

ALLMAN

from page 9

recreations of tunes like, "Statesboro Blues," "Blue Skies," and "In Memory of Elizabeth Reed."

The band which broke up in 1981 has experienced renewed success since the release of their last two albums, Seven Turns, in 1989, and the current release, Shades of Two Worlds. The band gracefully interwove the new with the old in their live show. They played the distinct guitar masterpiece, "Nobody Knows," and the old Robert Johnson classic, "Come on Into My Kitchen" (both from the new album), with the Gregg Allman trademark, "Midnight Rider" in between. The acoustic set ended with "Going Down the Road Feeling Bad," in which Haynes laid down some phenomenal slide licks, leading into a smokin' version of "Hoochie Coochie Man."

In "Kind of Bird," a tribute to Charlie Parker, the band stretched their usual Southern blues boundaries to an upbeat jazz sound, illustrating their versatility.

Somewhat uncharacteristic for this type of band was the incorporation of a full stage size rear projection video screen. A wide assortment of lava light imagery was continually cycling around on screen, with a few clouds and sky pictures for "Blue Skies," and a barrage of mushrooms on parade throughout "Memory of Elizabeth Reed."

The enthusiastic crowd was on its feet for the two-song encore which was capped off with the timeless "Whipping Post."

Little Feat, a band capable of headlining a concert, played second fiddle in billing only. The uniquely "Nawlins" sound, which is the bands calling card, revved up the crowd in a hurry. They stuck primarily to their most popular hits, songs like "Sailin' Shoes," "Atlanta" and "Dixie Chicken." They did throw in the title track from their latest release Shake Me Up. Little Feat played for about an hour and after their encore song "Texas Twister," and a strong ovation from the crowd, they vowed to return to Las Vegas.

Little Feat opened for the Allman Brothers at the Thomas & Mack. photo by Rick Nielsen

WASTED YOUTH.

ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES. A Public Service of the USDA Forest Service and your State Forester.

CSUN HAS LECTURE NOTES!!!

Student Services is offering lecture notes for the classes listed below. Notes may be purchased for $1.25 per lecture or $25 for the entire semester.

REMEMBER: "Lecture Notes are a supplement for the serious student. They are not a substitute for the lecture itself nor the classroom discussion."

Notes may be purchased in the Student Services Office located in Tonopah Hall Room 214. Office hours are Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

CLASSES

BIO 101.5	HOA 260.1
Williams	Cummings
CHE 174	HOA 395.2
Titus	Borsenik
COS 261.1	NUR 332
Ferri	NUR 336
ECO 202.1 & 3	NUR 418
Karstesson	PHY 156.1
ENS 100.1	Thompson
Deacon	SOC 101.2
FIN 301.1 & 2	Frey
Harvey	SOC 101.7
GEO 101	Preston
Wyman

INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES. A Public Service of the USDA Forest Service and your State Forester.

COMMUNITY EVENTS

Students for Choice to meet

The abortion rights group, Students for Choice, will meet today at 5:30 p.m. in Room 232 of the Flora Dungan Humanities. For more details, call Dean at 734-5136.

Professor to speak about the continuing significance of race

"The Continuing Significance of Race: The Black Middle Class Terrorized by Racial Discrimination" will be discussed by University of Florida professor Joseph Feagin Oct. 25.

Feagin, a graduate research professor in sociology at the University of Florida in Gainesville, is a former Pulitzer Prize nominee for his book, "Ghetto Revolt."

The speech, which is part of the University Forum lecture series, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Beam Hall Room 24. It is open to the public free of charge.

During the 1970s, Feagin took leave of absence from the University of Texas to serve as a visiting scholar for the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

He is currently working on a book called "Killing the Dream," for which he is conducting hundreds of interviews with African-Americans about the continuing importance of race in American society.

The University Forum Lecture Series is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts and underwritten by the UNLV Foundation.

"Listen to a lecture"

The Nevada State Museum and Historical Society continues its series of programs relating to World War II on Oct. 27, with a free lecture, "The American West and World War II."

The lecture will be at 3 p.m. at Lorenzi Park; 700 Twin Lakes Drive.

Gerald Nash, professor of history at the University of New Mexico, will speak.

Nash is the author of two recent and widely acclaimed books on the transformation of the West and the reshaping of the region's economy during the war.

According to Nash, western cities, including Las Vegas, grew dramatically with the influx of a younger, less skilled and more ethnically diverse population. The end result, said Nash, was that "the West emerged from the war as a path-breaking, self-sufficient region with unbounded optimism for its future."

The free public lecture promises to be of interest to a general audience as well as students of history. For more information, call 486-5205.

Making strides

Everyone is invited to join in on the fun for the American Cancer Society's "Making Strides" event on Oct. 26. This event is a non-competitive walk for individuals, clubs, organizations and company teams who will move along a five-mile course through Green Valley.

This event is sponsored by KLAS-TV Channel 8 and KFM 102 Continuous Country. Registration begins at 8 a.m., the official start time is 10 a.m. Early registration is starting now with only a $3 registration fee, or anyone may register on the day of the event for $5; each registered participant will receive a pair of neon sunglasses or a "Making Strides" key chain.

"Making Strides" will start at Fox Ridge Park in Green Valley and will end with food, entertainment and prizes. Some of the great prizes to qualify for are: a quality camera set, an electronic keyboard, a compact disc player, a color TV and more.

Call today for more information at 798-6877.

Listen to the band play

Oct. 23 marks the beginning of the Las Vegas Symphony's classical subscription series with the premier concert at Artemus Ham Concert Hall at 8 p.m., featuring Ukrainian violinist Oleh Krysa. Tickets start at $10 with discounts to students, seniors and the military. For more information, call 739-3420.

November recruiters coming to campus

AFL-CIO Organizing Institute, recruiting division. Nationwide date: Monday, Nov. 4. Interviews: 20

Air Force Civilian Personnel Management Center, recruiting division. Date: Friday, November 15. Interviews: 16.

ARA Services, recruiting division. Date: Wednesday, November 13; Thursday, November 14. Interviews: 50.

Bennigan's recruiting division. Date: Thursday, November 7. Interviews: 13.

Bradshaw Smith, Co. recruiting division. Date: Tuesday, November 5. Interviews: 13.

Carlos Murphy's Restaurants, recruiting division. Date: Friday, November 22. Interviews: 26.

Cashman Equipment, recruiting division. Date: Tuesday, November 12. Interviews: 16.

Clark County School District recruiting division. Date: Tues., Dec. 3, 4, 5. Interviews: 26.

Gilbert Robinson, recruting division. Date: Nov. 13. Interviews: 26.

The Gaurdian Insurance Company, recruiting division. Date: Nov. 19. Interviews: 13.

Hertz Equipment Rental recruiting division. Date: Nov. 26. Interviews: 26.

Hyatt Hotels Corporation, Human Resources — College Relat division. Date: Nov. 12. Interviews: 24.

Hyatt International Corporation recruiting division. Date: Nov. 12. Interviews: 12.

Internal Revenue Service — Internal Audit Function recruiting division. Date: Nov. 8. Interviews: 13.

Interstate Hotels recruiting division. Date: Nov. 14. Interviews: 26.

J.C.Penny's recruiting division. Date: Nov. 7. Interviews: 24.

K Mart Corporation recruiting division. Date: Nov. 4. Interviews: 13.

see RECRUITERS page 9