

A REAL GUY
Christians and Jews.

Guy, a wiry, trim individual even today, was an outstanding athlete during his scholastic years as with the football, track, baseball and basketball teams. He also was a member of the Chemistry Club and wrote for St. Benedict High School paper. After attending St. Norbert College, he was graduated from Wilson Jr. College and then went on to get his law degree from Loyola. In succession he was admitted to practice before the Illinois Bar, U.S. District Court for Northern Ill., U.S. Court of Appeals, U.S. Supreme Court and U.S. Military Court of Appeals, before setting up shop in Nevada.

He served the U.S. Coast Guard from 1942 to 1946, and continued on as 1st Lieut. in the U.S. Army from 1948 to 1954. He was Captain with Illinois Army National Guard, a rank he still holds with U.S. Army Reserve. In Chicago he served with Junior and Cosmopolitan Chambers of Commerce and South Side Community Com-

ST. PAUL, Minn. (WNS) America's Jewish and non-white minorities show the most drastic decline in belief in an afterlife, according to a Gallup poll sponsored by Catholic Digest magazine, published here. In comparison with a similar survey conducted by the magazine in 1952, Jewish faith in a personal hereafter dropped from 35 per cent to 17 per cent, and the non-white group from 79 per cent to 61 per cent.

LONDON (WNS) More than half of Britain's private golf clubs discriminate against Jews, according to the sports editor of one of this country's leading newspapers.

LONDON (WNS) One of Britain's most colorful and paradoxical personalities died here at the age of 73. He was Sir Victor Gollancz, wealthy Socialist, Jewish born advocate of "forgiveness" to the Nazis, a man of a vaguely define "Christian" humanitarian religious outlook, who stemmed from a rabbinical family, and who was a member of the board of governors of Jerusalem.

mission. On July 8, 1950 at Camp Gifu in Japan, Guy married his lovely and charming wife, Aquilla, who teaches special education classes at Ronzoni Elementary School. They have three children, Adelliar 4th, attending St. Emma Military Academy, Powhatan, Va., and Pamela and Michael, who live here in Las Vegas. The Guys are a credit to our community and the Israelite is proud to bring their presence to the attention of our readers.
