Barney Glazer's
"HOLLYWOOD HOTLINE"

Did you know... that Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana's grandfather was the first Jew in Quincy, Mass., where he founded the first synagogue? ... that Rosetta Jacobs was born in Pittsburgh and loved her name but when someone changed it for showbiz purposes to Piper Laurie she hated it? ... that you can visit the two-story brick house where George Gershwin was born at 242 Snedicker Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.?

that many theaters in foreign countries cut out all dialogue in U. S. films and hire a live storyteller to narrate the picture to the audience? ... that Groucho Marx is much taller in person than he appears on the screen, especially when he sits on his wallet? ... that Mel Blanc's son is Noel Blanc, a nice Jewish boy, whose name means White Christmas?

that too many people are forgetting Paul Muni too soon? (ill health keeps him away from activity but how can anyone forget his magnificence?) ... that Fran Stark, Fanny Brice's daughter, decorated Kirk Douglas' home? ... that Robert Walker, Jr., prizes a gold mezuzah he received from Kirk? ... that George Jessel loves to rib Tony Martin at testimonials by telling the audience, "When Tony sang as a boy in the choir of a San Francisco schul, the chazan hid in the cellar"?

that Milton Berle has the perfect squelch for Jessel, "He's been speaking so long, he's the only known man who spoke at his own bris"? ... that Dimitri Tiomkin, famous musical composer and conductor, speaks eight languages and sounds like he's speaking them all at the same time? ... that Aaron Spelling, who hates westerns, frequently directs and produces westerns?

that silent film star Theda Bara was Theodosia Goodman from Cincinnati?....

and that she swept to fame overnight in "A Fool There Was," based on Rudyard Kipling's "The Vampire"? ... which is how she was labeled "the vamp"?

that Italian comic Pat Henry played overseas with Frank Sinatra and will never forget how he went home - "he walked right over the ocean"? But Sammy Davis Didn't have to. He's Jewish, so the waters parted for him." that some day we'll have a Jewish President ... and that he'll walk into the White House the first day with his wife at his side carrying her Mah Jongg set under her arm? ... but the Vice-president won't be Jewish because the President will need someone to turn on the lights?

Did you also know... that it's archaic to call an unsuccessful movie, teevee program, play or musical a bomb and quite hip to say it's a lahtke?... that Clive Revill, the fabulously talented New Zealand Jewish actor, is this decade's closest approach to Chaplin?
