OFF TO RAMAH

Wednesday, June 23rd at 9 a.m. promptly, the first contingent of twenty children will leave from Temple Beth Shalom for Camp Ramah in Ojai, California. These lucky youngsters have been busy for the past weeks going through the usual routine, of checkups, packing preparing short courses in Hebrew conversation, similar to that which they will be using during their stay, and now the time has finally arrived.

Under the watchful eye of Abraham Schwartz, Principal of the Religious school, they will go by bus direct from Las Vegas to Camp Ramah, and it will be under the same guidance and direction that they will return.

The many opportunities can never be duplicated in a year's study at school. There they are taught to produce and act out plays, for instance, completely in Hebrew, and they KNOW WHAT THEY ARE SAYING.

Table conversation is carried on in Hebrew. Each day has a study time, compensated by the usual camp play-

TOP JEWISH PHILOSOPHER DEAD

JERUSALEM (SNS)--Professor Martin Buber, deemed the foremost Jewish thinker of the age and a philosopher of world-wide impact, died here at his home at the age of 87.

Dr. Buber served as professor at the Hebrew University since his coming to Palestine in 1938. After retiring from teaching in 1951, he held the title of professor emeritus of philosophy at the university.

Born in Vienna on February 8, 1878, he spent much of his childhood in Lemberg with his grandparents. At the age of seventeen he entered the University of Vienna, where he studied philosophy and the arts and received his Ph.D. in 1904. He also studied at the Universities of Berlin, Zurich and Leipzig.

As a student, Dr. Buber became interested in Zionism, becoming later the editor of Die Welt, Viennese Zionist newspaper. Later he became the founder of the Jewish Publishing House in Vienna, the Judischer Verlag and from 1916 to 1924 he edited Der Jude, leading organ of German Jews.

Following expulsion from Germany after the rise of nazism, he settled in Israel. From 1923 to 1933, he held the chair of Jewish Studies at the Frankfurt University. In Israel, Dr. Buber was an exponent of a bi-national state and of wider friendship with the Arabs. His rationale was that such a development would lead to the preservation of the cultural integrity of the Middle East.

time. The medical care is the best, the directors are qualified in every sphere of educational and vocational directives.

It is not unusual to hear a child come back with some form of complaint, but whenever asked how soon they would return, the answer is inevitable, "right away."

For those that have made this trip possible for many of these children, the Jewish community of Las Vegas is deeply indebted. Their training will be an asset to our congregation and our people. The Jewish living they will be taught during their stay, will enhance their future lives, and the return from the donations that made this possible will be manifold with their deeper sewing of the roots of Judaism among our own people.

The first group of children off to Ramah are: Claudia Gold, Byron Green, Pamela Orchard, Lana and Dahlia Nadel, David Albaugh, Margie and Gregory Grossman, Randi and Terry Markin, Richard Field, Terry J. Sugerman, Terri Speiser, Michael Goldstein, Morley Bartnoff, Brian Dvorak and Brian Dase.

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- An Egyptian spy ring operating in Israel was believed broken up when the police announced it held seven members of the gang after an extensive investigation of its activities.

One of the suspects committed suicide in Acre prison after turning informer against his accomplices.
