Lady Rebel harriers place in Arizona

Julie Crooks paced the Lady Rebel cross country team last weekend in the 8th Annual Arizona State Invitational in Tempe.

Crooks finished in a Lady Rebel-best time of 18 minutes, 18 seconds, good enough for 26th place in the 122-runner field. The time was a season best for the Central Oregon Community College transfer. It was also the fifth time in six meets this season that Crooks has scored UNLV's low time.

As a team, UNLV finished 13th in the 17-team invitational.

Brigham Young University won the meet.

Other top Lady Rebel finishers include Jean Fletcher (18:46 - 44th) and Latricia Dendy (19:19 - 68th).

The Lady Rebels will compete in the Big West Conference Championships October 30 in Fullerton, Calif. UNLV finished in eighth place a year ago and has not finished higher than that since 1987 when they placed fourth.

Rebels travel to CSUN, host UCSB

With postseason hopes on the line for the UNLV soccer team, the Rebels will travel to Cal State Northridge (2-2-0 in Mountain Pacific Sports Federation play, 8-7-0 overall) for a Pacific Division match Friday night.

On Sunday, the Rebels will host UC Santa Barbara (1-3-0, 6-8-0) for Senior Day.

Five Rebel seniors will be honored in pregame festivities for the final home match of the season. Joe Cormany, Ben Erickson, Richie Louis, Tommy Miller and Daniel Packer will play their last game at Johann Field as UNLV Rebels.

If the Rebels have any hopes of entering the post season tournament they will need to win both weekend matches. A loss would be its third in Pacific Division play and most likely eliminate the team from any postseason hopes.

UNLV is 2-2-1 in Pacific Division play, 5-8-1 overall.

Seniors Daniel Packer, 21, and Ben Erickson, 17, will play their final home games at Johann Field Sunday.

Gins making his presence felt

Frosh has started five of last six Rebel matches

Noah Gins is starting to become a force on the soccer field.

The freshman soccer sensation from Sandia High School in Albuquerque, N.M. came to UNLV with high school accolades galore. He earned All-City, All-District and All-State awards as a school boy, leading his prep squad to a 17-2 record and the state 4A title along with a No. 7 national ranking.

Noah Gins

Gins has posted two goals for UNLV this season, including the game winner last Sunday against Cal State Fullerton. He has played in all 14 matches, starting five of the last six, and is second on the team with four assists.

Gins said that UNLV seems to be on a roll and has really turned things around.

"Game by game we are getting better," he said. "As the conference came along, we've really come together as a team. We are as good as we want to be. If we come to play soccer, we can beat anyone."

Gins, at 6-1, 190 pounds, is an imposing figure from his midfielder position, fitting in well on both offense and defense.

Being one of the four true freshman, he has really shown the talent and ability to go far, and he plans to.

"After my college career," he said, "I will definitely play professional soccer."

"I think I can fit on this team."

On the other end of the court, another former Rebel has fit in with an NBA team. Elmore Spencer has been starting for the Clippers in the preseason and contributed five points and five rebounds to his team's cause.

"It felt good to play here," said Spencer, who was a member of the 1991 UNLV Final Four team as a junior. "When I was a senior we were on probation so it gave us a chance to see who were our friends. We formed a close knit group. Playing here means a lot to me, to hear the crowd again and the fan appreciation. It's all about tradition."
