Career Day

UNLV's Alumni Association, in conjunction with CSUN and the Moyer Student Union Board, will sponsor the 10th Annual Career Days March 7-9. Alumni and community leaders will be invited to participate in classroom discussion pertaining to their professions. Professors who would like speakers to address their classes can submit requests to the Alumni Relations Office. A luncheon for all participants is planned for March 9. Donald D. Snyder, president and chief executive officer of First Interstate Bank of Nevada, will be the keynote speaker at the event.

Auditions

Auditions for the UNLV production of The Boy Friend, a spoof of 1920's musicals, are set for March 2, 7-10pm, and March 3, 4-7pm, in the Judy Bayley Theatre. Audition participants should prepare a short vocal selection. A dance audition will be required also. Callbacks are scheduled for March 4 at 7pm in Grant Hall Little Theatre.

Exhibition

A 35-year Retrospective

Exhibition of Rita Deanin Abbey's art works will be on display in UNLV's Museum of Natural History Feb. 16-March 5. The exhibit features many paintings, drawings, black art structures, and enamels fired on steel created during Abbey's career. A free public reception is set for Feb. 19, 4-7pm in the museum. Abbey, a well-known artist in the Las Vegas community, became a UNLV emeritus professor of art last year after teaching with the universities art department for 22 years.

Dance Performance

The UNLV dance department continues its Sunday Afternoon in the Studio with a performance by Deborah Stone & Friends on Feb. 28 at 2pm in the dance studio of the MPE complex. Admission to the series is $15 which includes the Feb. 28 concert and two more concerts which are scheduled for March and April. Tickets can be purchased in advance at the department of dance arts office or at the door.

Intramurals

All university faculty are eligible to participate in CSUN's Intramural sports. Sign-ups are now taking place for billiards, ping-pong, paddle tennis, softball, swimming, and volleyball. Intramurals will also be sponsoring a five kilometer run on April 16 and an aerobic competition on April 1.

Recruitment

The Office of Admissions, in conjunction with the President's Office, is sponsoring another "Scholars Calling Scholars" program. Faculty members are asked to participate by calling high school seniors who have stated an interest in UNLV. This program is crucial to UNLV's pursuit of Nevada's top students. The campaign is set for March 1-3, 6-9pm, in the President's Office. Professional staff members are also invited to participate along with faculty members.

Panel

The Army's Current Affairs Panel will present U.S. Goals and Interests in Central America as part of the next University Forum Series presentation Feb. 29, 7:30 p.m., in Frank and Estella Beam Hall, Rm. 242.

The free, public event is sponsored by UNLV's College of Arts and Letters.

The six-member panel is comprised of five U.S. Army War College students and a faculty moderator who visits more than 25 college campuses each year. Established in 1969, the panel tries to encourage dialogue on national security issues between the Army's senior military educational institution and the nation's college students and community members.

For more information about the University

Forum presentation, call UNLV's College of Arts and Letters at 739-3401.

Data Processing

UNLV now has an associate chapter of the Data Processing Manger's Association.

Members of the UNLV chapter receive discounted admission to Las Vegas Chapter meetings and other functions.

Last semester,

members were given a tour of Citibank's computer department, attended a Las Vegas DPMA meeting and enjoyed a lecture by the MIS Vice-President for Nissan Corp., organized and MIS students' textbook exchange, and began lining up their own lecturing and tutoring program. If you would like to find out more then call the DPMA office at 739-3873 or come visit in BEH 308 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.
