

'SHOWGASTE' OF THE STARS' ★

EVELYN AND MAX

He is usually quiet at a party or gathering. But when he wants to be heard, he's heard. He seldom loses his temper, but when he does, it's evident that he has one. She is not the flashy type. She had to overcome a certain amount of shyness. ("I've always been able to do anything if I wanted it enough.") The Goots live in a comfortable and well-furnished three-bedroom home. ("They don't especially like to go out. They like to entertain at home, always informally.") Seldom do guests come by invitation. They just drop in.

She is very happy around the house. She can and does all her own house-work most of the time.

He is always on time. ("Something I learned while in the service.") In fact he often arrives at an appointment 10 to 15 minutes early.

While attending high school at Crown Point, Indiana, he played in most of the sports. At most sports events he is seen here.

On January 12th of 1966 more than 500 friends and well-wishers honored him at the Stardust Hotel with more than 200 being turned away. Jimmy Durante and his groupe helped in making this testimonial event the most successful we've seen in many years. The Israelite recognized Max's achievements and supported his testimonial all the way. He was chosen "Man of the Year."

He is always well-dressed, although he claims he doesn't care about clothes and doesn't pay much attention to them.

She likes everything to be pretty and detests bargains. She is not as economical as she'd like to be.

She is old-fashioned in her belief that dedication to work and self-discipline lead to success.

He calls almost every waitress "sweetie." ("It's easier than remembering names. And they like it.")

He usually walks fast. He appears to be running.

She is loyal. She has known the same people for years and years. "I have a strange antenna," she says. "I seldom tune in to wrong people."

She has her dislikes, too. When a person on the phone says, "Guess who?" her reply is: "I guess I'll hang up." When a person approaches her and says, "I'll bet you don't remember me," her reply is, "You're right, I don't."

He searches for integrity and sincerity in friends. ("I don't care whether they're successful or famous or what their profession is, that's not the important quality of a friend.")

The Goots are two of the finest people in our town and it is good knowing them.
