MORNING HEBREW NURSERY SCHOOL CLASS IN PURIM COSTUMES UNDER WATCHFUL EYE OF TEACHER, MRS. BELAH SPERLING.

Children's Purim Festival

by Claire Dase

More than 300, including most of the children in the religious school of Temple Beth Sholom, attended the Purim festival. The preschool children, trained and coached by Mrs. Belah Sperling, were well received as were all others including the satire on the true story of "Esther" put on by the youngsters of the pre-con-firmation class. The program was a credit to all involved.

A word of thanks from the heart should go to all involved with the presentation of Purim 1965. It was an outstanding event in the growth of our religious school. We thank the very capable Principal Abe Schwartz, Rabbi

Gold, Cantor Kohn, Jay In-

gerlid, Willa Kohn, Cantor

Kinnory, Gene Fehr, Belah

Sperling, and each and everyone who had the smallest part in this project. All hearts should overflow with gratitude for what these fine leaders are doing with our

The little ones in their costumes, acting out their parts, had the audience laughing and applauding all the way. The satire was accompanied by great back-ground music from the orchestra recently formed by children of the religious school. It is being trained by Gene Fehr. Judging of the costumes by Art Marshal, Dave Burton and Gene Osheroff, was not only a hard decision, but a treat for all participating. Never were there so many Hamans, Esthers, Vashtis, Mordecais or Ahashverus. Winners were: ' prettiest,'' Lisa Engel; "funniest'' Steve Kachad; "most original'' Judith Novak.

An unusual highlight was to see Dave Burton, the ever popular Strip personality, Rabbi Gold and Cantor Kohn rendering their version of
