"Class was in session" as the 1987-88 UNLV Women's Basketball team was introduced at the annual Meet the Lady Rebels Night held on Oct. 27 in the Si Redd Room.

Managing Editor, Mary Hausch of the Las Vegas Review Journal was the Master of Ceremonies during the formal event.

Co-Head Coaches Jim and Shelia-Strike Bolla and their assistant coach Rick Glenn spoke about how exciting this season for the Lady Rebels will be along with thanking many of their boosters for their loyal support to the program by giving them plaques as a symbol of their appreciation.

Prominent women from around the Las Vegas community were on hand to introduce each member of the team.

These women included Bonnie Bryan, June Whitley, Sylvia Maxson, Sue Lowden, Gwen Castaldi, Susan Rothermel, Parvin Modaber, and Carolyn Sparks.

When introduced, many of the players mentioned how glad they were to see so many fans of the Lady Rebel in attendance. Each player stressed how exciting and great this season will be for the team.

Kim Crawford, a Junior forward out of San Luis Obispo, CA was the recipient of the Bert Leavitt Memorial Scholarship.

This annual scholarship is presented to a member of the team in their junior or senior year that has an overall grade point average of 3.0, and has been chosen by the coaching staff.

Past recipients of the award include Lori Arent, Misty Thomas, and Denise Brooks.

The funniest moment of the evening occurred when Mary Haush, who is expecting, was presented a pair of Reeboks' sneakers and a teddy bear for her son Walter.

According to senior point guard Karen Hall, these were presented on behalf of the team to show Mary their appreciation for her dedication and sincere support to the Lady Rebel basketball program. UNLV President Dr. Maxson, other UNLV coaches and many faculty staff members were in attendance.

The winner's philosophy of life

The Winner's philosophy of life: It is energy that makes us change and grow. No one has yet to discover the limitation of their own mind and energy. "The world belongs to the energetic." - Emerson.

The winner's heart is filled with love; he/she sees the beautiful side of the world.

The winner's is at peace within himself; he seeks harmony with others.

The winner is also a bitch, but there is nothing they can do about it. After all, without winners, there would only be losers and we all know that losers really scrape the bottom of the barrel. I mean look at CSUN officers and if they aren't really losers.....

The winner is rich from within, she desires little from without.

The winner is unselfish, she lives a life primarily for others.

To different minds the same world is a hell or heaven. We are the world. Thoughts rule the world. Winners make the world go round.

The Winner is secure; he always enjoys peace of mind.

The Winner always considers others' interest first and his own interest last.

The Winner is always a part of the answer.

The winner always has a program.

The Winner says, "Let me do it for you."

The Winner says, "It may be difficult but it is possible."

The Winner sees a green near every sand trap.

The Winner sees the doughnut.

The Winner always demonstrates she is a little better than her word and she is a little bigger than her promise.

The Winner acts with love and enthusiasm and difficult tasks become easy jobs.

The Winner is linking the things S/he has to do that make life blessed.

The Winner asks, "What can I do for the world?"

The Winner does best during his most difficult times.

The Winner steers her life destiny.

The Winner enjoys giving and serving others.

The Winner always makes complicated things simple.

"Life is what one makes it, no matter of what it is made."

This is the Winner's Philosophy: "If a task is once begun, never leave it till it's done. Be the labor great or small, do it well or not at all."
