work assignments. But we will have memories of Spring Break '96. Yes, we will overcome the ruthless instructors at UNLV and conquer the dragon we all call Finals.

To those of you leaving UNLV for the real world (getting a job at a local hotel) this was your last Spring Break, and here's hoping you enjoyed a week of heavenly bliss.

To those of us who are staying, let's pray for a short year and a longer Spring Break in '97.

See you all in Palm Springs, Tijuana, Daytona, and maybe even in small tourist trap towns like Idlewild, Cali. But wherever we may be, let's hope everyone will be safe and has the time of their life. See you all during Spring Break '97.

Tranquil desert scenery contrasts with the flash of the Strip (above), as doctoral student David Orange (l.) and graduate student Kent Sovocal create their own campus purgatory.
