

Lady Rebels shell UCSB Softball

UNLV softball coach Shan McDonald knew all along she had a strong batting lineup.

And after Saturday's double-header at Rebel Diamond against UC Santa Barbara, so do the Gauchos.

In two games, the Lady Rebels ran up 30 hits, batting .469 and tallying three triples and four doubles, for an 11-10, 8-3 sweep of the Gauchos. Six UNLV batters finished .500 or better at the plate, lead by catcher Kim Fritts who finished 4 for 4.

In the opener, the Lady Rebels rallied twice, from 6-1 and again in the sixth from 9-6 to tie the game 10-10, sending it into extra innings. The Lady Rebels clinched the victory in the ninth when pinch hitter Heather Siegel batted in the winning run.

"We've never scored that many runs against a half-decent team," Coach McDonald said. "People will probably score a lot of runs on us, but we'll have to score a lot more."

While the Lady Rebels had no problems generating runs, preventing them became an early concern. Fielding errors combined with erratic pitching allowed the Gauchos six runs in the third inning. With starting pitcher Kim Smith shaken up, Amie Stewart took the mound and finished the rest of the day.

McDonald shook off the pitching difficulties as a bad day.

"Kim's got to lead us and on the day's that she's off, everybody else is gonna have to do their job," McDonald said.

Stewart, who pitched a combined 13.3 innings on the day, gave up six walks and two hits but allowed only a single run in an 8-1 triumph. Stewart also contributed at the other end of the plate, hitting 2 for 4 with two RBI.

Center fielder Stephanie Gonzales, who knocked in the winning run, hit 3 for 3 with two RBI.

McDonald said, "we had a few mistakes but the defense started coming through. They settled down in the (middle of the first game). Our offense came through for us and that's what we're going to count on all year."

got it all the way through (our order). We've got our speed at the top, some speed at the bottom and in the middle we have some power. You've got to have power. You need to have some way to move those speedsters around."

If there's any question marks on this team, it's on the defense. Reimeche, Wilkins-Eames and Parus return to second, short and first respectively but a freshman, Heather Markowitz will take over third base and any of three catchers could see action.

Furthermore, the entire outfield must be replaced. Mallet, freshman Ronnie Salcido and junior Stephanie Gonzales, all new to the Lady Rebels, will be asked to step to the NCAA's immediately.

"We have an excellent defense," Smith said of her supporting staff for 1993. "We have a lot more togetherness than we've ever had. It's all there."

Come Be Part of the Magic

Folks Faire '93 will be held Feb. 27 at Beam Hall. The second-annual carnival of fun is co-sponsored by UNLV and the City of Las Vegas Adaptive Services. Volunteers and participants are still needed for this "outer space" theme experience.

Registration begins at 8:00 and the fair will take off at 10:00.
