M-DOC

This song seems to have a lot to offer a multitude of listeners. It has a great beat with a nearly phenomenal back up singer who compliments M-DOC's rap with strong vocals. This is a "get-busy" tune for die hard club goers. If this song was played on the club scene, the DJ's job would be intact, because this song is "hitt'in."

The biggest nightmare of purchasing a new album is when it contains a few strong songs that soon fizzles without warning into the bottom of the barrel. These are songs that shouldn't have been on paper let alone grace a laser beam of a CD. M-DOC is not an artist that would stoop to this level. He offers one of the most consistent products that has come around in some time. While he has further grooming and refining to do before he can compete with the likes of Ice Cube and other more prolific rappers, he does have a certain appeal that will eventually put him into that category.
