CSUF while the Titans shot the lights out at 55.2 percent.

Thursday saw a totally different Rebel hoops squad as UNLV dominated the Anteaters of Irvine. Rider led the Rebels in scoring with 34 points and also tied with Gray and Dedan Thomas for high rebounds with five each.

The Rebels shot 54.2 percent from the field against the Eat-ers.

UNLV, the No. 2 seed (behind New Mexico State) in the Big West Tournament, will face Utah State in Friday's first round at Long Beach, Calif. Game time is 7 p.m.

Hawaii

two of UNLV's top point producers, Teresa Jackson and Gwynn Hobbs, fouled out down the stretch, with three other Lady Rebels on the floor with four fouls apiece. Hawaii's Valerie Agee also fouled out drawing five of Hawaii's 15 fouls.

Jackson, who played the entire game before fouling out, led UNLV with 22 points, eight rebounds and three blocks.

UNLV's starting guards, Hobbs and Cherie Hogg, scored 18 and 19 points each, combining for 4 of 10 from three-point range.

Game 2 was no easier. Trailing only five at half, the Lady Rebels once again were struck with a battery of fouls. Three UNLV starters, Hobbs, Johnson and Tonia Carter fouled out and three more Lady Rebels received three fouls. Only one Wahine received four fouls and none were ejected.

Jackson, who became UNLV's fourth leading career scorer, totaled 28 points. Of UNLV's eight free-throw attempts, six were Jackson's.

Carter was the Lady Rebels' leading rebounder—pulling down eight before fouling out with 6:47 remaining. Jennifer Hurt led the Wahines with 17

Rebel Rumble

Baseball takes two out of three

The Hustlin' Rebels bettered their record to 7-8, winning Friday and Saturday against San Diego State, 7-3, 6-0 before losing Sunday, 10-1 in San Diego, Calif.

Pitcher Byron Klemaske (2-2) picked up Friday's victory, striking out seven and walking eight in 6 2/3 innings.

At the plate, outfielder Jon Polson went 3 for 5, scoring two runs and stealing two bases. Outfielder Demond Thompkins was 4 for 5 and tallied two runs and three stolen bases.

Saturday's 6-0 shutout went to pitcher Eric Ludwick. The native Las Vegan went the distance, fanning nine batters.

Shortstop Steve Bierman and outfielders Rodney Mazon and Ryan Plughoff each had two hits and combined to produce four of UNLV's runs. Polson went 2 for 5 including a solo homer.

The Aztecs salvaged Sunday's finale with SDSU pitcher Mark Gapski (1-0) taking the victory. Rebel pitcher Robert Uithoven (0-1) lost his first decision of the year.

Polson hit his second homerun of the series and his fifth of the year on the first pitch of the eighth inning.

The Hustlin' Rebels make the next stop on their road trip starting Friday with three games against San Jose.

Rebel stringers down Illinois

The UNLV women's tennis team picked up a 5-4 win over the weekend against Illinois at Tempe, Ariz.

The Rebels won five of the six individual matches to secure the victory.

After No. 1 singles player Becky Markosian lost in straight sets, No. 2 Rachel Clark won, 6-1, 6-2. No. 3 Shiera Stuart won 6-2, 6-4, No. 4 Suzi Agassi won 6-1, 6-0, and No. 5 Janelle Barr had to go three sets to get the victory, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1. No. 6 player Jeannette Fylpaa also went three sets for the win, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

Illinois won the three doubles matches.
