PARADISE SPA NOW ACCOMMODATES TRANSIENT GUESTS

Overnight and short-vacation accommodations have been expanded at Paradise Spa so that 20 homes at the Las Vegas condominium health resort can be made available for guests, reports general manager Richard E. Eckenweiler. "There is a great demand here, both by local residents and visitors, for vacation facilities that include a wide range of recreation. That is why we have opened Paradise Spa to temporary residents," said Eckenweiler. The 400-home complex is occupied by local physicians, attorneys, engineers, salesmen and people from virtually every walk of life. Many of the one, two and three-bedroom homes are also owned by active retired couples and those who maintain a Spa residence as a second home. Now, visitors can enjoy the vacation atmosphere without purchasing a home. Offered are two plans, one that includes use of the elaborate health clubs, sauna baths, indoor whirlpools, gymnasium, sun deck and additional facilities like the two giant swimming pools.

The other plan includes only the outdoor recreational attractions of the 300-acre development which is located at 9457 Las Vegas Blvd., South, a five minute drive from the Strip.

"Coincidentally, many people who have rented one of our homes for a short visit have later purchased a residence here," said Eckenweiler.

Encompassing a man-made lake, Paradise Spa has such recreational facilities as a tennis court, golf complex, horseback riding, community barbecues and water sports.

A spacious clubhouse features stage plays and musicals, color TV room, auditorium, conference room and convention facilities.

Tours of the $40 million development are directed daily by sales manager Cranston Brown and a staff of counselors.
