LAS VEGAS

PROFILES

by Percy Villa

When Spiros and Vicky Kallas moved from Milwaukee seven months ago to the land of sunshine--Las Vegas--it was definitely our gain.

They are fine folks and liked by everyone who meets them.

Spiros and Vicky are owners of the Las Vegas Nut Specialty Company known as the Yum Yum Shoppe, 2405 Las Vegas Blvd. So. (a few doors from Foxy's).

This is the only complete nut store in the state of Nevada that roasts imported nuts from all corners of the world.

They also carry the complete candy assortment of DeMet's, out of Chicago, that features 'Turtles' (our opinion of the world's finest) candies.

Spiros is 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs 180. Says: "This sweet business of mine, doesn't help my diet, any."

Born November 28, 1916, and of Greek-American descent, Spiros can speak Jewish and Italian better than some of those origins.

The Kallas have three daughters: Karen Ann, Paulette and a'Maria.

Vicky has made a study of the nut business and has many books on the subject. Claims that there are more than 100 type of the delicacy on the market.

He enjoys meeting people and making new friends.

He eats and sleeps any time, any place. He can literally fall asleep standing up.

He has an aversion to women who change their style of dress to go along with the current mode regardless of what looks good on them. At present he is at violent odds with the Dior Look. "Thank goodness I don't have any of this nonsense with my Vicky."

Vicky named the candy and nut store the: "Yum Yum Shoppe" and it's catching on daily.

His favorite sport is football and at Milwaukee he made All-City. Morry Zenoff of local fame at that time was sports editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel and selected Kallas as All-City guard.

He enjoys traveling because it gives him a chance to meet people. Yet homes are his hobby.

He sizes up people on first meeting. He has been known to change the verdict, but not
