Custer, Jim DiFiore, Dennis Robinson, Jim Massey.

Bottom row: Bob Galli, Mike Haverly, Ron Bell, Roy Lee, Joe Gallia, Jim Starkes, Kyle Nelson. And coaches: Roger Barnson and Bill Ireland.

A year of challenge

With only eight returning starters (four on both units), it could be an uphill battle as the fifth season in UNLV football history sets to become a reality. The Rebel coaching staff is having its most concerted recruiting drive, however, and all positions should be filled most adequately. The real strength will be the defense, with tremendous linebackers, defensive backs and defensive ends. Offense will once again be a question mark that the coaches are working hard to answer with as many touchdowns to win in a demanding 11 - game schedule that includes a trip to the Orange Bowl to meet powerful University of Miami on Nov. 4.

The program is only four years old, but progressing at a rapid rate as indicated by the rugged schedule that also includes small college powerhouses Boise State, the Camelia Bowl Champion, Weber State College, Cal State Fullerton, the Mercy Bowl winners, and the University of North Dakota.

Last year coach Bill Ireland's Rebels were 5-4-1 and in four seasons the UNLV total record (all under Ireland) is 25-13-1. Thirty junior college transfers, including 10 JC all-Americans, along with 26 returning lettermen will help form the nucleus for a winning team in 1972.

Heading the list of returning veterans will be defensive aces Patt Medchill, safety, and linebacker Mike Lee. Those two ball players are being closely watched by some very impressed professional football scouts. Punter Jim DiFiore, 41.9 yards per kick in 1971, and junior quarterback Jim Starkes, 1059 yards and nine touchdowns, will also be back to lead the Rebels.

The most outstanding recruit on the defense is 6-0, 225 pound linebacker Ivan "The Terrible" Weiss, a two-time junior college all-American at the college of the Sequoias.

The big new recruit of the offensive lineup is one of the most talented juco quarterbacks in the nation last season.

Sonny Brasile, 6-4, 210 pounds, will come to UNLV after leading West Valley Junior College to the Camino Norte League Championship two years in a row.

Brasile was voted as the NorCal Back - of - the - year by the San Francisco Bay area sport-writers and was picked as the MVP of the Camino Norte League after his performance last year. His team posting a 7-2 record, Sonny completed 90 of 170 passes for 1,126 yards and 16 touchdowns.

In his two JC seasons he completed 38 touchdown aeriels, threw for over 2,100 yards and ran for 12 more scores.

Although his passing ability is tremendous, perhaps the thing that will help him most at UNLV this fall will be his running ability. This spring Rebel head coach Ireland installed a veer 'I' option attack into the offense and it calls for a quarterback who can run as effectively as he can pass. In JC Brasile often led the blocking on the power sweep, and his 12 touchdowns on the ground speaks for itself.

"A year of challenge" it will be for the UNLV football team as the Rebels pursue greater national recognition.

Jim Starkes, a Clark High grad must compete with returning letterman Qback Dan Arana and J.C. transfer standout Sonny Brasile for thest team.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

by Phil Frank

© YOUNG AMERICA CORP./1304 ASHBY RD./ST. LOUIS MO./63132

CSUN ACTIVITIES SCHEDULE

All CSUN Movies will be shown at 8:00 pm
in the Ballroom.

September

6 Moyer Student Union Open House

Games room open free
CSUN office open food, beer, music, etc.

12 Frank Mankiewicz cancelled until after elections

13 CSUN Movie to be announced

20 CSUN Movie The Committee

22 Billy Preston In Concert

27 CSUN Movie

Casa Blanca "BOGART"

Broadway Melody 1929 Musical

This mail box is for the use of our Circulation Department . If you wish to mail a copy of the YELL, fill in the name address and Zip Code and a bring it to the YELL office - - MSUB 303 We'll be happy to send it out with our next mailing

University of Nevada
4505 Maryland Parkway
Las Vegas, Nevada
89109

Non-Profit Org.
U. S. POSTAGE
PAID
LAS VEGAS, NEVADA
Permit No. 200