statute of limitations of both Austria, Germany and Brazil. However, now that Poland has asked for his extradition he is facing the fact that he is wanted in a country where the statute of limitations does not obtain in crimes such as Stangl is charged with having committed.

While Stangl in prison has denied killing Jews, he simultaneously confessed to having participated in Hitler's euthanasia program, under which those deemed unfit to live under Nazi racial concepts were put to death.

Monument To 3,000,000 Jews

AUSCHWITZ, Poland (WNS) A monument to the memory of the 4,000,000 who perished at Nazi hands at the notorious Auschwitz death camp was unveiled here before a gathering of some 200,000 participants without official recognition of the Jewish moment in the tragedy.

Of the four million who were put to death at Auschwitz 3,000,000 were Jews, but neither the monument nor the unveiling ceremony took notice of that fact, Jewish groups had asked the organizers of the ceremony to include reading of the kaddish for the Jewish dead but they were rebuffed on the ground that this was not a religious ceremony. However, the sponsors said they would permit chanting of the kaddish after the official ceremony.

A dramatic Jewish moment came after the ceremony, when an elderly Jewish woman who came bearing a prayer book and candlesticks under her shawl rose in plaintive reciting of the kaddish. As she lit the candlesticks, a strange silence fell over the site, broken only by the sound of tears and a muffled amen at the end of the prayer.

Following the official ceremony, Jewish participants held an informal ceremony before the Hebrew plaque of the monument, where Israeli Minister of Social Welfare Yoseph Burg, and Ambassador Dov Sattah were joined by other Israeli diplomats in the saying of kaddish and chanting of El Mole Rachamim.

An impressive moment was the reciting of the kaddish by a group of twenty Greek Jews who were among the 1,300 survivors of the Salonika Jewish community of 65,000. The contingent had brought along small candles which each lit as they chanted the kaddish in unison under the guidance of their leader, Moise Halegoua.

The only speaker to take note of the fact that 3,000,000 of the 4,000,000 Auschwitz dead had been Jews was Robert Waltz of France, president of the International Auschwitz Committee. He spoke in French and his words were not translated in Polish.

The principal speaker at the ceremony was Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz of Poland, who made no reference to Jews in his prepared text.
