

Announcing the 1994 U. Scholarship Winners

Business Administration

MasterCard

MR. NIR YACOBY
Cal State Northridge

Engineering

Sony

MS. JENNIFER YBARRA
Texas A & M

SONY

Athletic Achievement

Nike

MR. TOMAS MONTEMAYOR
Florida Institute of Technology

Humanities

20th Century Fox

MR. RAYMOND RICKETTS
U. of Pittsburgh

Communications

Warner Brothers

MR. OWEN GOTTLIEB
Dartmouth College

Finance

GMAC

MS. ARIANNE HERBITTER
U. of Pennsylvania

GMAC
FINANCIAL SERVICES

Marketing

Visa

MS. ELIZABETH WISKE
St. Mary's College of Minnesota

Television/Radio/Film

Universal

MS. LAUREN LEE
U. of Southern California

UNIVERSAL
AN MCA COMPANY

Humanities

The Anheuser-Busch
Companies

MR. BART MASER
Michigan State U.

ANHEUSER-BUSCH
COMPANIES

Communications

Paramount

MS. REBEKKA MEISSNER
Syracuse University

Academic Achievement

Toyota Motor Sales

MS. JESSICA RUNYON
U. of South Carolina

TOYOTA

Special Achievement

U. The National
College Magazine

MR. ADNAN DANISH
Rutgers College

Meet the Press

Selected in a national competition among the nation's top graduating college journalists, here are the 1994-95 U. Magazine assistant editors! Genetically engineered from conception, these five young graduates are committed to keeping their fingers on the pulsating jugular of college America.

(Clockwise from top left:)

BETH MAYALL, B.A. in Literature, West Chester U. — Beth provides the sort of clearheaded sensibility that's become the hallmark of us 20somethings.

BONNIE DATT, Master's candidate in Magazine Journalism, Syracuse; B.A. in Communications, Chatham College — Bonnie is U.'s grammatical assassin. Just you try to get a dangling participle past her. Just try.

AIMEE RINEHART, B.A. in Journalism and Political Science, Indiana U. — Aimee is the spunky gal America is falling in love with! You won't believe the zany predicaments she gets herself into!

GLENN MCDONALD, B.A. in English, Michigan State U. — Glenn is the solemn voice of reason in the newsroom, reserved and professional.

RANTZ A. HOSELEY, B.A. in Fine Arts, Washington State U. — Rantz likes to look mysteriously off-camera. He thinks he's in a U2 album cover photo.

As this unstoppable team can tell you, the assistant editor program is a great opportunity to gain real-world experience in all aspects of magazine publishing. If you would like to apply for a 1995-1996 assistant editor position, send a SASE to:

FRANCES HUFFMAN, Managing Editor,
U. Magazine, 1800 Century Park E., #820, Los Angeles, CA 90067

U. The National College Magazine has awarded twelve $1,000 scholarships to outstanding undergraduate students in a variety of fields. Eleven of the 1994 U. Scholarships were offered in partnership with corporations that advertise in U. In addition, U. has awarded a $1,000 Special Achievement Scholarship to a student who consistently has overcome personal hardship and obstacles to excel in academic and extracurricular activities.