NEWS BRIEFS

Auditions

Auditions for the UNLV production of "The Cherry Orchard", a tragicomedy by Anton Chekhov, will be held at the Grant Hall Little Theatre Dec. 5 and 6.

Hours on Dec. 5 are 1-3:30 pm and on Dec. 6, 7-9 pm

Long-time theatre professor Paul Harris will direct "The Cherry Orchard", which will run March 17-27 in UNLV's Black Box Theatre. Rehearsals will begin Feb. 1.

Auditions are open to community members as well as UNLV students. The cast will be composed of five women and 10 men. The script is on reserve in the UNLV library.

Participants must sign up for a five-minute audition slot in the theatre arts department office, located in the lobby of the Judy Bayley Theatre. A recent photo and completed audition form must be submitted.

For more information, call the theatre arts department at 739-3666.

CARS

UNLV students will soon be receiving the CARS pre-registration packets for Spring Semester 1988, according to Nick Paul, associate registrar.

University Forum

Philosophy professor Michael Scriven will present the next University Forum Series lecture Dec. 9, 7:30 pm, in UNLV's John S. Wright Hall, Room 116. The lecture, titled Reintroducing Values in the Academy, is free and open to the public.

A professor at the University of Western Australia, Scriven earned a doctorate in philosophy from Oxford University. He has taught at several American colleges, including the universities of Minnesota, Indiana, and California-Berkeley.

Author of several books on philosophy and reasoning, Scriven's Reasoning has become one of the most influential publications on modern logic of natural reasoning.

While visiting UNLV, Scriven will address several university philosophy classes as a visiting scholar-in-residence. His topics will include argument analysis in current policy problems and logical theory and business ethics.

The University Forum Series is sponsored each semester by UNLV's College of Arts and Letters. This lecture is also co-sponsored by El Paso Natural Gas through the Burlington Northern Foundation. For more information, call 739-3401.

Concert

The UNLV Community Concert Band will give its free fall concert Dec. 3 at 8 pm in UNLV's Artemus W. Ham Concert Hall.

Under the direction of Daniel J. Farris, and assisted by graduate assistants Daniel Jordan and Perry Ferrara, the ensemble will perform a variety of traditional band and seasonal music.

For more information, call the UNLV music department at 739-3332.
