LLOYD KATZ

wife and sons do a far better job). His talents include a musical prowess, for he plays the violin, and has an extremely pleasant voice.

This has been proven many times over the years, when he has conducted part of each and every High Holy Day at Temple Beth Shalom. For this he thanks his training with the Shalom Secunda Choir.

It would be unfair to overlook his work with the American Jewish Committee of which he is the representative of this State and his work with the Anti-Defamation League which he so well represented in Washington last year. He is well known for his addresses before the many Service groups, such as the Rotary Club, the Optimists and the Lions--on Industry.

In the near future, our Congregation will be able to witness one of the few delights of an unusual nature.

When Jeff, who is now fifteen, was Bar Mitzvah, the pulpit was shared by both his father, Lloyd, and his grandfather, Benjamin. The address given at that time by Lloyd was inspirational.

With the forthcoming joy of young Barry's Bar Mitzvah, this will again happen. With Mr. Benjamin Katz, now in his 87th year, Lloyd and son, Barry, the chain continues, and I quote, "from strength to strength".

R. Sadur Shower

by Helene Stadler

Simchas, parties, showers etc. this sure has been a busy month. I, who have not attended luncheons for some time, did go to one last Wednesday afternoon at the Tropicana Hotel Gourmet Room. Occasion, a shower luncheon in honor of Rikki Sadur who was married to Alan Sherman, Feb. 7th in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hostess for this lovely luncheon was Mrs. Mort (Roslyn) Galane. The center piece which was easily seen as one entered this charming room was made of yellow maline (fine net) in the form of a small umbrella. This was held up by a very pretty cupid. Crystal drops were hung from the umbrella to represent rain. The tables were covered in blue with a vase of yellow roses on each table. Flowered candy mints in multi colors, and assorted nuts in a pretty nut cup added to the decorations on the table. Lunch was delicious. Rikki looked very chic. Mrs. Marshall (Sara) Sherman was glowing with pride everytime she looked at her new daughter to be, and of course mother Jeanne quelled too, and why not. Rikki's gifts were lovely. She received silver, lingerie, glasses, cutlery etc. There wasn't anything Rikki could not use. I understand there were other showers for her in Los Angeles.

I must say in all honesty, that the gals in this town have excellent taste. Of course, the bride-to-be helps, in that she selects what she wants, which makes it much easier for gift giving. As we all know, the gifts are wrapped so beautifully one sometimes hates to cut the ribbons and tear the very pretty paper. What to do with the ribbons sometimes is a problem, especially if one does not want to destroy them. At Rikki's party there was a net shaped heart pillow into which were put all the ribbons. This made a very pretty pillow, which can be used for decorative purposes. A very excellent idea. Ma and Pa gave the soon-to-be Mr. & Mrs. a T.V. set for their newhome.

Millman Nuptials

MAUREEN KAREN NEP AND FRANKLYN M. MILLMAN, AT THEIR WEDDING IN TEMPLE BETH SHOLOM.

by Claire Dase

They say all brides are beautiful, but one of the most beautiful was Maureen Karen Nep, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nep, 3340 Athens.

Friday, Jan 29th, in the sanctuary of Temple Beth Shalom, Rabbi A. Gold, and Cantor J. Kohn, united in matrimony Maureen Nep and Franklyn M. Millman, son of Dr. & Mrs. M. Millman of Monterey, California.

The bride wore white poidesol gown, floor length, with a removable train, a crown of white crystals, and carried a Bible with a white orchid. The mother of the bride, and the Matron of Honour, Eillen Berlin, wore "daring pink" dresses. The groom's mother, wore a soft pink dress.

Usually it is the congregation and the families that shed tears, but this picturesque wedding took an unusual twist, for it was the little bride that shed tears as she recited her marital vows. It was the warm human touch of Rabbi Gold offering her his handkerchief, that lent a solemn and beautiful finish to the impressive and ancient ceremony.

After the service, a beautifully catered luncheon was served in the home of the bride's cousins, Adrian and Frederick Glusman, at 3671 Tlaga Way. The exquisite surroundings of pink and fuschias, lent enchantment to the festive scene. Responsible for the delectable knishes and meal were Sam and Irene Dvorak, owners of the Bar-B-Que Kitchen. One note of good feeling came from the knowledge that Cantor Kohn had either performed or participated in the mitzvah of four weddings in this family group since he has been with Temple Beth Shalom.
