So painful to have to relay unhappy news but this was a week of such sadness. Our Rabbi, Aaron Gold is setting shiva for his brother Nathan who passed away back east. Reba Saiger's father, Max Gordon, well known in the community was recently laid to rest.

Max Maus of the "House of Maus" passed away too. And Meyer Balls, a newcomer to our town is suddenly gone too. His widow Tillie and young daughter Susan left for Pittsburgh for the services.

To all the bereaved, our sincere condolences.

Passover will soon be upon us and this is the time to place your order for the delicious candies which are specially prepared and packaged for the holiday. B'nai B'rith Girls have begun their annual sale of assorted sweets and macaroons at $1.25 per box or just $1 if you buy more than one. Call Shelly Levine, 735-6945 or Candy Margulies, the BBG's in charge of this project.

The combined executive meeting of the JWV was held at the Stardust Hotel last week, and none other than our own Las Vegas commander, Mitch Bell, was voted Senior Vice Commander of their Department of the Southwest. This department encompasses Texas, Nevada, Arizona, California and Louisiana. Congrats, Mitch!

Congratulations too, to Frieda and Frank Soskin who are still beaming after thirty-five years of married life.
