Ground broken for soccer building

Ground was broken Wednesday (April 25) for the 4,500-square-foot Robert J. Miller Soccer Building, built and donated in his honor by Las Vegas philanthropist Claude I. Howard.

"Mr. Howard is a leading builder in our community and valued supporter of UNLV," said President Robert C. Maxson. "He has helped us build the university campus by erecting and donating two of our newest structures, the Claude I. Howard Public Safety Building and the Claude I. Howard Student Health Center. This soccer building represents his third major gift to UNLV."

The new soccer building, located on the north side of the Peter Johann Soccer Field, will contain locker rooms for both home and visiting teams, concession areas, a ticket sales office, coaches offices, and equipment room, and much-needed public restrooms.

Howard, a Las Vegas builder, has donated numerous buildings to the community, including the public safety and student health buildings that bear his name on the UNLV campus.

The new structure will support UNLV's winning soccer program. Coached by Barry Barto, the team has 105 wins, 41 losses, and 16 ties over the past eight seasons, for a .698 winning percentage.

Coach Barto will be entering his ninth season at UNLV. He has led collegiate teams to 11 NCAA tournament appearances in the 14 years he has served as a college soccer coach.

The Rebel soccer team won its 100th game on Oct. 2, 1989. Last season marked the eighth consecutive winning season for the team.
