their lead to 26 points 61-35, before the Seaside scored their first basket of the second half.

Tarkanian substituted early giving all of his players some experience early in the season.

"I'm concerned playing on the road with a new team like this," Tarkanian said.

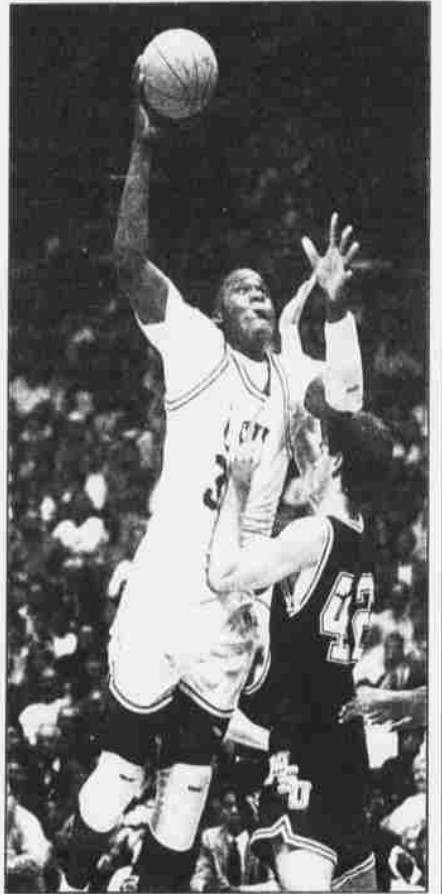

Starters Evric Gray scored 15 points, Elmore Spencer added 10, while junior J.R. Rider scored 21 points. Senior Melvin Love scored 10 points coming off of the bench.

The game was the third time in the last five seasons that the Rebels have opened the season in Hawaii. The Seaside were paced by Todd with 23 points before fouling out. After fouling out Crow shook hands with Tarkanian, an act that may be frequent on Tark's farewell tour.

Saturday at 3 p.m., the championship game is at 5 p.m.

Following the Desert Classic championship game, the Runnin' Rebels take the floor against sixth-ranked Louisiana State. LSU, possibly UNLV's stiffest test this season, is led by player of the year candidate Shaquille O'Neal.

LSU's All-America center Shaquille O'Neal leads the Tigers into the Thomas & Mack Saturday night.

Correction

In the Thu. Nov. 21 issue, the Richard Munson's story "Bolla's women's program geared towards the student athlete," Bolla's coaching record was incorrect. Since Strike's leaving, Bolla has posted an 80-17 record, not an 8-17 record as reported.
