Check out your rocks

by Bob Stoldal

If you are under 15 years of age and are going to a university in Nevada, you are breaking the law. But if you want you can have your rocks checked free of charge.

You will find that information plus a whole variety of other bits and pieces in the Nevada Constitution and Nevada revised statutes that deal with the university system.

If you want your rocks analyzed, or maybe your water tested or even some dirt checked out, send it to the President of the University. According to Nevada revised statute number 396,620, "The President of the University shall cause to be analyzed minerals, soil or water taken from the State of Nevada."

This offer is not limited to prospectors, but to "any citizen of the state." The law also says it will be "analyzed free of charge, and the results returned within 10 days." That analysis will contain "an explanation of the uses and market value" of the material.

From there we move to NRS 396,530 which holds some bad news for new child prodigies. Without mincing words the State Law tells The Board of Regents, "No person under age of 15 will be taught in the university."

State law does require courses in military tactics." Article eleven, section eight of the Nevada constitution reads in part: "The Board of Regents shall organize and maintain... (a department of)... military tactics."

One final bit of law, Nevada Revised Statute 396,100 reads as follows: "The Board of Regents exists to aid in the conduct of the people's business."

40SF professors admit 'affairs'

About 40 professors at San Francisco State University have anonymously admitted to having affairs with their students a survey by a student newspaper disclosed Friday.

Another 40 said that they would consider having affairs if the opportunity arose but many faculty members answering the survey said "they were never involved and didn't intend to" get involved, the report said.

About 600 members of the 3,600 member faculty were sent questionnaires and 150 were returned, the student newspaper Phoenix said.

About one-fourth of the professors who responded were "intimately involved with one or more students," the paper said.

Some professors wrote the survey was "unwelcome interference" or "impudent vulgarity" and expressed concern over publicizing a seldom-discussed topic on college campuses.

"There's an unwritten law here," one middle aged English professor was quoted as saying. "Nobody talks about it."

One professor of the School of Creative Arts was quoted as saying, "I found the (affair) at first particularly fulfilling. Then, after a few months, the emotional attachment became rather heavy on my part, and since the student was so much younger and emotionally immature, the whole relationship became quite a burden on me."

A woman professor admitted she sometimes suggested at the end of a semester that "attractive students" might want to get in touch with her for "something special."

Bayley plays free to students

Students at UNLV are apparently not taking advantage of the free admission at Judy Bayley Theater.

Dr. Paul Harris, professor in the speech and theatre arts department, commented that CSUN full-time students automatically pay an activities fee which covers all the plays in Bayley Theatre.

"The public is charged admission for any of the plays we present, but students are free and we want to urge them to attend," said Dr. Harris. "Although attending in appreciable numbers, we would like to have many, many more than what we have had in the past."

Part-time students are charged the discount rate of $1.50 for the performances. Reservations are required in advance, however, for both public and students.

The next play, which opens at 8p.m. Friday, Nov. 2, is "The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton Under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade," a dramatic musical with contemporary themes which affect the lives of all. It will also be staged on Nov 3, 9 and 10 at 8p.m., with a matinee performance at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 4.

Supports Nixon

Nevada Congressman David Towell said Friday President Richard Nixon has "let us down" but until all the evidence is out he is firm on the issue of impeachment:

"I will not vote for it today, I would not vote for it three weeks ago."

Towell made the remarks at a press conference shortly after arriving in Las Vegas Friday.

Likening the public cry for impeachment to a "lynch mob," Towell said, "They want it done tomorrow morning," but his own conclusions will wait.

"I'll be open minded and review the evidence and that is the way I'll be voting."

The Republican Congressman admitted the events of the last few days have represented "many traumas" and he stressed the American public "only takes so many shocks."

He listed among the traumas fighting in the Middle East, economic instability and "if all that isn't enough, some misguided fool gave us the Watergate for no reason or justification."

In addition, said Towell, "A very much loved Vice President has fallen."

But, he added, "Internationally, the President has done as well as any man can do."

The administration's domestic policies have not been as acceptable for Towell. "Domestically we are a set of rotating chairs in the cabinet posts and that cannot continue," he said.

Letters and telegrams amounting to nearly 700 have reached Towell's Washington office and he said they ran heavily in favor of impeachment. But, he added, "all the evidence is not available to me."

He estimated that less than 40 of his colleagues in the House of Representatives would vote for impeachment at this time.

School spirit

by Frank Bakken

The Cheerleaders and the Sugarbabes have started a good thing! In order to stimulate more interest in the team and in just promoting a little of that "good ole school spirit", a "Spirit Award" has been given at each game to the group of participants who apparently make the effort of supporting the team.

The award consist. of a cash award of $16.00 to be used for the purchase of refreshments after the game. Originally the award was donated by the Cheerleaders and Sugarbabes from receipts from various fund raising activities, then after the first two awards, Mr. R.M. Tuttle, a Rebel supporter, donated the funds for the remainder of the games.

Judges for the competition include Dr. Baepler, Dr. Aizley, Mr. Buchanan (from the Board of Regents), and Dr. Niles who sit on the opposite side of the field; and Mrs. Pat Dillingham, who judges from the student side. The decision is made the last part of the third quarter.

Winners of the Spirit Award to date are: Hotel Administration

Kappa Sigma

Sigma Chi

Sigma Nu

Greeks United

Moby Grape

The award was not given at the homecoming game due to the various homecoming activities.

It is interesting to note that one of the winners of the award was the Moby Grape group, a group composed of supporters from the community at large.

Could the search for school spirit finally have ended? Your guess is as good as mine; but this is a real good start in the right direction.

Commencement

The 1974 Commencement Committee will meet early in November to consider nominations and recommendations for three (3) Commencement activities: 1) Commencement Speaker, 2) Distinguished Nevadan Award and 3) Honorary Degrees

If you have any nominations/recommendations for the above, please send them to Dr. William Dakin (HU-361) by Friday, November 2, 1973. Be sure to include your reason and background material for each nomination.

They can be purchased at the following locations:

Scout Circus

Thousands of Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts will start making contact with virtually every home in Clark County Nov. 3 as the 1973 Scout Circus ticket sales drive begins.

The Scouts will be inviting the people of Las Vegas valley to buy the $1.00 tickets to see Scouting in action at the Circus.

UNLV students have taken part in the recent drive to impeach President Nixon. Above a student puts his name on one of the many petitions circulating around campus calling on Nevada's representative in the House of Representatives to push for impeachment. All signatures gathered in the Las Vegas area were due to be taken to Washington D.C. this week, but Towell has already indicated he supports Nixon and will not ask his removal.

University regent

Flora Dungan dies

She was a "real fighter." She was "very enlightened." She was "progressive." She had a "a new kind of insight." She was Flora Dungan.

The 55-year-old Miss Dungan was a controversial and outspoken human rights leader.

Like so many people she saw wrongs that needed to be righted, but she was one of the few that was able to right some of those wrongs.

Miss Dungan was responsible for a law suit in 1965 which led to the reapportionment of the legislature on a one-man one-vote basis. It eventually gave Clark County seven more senators and four more assemblymen, as well as two additional members on the board of regents.

In addition to being on the board of regents, Miss Dungan also served the people in several other capacities, including as a state legislator. As an assemblywoman in 1963 and 1967, Miss Dungan was an advocate of civil rights legislation, prison reform and other social legislation.

She is survived by her husband Ray ben David.

In lieu of flowers, her family has requested that donations be made to FOCUS, the youth organization that she and her husband founded in Las Vegas five years ago.

A memorial service will be held this Wednesday (October 31st) at 2 p.m. on the plaza in front of the Student Union Building.

O'Callaghan to appoint

For the second time in his term as Nevada Governor, Mike O'Callaghan will have to name someone to the university Board of Regents.

According to the States Constitution, and Nevada Revised Statutes, the "Governor has the power to fill such a vacancy." In addition state law also says that the person appointed will "serve until the next general election, when the vacancy shall be filled by election."

But the person who is elected in fall of '74 will not serve a full term, only "the remainder of the unexpired term of the Regent originally elected."

Regent Flora Dungan who passed away last week, had three years left to serve.

O'Callaghan's first appointment to the Board was journalist Nedra Joyce, who filled the spot left open by the death of Paul McDermott.

Negligence accused in death

by Sean McVey

John Dwight Hicks, 20, died when he stepped off a traffic median at Boulder Highway and Sunset Road. He was struck by the first car and ran over by a second car. He was attending the UNLV Homecoming football game at the Stadium and left during half-time.

Paul Price, in his daily column for the Las Vegas Sun, accuses that John Hicks was killed "because somebody in the law enforcement agencies, . . . did not handle their jobs efficiently." The law enforcement agencies involved were the Henderson Police and the Las Vegas Convention guards.

The heads of those two agencies denied Price's charges and told a different story of what happened that night. Price was not available for further comment.

Price wrote, "Hicks was observed at the football game carrying a half-gallon jug of wine and assertedly drunk and creating a scene."

Jim Clark, head of security for the Las Vegas Convention Authority denies this stating, "Hicks wasn't reeling drunk nor was he creating a scene."

Price states, "Two Henderson police officers were sitting in their cruiser outside the stadium and saw the man being evicted, . . . and why was Hicks not taken into custody?"

Chief Osborn, of the Henderson police, answers, "(Hicks) was not creating a disturbance nor was he staggering drunk."

Clark also replied "Hicks was on his way out and it was at this time that the security guard confiscated his wine; he wasn't evicted."

Price wrote, "Two other Henderson officers were on the opposite side of the highway and saw the accident."

Chief Osborn denies this. "There was one officer on duty at the accident scene who was assigned to watch the traffic equipment. The officer didn't see the individual until he (Hicks) crossed to the median. He then just stepped off the median in front of the car."

Price called "for a complete investigation. . . One solution would be to bar the importation of hard liquor on the premises."

Clark countered with "We don't allow people to bring any alcoholic beverages into the game. But this is hard to enforce because it is extremely easy to sneak liquor in, hidden under a coat or some other means."

He concluded by saying, "If we busted everyone who was under the influence or had one drink, we would have to bust about everyone."

THE YELL OPINION

Ah, Sweet Porno

by Ken Baxter

Ah, sweet porno, I knew you when — Porno, prostitution, gambling and drinking have come a long way in the past twenty years and so has Las Vegas. In fact, to some observers, it might appear that Las Vegas has even helped these things along in the hearts of all "healthy" Americans.

The state has issued licenses to run houses of prostitution in every county in Nevada, except for Clark and the county that Reno sits in.

Gambling and drinking are of course legal and even encouraged everywhere with free drink and slot coupons abounding at every hotel, bus terminal, airport and car rental facility in town.

Massage parlors, escort services, dirty bookstores and of course X-rated (hard core) movie theatres have received their business licenses over the years and the county and city and state have taken their percentage of the profits generated by these businesses.

Now, out of the dark and smelly rooms of these theatres, arises county official Carl Lovell. Lovell appears to be a man with a conviction and a mission of righting something that he views as morally wrong.

The only problem with Lovell's mission is the obvious fact that even if he was right in his moral judgement of the hard core theatre situation, he is unquestionably going about it in the wrong manner.

Seizing one copy of the film, DEEP THROAT, and holding it for purposes of a judgement in courts may have some constitutional validity. But when a man takes it upon himself to continually harass The Las Vegas Cinema Arts Theatre in the name of justice and also grab copy after copy of the same film for viewing in court, something in the wheels of justice is not turning properly.

Porno has been shown to be much more healthy for people by a recent lengthy and costly investigation by a Nixon appointed committee than Lovell or his fellow vigilantes care to openly admit. Suppression of sex and its many ramifications has been proven time and again to be the most effective way of causing perverse acts by individuals on their society.

If Lovell is so dead set against DEEP THROAT and its contemporary porno-novelty flicks why doesn't he move to Disneyland.

Las Vegas is known and loved by millions of Americans, Lovell, so let it be and so it shall always be what Americans want to know and patronize it to be.

Opinion Briefs

Israel: Right or Wrong

The Mideast War is cause for a crisis of conscience among New Left ideologues. Their doctrinaire anti-imperialism, anti-colonialism stance has its roots in America's Vietnam policy. It does not extrapolate well as Israeli oppression of the Palestinians. Israel has a right to exist. Furthermore the current phase of the conflict demonstrates Israel's need for the buffer zones of the Sinai and Golan Heights.

A President For UNLV

The choice for a permanent replacement for former UNLV President Dr. Roman Zorn has narrowed to a handful of applicants. Reportedly, some top-notch people of national stature are interested in coming to UNLV. What are the criteria? Is the selection committee after a fund raiser, a P.R. man, what? When shopping around for a basketball coach the requirements are obvious, not so with a university president.

Abortion

A UPI report datelined Bakersfield, California will have the unfortunate effect of further activating anti-abortion forces. An intended abortion at 32-33 weeks turned into an incubator aided live birth. A nurse refused to turn off the infant's oxygen. The report stated Dr. Xavier Hall Ramirez terminated the pregnancy with a saline solution; it did not declare how life was ended. Whether or not this is in line with California's therapeutic abortion act is up to the courts but this crime makes obvious the need for definite abortion guidelines set up according to the chances of the fetus's survival.

After Flora, Who?

Flora Dungan's passing was not as unexpected as it was tragic. To speak of a replacement so soon is intended as a tribute to her abilities as a Regent. Surely Governor O'Callaghan has given this some thought. It is only asked that his selection honors Flora.

Elizabeth's Civics Lesson

by Elizabeth Sinatra

The political and philosophical structure of these United States is essentially a two-party system. The ultimate goal of that system, with all its diversities, is a good and just government.

As the tides of change have menaced, we have found our house built-not upon the sand-but upon the rock of the Constitution.

As governments rose, and tumbled to defeat, as dictators spewed forth their venom, and decended to ignominy, America stood strong within the mantle of her Law. As one nation dedicated to the rule of law and not of men—we have survived by the very strength of that law, and the virtue of its philosophy.

Today, we, the people, face our severest testing, and we must prepare ourselves. A great and awesome storm soon may rage about us. Great gusts of rhetoric will tear at our minds and lash them to and fro. Lesser men will scramble to gain political advantage as nobler men seek for truth and justice.

We must come together now in common purpose and good will. We must draw to ourselves the reserves of our strength our wisdom, and especially our patience—to weather this new adversity.

And most of all—we must forget, for the duration of this battle perhaps to come, our two parties and differences. For this time lay aside our labels of left and right. We must become the united people of a nation, dedicated to her survival and committed to her honor.

Congress must perceive that the very existence of its august body is being challenged. Congress must arise from its pampered place in the scheme of things political and, in a manner of extraordinary maturity and eminent seriousness, accept the truism that he who would govern must first govern himself.

ented. I am of course excluding that noble portion of our student body who wear diamond studded jock straps. I realize that Nedra Joyce is a hopeful prospect, but she just doesn't have the experience or the political power that Flora had. And due to the Residence Requirement, if Wildnat beats this income tax evasion wrap he will face Nedra Joyce for his seat. I'm afraid she will have her hands full in trying to knock him off.

If there is any positive aspect to this dark time (and there isn't) it could be the free hand that Wildcat will now have. I imagine he may try and get Joe Namath accepted as a graduate student and get him on the playing field. I'm sure Palm Mortuaries would be happy to buy the Chemistry Building to meet these incidental expenses. They could turn that bunker into a four story crypt. We may also be able to get those long awaited doctoral programs to assure the eligibility of our fair haired jocks. Those would be 1. Tying one's shoes (thesis optional), 2. Chewing gum and walking without biting off one's tongue and 3. Remembering one's name (numbers are O.K.)

Man will always need his games. Who really cares about the quest for truth and goodness? Flora Dungan did. Today I fear greatly for all academic programs here and in Reno due to the loss of this great humanist. But if a person's life can be measured in the impressions she left, then her life was surely a success. I fear greatly for the consequences of her loss.

The students of UNLV will miss Flora Dungan.

The Nevada Scene

by Terry Marren

The students of UNLV will miss Flora Dungan.

With the death of Flora Dungan, the hopes and dreams of many students are gone. We are now left with the jocks and political hacks that comprise the rest of the Board of Regents. I note Nedra Joyce as the lone exception here, but she is not the dynamo that Miss Dungan was and she will have to face off against Wildcat Bill Morris in her next bid.

The death of Flora Dungan leaves me with a deep sense of despair. I wonder when the student will again be so ably represented as he or she was with Flora? she distinguished herself in the Nevada Assembly as one of the authors of reapportionment. We owe her the current Clark County majority which assures equitable treatment in all state affairs. She also broke up the unfair apportionment in Clark County itself, with the lone exception of the fat four (Lamb, Brown, Bryan and Herr).

We are now left in the clutches of Bill Morris and Bucky Buchanan. We know that Bill Morris is under indictment for collusion to evade income taxes, but in Clark County that seems to be a positive political attribute. Bill Morris seems to be the antithesis of Flora. He is interested in football and football and doesn't give a damn about academic programs. Flora Dungan was the friend of the educator and of the student. She realized that the prime purpose of our university should be to educate instead of macerate.

The Regents of the University of Nevada are now completely non-student ori-

Ski touring

Ski touring has been used in the Scandinavian countries because of the traveling done by people during the winter months. Here in America, it is now becoming popular partly from ecological concerns, crowded and expensive ski areas and a chance to come in contact with nature.

Ski touring is a tolerant sport. It allows one to get involved as he wishes. Some people ski to win races, others ski for enjoyment and relaxation.

You'll probably have an understanding of how cross-country skiing works the first day out. Once you learn the stride kicking, gliding and such, you'll be on your way to enjoying the outdoors.

Of course there are the small items of turning and stopping, but these things will come quickly.

Concerning equipment: Skis, boots, bindings and poles will cost about $70.00 or considerably more if you want to make the investment. In this day of highly sophisticated sports equipment that runs into great sums of money, cross-country gear really is reasonable.

Ski touring equipment is divided into 3 categories: light touring, touring and mountaineering weight (as light as possible). Width from 50 millimeters to a wide 70 millimeters, durability and strength are key factors.

For most people, a moderately priced light touring ski (under 5 lbs.) of 60 millimeters in width would be beneficial. Toe clamp bindings, and bamboo or tonkin poles are also required. If possible, have the shop do a torch base preparation on the base.

Clothing should be layered and cooler than you would think. Light woolen shirts, sweater, mittens, socks, even long underwear because of wools insulating and absorbent powers. Be sure clothing is light and not heavy. A light pack can be carried for afternoon lunch.

All that remains is to take-off across the wintry countryside gliding or plodding, as the case may be, to the rhythm of your own drummer.

Cooks

Firstly, as always, I have to correct about half the things I wrote in my last article. Some people have actually asked Dr. Yousef about drinking alcohol being better for you than water while under hot desert conditions. Well, it is better for you, but not to the extent of getting snookered. If you still would like to know the why behind this fantastic discovery, you could ask Dr. Yousef in the biology department or better yet take Biology 101, Survival, taught by Dr. Yousef and myself.

Nanette Deakin asked why I'm not cooking as much as I used to. Unfortunately, my roommate Millmanabanana is not as attractive as who I used to cook for last year.

This week, foodwise, I would honor Dick Torres and the Activities people for all their hard work this year. If you read this article early enough you can even make this dish before the Halloween film festival. So this week plop in the oven some:

In case you are wondering, the two mystery are John LaBounty and Joe King.

1st Aid Note

Now if you still aren't convinced cheap boots can give you blisters, here is the first-aid for blisters. (Just in case.)

After feeling and seeing a blister has appeared the first thing to do is to clean the area with soap and water. Then take a sterile needle, (a lit match can be used to sterilize the tip of the needle), puncture a small hole at the base of the blister. Take a sterile gauze pad and gently put pressure on the blister, causing the fluid to be drained out. Take some sterile gauze and cover the area and tape it. Remember to tape it so the gauze pad will not rub against the blister, aggravating it more. Change the dressing frequently and keep the area clean.

If you feel an area becoming tender and seeming as though a blister might appear, apply some moleskin or adhesive to the tender area. This can prevent a blister from appearing.

All of these first-aid items should be in your first-aid kit which should always be carried with you.

Equipment

There was a friend of mine, who one day came to me with the gleeful proclamation that he had made a great deal on a pair of hiking boots. I smiled, and muttered that he should have invested more time in researching about boots and bought from a shop specializing in hiking equipment. But he nixed my ideas and happily went his way, raving about his savings.

At a later date, I had the opportunity to do an overnight backpack with this same friend. I noticed he had different boots on and inquiringly asked what happened to his "boots of great savings." His gleeful attitude had changed considerably on that subject. He said that after his first day hike he received blisters and sore feet for his great savings. After that experience he had gone to a specialty shop and did some research on boots, before purchasing the pair he had on.

Moral: take time to find out about boots. They might be more expensive in a specialty shop than in a local chain store but remember, blisters can terminate a long awaited trip.

Don't forget to break your boots in. Find out this information from the dealer you buy your boots from.

Whats new at the bijou?

Touch of class

Glenda Jackson and George Segal--WOW! Superstars!--But don't expect a super plot. Do expect a fast, fun romp from London to Spain and back. Marital cheating is the subject--perhaps a bit blasé in these times--but George and especially Glenda give their all. There's some really good one liners, as well as some great sight gags--and even a message. But you'd be better off ignoring the message and just sit back and get lost in the mad pace. It's another escape route which I find a great relief from violence and deep entrenchments.

Man of the year

MAN OF THE YEAR currently playing at the Red Rock Theatres may not be the film of the year, but it is a good escape route --you don't have to keep up with the plot to enjoy it. At first glance, if you read the billings, you might think it's the male answer to Linda Lovelace. Well, this flick could never get an X rating, but it is based on masculing overendowment (3 instead of 2!).

You will probably notice right off that it is one of those foreign films (Italian) but, just try to catch flubs in the dubbings. Judging from the very beautiful but dumb-looking models who are profusely pervading the screen, dubbing probably has upgraded the film.

If you like beautiful photography of beautiful girls, cars, and architecture along with a moderately amusing story line--don't wait, it won't be here, much longer.

what I like about foreign films like this on is the very clean super mod interior settings. Here they have been masterfully combined with the stately elegance of Old Europe.

Steve McQueen and Dustin Hoffman are French convicts bound for Devil's Island in the Allied Artists release "Papillon", scheduled to open in December. Directed by Academy Award-winner Franklin Schaffner, the film is based on the late Henri Charriere's best-selling autobiography, "Papillon", a harrowing story of souls and relationships of men caught in the mania of a dehumanized institution. The book has sold over 17 million copies world-wide and 5 million copies in the United States alone.

What's new with the Las Vegas zoo?

Dr. Donald Baepler, acting president of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, has been named to the Board of Directors of the Zoological Society, parent organization of the Las Vegas Valley Zoo at Tule Springs.

Before coming to Las Vegas, he taught biology at Kansas State Teachers College and at Central Washington State College, where he also served as Department Chairman, then as Assistant to the President and finally as Dean of Administration. Prior to becoming Acting President, he was vice president for academic affairs.

Anteaters donated by KLUC Radio, were purchased by Jerry's Nugget in North Las Vegas and 59 birds and mammals from the Honolulu Zoo will form the bulk of the Zoo animal population when it opens Dec. 26.

A Golden Eagle, a male lion to be mate to Ronzi (the lioness who has served as the zoo's only animal to date), and Pigmy Goats head the list of animals coming from Hawaii via Western Airlines when facilities are ready for them.

There will also be two Patagonian Cavies (Largest members of the guinea pig family), a dozen Brazilian Cardinals, 10 Barred Doves, 6 Lace Neck Doves, 3 Chukars, 3 Hyderabad Francolins, 3 different pairs of ducks, 3 different pairs of pheasants and 3 Common Mynahs.

A pair of Dingos, the wild dogs of Australia, is coming as a gift of the San Diego Zoo. Later a pair of New Guinea Singing Dogs, close relatives of the Dingos, will be shipped from Hawaii. The pups will be too young to travel, however, with the initial Honolulu contingent.

A Sulphur-Breasted Toucan, a gift of Virginia Roberts of Las Vegas, will inhabit a decorative exotic bird cage being donated by Fantasy in Iron. There will also be monkeys, a desert exhibit showing the small mammal and reptile life of Clark County, a "cycle of the chicken" display in which zoo visitors can watch the hatching of eggs in glass-walled incubators, a herpetology display and several aquariums, including two 1200-gallon tanks being donated and installed by the Las Vegas Aquarists Society. One will be fresh water and the other saltwater.

Fay Steele, curator of Animals for the Zoo, says the animal population is being selected for ease of care.

"With the exception of lions, we have not selected a single animal that is expensive to feed," Steele said. "This is deliberate -- a policy to assure a fiscally sound zoo."

THE YELL SPORTS

UNLV lets Hawaii take 31-29 win!

With all of the "Seven Deadly Sins" items that sports editor Joe Hovsepian is writing about lately, I decided to get into the ancient myth mood.

The atmosphere of UNLV football has been "goodly" of late. One might say Las Vegas is one of the new Mt. Olympus of small college football. And as everyone knows, Mt. Olympus was inhabited by Gods. Here is a partial list of the Gods of Mt. Olympus — Las Vegas Style.

ZEUS — the omnipotent one of Mt. Olympus who reigned supreme. Who else but Ron Meyer.

by RICK HARRIS

ARTEMIS — the Goddess of the chase in the forests. At UNLV we have a creature of the chase on the football field, defensive left end Mike Whitemaine.

ARIES — the God of war of brutal courage. To be on the defensive line is an act of brutal courage. Brutal to the opponents trying to move upon defensive left tackle, Joe Ingersoll, Middle guard Mike Rodriguez and right tackle Scot Orr.

APHRODITE — the Goddess of love. Who else but cheerleader Joy Tuttle.

POSEIDON — was once leader of the Gods but finally was an "Earth-shaker," according to the Greek writer Homer. Poseidon was also the ruler of the seas. Last year, Steve Matousek was the leader of UNLV's offensive attack. This year he is not leading the UNLV attack from a tailback slot, but is still moving with a 7 yard plus average from his full-back position.

ISIS — a messenger of the Gods of Olympus. The wide receivers of this team, Jesse Roberts, Craig Bray and Mike Haverty are constantly shuffling in and out of the huddle with instructions from the hierarchy of the team.

DIONYSUS — the God of Wine and Orgy, too many candidates fit this God that if I started listing all the names, I could probably fill the entire page.

JASON and the Argonauts — Mike Pry leading the Rebels downfield for another touchdown.

And last, but never forgotten is Themis. THEMIS was a lesser God of Olympus whose mission it was not only to maintain order but also to regulate the ceremonials. Who else would fit this description but the Referees?

By DOYLE E. SMITH
SUN Sports Writer

HONOLULU — Univeristy of Nevada, Las Vegas had to swallow some of its own medicine here Saturday night.

After whisking to leads of 14-0 and 21-7 the Rebels played dead in the third quarter and couldn't catch up in the fourth as second-ranked Univeristy of Hawaii grabbed a 31-29 triumph.

The Rebs, 6-2 for the campaign, now have lost their two games by a total of six points. The Rainbows are undefeated in six games.

Coach Ron Meyer's upset-minded proteges were ever so close to roaring in front 28-7 in the early stages, much to the disgust of an overflowing crowd of 23,011 in the antiquated Hula Bowl.

But fumbleitis and a single pass interception proved their undoing.

The Green Machine, meanwhile, played great ball to come from behind on two touchdown deficits on two occasions. And the Bows were superb in defending jet-propelled Mike Thomas, who was held to a meager 82 yards on 24 carries.

"I just don't know," the dapper Meyer said as he was shaking his head at midfield following the contest.

"Maybe you can blame me. Maybe I'm at fault, but I still think we are a better ball club than we showed tonight."

Are the Rainbows better than Boise State?

"This is a good ball club.

Any team that can come from behind like that has a lot of character," Meyer continued.

Will the loss slow the progress of the Rebel gridders?

"No, we'll be right back there for Santa Clara Saturday night."

The Rebels worked the "kinks" out on the beach early Sunday morning but spent most of the day reviewing Saturday's game films and taking a look at films of their next opponent.

Rebels tenacious defense not tough enough to stop Hawaii Rainbows in 3-28 loss against the 2nd ranked small college team in the nation. Rebs had several chances but the injured Mike Thomas coughed up the ball on several costly second half fumbles giving the Rainbows the victory.

Track Coach Gordon Edwards announced interviews are being held for a track team manager.

Any reasonably healthy and intelligent man or woman interested in helping to keep the team running may contact Coach Edwards in P.E. 107 or call Ext. 203.

On a no pay basis you'll get to lug around equipment, keep stats., time running events and travel with the team to meets.

Assistant coach McDaniels said track and field will show a great improvement over past years and follow football and basketball into the first era of excellence. If you'd like to be with the "Big Boys" of UNLV athletics, check out the manager position for the track team.

INTRAMURALS .....

Soccer has been added to the intramural program and if you would like to enter a team in the competition, here's what you'll need to know: entries are due by Friday, November 2nd. Games will be staged every Tuesday and Thursday from 3:15 to 5 p.m. on the new multi-purpose field.

League play starts Thursday, November 8th and finishes up Thursday December 13th.

Sport Stuff

Each entry must be submitted with $10.00. The fee will be returned at the end of the season if the team doesn't forfeit a game. Forms are available and are to be turned in to the P.E. secretary in P.E. 102 no later than Friday, November 2nd.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL TIPS OFF SUNDAY OCTOBER 28th.

The League plays every Sunday in the gym and six Sundays from the 28th. We'll find out who's the best of the Intramural Basketball Teams. Entered this year are the Kappa Sigs, the Six Packs, Buds, and the team. Sunday, December the 9th will show who "The Team" really is.

TENNIS .....

All racketeers who think they can compete with the big boys, can get information on the varsity tennis season from coach Fred Albrecht at a team meeting this Thursday at noon.

The meeting will be in P.E. 104. According to Coach Albrecht, Varsity Tennis will follow in the footsteps of the other major sports into the "Big Boys" level of competition, so you'll really have to have your racket and balls together to be a team member. Actually, some casual recruiting has produced enrollment of several all league players from southern California high schools. It could be a very good year.

Varsity Basketball .....

December First will be the opening date for UNLV's Basketball wars.

The "King," the "Prince," and the "Dukes of Earl" that is; Head Coach Jerry Tarkanian and assistants Tony Morocco, Dan Ayala, and Lyn Archibald open the curtain on Basketball play against Texas Tech.

And so, the first era of excellence grows on!

New hearing on environment

Legal technicalities forced the Nevada Environmental Commission this week to call for a new public hearing, with 30 days legal notice, on the state plan to analyze air quality effects of large building developments.

Due to an oversight, according to Commission Chairman Norman Glaser, Discussion of complex sources, developments which affect air quality indirectly attracting autos, was not listed in the first hearing notices.

As a result, said Glaser, the complex source hearing was "about ten days short" of the 30 day legal notice required by the Administrative Procedures Act.

The Commission agreed Wednesday to issue another legal notice of the hearing, which legal counsel said would be scheduled for the first of December.

During an hour long comment period Wednesday, several speakers complained they had not been notified that complex source regulations would be discussed.

The Environmental Protection Agency has set a Dec. 15 deadline for states to submit their plans for evaluating the effects of developments on the quality of the air.

David L. Calkins, of EPA air and water planning for Air Pollution Control, said the comments from the Wednesday hearing would be incorporated into the state plan for discussion at the December hearing.

Richard Ida, assistant director of the Air Pollution Control Division, called for the state to define a complex source in the regulations, and asked the Commission to include size cutoffs for the developments to be considered.

Ida said under the proposed regulations, a 7-eleven Store would be required to prepare an environmental impact statement on the effects of air quality and he noted that the state had earlier indicated that only large developments would be considered.

Martin Blank, representing shopping center owners, said the regulations would prohibit the construction of any significant complex source in Nevada. "It affects everything," he said.

Blank said the regulations don't consider the chance of significant improvements in auto emissions, and don't provide that each project would be considered individually.

I am interested in attending law school and would attend one in Nevada if one were available.

I would prefer to attend a law school outside Nevada.

If one is not started in Nevada I will not be able to attend law school at all.
