Rosalind Russell isn't Jewish but continues to grab choice roles that under ordinary circumstances would have gone to prominent Jewish actresses. Unfortunately for the latter group, Rosalind controls the pull in weights at the box-office. Her name sells tickets. Legitimate theatre actresses, practically unknown outside of their immediate circle, don't attract long lines outside of movie houses.

It will be remembered that Rosalind's selection to play the film role of "A Majority of One," the Broadway success starring Gertrude Berg, almost broke the late Miss Berg's heart.

Sympathetically, theatre and film buffs everywhere rooted loudly and enthusiastically for Miss Berg. Wisely, Warner Bros. ignored the popular but limited vote and heeded its financial charts which pay off in cash. This is a hard business where it is learned early in life that sympathy never pays costs and returns profits.

Now, Rosalind will star in "Rosie," based on Ruth Gordon's hit Broadway play, "A Very Rich Woman." The main character is a wealthy woman whose children try to gain control of her fortune. They believe she is squandering it.

Ruth Gordon starred on Broadway in her own story. Like Gertrude Berg, she sadly watched the film version go to Rosalind.

PAUL PUMPIAN, the Jewish writer with an Armenian-sounding name, wrote some very funny special material for Johnny Grant during the recent B'nai B'rith dinner toast to Bob Hope but George Jessel cut off Grant abruptly

Washington
During Brotherhood Week 1967, each American has a splendid opportunity to display the spirit of unity which has made this a mighty nation.

It is a time in which we can exhibit to the world our unrelenting desire to eliminate from our society any vestige of injustice.

Brotherhood simply means giving to others the rights, respect and dignity they deserve.

It is a concept that was woven into the very fabric of our Constitution and Bill of Rights. In recent years, civil rights legislation has sought even more explicitly to guarantee equality for all Americans regardless of race, color or creed.

Unfortunately, the gap between principle and practice still remains. It is our task — and our responsibility — to make certain that the gap is closed.

I call upon each of our citizens to join the National Conference of Christians and Jews in the observance of Brotherhood Week and to make real our pledge of "one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

George probably did it as a gag but the end result spelled discourtesy, intentional or otherwise.

Grant, as well as Hope, has staged dozens of over-
