EEK-A-MOUSE and Dread Zeppelin at Huntridge this weekend

"It's going to be a Dreggae weekend," Huntridge-spokesperson Nichole Sligar said. Headlining this weekend's Huntridge-festivities are EEK-A-MOUSE on Friday the 17th, and Dread Zeppelin on Saturday the 18th. Opening bands include Elephant Stone. Vegas dignitaries Stan Rankin T and Pablo Diablo and the Little Red Devils will also appear (on Friday and Saturday, respectively).

Dread Zeppelin is mostly known for their punk rock parodies of famous Elvis and Led Zeppelin songs, but it is really hard to describe their music, go see them if you can you won't be sorry.

EEK-A-MOUSE is known for his style of kinky dub reggae. His style can best be described as straight up Jamaican style reggae with lots of drum machines and other instruments that add to his unique style of toasting. His vocal style is like no other in the world. Recently EEK appeared on Late Night and even Dave Letterman was impressed by his style of musical toasting.

In addition to authentic Caribbean catering and 97-cent drafts (for the first hour of both shows), ticket-buyers can purchase both nights for $17 (or each night for $10). Both shows begin at 8:00 pm.
