Dear Editor:
 I am writing to inform you of my distaste for the Rebel Yell's actions and failure to act for the October 5 issue of the Yell. First of all, the page highlighting certain homecoming and senate candidates was a pathetic farce! I did not know that the Rebel Yell was in the practice of endorsing these candidates. At least that is what your "spotlight" looks like. One might say that the other candidates were not readily available for questioning. For that argument I have the following suggestion: when there is a CSUN-sponsored candidate forum, send someone to it. Oh, sure I was told that Paul Stuhff, a news writer, was going to cover it, but five minutes after the event started, Paul was nowhere to be seen. I then went your lovely offices, (they look different than last year-I like the new furniture, how much did you guys spend on remodeling, anyway?) where I was told by Jay Sapovits, Perspective Editor, that Paul "took off." I then asked the "Sap" (an appropriate name) and Nick Haley, Managing Editor, if either would sit on the forum. "Sap" was too busy thinking up new insults for the football team and Mr. Haley said he wasn't dressed for the occasion.

 Secondly, in your Senate Spotlight, you printed a quote from a student who is not even running for an existing Senate seat! There is no Senate seat for the Greenspun School of Communication. Also, several Homecoming candidate's pictures were over the wrong names and information and one candidate running for queen was listed under the king category. Don't your standards for journalism require you to verify your information?

 So where does all this leave us? Well, some might suggest that the Rebel Yell should work on improving its professionalism. Others might say that it is all Student Government's fault. But few would say that they love the Yell just the way it is.
