

REBEL SPORTS

Sports Calendar

Hustlin Rebels:

March 25th — at UC Santa Barbara

March 26th — at UC Santa Barbara

March 27th — at UC Santa Barbara

March 31st — San Jose at Barnson Field 7pm

UNLV Golf:

March 25-26 Fresno State Invitational

Softball:

March 29 — Augustana College at UNLV 1pm

March 30th — Hawaii Pacific at UNLV 1pm

Lady Rebel Basketball:

March 24-26 National Invitational Tournament in Amarillo, Texas.

Intramural dance competition

Friday April 1st "The First Annual Aerobic Dance Competition" Tropicana Grand Ballroom 6:30. Free to all UNLV students. Those interested in competing can still pick up applications in the CSUN office (Moyer Student Union). Prizes and trophies for best singles, mixed doubles, and teams. A UNLV Intramural Sponsord Event.

Saturday April 16th at 8:30am UNLV intramural

5K in honor of National Recreation Sports Week. Applications are available in the UNLV Bookstore, Sport's Fantasy & Fitness, The Jock Shop, and The Running store.

Prizes and trophies to overall student winners and for overall winners (male and female) in each race division. Sponsored by Budlight and UNLV intramurals.

Budlight is officially the UNLV intramural sponsor of 1988. A thank you to Mr. Larry Brown and Mr. Marty Linde.

Each month the Intramural Department will select and award one Athlete of the Month. Each male and female athlete of the month will receive a plaque, personal photo with our sponsors from Budlight, "Party Animal T-shirt" and select individual prizes. So, in order to be a winner get involved with intramurals.

BASKETBALL HAS BEEN BUDY, BUDY GOOD TO ME — Senior Karen Hall is currently playing the last games of her career

karen's kolum

by karen hall

sports editor

Injuries can cause an athlete to retire or make an early exit from their respected sport.

Of course injuries are part of the game but career ending injuries are those that athletes cry and have nightmares over.

An athlete that survives his/her athletic career without an injury is extremely fortunate.

I'm not talking about those minor injuries such as stubbed fingers, bruised thighs, in certain cases sprained ankles, and black eyes, but major injuries like torn ligaments in a knee, broken bones, and so forth.

As an athlete, I can say I've had my share of injuries but the worst that any athlete could ever have are those nagging injuries that never seem to go away.

Don't get me wrong, you don't have to be an athlete to understand what I'm talking about. If you've played in pickup games or even intramural sports I'm sure you have walked away from at least one game with scraps and bruises. I bet they didn't feel very good.

At any rate, you have to be tough to endure the pain because as the saying goes "No Pain-No Gain!" or if that doesn't fit for you try "No Guts-No Glory!"

Let me give you some advice if you begin to wimp out when you get injured. Think about all of the professional athletes that train year round and play over eighty games for a season. Now those athletes have to be in great condition.

They are so susceptible to all types of injuries day-in and day-out.

All it takes is one major injury to wipe out an athletes dream so to those that are lucky stay with your style of conditioning no matter what it may be.

THIS IS THE END — This photo of Gerald Paddio going up for two is absolutely the last basketball picture The Rebel is going to run this semester. Thank you.

photo by jon ansok/Rebel photo editor