

COMMUNITY EVENTS

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Research volunteers needed

The Exercise Physiology Laboratory needs 100 volunteer subjects for a research study. The study is attempting to check the validity and reliability of a 1-minute half-sit-up test.

Volunteers will receive a free fitness evaluation, which includes body composition, flexibility, aerobic fitness and abdominal muscular strength and endurance. Subjects will be required to perform a 1-minute sit-up test and a 1-minute half-sit-up test at the campus exercise lab.

People of all ages are invited to participate. One 30-minute session will be scheduled for each volunteer. The study is under the supervision of Lawrence A. Golding, professor of physical education.

For more information and to sign up, call Maria

Diener at 597-4102 or leave a message with the lab at 739-3767.

Snack on wine and cheese, please

The Faculty Club is having a wine and cheese party 7 p.m. Tuesday, in Room 225, Boyd Dining Room Lounge in Frank and Estella Beam Hall. New faculty and professional staff are welcome. For more information, call Debby Murvosh at 451-3397.

Series begins

The Interdisciplinary

Research Seminar Series will begin its new year today with a presentation by history professor Elspeth Whitney titled "History, Ecotheology and the Environmental Crisis." The lecture, which begins at 3 p.m. in Room 217 of Frank and Estella Beam Hall, and is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts. For more information, call Colin Loader at 739-3349.

Jim Deacon, professor of biology, will be the commentator.

Evangelist to speak for Aglow

The Women's Aglow Daytime Fellowship is pleased to announce their monthly luncheon to be held at the Best Western Downtown Convention Center Inn at Main Washington at 11 a.m. Wednesday. The guest speaker will be evangelist Sally Hedges.

Admission is $6. Call Buffy at 641-8709, Jeanene at 362-6401 or Dottie at 456-9740 for more information.

Get the facts

The Campus Committee on AIDS and the Student Health Center have 1-2 hour programs and speakers available for classes or groups. Topics include prevention, student issues and diagnosing the disease. The programs are part of National AIDS Awareness Month '91. For more information, call the health center at 739-3370.

Presenting Picnic Pops II

The Las Vegas Symphony continues its Pops Series with a second Picnic at Pops concert 7 p.m. Saturday, at the Hills Park Amphitheater in Summerlin. Guests include conductor Frank Collura and world-class bluegrass fiddler Carol Stokes. Gates open at 4 p.m.

Pre-concert entertainment includes free balloons and face painting for children and a performance by the Jazz Combo. For ticket information call 739-3420.

Reception honors authors

The provost and the University Library Society are hosting an "Octoberfest Reception" to honor faculty authors books published in 1990-91. The event is set for 4-6 p.m. Thursday, in the special collections department of the James R. Dickinson Library. Authors to be honored include Evan Blythin, Bill Corney, Pat Goodall, Bill Newman, Roberta Williams, Elspeth Whitney, Lon Spight and Marie-France Hilgar. Those interested in attending may call 739-3286 to R.S.V.P. Learn how to survive in the cold, cruel world

The Multicultural Student Affairs Program is presenting a workshop titled "Leadership, Success and Survival in the 1990s" at 4 p.m. Thursday, in the South Gym. The workshop is free and open to the public.

The workshop will feature inspirational speaker Dennis Rahiim Watson, providing participants with the skills, tools and knowledge required to meet today's academic and personal challenges.

A former high school dropout who succeeded against the odds to become a highly influential educator, Watson has lectured and conducted workshops at more than 200 colleges and universities, including Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Howard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

For more information call the office of Multicultural Student Affairs at 739-4165.

Photographer to speak

Professional photographer David Levinthal will speak Sunday as part of the University Forum Lecture Series.

His talk, titled "In the Valley of the Dolls," is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Room 116 of John S. Wright Hall. The event is free and open to the public.

Levinthal, a former photography teacher at UNLV, has had showings in every top photo gallery in the United States and recently finished a one-man show in Zurich, said Michael McCollum, dean of the College of Fine & Performing Arts. Levinthal is now based in New York City.

Levinthal, who earned a master of fine arts degree in photography from Yale University, collaborated with "Doonesbury" creator Garry Trudeau on the book, Hitler Moves East: A Graphic Chronicle 1941-43.

The University Forum lecture series is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts and underwritten by the UNLV Foundation.

