The blood drive will begin at 10 a.m. and last until 3 p.m. in the Moyer Student Union room 201 and in a mobile unit outside the James Dickenson Library. ## Media Bash returning to Las Vegas

If you've had enough of the Las Vegas media, here's your chance to sound off or just watch as a panel of newsmakers and media "critics" turns the tables on local reporters and editors. On Nov. 15, the Society of Professional Journalists will sponsor Media Bash '90, a discussion of local media coverage and issues of journalism fairness, balance, accuracy and ethics. The event, to be aired live on Channel 10 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., will allow for participation from the Channel 10 studio audience. Be at the studios, 4210 Channel 10 Drive, at 7 p.m., when the doors open to the public, to be ensured a good seat. Entry is free of charge. "Last year's event got pretty emotional at times, but the exchanges were informative," said Erik Pappa, a Las Vegas SUN reporter and president of Society of Professional Journalists. "This year's Media Bash promises more of the same. And we'll reach a wider audience, thanks to Channel 10's participation." Pappa said the forums let the community know how journalists operate. "We want to be honest and forthright about our business, warts and all," he said. "The Media Bash is also beneficial because it exposes journalists to their own shortcomings. It helps us to be more sensitive about carrying out our responsibilities to the community," Pappa said. Participants will feature Las Vegas Mayor Ron Lurie, Metro Police Undersheriff Eric Cooper, Circus Circus Enterprises Executive Mike Sloan, Attorney Morton Galane, Attorney Eva Garcia, Review-Journal Media Critic and Columnist Ken White, Review Journal Editor Sherman Frederick, Las Vegas SUN Managing Editor Sandra Thompson, Channel 3's Gwen Castaldi, Channel 8's George Knapp, Channel 13's John Daley and Review Journal's Political Columnist Jon Ralston.
