MANY GOVERNMENTS HAVE SEEN THE LIGHT. IS OURS STILL IN THE DARK AGES?

In the past decade an average of one country every year has abolished the Death Penalty, reaffirming respect for human life. The United Nations has endorsed the goal of global abolition. And today more than 40% of the world's countries have abolished the Death Penalty, either by law or in practice.

Today the United States is one of the last countries in the West that still uses this ancient punishment. Isn't it time our government raises justice to the more enlightened global standard? Join us and make a difference.
